

PRICE ONE CENT. NEW YORK, MONDAY, MARCH 19, 1894. PRICE ONE CENT

STUPEFIED by Good Female Help When They Advertise in THE WORLD 20 Words, 10 Cents.

LAST EDITION. IT IS A DEEP MYSTERY.

Police Fuzzed by the Murder or Suicide of Miss Fuller.

Clerk Magee Defends the Character of the Dead Girl.

Her Friends Insist that She Was Murdered.

The question of whose hand fired the bullet into the left temple of Miss Martha J. Fuller, the pretty typewriter, has fair to take a prominent place among the impenetrable mysteries of crime.

All the persons connected in any way with the tragic scene that was enacted on the second floor of the Nassau Building, 114 Nassau street, at 5.30 o'clock Saturday afternoon seemed bent on making the mystery still deeper this morning.

The scene of the tragedy is very small and confined. There were but two persons there. The one is dead, the other is a prisoner in the Tombs, charged with her murder.

It seems simple enough. The diagram of the law office of William Mulren, where the tragedy occurred, shows the location of all the points of interest to the story. The reception room is eight feet wide and fifteen or sixteen feet long. The general office, where Miss Fuller met the officer or the man with a bullet wound in her left temple, is eight feet wide and fifteen or sixteen feet long.

Joseph T. Magee, the managing clerk, says he was sitting at the desk in the reception room when he heard the report of the pistol which had been fired. He states that the Alisa carried an assassin's dagger and that she was the assassin of Miss Fuller.

Joseph T. Magee, the managing clerk, says he was sitting at the desk in the reception room when he heard the report of the pistol which had been fired. He states that the Alisa carried an assassin's dagger and that she was the assassin of Miss Fuller.

Joseph T. Magee, the managing clerk, says he was sitting at the desk in the reception room when he heard the report of the pistol which had been fired. He states that the Alisa carried an assassin's dagger and that she was the assassin of Miss Fuller.

KNOCKED HIM OVERBOARD.

Haitian Paymaster Assaulted on the Yacht Natalie.

One of the officers of the steamer Alisa, which is being chartered by the United States government, states that the Alisa carried an assassin's dagger and that she was the assassin of Miss Fuller.

COMMODORE WHITING DEAD.

His Recent Accident Aggravated a Chronic Kidney Trouble.

Commodore William D. Whiting, retired, of the United States Navy, died at 7.30 o'clock this morning at 28 West Thirty-fourth street. He was knocked overboard by a yacht on Saturday night and his injuries were aggravated by a chronic kidney trouble.

RUMOR ABOUT A HOTEL.

Landlord Earle May Retire from the New Netherlands.

Gen. Ferdinand P. Earle, the lessee and manager of the New Netherlands Hotel, may have trouble with his millinery landlord, Mr. Astor. Earle opened the hotel in June, 1893, and up to date, it is said, owes Mr. Astor $50,000 for rent. Mr. Charles A. Peabody, Jr., Earle's legal representative, and has the affair in charge.

HOLIDAY FOR THE EXCHANGE.

The members of the Coffee Exchange decided this morning to close the Exchange on Good Friday, March 24, and on Saturday, March 25, the Cotton Exchange at New York, Liverpool and New Orleans will also close on those days.

FOUND ABOUT TOWN.

Louisa Edwards, of 169 Prince street, was held for examination in Jefferson Market Court today on a charge of stealing a silver watch valued at $15. The property of Thomas Curry, a saloon man of 421 Canal street.

Joseph Callahan, 65 years old, of the Tombs Court this morning charged Pasquale Noroano, an Italian, of 140th street, with assaulting him with a knife on Saturday night. Noroano was held in $2,500 bail.

Henry J. Nichols was held in a default of $200 bail for appearing in Jefferson Market Court this morning, where he was arrested for disturbing the peace in the examination at 208 Eighth avenue, yesterday afternoon.

The body of James McCurt, fifty years old, of 100th street, was found in the North River, at the foot of Forty-fourth street, this morning. The man had been missing since last January.

William Chamier, seventy-three years old, dropped dead in the basement of the building, 117 Elizabeth street, at 1.15 o'clock this morning.

SUTHERLAND, 1 YEAR.

Fugitive Justice Fined $500 and All His Bonds Forfeited.

Jamieson Forced to Trial Despite the Jeopardizing of His Fellows.

Placed in the Sheriff's Custody, as Will Be Others When on Trial.

Kenneth F. Sutherland, Coney Island's Police Justice, who was convicted of oppression before the Gravesend election frauds, failed to appear in the Brooklyn Court of Oyer and Terminer this morning, and was declared a fugitive from justice.

Justice Brown, who presided, promptly pronounced judgment, and sentenced Sutherland to one year in the Kings County Penitentiary and to pay a fine of $50.

