

WATTE WILL TRY AGAIN. He Orders All Colorado Troops to Be Ready for Denver To-Day.

MAY DECLARE MARTIAL LAW.

Expectation that He Will Advance on the City Hall To-Morrow.

HE CONFERS WITH GEN. M'COOK.

Then Asks the Federal Commander to Withdraw His Troops.

(By Associated Press.) DENVER, Cal., March 16.—It is now said to be Gov. Watte's idea to call all the troops of the State to Denver to-day, and on Saturday to renew his attempt to install the new Police Commissioners and Fire Board.

The Governor at 11:45 last night issued the following proclamation: All companies of the National Guard of Colorado are hereby notified to be in readiness at the inspection armory to respond to call to come to Denver, which will be on Friday at 10 o'clock.

At 9 o'clock this morning Gen. McCook, in command of the United States troops whose arrival effected last night's truce, was in conference with the Governor.

Gov. Watte's residence is still surrounded by a strong guard, as he is in mortal fear of assassination. Meantime the Federal troops continue in camp at the Union Depot, and it is possible that before the difficulty is settled martial law will be declared.

The Governor's pale face last night told more eloquently than words of the strain through which he was passing. He has received a dozen or more letters threatening his life, and there is considerable public feeling against him. Judge Graham, whose order of injunction Gov. Watte disregarded, says he will take no more in the matter.

Gen. McCook has enjoined the recently appointed members of the Fire and Police Boards from taking their seats, although they had been sworn in. This action the Governor regarded as an infringement upon the prerogatives, and he accordingly ignored the injunction.

Counsel for the old Fire and Police boards claim they are in full sympathy with the Supreme Court as to removals, and that if it is a writ of habeas corpus served on the old boards through the Court they would vacate instantly. The question they say, is merely one of process by the Court or by the military.

The Governor ordered out the militia to-day, and he has called to his aid prominent members of the Chamber of Commerce. The militia officers were asked to resign their commissions in the interest of peace, but they refused and said they would obey orders.

LATER.—Gov. Watte has addressed a letter to Gen. McCook, asking that the Government troops be withdrawn from the city, because the General refuses to assist in carrying out the Governor's purpose, but will simply continue himself to maintaining the peace.

GEN. M'COOK REPORTS.

And Awaits Orders from the Department at Washington. (By Associated Press.) WASHINGTON, March 16.—Gen. McCook this morning telegraphed Army Headquarters here that Gov. Watte had applied for use of United States troops.

He took the troops to Denver and transmits the application of the Governor to the Department. He has not yet been laid before Secretary Lamont, who must in turn submit it to the President before action can be taken on the Governor's request.

Steinberger Finds Another Man in Possession of His Saloon. Michael Steinberger, a saloon keeper, at 666 Henderson street, Jersey City, was placed under $500 bonds to keep the peace. Steinberger was released yesterday after a three-months' sentence for disorderly conduct. When he was released he returned to his saloon, and was surprised to find a man named Cronin installed in the place.

He asked Cronin what right he had to be in the saloon. Cronin said that he had purchased the saloon from Steinberger's wife. Steinberger went into a rage and broke open the apartments of his wife, who was absent, and created a disturbance that he was arrested.

When taken before Justice O'Donnell he declined signing a power of attorney to his wife to sell the property. Justice O'Donnell had Steinberger write names on a piece of paper and his signature was found to correspond with that on a power of attorney which he signed and gave to his wife in 1887.

BURGLARIES JUST ALIKE.

In Each Case a Clock and Brice-Brice Valued at $200 Were Taken. The police of Williamsburg are to-day talking about two robberies, almost similar in every particular, which occurred some time last night.

Charles Brice-Brice, who lives on the third floor of 625 Leonard street, reports that burglars entered his place and secured a clock and brice-brace valued at all at $200, while Charles C. Kross, who lives on the third floor of 125 Oakland street, also reports the loss of a clock and brice-brace, which he values at $200, the same as Mr. Brice-Brice's.

LUCKY KEEPER M'NAMARA.

The Court Eered, and He Can't Be Held for Kyle's Escape. An indictment against William McNamara, a former keeper in the Tombs, who was charged with "suffering a prisoner to escape," was dismissed by Judge Fitzgerald, in Part III, of the General Sessions, to-day.

On Dec. 15, 1892, McNamara was ordered to take before Justice Ingraham in the Supreme Court, on a writ of habeas corpus, Richard D. Kyle, a prisoner in the Tombs. Kyle was charged with the larceny of $50 from Stephen Vachman.

After the hearing, Justice Ingraham remanded Kyle to the care of the Sheriff, contrary to the usual custom, on the way to the Tombs. McNamara and Kyle stopped in the law office of J. O'Brien Kenne, at Chambers and Centre streets.

