OTTO KEMPNER A WITNESS.

He Tells How His Lithographs Were Taken from Store Windows.

ORDERED OUT BY DETECTIVES.

Gen. C. H. T. Collis Narrates His Experience at the Polls on Election Day.

The Senators from Albany, who are down here to investigate the doings of the Police Department, with special reference to their alleged interference with the rights of citizens at the polling-places during election times, resumed their hearing this morning in Part III of the Court of Common Pleas.

TO PUT SALARIES UP.

General Demand by City Officials for Increased Pay.

Policemen and Firemen Join in the Movement.

Large Number of These Bills Now Before the Legislature.

There is a general demand for increases in salaries by city officers and employees. More than the usual number of bills providing for a "raise" in the pay of the hard-worked politicians have been introduced in the Legislature.

What do you know about police interference in your district in that election? asked Mr. Sutherland. Kempner went on to tell that he had heard the morning of Nov. 3 that the police went through the entire district from store to store, and ordered the proprietors to remove his poster and lithographs.

AN ANARCHIST BOMB.

Unearthed by Young Hoffman, with Probably Fatal Results.

Dug Up with Others in the Williamsburg Sand Lots.

Boy Like, He Banged It Against a Huge Boulder.

Nicholas Hoffman, thirteen years old, of 231 Troutman street, Williamsburg, is believed to have thrown a dynamite bomb which he found buried in the sand lots of the Twentieth Precinct.

The "sand lots" are on Knickerbocker avenue, and in the neighborhood flourish a number of Anarchist societies. About three months ago half a dozen bombs were found in the sand lots, but although several detectives were at work on the case for days, they could not learn who had buried them.

While running about they turned up the sand near a big boulder which stands near the corner of the lot, and unearthed an oblong box of tin. The youngsters dug out the box, and their first object was to see what was inside. It was a tin box, and inside were half a dozen bombs, although the boys had no idea at the time what they were.

Apparently No Bottom at the Corner of Tenth Street.

Big Subterranean Cavern Caused by a Defective Sewer.

Cable Road Conduit Barely Escaped Being Wrecked.

The bottom fell out of Broadway at the northeast corner of Tenth street this morning, leaving a big hole, 15 by 20 feet, and about 15 feet deep.

The case in question occurred at an early hour this morning, and fortunately when there was but little traffic at this point.

The man sewer caved in, and the waters rushing through it, gradually sucked away the sand and deposited it no one knows where.

The pipes which ran from the curb to the main broke, and last night's rain, falling into the cavity, completed the job.

The pavement over Broadway and on Tenth street is of the new kind, laid over a body of cement. Tar is poured in the interstices between the granite blocks, making a surface exceedingly firm and compact.

The gradual sucking away of the sand has been going on for some time, and it is little short of a miracle that the thin bed of cement and granite blocks should have held the heavy trucks that daily pass over that spot.

The case was first noticed yesterday afternoon, when a granite block suddenly dropped out of sight and a curious looking man looked to see where it had gone.

The next policeman who came on that post nearly walked into the cavity and thus it was discovered.

The side of the sewer main is completely gone, and the water main is leaking because its support has caused it to bend.

A gang of workmen were busily engaged in bracing up the water main and other pipes in the excavation when an "Evening World" reporter visited the spot this morning.

HILL'S BODYGUARD.

A Hotel Manager Will Not Allow Him to Be Interviewed.

Senator Hill is in the city today, and is registered at the Hotel New Netherlands. An effort was made by an "Evening World" reporter to see the Senator at the hotel regarding the appointments of Wallace Macfarlane as United States District Attorney and Edward Groves as Collector of Internal Revenue for the Third District, but Manager Wright of the New Netherlands, constituted himself a body-guard against any reporter's invasion of the Senator's apartments.

No cards were permitted to be sent to the Senator's rooms, and to all callers Manager Wright gave the stereotyped answer: "Senator Hill is not in."

President Clarke Won't Resign.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—The President has rejected the resignation of Gen. O. O. Howard to accept the decoration of the Legion of Honor from the President of the French Republic, the act authorizing the construction of a bridge over the Arkansas River near Van Buren, Ark., and the appropriation $40,000 for the removal of the armament and wreck of the United States ship Resolute.

M'KANE SHORT $200,000?

Half a Million Dollars' Worth of Town Bonds Unaccounted For.

HYPOTHECATED IN BROOKLYN.

Rumor that the Chief Held on to $90,000 Recently Transferred to Him.

NOW SAID TO BE A BANKRUPT.

Money Raised on Bonds Said to Have Been Used to Keep the Boss Out of Prison.

Lawyer George F. Elliott and the Citizens' Committee of Gravesend, who have been investigating the accounts of John Y. McKane, have discovered that the Chief failed to account on Jan. 1 last regarding the disposition of $200,000 of town bonds, required by law. It is known that he had these bonds in his possession.

Now it is rumored that a large portion of the bonds, if not all, have been hypothecated with Brooklyn financial institutions, and that there is an apparent shortage in McKane's accounts of $90,000.

McKane's friends say the apparent shortage in the ex-Chief's accounts is due purely to his lack of business methods in conducting the affairs of the town. The Committee will not make known the true state of affairs of the town until a report has been prepared and submitted to the taxpayers.

The few books that have been found are in an awful muddle, McKane mixing town and personal affairs in such a manner as to greatly embarrass the investigators.

The facts were only learned by the Investigating Committee yesterday. The $200,000 worth of bonds which McKane is said to have hypothecated have not yet been located by the Committee. It is believed, however, that they were deposited with the Germania and Dime Savings Banks of Brooklyn.

An "Evening World" reporter called at both institutions, but was refused any information upon the subject. The officers at each bank admitted that they had money invested in Gravesend bonds, but refused to state whether the bonds had been purchased or whether they had loaned money on them.

Frank B. Beers, broker of 200 Montague street, said that previous to Jan. 1 he had been solicited to purchase the Gravesend bonds, but refused. He said he understood the bonds had been offered for sale, but no purchasers could be found.

Lawyer Elliott was asked this morning for a statement regarding the case. "I can say nothing," replied Mr. Elliott, "because the investigation is being carried on with the utmost secrecy. If I should say anything now it might defeat the object of my clients, who are working night and day to get at the bottom facts in the case."

It is said now that John Y. McKane is a bankrupt, and that the money raised on the bonds was used to defray the expenses of his recent trial. McKane has transferred a great deal of his property in anticipation of an investigation.

The Committee has also discovered that Town Treasurer Morris recently transferred to McKane $20,000 of town bonds, which was to be used for the completion of a new station-house at Coney Island. The men who have done the work on the new building, stopped work because McKane did not pay them, and as near as the Committee can tell out, none of the money transferred has been paid out by McKane.

ASSOCIATE JUSTICE WHITE.