All the bonds were declared forfeited. The amount altogether is $7,500, and the money must be paid over not later than to-morrow.

The sentence is the full penalty allowed by law, as Sutherland was only convicted of misdemeanor. He is also under indictments for conspiracy and other offenses.

All the officers for the prosecution were in court, and Sutherland was represented only by Lawyer Foster L. Backus. There was no demonstration on the part of the crowd, as the full penalty was anticipated, and no one expected to see Sutherland respond when called.

The session came a few moments later when Constable Andrew Scott Jamieson of Gravesend, was called for trial. There are seven charges altogether against Jamieson, four of them being for perjury, and he has been out on bail for $10,000.

As in Sutherland's case, Lawyer Backus had been retained to defend him, but since Sutherland's flight trouble has broken out in the Gravesend camp, the trouble was of such a nature that Lawyer Backus refused to conduct the defense. Mr. J. Patterson was asked to undertake it.

As soon as Jamieson's case was called, Mr. Patterson arose and asked to be excused from the case, and explained that he had only been called into it on Saturday, and had not had time to prepare for the trial.

Mr. Patterson declined to act, and Justice Brown insisted that the case should go on. The defendant has had time enough to prepare his case and these jurors must not be kept waiting.

The case was then formally called and the jury returned their verdict in favor of the State. The defendant has had time enough to prepare his case and these jurors must not be kept waiting.

The case was then formally called and the jury returned their verdict in favor of the State. The defendant has had time enough to prepare his case and these jurors must not be kept waiting.

The case was then formally called and the jury returned their verdict in favor of the State. The defendant has had time enough to prepare his case and these jurors must not be kept waiting.

The case was then formally called and the jury returned their verdict in favor of the State. The defendant has had time enough to prepare his case and these jurors must not be kept waiting.

The case was then formally called and the jury returned their verdict in favor of the State. The defendant has had time enough to prepare his case and these jurors must not be kept waiting.

The case was then formally called and the jury returned their verdict in favor of the State. The defendant has had time enough to prepare his case and these jurors must not be kept waiting.

The case was then formally called and the jury returned their verdict in favor of the State. The defendant has had time enough to prepare his case and these jurors must not be kept waiting.

The case was then formally called and the jury returned their verdict in favor of the State. The defendant has had time enough to prepare his case and these jurors must not be kept waiting.

The case was then formally called and the jury returned their verdict in favor of the State. The defendant has had time enough to prepare his case and these jurors must not be kept waiting.

CHU FONG AND GOW.

Mott Street Awaits the Big Smuggling Trial.

Chinese Laborers Brought In as Students or Actors.

Agency at Havana for the Direction of Immigrants.

The conspiracies, by means of which hundreds of Chinese laborers have been smuggled into the country, will probably be shown on the trial of Chu Fong, the richest man in Mott street.

Chu Fong will be placed on trial in the United States Circuit Court to-morrow, on a charge of smuggling a Chinese laborer into the United States. Chu Fong will be the chief witness against him.

Chu Fong, in addition to being a banker and a merchant at 35 Mott street, is manager of the Chinese Theatre, in Doyers street, and enjoys the distinction of being the Ward McAllister of Chinatown. His marriage, recently to the belle of Mott street, was an event heralded by display heads in the newspapers.

Chu Fong's story is that an agent in China directed him to go to Havana, where he would find fellow-countrymen who would, for a consideration, supply him with a passport, under which he would be able to get into the United States as a student or an actor.

When he reached Havana, he was directed to the office of Yung Sing, who is a partner of Chu Fong and in charge of his Havana branch. He says Yung Sing agreed to get him into the United States for $10, which he was to pay on his arrival to Chu Fong at his office in Mott street.

Chu Fong gave his note to Yung Sing for this amount, and he returned Yung Sing gave a note to him, in which it was specified that the $10 note was to be paid to Yung Sing on his arrival to Chu Fong at his office in Mott street.

Chu Fong gave his note to Yung Sing for this amount, and he returned Yung Sing gave a note to him, in which it was specified that the $10 note was to be paid to Yung Sing on his arrival to Chu Fong at his office in Mott street.

Chu Fong gave his note to Yung Sing for this amount, and he returned Yung Sing gave a note to him, in which it was specified that the $10 note was to be paid to Yung Sing on his arrival to Chu Fong at his office in Mott street.

Chu Fong gave his note to Yung Sing for this amount, and he returned Yung Sing gave a note to him, in which it was specified that the $10 note was to be paid to Yung Sing on his arrival to Chu Fong at his office in Mott street.

Chu Fong gave his note to Yung Sing for this amount, and he returned Yung Sing gave a note to him, in which it was specified that the $10 note was to be paid to Yung Sing on his arrival to Chu Fong at his office in Mott street.