They remained there for several hours, during which the party was joined by Louise Sheffield, who also partook of the wine. While the party was making merry, the woman threw her arms around McNamara's neck. He made no attempt to resist her advances, and in the meantime Kyle took to his heels and escaped.

McNamara and Louise Sheffield were arrested and indicted. She is charged with aiding and abetting in the escape, and is out on bail awaiting trial. The district attorney, McIntyre, who recommended the dismissal, said that he did not understand why the prisoner was ordered to be held in the custody of the Sheriff. He said that McNamara was not in legal charge of the prisoner, and, in his opinion, a conviction could not be had.

VIRUS FOR POLICEMEN.

The Entire Force is Undergoing Vaccination. Now that Policeman O'Brien is in Riverside Hospital, North Brother Island, ill with small-pox, the Police Department has consented to a wholesale vaccination of the patrolmen. Already the men of four precincts have been vaccinated.

Madison street and West Sixty-eighth street are the scene of the vaccination, which is being done by a corps of Dr. Doty's vaccinators between 5 and 6 o'clock last evening. The policemen who were to go out on post at 4 P. M. bared their brawny arms first and then answered roll-call to them. Then they were vaccinated, and so the process will be continued until the nearly 4,000 patrolmen have been rendered small-pox proof.

The Oak street and Eldridge street policemen were vaccinated on Friday at 10 o'clock. For the next two weeks it will be a dangerous thing for the most intimate friends of the patrolmen to get near them with a friendly tap on the tender arm.

Augustino Harber, twenty-nine years old, of 14 Baxter street, was removed to North Brother Island this morning with small-pox. He was found in the Baxter street house heretofore.

JACK MAULIFFE SUED.

Stoddard Wants the Stake He Put Up for Austin Gibbons. James Stoddard has begun suit in the Supreme Court to recover $1,480 from Jack McAuliffe and Jere Mahoney.

On Sept. 11, 1891, McAuliffe and Austin Gibbons fought for a purse of $500 in the rooms of the Granite Club, in Hoboken. The police interfered at the end of the fifth round, but the referee, Jere Mahoney put up $1,500 for McAuliffe, and James Stoddard, of Paterson, who was Gibbons' backer, threatened to sue Stoddard for $1,500. Stoddard's friends protested against Duit's decision, and Stoddard brought suit for $1,500 against Richard E. Fox, who was stakeholder. The Court granted Fox leave to substitute McAuliffe, and Mahoney as defendants, on paying $1,480 into Court.

The case will come up for trial in about two weeks.

Factory Law Violated.

Joseph Blumenthal, a clockmaker, thirty years old, of 25 Orchard street, was held in Essex Market Police Court to-day for trial on a charge of violation of the Factory Law. Factory Inspector McKay stated that Blumenthal had eight persons working in a room which is only large enough for half of that number.

After the Grip Sick, Lifeless, Dull, BUT NOW IS HEALTHY, HAPPY, LIVELY.

This Decided Change Brought About by Taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"Gentlemen: I wish to certify to the following facts: My little girl, Lilla May Guthrie, had a severe attack of the grip, and got so weak that she could not get out of bed. She lingered alone from day to day, near weak and languid. We consulted a leading physician, and he said it was the dress of the grip that had got her. We gave her the medicine he ordered, but she seemed to get better.

More And More Delicate. She could scarcely eat anything, and what little she did take seemed to do her no good. Her sleep was not and not healthy, and she was dull and dull, with no ambition. We were very much concerned about her. No rest seemed to have any effect until about two months ago we commenced to give her Hood's Sarsaparilla. She had not taken half a bottle before she began to eat heartily, and we could see a decided change in her. Today she is the full enjoyment of Perfect Health.

Her flesh is solid, her appetite good and cheeks rosy, her sleep sound and refreshing, and her spirits high. She is full of life, and as mischievous as she can be. All this improvement was brought about by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. My wife joins with me in recommending this medicine as the best in the world for building up the system." WESTERVELT ON THE RACK.

Trial of the Police Captain on Charges Made by Byrnes.

Accused of Permitting Policy Playing in His Precinct.

The trial of Capt. Josiah A. Westervelt, of the East One Hundred and Fourth street police station, who is accused by Supt. Byrnes of neglect of duty in not suppressing certain policy shops in his precinct, was set down for 11 o'clock this morning at the Tombs.

This case has excited great interest. Two other captains, Price and Martens, were tried recently on charges of neglect of duty for allowing disorderly houses to exist in their precincts, that were afterwards raided by Supt. Byrnes's men.

Capt. Westervelt is now asked to explain before the commissioners why he permitted policy gambling in his precinct.

