

"DUMMIES" BOATS, TOO

City's Money Apparently Paid for Work Never Done.

Street-Cleaning Department Condemned by Records.

How Part of $400,000 Is Spent in "Final Disposition."

The investigation of the private contract between Contractor John D. Dalley and William S. Andrews, Commissioner of Street Cleaning, will give the Grand Jury an opportunity to distinguish itself.

"The Evening World" has shown from day to day facts and figures in its reports on the matter of ash-carts, horse feed, dumping-boats and scows and tugboats.

All of these questionable transactions are overshadowed, however, by discoveries made yesterday in what is known as the "final disposition bureau" of the Street-Cleaning Department.

The final disposition bureau, which annually expends nearly $400,000 of the public money, is without question the most fruitful field for schemes and deals. It is under the supervision, as a matter of course, of Commissioner Andrews.

Upon these four city officials, then, Andrews, Ryan, Anderson and Buchler, in the order named, rests the grave responsibility of expending $400,000 annually of the taxpayers' money.

Anderson and Buchler practically run the business of tugs and scows, making daily reports to Andrews and Ryan.

At the corner of Seventeenth street, East River, at the foot of Avenue C, are the Seventeenth street dumps and the Street Department stables. The stable building is the old City Market, and if the visitor will climb a winding iron staircase in a corner of the structure to the top floor, he will find himself in a dark, carpeted apartment.

This is the "final disposition bureau." It is here that Anderson and Buchler direct the movements of tugs and scows, hire men and discharge them, and above all direct the expenditure of nearly $400,000 annually.

It is here that Anderson and Buchler direct the movements of tugs and scows, hire men and discharge them, and above all direct the expenditure of nearly $400,000 annually.

Anderson and Buchler are seldom alone in this gloomy old attic room, for a representative of John D. Dalley, who holds all the fat contracts in tags and scows, is nearly always present.

John D. Dalley is a Tammany Hall man, prominent in the Police and Firemen's Club, and a follower of Police Justice Wehle, the leader of his district.

John D. Dalley, according to his business cards, is a contractor for water front filling, dredging, etc. He has an office at 120 Broadway, and another at 191 Broadway.

The rental of scows and tugboats to the city by Dalley is a matter of record for future consideration, and the purpose to-day is to show the methods and manner in which the Department is loaded by Dalley at Riker's Island and elsewhere.

There are twelve dumping wharves on the East River as follows: Old slip, Rutgers slip, Jackson street, Stanton street, Seventeenth street, Broadway street, Thirty-eighth street, Forty-sixth street, Seventy-ninth street and One Hundred and Tenth street.

These are the twelve dumping wharves on the North River, viz: Canal street, Twelfth street, Nineteenth street, Twenty-seventh street, Thirty-ninth street, Seventy-ninth street and One Hundred and Tenth street.

There are seven "dummy" scows hired from private parties by the Department: The Franklin, Edison, Delong, Governor Kent, Van Hook, and the Miller. The Miller, Flannery, Carrie, Francis, Lizzie D. Paris, Globe, H. A. twelve patent dumping scows hired from the Barney Company at $25 per day each.

These forty-eight scows are the total number in use in the Department. In Jan. 1, 1893, there were scows the figures in this article are computed and based on the facts herein stated are matters of public record.

This is the official record of scows in use on Jan. 12, 1894. The "dummy" scows are listed at $25 per day each. The "dummy" scows are listed at $25 per day each.

ISLAND NOT QUARANTINED.

Charity Hospital Patients with Homes Can Go to Them.

But Warden Roberts's Son Must Stay Home from School.

No fresh cases of small-pox in the Charity Hospital, Blackwell's Island, had been reported to the Health Department up to noon today.

Warden Robert Roberts, of Charity Hospital, who was stricken yesterday and taken to North Brother Island, is doing well. Chief Inspector Doty reported this morning. The Warden is suffering with only a slight attack of the malady.

His aged wife is with him, and a companion from the rank and file of patients is with her. His wife, Mrs. Roberts, the Warden's young son, who has been attending Grammar School No. 77, in First avenue, has been ordered kept from school by the Health Department.

The school-room and the scholars who associated with the youth have been inspected and all the necessary precautions observed.

The statement that an absolute quarantine is being enforced at Charity Hospital is untrue. No patients are being detained at the hospital, but those who are admitted are kept in the hospital until they are cured.