Chu Fong gave his note to Yung Sing for this amount, and he returned Yung Sing gave a note to him, in which it was specified that the $10 note was to be paid to Yung Sing on his arrival to Chu Fong at his office in Mott street.

Chu Fong gave his note to Yung Sing for this amount, and he returned Yung Sing gave a note to him, in which it was specified that the $10 note was to be paid to Yung Sing on his arrival to Chu Fong at his office in Mott street.

Chu Fong gave his note to Yung Sing for this amount, and he returned Yung Sing gave a note to him, in which it was specified that the $10 note was to be paid to Yung Sing on his arrival to Chu Fong at his office in Mott street.

Chu Fong gave his note to Yung Sing for this amount, and he returned Yung Sing gave a note to him, in which it was specified that the $10 note was to be paid to Yung Sing on his arrival to Chu Fong at his office in Mott street.

Chu Fong gave his note to Yung Sing for this amount, and he returned Yung Sing gave a note to him, in which it was specified that the $10 note was to be paid to Yung Sing on his arrival to Chu Fong at his office in Mott street.

Chu Fong gave his note to Yung Sing for this amount, and he returned Yung Sing gave a note to him, in which it was specified that the $10 note was to be paid to Yung Sing on his arrival to Chu Fong at his office in Mott street.

Chu Fong gave his note to Yung Sing for this amount, and he returned Yung Sing gave a note to him, in which it was specified that the $10 note was to be paid to Yung Sing on his arrival to Chu Fong at his office in Mott street.

Chu Fong gave his note to Yung Sing for this amount, and he returned Yung Sing gave a note to him, in which it was specified that the $10 note was to be paid to Yung Sing on his arrival to Chu Fong at his office in Mott street.

VERY MUCH CHANGED.

The Visitor Who Expects to Be Introduced to the Senate This Week.

STEAMER BATTLES WITH ICE. TARIFF BILL ABOUT READY. SIRE'S LAWYERS WALK OUT.

It Took the Carlisle Two Days to Clear a Floe.

Port Bow Stove by Striking a Giant Berg.

Finance Committee Expected to Finish This Afternoon.

It Is Said They Will Appeal Miss Jacobs's Suit Again.

Section Abrogating the Hawaiian Treaty May Be Dropped.

Judge Sedgwick Refuses to Grant an Adjournment.

The Colonne's Premises.

It Is Said They Will Appeal Miss Jacobs's Suit Again.

Judge Sedgwick Refuses to Grant an Adjournment.

The Colonne's Premises.

It Is Said They Will Appeal Miss Jacobs's Suit Again.

Judge Sedgwick Refuses to Grant an Adjournment.

The Colonne's Premises.

It Is Said They Will Appeal Miss Jacobs's Suit Again.

Judge Sedgwick Refuses to Grant an Adjournment.

The Colonne's Premises.

It Is Said They Will Appeal Miss Jacobs's Suit Again.

Judge Sedgwick Refuses to Grant an Adjournment.

The Colonne's Premises.

It Is Said They Will Appeal Miss Jacobs's Suit Again.

Judge Sedgwick Refuses to Grant an Adjournment.

The Colonne's Premises.

It Is Said They Will Appeal Miss Jacobs's Suit Again.

Judge Sedgwick Refuses to Grant an Adjournment.

The Colonne's Premises.

It is also probable that the clause in the bill abrogating the Hawaiian treaty will be struck out. There has been some contention among the Democratic members on this score, and two or three votes have been taken upon a proposition to strike it out, a majority at first opposing this change.

The Visitor Who Expects to Be Introduced to the Senate This Week.

STEAMER BATTLES WITH ICE. TARIFF BILL ABOUT READY. SIRE'S LAWYERS WALK OUT.

It Took the Carlisle Two Days to Clear a Floe.

Port Bow Stove by Striking a Giant Berg.

Finance Committee Expected to Finish This Afternoon.

It Is Said They Will Appeal Miss Jacobs's Suit Again.

Section Abrogating the Hawaiian Treaty May Be Dropped.

Judge Sedgwick Refuses to Grant an Adjournment.

The Colonne's Premises.

It Is Said They Will Appeal Miss Jacobs's Suit Again.

Judge Sedgwick Refuses to Grant an Adjournment.

The Colonne's Premises.

It Is Said They Will Appeal Miss Jacobs's Suit Again.

Judge Sedgwick Refuses to Grant an Adjournment.

The Colonne's Premises.

It Is Said They Will Appeal Miss Jacobs's Suit Again.

Judge Sedgwick Refuses to Grant an Adjournment.

The Colonne's Premises.

It is also probable that the clause in the bill abrogating the Hawaiian treaty will be struck out. There has been some contention among the Democratic members on this score, and two or three votes have been taken upon a proposition to strike it out, a majority at first opposing this change.

