

THE WAY TO SUCCESS. A SMALL ADVT. IN THE WORLD WILL GET YOU A PLACE. SITUATION 20 WORDS. ADVT. 10 CENTS. DAILY OR SUNDAY.

PRICE ONE CENT.

REAL ESTATE MEN, Take Advantage of the Last Sunday in April to Advertise Your Offerings in The World. No Extra Charge on Sunday.

LAST EDITION.

ARMY TAKEN, NO BLOODSHED.

Regular Troops Surround Hogan's Contingent of Train Stealers.

FULL PROSECUTION ORDERED.

Coxey's Own Indulge in Fisticuffs and Shooting at Frederick, Md.

ONE MAN JAILED, THREE VANISH.

Western Town, to Be Rid of Tramps, Forms Them Into "Industrials."

(By Associated Press.)

FORSYTHE, Mon., April 24.—The strong hand of the law has reached out and seized the Montana army of the Commonwealth. The army, 650 strong, came in here from the West at 10.45 last night. Its leaders gave it out that the train would remain in Forsythe until morning. At 11.30, however, the engineer went to the round-house and proceeded to start the train engine and prepare for the trip Eastward.

In the mean time Col. Page, of Fort Keogh, had secured a special train and was thundering down the road to meet the train-stealing contingent. He came into Forsythe shortly after midnight and found a large part of the Coxey army asleep in the box cars. The surprise was so complete that the Coxeyites gave up without a struggle.

The troops left most of the men aboard the train and surrounded it. The capture was effected by a company of 250 infantrymen. Nothing definite is known as to what will be done with the Commonwealthers, but it is supposed eight or ten of the leaders will be taken back to Butte to-morrow, and the other men set at liberty.

The Hogan army was so surprised at the prompt maneuvering of the regulars that the leaders capitulated and were taken into custody without trouble. There has been no bloodshed and none is expected.

As soon as this news was received by Lawyer James McNair, who is counsel for the Northern Pacific Railroad Company in New York City, he wired to Lawyer J. H. Mitchell, Jr., at St. Paul, Minn., and Messrs. Cullen and Toole, Helena, Mont., to proceed against the prisoners before United States Judge Knowles for contempt of court, and also to prefer charges of grand larceny against them for stealing the Company's train. Mr. McNair also instructed the Western lawyers to prefer charges of conspiracy, under the laws of Montana, against the mob and a charge of felonious assault, based on the fact of their firing on Deputy United States Marshals.

PORTLAND ARMY FOOLED.

They Climbed Into Box-Cars, and Then Got Side-Track.

PORTLAND, Ore., April 24.—Trouble is feared with the Portland contingent of the Industrial Army. The brigade marched from here 500 strong, and is now in camp at Troutdale, a village on the Northern Pacific, eighteen miles east of here.

The men attempted to capture a train here, but were foiled by the Company. The train usually carried a number of freight cars, and long before it started the army began climbing into the box-cars, but these were abandoned off from the passenger cars, leaving the Industrialists in the yard.

NORTHWESTERN ARMY OUT.

Leaves Seattle and Expects to Take a Train at Puyallup.

SEATTLE, Wash., April 24.—The Northwestern Industrial forces, 160 strong, marched out of town last night, first making a demonstration on the principal streets, which were packed with people to see them depart. They marched through Seattle, four miles, and camped for the night in a church and several deserted store buildings.

Commander Shepard says the men will be marched to Puyallup, thirty miles distant on the Northern Pacific, where, he says, a train will be taken. He refuses to tell how he expects to get the train and admits that the Northern Pacific refused to give him one.

Frye's Corps at Brazil, Ind.

BRAZIL, Ind., April 24.—Gen. Frye's division of the Industrial Army has arrived here, having come from Terre Haute in sections, some by rail and some on foot. They pitched their tents on the banks of the Wabash off from Chicago and Indiana Coal road depot. The General delivered a speech last evening.

MRS. GANTZ'S LETTER

Identified as Her Writing by the Plaintiff's Father.