Mr. Charles brought along Court Officer Vail, of the Yorkville Court Squad, who had a warrant in his pocket ready to serve on Mrs. Appleton in case she refused to attend to the complaint already lodged against her by McGibbon & Co. of 318 Broome.

Mrs. Appleton received Mr. Charles in the matron's room. He at once identified her as the woman who, while in the East Broadway street, ran up a bill of $25 for groceries and cigars while arrested by the police.

Mr. Charles said that the woman allowed to go to the store in a handsome carriage. She was generally accompanied by a very handsome young girl, who passed as her maid.

According to the grocer, the supposed Mrs. Appleton was identified by her name and cigarettes by the box, always remarking that they were "for the Judge, Mr. Charles."

Hardly had Mr. Charles left the presence of the alleged Mrs. Beach when another official arrived at the address given, and had friends there, he would be permitted to go home.

The Health Department would keep a careful watch on his doings, to see that he developed no symptoms of the disease.

This is the quarantine rule now in force. As to the Florence Mission on Riker's Island, where the young woman was found ill with small-pox yesterday, about the same rule prevails.

It is not necessary to lodge there other than those who are in the place previously mentioned. The inmates of the hospital are not prevented from going on the street at pleasure. Dr. Doty says that it is better that the people get all the fresh air they can.

A mission house at 316 Water street, carried by the Health Department, was visited last night, and fumigated by the health authorities. The house is occupied by a woman who owns her home at 316 Water street.

On Oct. 27, according to the livery-stable people, the woman drove to Denning's dry-goods store and bought a lot of articles, which she had put into the carriage. According to the story told by the woman, she carried the bundles in a pawnshop and carried the bundles in the carriage.

The coachman told his employers that he returned to the stable at 10 o'clock, and the woman was not there. He said that he had seen the woman at the stable at 10 o'clock, and she had been there for some time.

A mission house at 316 Water street, carried by the Health Department, was visited last night, and fumigated by the health authorities. The house is occupied by a woman who owns her home at 316 Water street.

On Oct. 27, according to the livery-stable people, the woman drove to Denning's dry-goods store and bought a lot of articles, which she had put into the carriage. According to the story told by the woman, she carried the bundles in a pawnshop and carried the bundles in the carriage.

The coachman told his employers that he returned to the stable at 10 o'clock, and the woman was not there. He said that he had seen the woman at the stable at 10 o'clock, and she had been there for some time.

A mission house at 316 Water street, carried by the Health Department, was visited last night, and fumigated by the health authorities. The house is occupied by a woman who owns her home at 316 Water street.

On Oct. 27, according to the livery-stable people, the woman drove to Denning's dry-goods store and bought a lot of articles, which she had put into the carriage. According to the story told by the woman, she carried the bundles in a pawnshop and carried the bundles in the carriage.

The coachman told his employers that he returned to the stable at 10 o'clock, and the woman was not there. He said that he had seen the woman at the stable at 10 o'clock, and she had been there for some time.

CREDITORS OF "MRS. BEACH." WATCHED BY POLICE.

Every Action Noted with a View to Entrapping Them.

Hints Dropped by a Mysterious Visitor at Headquarters.

From an incident which occurred at Police Headquarters this morning it is believed that agents of Dr. Parkhurst's Society for the Prevention of Crime are being shadowed by Central Office detectives. The object of this surveillance, it is said, is to entrap the men into some act, possibly such as that which Chief Agent Gardner declares he fell into a few days ago.

The incident referred to was the appearance of a man who called at Police Headquarters this morning. He was of dark complexion and wore a dark mustache and Vanduyke beard. He was well-dressed.

The man entered the Detective Bureau, where he remained but a few minutes. He refused to disclose the nature of his errand to the reporters, but said: "I am in a way connected with Dr. Parkhurst's Society for the Prevention of Crime, and I am here this morning, I will not say. Time-time will demonstrate that."

It is not known how long the man remained at the police headquarters, but it is believed that he was there for some time. He was seen by several of the police officers, but none of them were able to identify him.

None of the officials seen about Headquarters knew the man, and in the Detective Bureau they had no record of him. It is believed that he was there for some time, but he was not seen by any of the police officers.