LAST EDITION.

HER STORY RESUMED.

Miss Pollard Again on the Witness Stand To-Day.

Tells More of Breckinridge's Promises to Care for Her.

Colonel's Attention Kept Up Alas to His Public Wedding Day.

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, March 19.—Pressure for admission to the Circuit Court, where the Pollard-Breckinridge case is in progress, was greater this morning than it has been at any time before because of the expectation that Miss Pollard had returned to the witness stand for the continuation of the cross-examination which was started last Friday.

First among the important arrivals was the defendant, Col. Breckinridge, and soon afterwards came Miss Pollard, without the black cloak which she had worn before. She was dressed in a black cloth gown.

Several questions were asked by Mr. Carlisle in direct examination as soon as the plaintiff had taken the stand, the first one whether she had ever been married, to which the answer was "No, Mr. Carlisle."

"Who was the father of your first child?" was the next question, to which she replied, "Mr. Breckinridge."

Then, in continuation, the plaintiff related in greater detail than she had before the attempts of the Congressman to seduce her, saying that she had told her that he would take her to the house of a dear friend whom he had known in Louisville before he took her to the house of Mrs. Rose, in Cincinnati. He had told her that she had a wonderful intellect, and that she should be a writer, and it seemed to be completely under the influence of his wonderful powers of persuasion, she said.

The Colonne's Premises. The first thing they had been together they had walked the streets of Cincinnati, as they had done the next day, after their marriage. Col. Breckinridge had told her that he would oversee her education, that he would return to her the money which she had given him, and that he would take her to the house of a dear friend whom he had known in Louisville before he took her to the house of Mrs. Rose, in Cincinnati. He had told her that she had a wonderful intellect, and that she should be a writer, and it seemed to be completely under the influence of his wonderful powers of persuasion, she said.

When it was asked whether she was somewhat of a writer, she said she had written a number of articles for the Colonne, and that she had been confirmed in the Episcopal Church, and to the question, "Are you a member of the Colonne?" she replied, "Yes, I am a member of the Colonne."

When it was asked whether she was somewhat of a writer, she said she had written a number of articles for the Colonne, and that she had been confirmed in the Episcopal Church, and to the question, "Are you a member of the Colonne?" she replied, "Yes, I am a member of the Colonne."

When it was asked whether she was somewhat of a writer, she said she had written a number of articles for the Colonne, and that she had been confirmed in the Episcopal Church, and to the question, "Are you a member of the Colonne?" she replied, "Yes, I am a member of the Colonne."

When it was asked whether she was somewhat of a writer, she said she had written a number of articles for the Colonne, and that she had been confirmed in the Episcopal Church, and to the question, "Are you a member of the Colonne?" she replied, "Yes, I am a member of the Colonne."

When it was asked whether she was somewhat of a writer, she said she had written a number of articles for the Colonne, and that she had been confirmed in the Episcopal Church, and to the question, "Are you a member of the Colonne?" she replied, "Yes, I am a member of the Colonne."

When it was asked whether she was somewhat of a writer, she said she had written a number of articles for the Colonne, and that she had been confirmed in the Episcopal Church, and to the question, "Are you a member of the Colonne?" she replied, "Yes, I am a member of the Colonne."

When it was asked whether she was somewhat of a writer, she said she had written a number of articles for the Colonne, and that she had been confirmed in the Episcopal Church, and to the question, "Are you a member of the Colonne?" she replied, "Yes, I am a member of the Colonne."

When it was asked whether she was somewhat of a writer, she said she had written a number of articles for the Colonne, and that she had been confirmed in the Episcopal Church, and to the question, "Are you a member of the Colonne?" she replied, "Yes, I am a member of the Colonne."

When it was asked whether she was somewhat of a writer, she said she had written a number of articles for the Colonne, and that she had been confirmed in the Episcopal Church, and to the question, "Are you a member of the Colonne?" she replied, "Yes, I am a member of the Colonne."

When it was asked whether she was somewhat of a writer, she said she had written a number of articles for the Colonne, and that she had been confirmed in the Episcopal Church, and to the question, "Are you a member of the Colonne?" she replied, "Yes, I am a member of the Colonne."

When it was asked whether she was somewhat of a writer, she said she had written a number of articles for the Colonne, and that she had been confirmed in the Episcopal Church, and to the question, "Are you a member of the Colonne?" she replied, "Yes, I am a member of the Colonne."

When it was asked whether she was somewhat of a writer, she said she had written a number of articles for the Colonne, and that she had been confirmed in the Episcopal Church, and to the question, "Are you a member of the Colonne?" she replied, "Yes, I am a member of the Colonne."

Advertisement for 'The World's Circulation' with statistics: 'The World's Circulation for the first two months of 1894 averaged Daily, 433,167.'