Refers to Hayward's Eyes and Signs Herself "Loving Nell."

Eason Tells of the Mysterious Disappearance of Letters.

When the third day of the trial of the suit of Walter H. Gantz for absolute divorce from Cornelia A. Gantz began before Judge Dugro and a jury in the Superior Court this morning the courtroom was crowded.

Abner Hayward, the co-respondent, accompanied by his wife, was again in court and occupied a seat within the railing.

Mrs. Gantz had changed the blue costume she wore yesterday for one of black. The only particle of color about her costume to-day was a bunch of pink flowers worn in the front of her black hat.

The first witness to-day was Thaddeus S. Eason, of Newark, N. J., a friend of Hayward, who testified that he had given Mrs. Gantz's letters to him when her husband began the suit for divorce.

Eason told of the mysterious disappearance of letters. He said that he had given Mrs. Gantz a large package of letters to keep for him. The letters were sealed and he did not know the contents of the letters.

Witnesses had seen the package of letters in a parcel box and placed the box in his trunk. His trunk was kept locked all the time.

Early in 1913 witness saw the package of letters in a parcel box and placed the box in his trunk. His trunk was kept locked all the time.

Witness said that he had seen the package of letters in a parcel box and placed the box in his trunk. His trunk was kept locked all the time.

Witness said that he had seen the package of letters in a parcel box and placed the box in his trunk. His trunk was kept locked all the time.

Witness said that he had seen the package of letters in a parcel box and placed the box in his trunk. His trunk was kept locked all the time.

Witness said that he had seen the package of letters in a parcel box and placed the box in his trunk. His trunk was kept locked all the time.

Witness said that he had seen the package of letters in a parcel box and placed the box in his trunk. His trunk was kept locked all the time.

Witness said that he had seen the package of letters in a parcel box and placed the box in his trunk. His trunk was kept locked all the time.

Witness said that he had seen the package of letters in a parcel box and placed the box in his trunk. His trunk was kept locked all the time.

FIRE, PANIC, THEFT.

Thrilling Rescue of Two Girls from a Burning Tenement.

Ladders, Lowered from the Roof, Hooked in Their Dresses.

Shrine Stripped of Jewelry, and a Watch and Money Stolen.

A fire which broke out at 2.30 o'clock this morning in the three-story Italian tenement at 56 Mulberry street caused a panic, and there was a number of narrow escapes from death.

When the fire had been extinguished it was found that in a number of rooms where the firemen had worked considerable money and jewelry were missing.

The tenement was once painted white, and though the paint has long since worn off the bricks the house still stands out prominently, far better than the others in the neighborhood.

The house is well known to all the people of the street, as it is the residence of Sabina Romalo, the wealthiest man in Mulberry street. Romalo is estimated to be worth $20,000.

He has a macaroni factory at 190 Mott street. He leases the tenement house and lives in it with his wife and six children.

On the ground floor Francisco Carro keeps a grocery store. On the top floor Genaro Romalo, a brother of the macaroni manufacturer, lives with his wife, Barbara, his wife, and five children.

In a little hall bedroom on the top floor, which faces the street, the Italians have erected a shrine to St. Joseph. It is a statue of marble, which was purchased by them a year ago.

Around the neck of this statue was a heavy gold chain of elaborate workmanship and curious design, and pendant from it a massive gold locket.

On the pedestal there were four gold rings. It was the custom of the family to have the fire broke out from some unknown cause.

Commissioner James Donlin, who has the Mulberry street post from Hayward street to Worth street, saw the glare of the fire and rushed up the stairs.

He saw the fire through the dark hall and up the narrow stairs, but his cries of alarm were of no effect.

When he had already burst from the room of devotion and were eating their way along the stairs.

Donlin broke in the door of Genaro Romalo's room. Then his great trouble began. He saw the fire and was aroused to the fact that the house was on fire.

Donlin saw the fire and was aroused to the fact that the house was on fire. He saw the fire and was aroused to the fact that the house was on fire.

UNWELCOME VISITORS.