The man who called at Police Headquarters this morning is believed to be a member of Dr. Parkhurst's Society for the Prevention of Crime. He is believed to be a member of the society, and he is believed to be a member of the society.

The man who called at Police Headquarters this morning is believed to be a member of Dr. Parkhurst's Society for the Prevention of Crime. He is believed to be a member of the society, and he is believed to be a member of the society.

The man who called at Police Headquarters this morning is believed to be a member of Dr. Parkhurst's Society for the Prevention of Crime. He is believed to be a member of the society, and he is believed to be a member of the society.

The man who called at Police Headquarters this morning is believed to be a member of Dr. Parkhurst's Society for the Prevention of Crime. He is believed to be a member of the society, and he is believed to be a member of the society.

The man who called at Police Headquarters this morning is believed to be a member of Dr. Parkhurst's Society for the Prevention of Crime. He is believed to be a member of the society, and he is believed to be a member of the society.

The man who called at Police Headquarters this morning is believed to be a member of Dr. Parkhurst's Society for the Prevention of Crime. He is believed to be a member of the society, and he is believed to be a member of the society.

The man who called at Police Headquarters this morning is believed to be a member of Dr. Parkhurst's Society for the Prevention of Crime. He is believed to be a member of the society, and he is believed to be a member of the society.

The man who called at Police Headquarters this morning is believed to be a member of Dr. Parkhurst's Society for the Prevention of Crime. He is believed to be a member of the society, and he is believed to be a member of the society.

The man who called at Police Headquarters this morning is believed to be a member of Dr. Parkhurst's Society for the Prevention of Crime. He is believed to be a member of the society, and he is believed to be a member of the society.

The man who called at Police Headquarters this morning is believed to be a member of Dr. Parkhurst's Society for the Prevention of Crime. He is believed to be a member of the society, and he is believed to be a member of the society.

The man who called at Police Headquarters this morning is believed to be a member of Dr. Parkhurst's Society for the Prevention of Crime. He is believed to be a member of the society, and he is believed to be a member of the society.

The man who called at Police Headquarters this morning is believed to be a member of Dr. Parkhurst's Society for the Prevention of Crime. He is believed to be a member of the society, and he is believed to be a member of the society.

The man who called at Police Headquarters this morning is believed to be a member of Dr. Parkhurst's Society for the Prevention of Crime. He is believed to be a member of the society, and he is believed to be a member of the society.

The man who called at Police Headquarters this morning is believed to be a member of Dr. Parkhurst's Society for the Prevention of Crime. He is believed to be a member of the society, and he is believed to be a member of the society.

The man who called at Police Headquarters this morning is believed to be a member of Dr. Parkhurst's Society for the Prevention of Crime. He is believed to be a member of the society, and he is believed to be a member of the society.

The man who called at Police Headquarters this morning is believed to be a member of Dr. Parkhurst's Society for the Prevention of Crime. He is believed to be a member of the society, and he is believed to be a member of the society.

The man who called at Police Headquarters this morning is believed to be a member of Dr. Parkhurst's Society for the Prevention of Crime. He is believed to be a member of the society, and he is believed to be a member of the society.

ISLAND NOT QUARANTINED.

Charity Hospital Patients with Homes Can Go to Them.

But Warden Roberts's Son Must Stay Home from School.

No fresh cases of small-pox in the Charity Hospital, Blackwell's Island, had been reported to the Health Department up to noon today.

Warden Robert Roberts, of Charity Hospital, who was stricken yesterday and taken to North Brother Island, is doing well. Chief Inspector Doty reported this morning. The Warden is suffering with only a slight attack of the malady.

His aged wife is with him, and a companion from the rank and file of patients is with her. His wife, Mrs. Roberts, the Warden's young son, who has been attending Grammar School No. 77, in First avenue, has been ordered kept from school by the Health Department.

The school-room and the scholars who associated with the youth have been inspected and all the necessary precautions observed.

The statement that an absolute quarantine is being enforced at Charity Hospital is untrue. No patients are being detained at the hospital, but those who are admitted are kept in the hospital until they are cured.

Mr. Charles brought along Court Officer Vail, of the Yorkville Court Squad, who had a warrant in his pocket ready to serve on Mrs. Appleton in case she refused to attend to the complaint already lodged against her by McGibbon & Co. of 318 Broome.

