

HIS AWFUL DEATH.

Fleisher Committed Suicide in Sight of Wife and Children.

With a Yell He Leaped from a Fifth-Story Window.

A Policeman Was Coaxing Him to Submit to Arrest.

Crized by jealousy, and in sight of his wife and eight children, as well as a policeman who was trying to arrest him, Gustave Fleisher, a carpenter, thirty-one years old, committed suicide this morning by throwing himself from the fifth-story window to the yard of the house 1842 Second avenue.

For twenty minutes after the fall he lived, although unconscious. His left leg and both arms had been broken and his skull was fractured.

A permit was obtained later for the removal of the body. As the widow refuses to bury it, Potter's Field will be its last resting place. Fleisher had lived with his wife and family in several years. Until the separation he was regarded as a steady workman, but afterwards he began to drink heavily, and soon got the reputation of a good-for-nothing fellow.

Whenever he lost his position it was his habit to visit the apartments occupied by his wife and family and cause a disturbance.

Frequently he had threatened to kill his wife and children. He seemed to be insanely jealous of his wife and charged her with receiving attentions from other men.

Twice before he attempted suicide, once by drinking carbolic acid and once by trying to hang himself. On each occasion he was saved by one of his sons, who gave the alarm.

Policeman J. J. Shea, of the East Eighty-eighth street station, was on duty at Ninety-fifth street and Second avenue at 7:30 o'clock this morning when Fleisher's eleven-year-old daughter came running up.

She told her father had called at the flat and was threatening to kill her mother.

She asked Shea to hurry and prevent a murder. The officer accompanied her.

When the little girl opened the door the policeman found Fleisher sitting on the window sill, the sash raised to its full extent. The other members of the family looked at him with terror-stricken faces.

Shea tried to reason with the man, who seemed to be somewhat under the influence of liquor, but the man did not seem to pay the least attention to him.

Finally, when the officer approached nearer, Fleisher threw one leg over the window-sill and yelled out:

yard, where he found the bruised and bleeding body.

All the other tenants swarmed to the place, and it was as much as the policeman could do to make his way outside and send in a call for an ambulance.

When the ambulance arrived Fleisher was beyond medical aid. The body was allowed to remain in the yard until the coroner's permit had been obtained and the dead wagon sent for.

Mrs. Fleisher gave poverty as her excuse for refusing to bury the body.

SUCCEEDED THIS TIME. Louis Seagott Had Once Before Attempted Suicide.

LINDENHURST, I. J., Dec. 2.—Louis Seagott, sixty-three years old, committed suicide at midnight by shooting himself in the breast. He had been suffering from asthma for the past four years, and lately became very despondent. Seagott had made one attempt before to kill himself. He leaves a widow and five children.

BOUNCED AND HAS NO REDRESS. Shipman Wasn't a Guest at the Broadway Central.

Hamilton W. Shipman, an undersized man of sixty years, was complainant in the Jefferson Market Police Court this morning against one "John Doe," a herculean special officer, employed at the Broadway Central Hotel.

Shipman's story was that he was ejected from the hotel in a violent and undignified manner on Thanksgiving Day. He wasn't a guest of the house at the time, although he said he had spent more than $1,000 there in the course of his life. He considered his ejection a brutal assault and he wanted the special officer punished.

Justice Koch remarked, after hearing the officer's statement, that Shipman was keeping and monopolizing a lounge set apart for hotel guests and refused to go out, that the complainant had no redress anywhere except in a civil suit. The charge of assault against the officer would not hold in a criminal court, added the judge, and he dismissed the complaint.

Shipman was dismayed, and inquired repeatedly, "Don't you think so, Judge?"

The judge didn't, and Shipman left the court-room looking very woe-begone. He has been advertising in the daily papers for witnesses of his election, which he referred to as an outrage.

GOULD TAXES PAID. Assessed $182,000—The Trustees Will Appeal to the Courts.

Trustees of the estate of Jay Gould have paid to Tax Receiver Austen $182,000, the amount of taxes due on the $10,000,000 assessment on the personal estate of Jay Gould.

The money was paid under protest, the trustees claiming that the assessment is excessive. They were given an opportunity to show that it was excessive before the Tax Commissioners, but failed to do so. They prefer to take the matter into court.

MADE A SLOW TRIP.

The Lucania Encountered Head Winds and a Rough Sea.

The Cunard liner Lucania arrived this morning. Owing to head winds the trip was a slow one. The ship sailed from Liverpool Nov. 25, and encountered adverse winds and a rough sea from the start. She was sighted off Fire Island at 10 o'clock last night and docked at 10 o'clock this morning.

"We did not make one day's fast time," Capt. McKay said to an "Evening World" reporter. "The wind was against us all the time."

There were 109 saloon passengers on board, among whom was Eugene Sandow the "strong man."

TOOK POISON IN MISTAKE. President Nunes Did Not Attempt Suicide.

The Star and Herald, of Panama, of Nov. 23, which was received here to-day, prints the following announcement: "Yesterday we received a despatch from New York stating that it was reported that President Nunes had been poisoned. As is known here, the fact was that a week or two ago the venerable and aging gentleman made a slight mistake in administering medicine to himself and took a draught of cocaine, which was promptly antidoted, and had, therefore, no serious results. Thanks to the courtesy of Dr. Arango, we are enabled to state that the President is now perfectly well."

DELINQUENTS MUST PAY UP. Receiver Austin Sends Out His Annual Notice to Tax-Payers.

Tax Receiver Austen has just issued a notice to delinquent tax-payers that they must cash in at his office before Jan. 1, or the usual penalties will be enforced.

The law provides that any tax remaining unpaid on Dec. 1 is subject to an increase of 1 per cent., and if it remains unpaid on Jan. 1, 1894, an extra sum representing interest at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum calculated from Oct. 2 to the date of payment will be collected.

JOHN B. SEXTON, JUSTICE.

Solon B. Smith's Probable Successor on the Police Bench.

The Under-Sheriff One of Boss Croker's Protoges.

The term of Police Justice Solon B. Smith, Republican, expires Jan. 1 next. It is said that Mayor Gilroy will appoint as his successor Under-Sheriff John B. Sexton, the Tammany leader of the Twenty-third District.

Deputy Sheriff Harry P. Mulvaney, a Tammany captain in the Fourteenth District, is slated to succeed Sexton as Under-Sheriff.

Justice Smith has not asked for and does not expect reappointment. Sexton is one of Croker's favorites. The fact that he lost his district at the last election does not injure his prestige. He did the best he could in a district that is decidedly Republican.

Solon B. Sexton is one of the ablest men who ever sat on the Police Bench. He is an educated and a practical man, and made a good judge.

He was formerly the leader, and is now, by proxy, the Republican leader of the Fifteenth Assembly District. He was forced to retire from the leadership because he held office by appointment from a Democrat.