The trial was delayed for some time by the absence of the two Commissioners. It began, however, with Commissioners McLaughlin and MacLean presiding. President Martin and Commissioner Sheehan being absent.

Lawyers K. E. Price and Fred H. Chase appeared as counsel for Capt. Westervelt. The charge made by Supt. Byrnes was read in full. It was that he was guilty of failing to discover on or about March 14 fourteen policy shops in various parts of his precinct. The Captain pleaded not guilty to the complaint. A score or more of witnesses were called and were sworn in to speak in Capt. Westervelt's behalf, were then sworn.

The first police officer referred to in the evidence is said to be 156 East Ninety-eighth street.

James W. Slaght, of 143 East Nineteenth street, the witness stated that he was arrested by the police in a certain place mentioned as a policy shop, on March 14 he visited the policy shop and saw a number of men, many of them women, playing policy.

The witness said he visited the place several times, and on one of these occasions he succeeded in buying a policy slip and played it there. The next house mentioned in the evidence was 226 East Ninety-seventh street. The witness stated that there had been an error in recording this number. It should have been 228 East Ninety-seventh street.

Lawyer Price, for the defense, objected to any evidence being given as to a house not specified in the complaint. The Commissioners sustained him. Witnesses were called and sworn in to speak in Capt. Westervelt's behalf. Mr. Slaght said he bought a policy slip in the house at 202 First avenue, in the afternoon of a Wednesday, and the slips were produced in evidence. The witness was prevented by the counsel for the defense from mentioning the name of what he knew of the shops visited.

His knowledge was gained by conversation with the police. He could not produce direct evidence that the slips had been produced in the shops.

The houses at 223, 233, 241 East One Hundred and Fourth street, and 202 and 204 houses on the north side of East One Hundred and Fourth street, near Second avenue, were mentioned by the witness as policy shops.

On motion of the counsel for the defense, the evidence regarding the houses at 223, 233, 241 East One Hundred and Fourth street, and 202 and 204 houses on the north side of East One Hundred and Fourth street, near Second avenue, were mentioned by the witness as policy shops.

On motion of the counsel for the defense, the evidence regarding the houses at 223, 233, 241 East One Hundred and Fourth street, and 202 and 204 houses on the north side of East One Hundred and Fourth street, near Second avenue, were mentioned by the witness as policy shops.

The witness stated that he talked with people who lived in that house on March 5, but that part of the testimony was excluded on Lawyer House's objection.

The examination was marked by frequent squabbles between the counsel for the defense and the counsel for the prosecution. The admission of testimony, when Lawyer Price asked the witness the name of the house in which he had seen the policy playing going on in his precinct, the witness stated that in the neighborhood, but refused to give his name.

Price then requested the Commissioner to demand the name from the witness. Commissioner MacLean told him that he would not do so until he had conferred with his superiors.

For the defense said that the witness was in contempt and moved that all of his testimony be stricken from the record. It was denied, and the counsel for the defense refused to further cross-examine the witness.

The prosecution closed its case by calling German Fisher, colored, of 276 East Ninety-seventh street, to the stand. He testified that he had seen policy playing in the shop at 156 East Ninety-eighth street.

Capt. Westervelt's counsel moved to dismiss the charge, but the motion was denied.

The captain said he knew of the tenement at 156 East Ninety-eighth street for four or five weeks last year, and he testified that he had personally visited this place and found no evidence of policy-playing going on there.

Supt. Byrnes asked Capt. Westervelt if it was possible for policy shops to exist in his precinct, and he testified that he had instructed the men to prevent it under his command to prevent it.

Counsel for the defendant objected on the ground that it was not his duty to prevent policy playing, and then Policeman Simon Waugh took the stand.

He said he had visited most of the places mentioned in the complaint, two or three times a day during the past four weeks, but could find no evidence of policy playing.

Ward Detective George Smith and William J. Moore, gave testimony to the same effect. The machines of this class on the east side have been frequently robbed of late.

The two young men were arraigned in the Tombs Police Court this morning and held in $50 bail each for trial in Special Sessions.

The tappers used a wrench to open the money-boxes. When the policeman arrived they were in the act of putting the box in front of No. 171. While he was approaching them they crossed the street and started to work on the other machine.

Early had 181 pennies in his pocket and Snow had 144. According to the police report, as published exclusively in last night's "Evening World," it was charged that lawyer Charles W. Wetmore had misappropriated nearly half a million dollars' worth of the stock of the public auction company.

Some had disposed of to John H. Rockefeller. Mr. Hoyt said he was satisfied that Wetmore had full power to use, hypothecate or rehypothecate the stock, notes or securities of the Merritts in his possession. Suit had been brought here, he said, to restrain the Company from selling the public auction company's notes pledged as collateral by the Merritts, but the court had granted an injunction against the action brought at Duluth. Mr. Rockefeller and Mr. Wetmore could not be seen.