Mrs. Appleton received Mr. Charles in the matron's room. He at once identified her as the woman who, while in the East Broadway street, ran up a bill of $25 for groceries and cigars while arrested by the police.

Mr. Charles said that the woman allowed to go to the store in a handsome carriage. She was generally accompanied by a very handsome young girl, who passed as her maid.

According to the grocer, the supposed Mrs. Appleton was identified by her name and cigarettes by the box, always remarking that they were "for the Judge, Mr. Charles."

Hardly had Mr. Charles left the presence of the alleged Mrs. Beach when another official arrived at the address given, and had friends there, he would be permitted to go home.

The Health Department would keep a careful watch on his doings, to see that he developed no symptoms of the disease.

This is the quarantine rule now in force. As to the Florence Mission on Riker's Island, where the young woman was found ill with small-pox yesterday, about the same rule prevails.

It is not necessary to lodge there other than those who are in the place previously mentioned. The inmates of the hospital are not prevented from going on the street at pleasure. Dr. Doty says that it is better that the people get all the fresh air they can.

A mission house at 316 Water street, carried by the Health Department, was visited last night, and fumigated by the health authorities. The house is occupied by a woman who owns her home at 316 Water street.

On Oct. 27, according to the livery-stable people, the woman drove to Denning's dry-goods store and bought a lot of articles, which she had put into the carriage. According to the story told by the woman, she carried the bundles in a pawnshop and carried the bundles in the carriage.

The coachman told his employers that he returned to the stable at 10 o'clock, and the woman was not there. He said that he had seen the woman at the stable at 10 o'clock, and she had been there for some time.

A mission house at 316 Water street, carried by the Health Department, was visited last night, and fumigated by the health authorities. The house is occupied by a woman who owns her home at 316 Water street.

On Oct. 27, according to the livery-stable people, the woman drove to Denning's dry-goods store and bought a lot of articles, which she had put into the carriage. According to the story told by the woman, she carried the bundles in a pawnshop and carried the bundles in the carriage.

The coachman told his employers that he returned to the stable at 10 o'clock, and the woman was not there. He said that he had seen the woman at the stable at 10 o'clock, and she had been there for some time.

A mission house at 316 Water street, carried by the Health Department, was visited last night, and fumigated by the health authorities. The house is occupied by a woman who owns her home at 316 Water street.

On Oct. 27, according to the livery-stable people, the woman drove to Denning's dry-goods store and bought a lot of articles, which she had put into the carriage. According to the story told by the woman, she carried the bundles in a pawnshop and carried the bundles in the carriage.

The coachman told his employers that he returned to the stable at 10 o'clock, and the woman was not there. He said that he had seen the woman at the stable at 10 o'clock, and she had been there for some time.

ISLAND NOT QUARANTINED.

Charity Hospital Patients with Homes Can Go to Them.

But Warden Roberts's Son Must Stay Home from School.

No fresh cases of small-pox in the Charity Hospital, Blackwell's Island, had been reported to the Health Department up to noon today.

Warden Robert Roberts, of Charity Hospital, who was stricken yesterday and taken to North Brother Island, is doing well. Chief Inspector Doty reported this morning. The Warden is suffering with only a slight attack of the malady.

His aged wife is with him, and a companion from the rank and file of patients is with her. His wife, Mrs. Roberts, the Warden's young son, who has been attending Grammar School No. 77, in First avenue, has been ordered kept from school by the Health Department.

The school-room and the scholars who associated with the youth have been inspected and all the necessary precautions observed.

The statement that an absolute quarantine is being enforced at Charity Hospital is untrue. No patients are being detained at the hospital, but those who are admitted are kept in the hospital until they are cured.

Mr. Charles brought along Court Officer Vail, of the Yorkville Court Squad, who had a warrant in his pocket ready to serve on Mrs. Appleton in case she refused to attend to the complaint already lodged against her by McGibbon & Co. of 318 Broome.

Mrs. Appleton received Mr. Charles in the matron's room. He at once identified her as the woman who, while in the East Broadway street, ran up a bill of $25 for groceries and cigars while arrested by the police.

Mr. Charles said that the woman allowed to go to the store in a handsome carriage. She was generally accompanied by a very handsome young girl, who passed as her maid.

According to the grocer, the supposed Mrs. Appleton was identified by her name and cigarettes by the box, always remarking that they were "for the Judge, Mr. Charles."