Commissioner Welles, of Brooklyn, Transfers Twelve Ward Men.

He Deserves His Wife and Mrs. Ladue Her Husband.

Mrs. Jones and McCumber Caught the Fever and Went Along.

The long expected shake up among the detectives in the Brooklyn Police Department came to-day. Twelve men who enjoyed easy berths as ward men were switched around, and it is possible that other men will be transferred within a few days.

Since he came into office on Feb. 1, Commissioner Welles has been trying to stamp out the policy dens. He has been making an investigation, and the result has prompted him to make these transfers.

In a memorandum filed with the order, Commissioner Welles said:

"I have been determined since I took office to break up policy playing in the city of Brooklyn. For a time there seemed to be a considerable number of evidence that there has recently been a renewed effort to continue the business, and it is necessary that unless transfers are made, which will insure more efficient action on the part of the police, policy playing cannot be stamped out."

With the intention of making a reform in this respect, I have ordered the following assignments of detectives on precinct duty. These are made solely for the purpose of enforcing my order in this respect. Should that not be sufficient to suppress the evil other and more important changes will be made in the force in the near future.

I wish the public to fully understand this matter. I have ordered the following assignments of detectives on precinct duty. These are made solely for the purpose of enforcing my order in this respect.

While the public to fully understand this matter, I have ordered the following assignments of detectives on precinct duty. These are made solely for the purpose of enforcing my order in this respect.

While the public to fully understand this matter, I have ordered the following assignments of detectives on precinct duty. These are made solely for the purpose of enforcing my order in this respect.

While the public to fully understand this matter, I have ordered the following assignments of detectives on precinct duty. These are made solely for the purpose of enforcing my order in this respect.

While the public to fully understand this matter, I have ordered the following assignments of detectives on precinct duty. These are made solely for the purpose of enforcing my order in this respect.

While the public to fully understand this matter, I have ordered the following assignments of detectives on precinct duty. These are made solely for the purpose of enforcing my order in this respect.

While the public to fully understand this matter, I have ordered the following assignments of detectives on precinct duty. These are made solely for the purpose of enforcing my order in this respect.

While the public to fully understand this matter, I have ordered the following assignments of detectives on precinct duty. These are made solely for the purpose of enforcing my order in this respect.

While the public to fully understand this matter, I have ordered the following assignments of detectives on precinct duty. These are made solely for the purpose of enforcing my order in this respect.

TWO COUPLES ELOPE.

One of the Principals, Embezzler Cox, Will Be Brought Back.

He Deserves His Wife and Mrs. Ladue Her Husband.

Mrs. Jones and McCumber Caught the Fever and Went Along.

The long expected shake up among the detectives in the Brooklyn Police Department came to-day. Twelve men who enjoyed easy berths as ward men were switched around, and it is possible that other men will be transferred within a few days.

Since he came into office on Feb. 1, Commissioner Welles has been trying to stamp out the policy dens. He has been making an investigation, and the result has prompted him to make these transfers.

In a memorandum filed with the order, Commissioner Welles said:

"I have been determined since I took office to break up policy playing in the city of Brooklyn. For a time there seemed to be a considerable number of evidence that there has recently been a renewed effort to continue the business, and it is necessary that unless transfers are made, which will insure more efficient action on the part of the police, policy playing cannot be stamped out."

With the intention of making a reform in this respect, I have ordered the following assignments of detectives on precinct duty. These are made solely for the purpose of enforcing my order in this respect.

I wish the public to fully understand this matter. I have ordered the following assignments of detectives on precinct duty. These are made solely for the purpose of enforcing my order in this respect.

While the public to fully understand this matter, I have ordered the following assignments of detectives on precinct duty. These are made solely for the purpose of enforcing my order in this respect.

While the public to fully understand this matter, I have ordered the following assignments of detectives on precinct duty. These are made solely for the purpose of enforcing my order in this respect.

While the public to fully understand this matter, I have ordered the following assignments of detectives on precinct duty. These are made solely for the purpose of enforcing my order in this respect.