BOY THIEVES STEAL A TEAM.

Reckless Driving Upsets the Wagon at a Corner. Chased by Owner and Policeman, Four Are Caught.

Policeman Jones, of the East Thirty-fifth street station, at 8:30 o'clock this morning captured four out of five young horse thieves. Their names are Collins Raynor, aged fourteen, of 201 East Thirty-fourth street; Charles Knittle, aged eleven, of 222 East Forty-second street; James Henry, aged nine, and his brother John, eleven years old, of 209 East Thirty-fifth street.

The one who eluded the officer is Willis Lovagott, aged ten, of 223 East Thirty-fifth street. Henry Wilson, of 190 West and 1614 Second avenue, this morning drove up in front of 56 East Thirty-fifth street, where his men had been working, and went into the building to get the tools they had left.

The boys waited until he entered the building, then they rushed into the street and drove off. Wilson heard the noise of the moving wheels, but the wagon was out of sight when he reached the street. A woman, who resides nearby, told him that she had seen the boys drive away and he gave chase.

The boys drove so fast and recklessly that they struck the corner of Second avenue and Thirty-seventh street, where the wagon was upset, and they were severely injured. Two were displaced from the wagon, and one was killed. The boys were taken to the hospital, and the wagon was sent to the police station.

TWO BOYS ROB A JEWELLER. They Pull Plunder Through a Window with a Hook.

Two twelve-year-old boys, David Lipsky, of 177 Delancey street, and Isaac Madofsky, of 264 Livingston street, were held for trial on a charge of grand larceny by Justice Hogan, in the Essex Market Police Court to-day. They removed a broken pane of glass in Simon Harris's jewelry store, at 402 Grand street, yesterday, and with a wire hook stole three gold watches and ten gold rings, valued in all at $80.

The detectives, William A. Shalvey, of the Delancey street station, arrested the boys and found part of the stolen property in their possession. The boys were committed to the Gerry Station until their trial takes place.

CHARGED WITH FORGERY. Betts Pleaded Not Guilty when Arraigned Before Recorder Smyth.

Carlton H. Betts, a real estate agent of E. Broadway, who was acquitted by a jury in Cortlandt N. Y., on Tuesday last, on a charge of offering a forged deed in evidence, was taken before Recorder Smyth in Part I. of the General Sessions to-day and pleaded not guilty to an indictment charging him with forgery in the second degree.

It is alleged that he represented himself as an attorney to Mrs. Margaret McGowan and first borrowed $500 from her and then forged her name to a receipt for the amount.

This is the third time he has figured as the defendant in a criminal case. In each case he was indicted for grand larceny on charges preferred by Lawyer David Egan, but the case was settled.

Robbing Street-Car Conductors. The superintendents of half a dozen surface street-car lines have complained to the police during the past month that conductors are being robbed by pickpockets. Conductors, during rush hours, had many times been robbed of their pocket money, this making them easy victims for pickpockets. A conductor on the Third Avenue line was robbed last day of $12, almost all of which was in the form of a note.

IT INVOLVES HALF A MILLION. C. W. Wetmore Charged with Misappropriating Stock.

Colgate Hoyt, President of the American Steel Range Company, started to-day that he knew nothing regarding the suit against the company said to have been instituted at Duluth, Minn., by the Merritts and Thirty-second street, and a graphic report, as published exclusively in last night's "Evening World," it was charged that lawyer Charles W. Wetmore had misappropriated nearly half a million dollars' worth of the stock of the public auction company.

Some had disposed of to John H. Rockefeller. Mr. Hoyt said he was satisfied that Wetmore had full power to use, hypothecate or rehypothecate the stock, notes or securities of the Merritts in his possession. Suit had been brought here, he said, to restrain the Company from selling the public auction company's notes pledged as collateral by the Merritts, but the court had granted an injunction against the action brought at Duluth. GOOD BARGAIN WEATHER. At the Right Place $10 Will Pay for $20 Worth of Goods.

It sounds like fiction to say that a suit of clothes made in any style to suit the purchaser can be bought for the insignificant sum of $10. Yet such is the fact. At the London and Liverpool Clothing Company suits of cassimere, worsted, or chevots, made in sacks, cutaways, or Prince Alberts, which ordinarily sell for $30, are now being offered at $10 per suit.

The Company guarantees that each suit is worth not less than $20. In these hard times bargains are eagerly sought for, and the offer of the London and Liverpool Company is certainly worth investigating.

If your boys also need clothes, the London and Liverpool Company will clothe them in the latest style imported cassimere at $3 per suit. Three-dollar derby hats are offered at $1.25.