Hardly had Mr. Charles left the presence of the alleged Mrs. Beach when another official arrived at the address given, and had friends there, he would be permitted to go home.

The Health Department would keep a careful watch on his doings, to see that he developed no symptoms of the disease.

This is the quarantine rule now in force. As to the Florence Mission on Riker's Island, where the young woman was found ill with small-pox yesterday, about the same rule prevails.

It is not necessary to lodge there other than those who are in the place previously mentioned. The inmates of the hospital are not prevented from going on the street at pleasure. Dr. Doty says that it is better that the people get all the fresh air they can.

A mission house at 316 Water street, carried by the Health Department, was visited last night, and fumigated by the health authorities. The house is occupied by a woman who owns her home at 316 Water street.

On Oct. 27, according to the livery-stable people, the woman drove to Denning's dry-goods store and bought a lot of articles, which she had put into the carriage. According to the story told by the woman, she carried the bundles in a pawnshop and carried the bundles in the carriage.

The coachman told his employers that he returned to the stable at 10 o'clock, and the woman was not there. He said that he had seen the woman at the stable at 10 o'clock, and she had been there for some time.

A mission house at 316 Water street, carried by the Health Department, was visited last night, and fumigated by the health authorities. The house is occupied by a woman who owns her home at 316 Water street.

On Oct. 27, according to the livery-stable people, the woman drove to Denning's dry-goods store and bought a lot of articles, which she had put into the carriage. According to the story told by the woman, she carried the bundles in a pawnshop and carried the bundles in the carriage.

The coachman told his employers that he returned to the stable at 10 o'clock, and the woman was not there. He said that he had seen the woman at the stable at 10 o'clock, and she had been there for some time.

A mission house at 316 Water street, carried by the Health Department, was visited last night, and fumigated by the health authorities. The house is occupied by a woman who owns her home at 316 Water street.

On Oct. 27, according to the livery-stable people, the woman drove to Denning's dry-goods store and bought a lot of articles, which she had put into the carriage. According to the story told by the woman, she carried the bundles in a pawnshop and carried the bundles in the carriage.

The coachman told his employers that he returned to the stable at 10 o'clock, and the woman was not there. He said that he had seen the woman at the stable at 10 o'clock, and she had been there for some time.

ISLAND NOT QUARANTINED.

Charity Hospital Patients with Homes Can Go to Them.

But Warden Roberts's Son Must Stay Home from School.

No fresh cases of small-pox in the Charity Hospital, Blackwell's Island, had been reported to the Health Department up to noon today.

Warden Robert Roberts, of Charity Hospital, who was stricken yesterday and taken to North Brother Island, is doing well. Chief Inspector Doty reported this morning. The Warden is suffering with only a slight attack of the malady.

His aged wife is with him, and a companion from the rank and file of patients is with her. His wife, Mrs. Roberts, the Warden's young son, who has been attending Grammar School No. 77, in First avenue, has been ordered kept from school by the Health Department.

The school-room and the scholars who associated with the youth have been inspected and all the necessary precautions observed.

The statement that an absolute quarantine is being enforced at Charity Hospital is untrue. No patients are being detained at the hospital, but those who are admitted are kept in the hospital until they are cured.

Mr. Charles brought along Court Officer Vail, of the Yorkville Court Squad, who had a warrant in his pocket ready to serve on Mrs. Appleton in case she refused to attend to the complaint already lodged against her by McGibbon & Co. of 318 Broome.

Mrs. Appleton received Mr. Charles in the matron's room. He at once identified her as the woman who, while in the East Broadway street, ran up a bill of $25 for groceries and cigars while arrested by the police.

Mr. Charles said that the woman allowed to go to the store in a handsome carriage. She was generally accompanied by a very handsome young girl, who passed as her maid.

According to the grocer, the supposed Mrs. Appleton was identified by her name and cigarettes by the box, always remarking that they were "for the Judge, Mr. Charles."

Hardly had Mr. Charles left the presence of the alleged Mrs. Beach when another official arrived at the address given, and had friends there, he would be permitted to go home.

The Health Department would keep a careful watch on his doings, to see that he developed no symptoms of the disease.

This is the quarantine rule now in force. As to the Florence Mission on Riker's Island, where the young woman was found ill with small-pox yesterday, about the same rule prevails.