While the public to fully understand this matter, I have ordered the following assignments of detectives on precinct duty. These are made solely for the purpose of enforcing my order in this respect.

While the public to fully understand this matter, I have ordered the following assignments of detectives on precinct duty. These are made solely for the purpose of enforcing my order in this respect.

While the public to fully understand this matter, I have ordered the following assignments of detectives on precinct duty. These are made solely for the purpose of enforcing my order in this respect.

While the public to fully understand this matter, I have ordered the following assignments of detectives on precinct duty. These are made solely for the purpose of enforcing my order in this respect.

While the public to fully understand this matter, I have ordered the following assignments of detectives on precinct duty. These are made solely for the purpose of enforcing my order in this respect.

THE SAMOAN QUESTION.

Movement for a British Protectorate No Longer Disguised.

Mrs. Peck Gets an Order in Her Divorce Proceedings.

Mary Peck has got an order from Judge Gildersleeve, of the Superior Court, for the publication of a summons in an action against Hirshey De Witt Peck for an absolute divorce.

They were married Feb. 24, 1906, and have a son twenty-three years old. She says her husband abandoned her in January, 1901, while they were living at 214 Willis avenue. She accuses him of intimacy with an unknown woman.

Enslie's Sister Wants an Autopsy.

An autopsy will be performed at St. Luke's Hospital to-day on the body of Robert Enslie, who died at that institution last evening. It was held at the request of his sister's request.

His Mangled Body Found on the Railroad Track Near New Brunswick.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., April 24.—The body of Anthony Brisco, who had an office in room 203 of the Stewart Building, New York, and lived at 20 Henderson street, Jersey City, was found, horribly mangled, on the tracks of the Pennsylvania Railroad at Dean's station, six miles from here, at 3.15 o'clock this morning.

How he met his death is not known. Coroner McDevitt believes he was robbed and his body placed on the track.

Brisco was a client of Van Cleaf, Daly & Woodbridge, lawyers, of this city, who say he was a wealthy and influential Italian who formerly lived in New York. He was owned a wholesale grocery store in South Newark.

His presence at Dean's station is explained by the fact that he had a farm there, which he occasionally visited. It is supposed that he intended to return to New York at 2.35 this morning on the "owl" train.

Brisco was found by the freight hands on a freight train. His body was brought to New Brunswick in a sack. All the parts were not recovered owing to the darkness.

Coroner McDevitt found three of his pockets turned inside out. There was no money or jewelry in his clothes, but a large batch of papers was found in an inside pocket.

Among these letters were two from Richard Croker. One dated July 10, 1905, spoke of Mr. Croker's return from Richfield Springs, and that he would personally see Commissioner Andrews about some poison for which Brisco had made application.

Another letter to Brisco was from T. S. Williams, private secretary of Gov. Flower, in which Mr. Flower regretted that he did not personally know Dr. J. H. Bennett, superintendent of the Board of Immigration, to give Mr. Brisco a letter of introduction.

Brisco's body now lies at McDevitt's morgue here. The head is but little bruised, and the features are easily recognizable. Brisco was about forty years old, of medium height, and had dark hair and eyes.

The authorities are investigating the matter. Mayor James H. Van Cleaf, chief counsel for Brisco, said this afternoon that there was little doubt in his mind that Brisco was murdered. He says that he has had much trouble with the colony of Italians who live near his farm. Brisco had been negotiating for the sale of the place, and may have had the money in his pocket when robbed.

Brisco is said to have been a fugitive from justice. The people around in Sullivan street, where Brisco had a grocery store, say he was a court interpreter and that he had a big pull in the Street-Cleaning Department. They say he cheated about forty Italians out of $20 each.

DELMAR MURDER INQUEST.

Formal Affair, with a Verdict in Accordance with Facts.

Coroner Schultz this morning held an inquest in the new Criminal Court Building over the body of John Delmar, who was shot in Thomas Hunt's saloon, Seventy-sixth street and Avenue A, on Easter Eve last by "Bull" Powers, a local tough.

The inquest was merely formal. Nothing but the statement of the physician, as well as that of the prisoner, was taken, as Powers had already been indicted by the Grand Jury.

A verdict was rendered in accordance with the facts presented.

Michael Kavan from Home.

Richard Hillan of 49 Border street, East Boston, called at Police Headquarters this morning and had an alarm sent out for his friend Michael J. Killion, who has been missing since April 1. He left his home in Cambridgeport a few days ago, and it is thought that they are in his city.

Police of Williamsburg are looking for Maggie Dempsey, a girl five years old, of 24 Havemeyer street, who is thought to have been kidnapped. Little Maggie disappeared on Tuesday, and nothing has been seen of her since.

Field May Linger Many Days.

Cyrus W. Field, who is told in "The Evening World," is in the last stages of consumption, may linger for several days. He passed a comparatively easy night.

Johnnie Stone Socks.

Eleven-year-old John Williams, of 154 Cherry street, was held for trial in Essex Market Court to-day in company with some other boys he had stolen socks from in front of Isaac Skelton's dry goods store, at 87 Catherine street. Williams was arrested with the stolen socks in his possession.

Hallo Will Not Suspend.

C. de Grima, the artist, announces that the impression that the comic paper Hallo, is to suspend publication is incorrect. He states that it will be published as heretofore, but under his copyright.

You read the Evening World! Do you read the Sunday World!

You read the Evening World! Do you read the Sunday World!

You read the Evening World! Do you read the Sunday World!

You read the Evening World! Do you read the Sunday World!

LAST EDITION.

WAS BRISCO MURDERED?

His Mangled Body Found on the Railroad Track Near New Brunswick.

MONEY AND JEWELRY GONE.

He Was a Prominent Tammany Hall Man and Friend of Richard Croker.

HAD LETTERS FROM THE CHIEF.

Belief that He Was Robbed and His Body Placed on the Rails.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., April 24.—The body of Anthony Brisco, who had an office in room 203 of the Stewart Building, New York, and lived at 20 Henderson street, Jersey City, was found, horribly mangled, on the tracks of the Pennsylvania Railroad at Dean's station, six miles from here, at 3.15 o'clock this morning.

How he met his death is not known. Coroner McDevitt believes he was robbed and his body placed on the track.

Brisco was a client of Van Cleaf, Daly & Woodbridge, lawyers, of this city, who say he was a wealthy and influential Italian who formerly lived in New York. He was owned a wholesale grocery store in South Newark.

His presence at Dean's station is explained by the fact that he had a farm there, which he occasionally visited. It is supposed that he intended to return to New York at 2.35 this morning on the "owl" train.

Brisco was found by the freight hands on a freight train. His body was brought to New Brunswick in a sack. All the parts were not recovered owing to the darkness.

Coroner McDevitt found three of his pockets turned inside out. There was no money or jewelry in his clothes, but a large batch of papers was found in an inside pocket.

Among these letters were two from Richard Croker. One dated July 10, 1905, spoke of Mr. Croker's return from Richfield Springs, and that he would personally see Commissioner Andrews about some poison for which Brisco had made application.

Another letter to Brisco was from T. S. Williams, private secretary of Gov. Flower, in which Mr. Flower regretted that he did not personally know Dr. J. H. Bennett, superintendent of the Board of Immigration, to give Mr. Brisco a letter of introduction.

Brisco's body now lies at McDevitt's morgue here. The head is but little bruised, and the features are easily recognizable. Brisco was about forty years old, of medium height, and had dark hair and eyes.

The authorities are investigating the matter. Mayor James H. Van Cleaf, chief counsel for Brisco, said this afternoon that there was little doubt in his mind that Brisco was murdered. He says that he has had much trouble with the colony of Italians who live near his farm. Brisco had been negotiating for the sale of the place, and may have had the money in his pocket when robbed.

Brisco is said to have been a fugitive from justice. The people around in Sullivan street, where Brisco had a grocery store, say he was a court interpreter and that he had a big pull in the Street-Cleaning Department. They say he cheated about forty Italians out of $20 each.