It is not necessary to lodge there other than those who are in the place previously mentioned. The inmates of the hospital are not prevented from going on the street at pleasure. Dr. Doty says that it is better that the people get all the fresh air they can.

A mission house at 316 Water street, carried by the Health Department, was visited last night, and fumigated by the health authorities. The house is occupied by a woman who owns her home at 316 Water street.

On Oct. 27, according to the livery-stable people, the woman drove to Denning's dry-goods store and bought a lot of articles, which she had put into the carriage. According to the story told by the woman, she carried the bundles in a pawnshop and carried the bundles in the carriage.

The coachman told his employers that he returned to the stable at 10 o'clock, and the woman was not there. He said that he had seen the woman at the stable at 10 o'clock, and she had been there for some time.

A mission house at 316 Water street, carried by the Health Department, was visited last night, and fumigated by the health authorities. The house is occupied by a woman who owns her home at 316 Water street.

On Oct. 27, according to the livery-stable people, the woman drove to Denning's dry-goods store and bought a lot of articles, which she had put into the carriage. According to the story told by the woman, she carried the bundles in a pawnshop and carried the bundles in the carriage.

The coachman told his employers that he returned to the stable at 10 o'clock, and the woman was not there. He said that he had seen the woman at the stable at 10 o'clock, and she had been there for some time.

A mission house at 316 Water street, carried by the Health Department, was visited last night, and fumigated by the health authorities. The house is occupied by a woman who owns her home at 316 Water street.

On Oct. 27, according to the livery-stable people, the woman drove to Denning's dry-goods store and bought a lot of articles, which she had put into the carriage. According to the story told by the woman, she carried the bundles in a pawnshop and carried the bundles in the carriage.

The coachman told his employers that he returned to the stable at 10 o'clock, and the woman was not there. He said that he had seen the woman at the stable at 10 o'clock, and she had been there for some time.

ISLAND NOT QUARANTINED.

Charity Hospital Patients with Homes Can Go to Them.

But Warden Roberts's Son Must Stay Home from School.

No fresh cases of small-pox in the Charity Hospital, Blackwell's Island, had been reported to the Health Department up to noon today.

Warden Robert Roberts, of Charity Hospital, who was stricken yesterday and taken to North Brother Island, is doing well. Chief Inspector Doty reported this morning. The Warden is suffering with only a slight attack of the malady.

His aged wife is with him, and a companion from the rank and file of patients is with her. His wife, Mrs. Roberts, the Warden's young son, who has been attending Grammar School No. 77, in First avenue, has been ordered kept from school by the Health Department.

The school-room and the scholars who associated with the youth have been inspected and all the necessary precautions observed.

The statement that an absolute quarantine is being enforced at Charity Hospital is untrue. No patients are being detained at the hospital, but those who are admitted are kept in the hospital until they are cured.

Mr. Charles brought along Court Officer Vail, of the Yorkville Court Squad, who had a warrant in his pocket ready to serve on Mrs. Appleton in case she refused to attend to the complaint already lodged against her by McGibbon & Co. of 318 Broome.

Mrs. Appleton received Mr. Charles in the matron's room. He at once identified her as the woman who, while in the East Broadway street, ran up a bill of $25 for groceries and cigars while arrested by the police.

Mr. Charles said that the woman allowed to go to the store in a handsome carriage. She was generally accompanied by a very handsome young girl, who passed as her maid.

According to the grocer, the supposed Mrs. Appleton was identified by her name and cigarettes by the box, always remarking that they were "for the Judge, Mr. Charles."

Hardly had Mr. Charles left the presence of the alleged Mrs. Beach when another official arrived at the address given, and had friends there, he would be permitted to go home.

The Health Department would keep a careful watch on his doings, to see that he developed no symptoms of the disease.

This is the quarantine rule now in force. As to the Florence Mission on Riker's Island, where the young woman was found ill with small-pox yesterday, about the same rule prevails.

It is not necessary to lodge there other than those who are in the place previously mentioned. The inmates of the hospital are not prevented from going on the street at pleasure. Dr. Doty says that it is better that the people get all the fresh air they can.

A mission house at 316 Water street, carried by the Health Department, was visited last night, and fumigated by the health authorities. The house is occupied by a woman who owns her home at 316 Water street.