PAID $5 TO SAVE TEN CENTS.

World-Be "L" Road Swindlers Have a Costly Experience.

There was a small riot at the South Ferry station of the Sixth avenue "L" road at 1 o'clock this morning, when eight men attempted to pass Ticket Chopper George Hillbut, of 57 Ninth avenue, by putting three tickets in the box.

There were thirteen in the party, but when they got upstairs only eight were present. All were intoxicated. Peter Howard bought three tickets and told the party to march.

This they did, but Chopper Hillbut stopped them and called the policeman Parker of the Old slip station, who captured five of them. They were Michael Powers, twenty-eight, of 284 Washington street; Patrick Doherty, twenty-five, 22 West Fifty-fourth street; Peter Howard, twenty-five, 22 West Houston street; Patrick Donohue, twenty-three, of 20 Dominick street; Patrick Dally, twenty-four, of 22 West Houston street; John Shea, thirty-two, of 284 Washington street; and Michael Sullivan, twenty-eight, of 29 Carmine street.

They were all arrested in the Tombs Police Court this morning and appeared before Justice Martin for trial with a fine of $1 each, which they paid.

SUGAR AGAIN IN DEMAND.

Big Business Done Attended with Some Excitement.

The week opened with a quiet condition of affairs at the Stock Exchange outside of Sugar. The activity in this stock, however, more than made up for the dullness of the general list.

Advices from Washington that the Sugar Trust would receive increased protection led to an active demand for the shares, and at the opening sales were made simultaneously at 100 1/2 up to 108 against 104 1/2 at the close on Saturday.

The shorts were considerably alarmed, and in their haste to cover bid the price up on themselves to 106 1/2.

The rise was taken advantage of by the bulls to get rid of a block of "long" stock, and a reaction to 104 1/4 to 105 ensued.

The dealings were attended with considerable excitement and in the first hour no less than 75,000 shares changed hands.

For a time the railway list held firm, but the bears afterwards made a drive at the trangers, and the whole list declined. American Tobacco falling 1/2, to 87; Canadian Pacific 5/8, to 67; Burlington & Quincy 1/8, to 71 1/2; Chicago Gas 1/2, to 62 1/2; Rock Island 1/2, to 65 1/2; Denver & Rio Grande preferred 1/2, to 21 1/2; Manhattan 5/8, to 125 1/2; 5-8, to 107 1/2, and Omaha 7/8, to 38 1/2.

The steamship La Bourgogne, which brought 230,000 francs gold consigned to Heibelbach, Ickelheimer & Co., and 500,000 francs gold consigned to order.

BOYS GET OFF EASILY.

Warned After Stoning a New Haven Passenger Train in the Tunnel.

Two well-dressed boys named Raymond Gillian and John Dickson, each three years old, and living respectively at 53 Third avenue and 208 East Thirty-seventh street, were charged in Yorkville Court this morning with stoning trains, through an opening in Park avenue yesterday.

Yesterday afternoon Policeman Roche, of the East Fifty-first street station, saw a gang of youngsters at the Fifty-third street entrance of the tunnel, hurling stones at the incoming 619 New Haven train.

The crash of several panes of glass, followed by screams of the afflicted passengers, could be plainly heard on the street. Roche seized the two boys and four other youngsters, and took them to the station-house, where their parents secured their release on bonds to be in court to-day.

Depot Agent Henderson was in court in behalf of the Company and produced some of the rocks which had been thrown. Some of them were the size of goose eggs. The boys on the promise they would throw stones again, were discharged.

HAD TO FORCE THE WEDDING.

Robert and Maud Potter Appealed to the Law to Marry Them.

Robert and Maud Potter, of Thirtieth avenue and Horatio street, were before Justice Ryan, in the Jefferson Market Court, this morning with a strange petition. They wanted him to compel some Alderman to join them in wedlock.

"They have been living together unmarried for the ninth year," testified Agent Deubert, of the Gerry Society, who presented them to the Justice, "and as they have an adopted child, they are entitled to the same rights as married people. I will not be allowed to retain it unless their relations towards each other are such as to justify my doing so."

They were both returned to the Alderman Kehan to perform the ceremony at the City Hall, and accordingly the couple, the clergy and the Alderman started off together for the wedding.

A STRANGER BOUGHT POISON.

Philadelphia Woman Kills Herself With Laudanum.

PHILADELPHIA, April 30.—Mrs. Anna E. Rhea, sixty-six years of age, of 219 North Twenty-ninth street, committed suicide Saturday night by taking laudanum obtained through a stranger. She was a hypochondriac and subject to attacks of melancholia.

Her family had warned neighboring druggists not to sell her poison, but Mrs. Rhea eluded them by throwing money, wrapped up in a note, out the window, and obtained the laudanum through the first passing stranger.

FOUND A POT OF COINS.

Workmen in an Excavation Scramble for Treasure.

The Foreman Says There Were 150 Rare Pieces of Money.

Discovered at 139 Cedar Street by Tony Cadmore.

People along Cedar street have thought for twenty-five years that there was something of unusual interest in the tumble-down frame building known as the Sheffield Hotel, at 139, and when Contractor John Pett commenced tearing it down preparatory to building an addition to the Electric Exchange the residents of the neighborhood were on the tip-toe of excitement.

Foreman Tony Cadmore had charge of the work and was warned to look out for mysteries, so he says he was not very much surprised when he ran his pick into a kettle full of coin and turned back some five or six hundred dollars worth of 150 pieces of silver and copper money into the mud.

The find was made one day last week when the excavation was down nine feet, and Cadmore is therefore inclined to believe the kettle was buried years ago, while that part of the city was in process of being filled in. He at once thought of a story he had heard that a Spanish miser lived there a century ago, and that he had buried his treasure in a hole in the wall of the building.

A score of Italian workmen made a dive towards the pot of money, still buried in the mud, and in a few minutes, Mr. Cadmore says, there was a scramble for the coins that challenged description.

Men grabbed handfuls of mud and money, and in attempting to get away what is worth, they were all in a scuffle. Mr. Cadmore himself was in the scrimmage, and came out, he states, with a piece of Roman coin, the time of Nero, an English piece of 1780, a Spanish quarter, an American penny of 1793 and other pieces of interest.

He thinks the Roman coin is most valuable and has given it to Mr. Pett to find out what it is worth.

There were at least 150 coins in the pot," he said to-day. "The Italians and the Spaniards got most of them, and haven't showed them for fear they would be taken away. Much of the money was in process of being melted down, and had rooms at 1233 Flushing avenue. She was rather an eccentric character, and she did not want to go home last night and finally Mrs. Borowiak gave her the money and told her to stay there all night."

"I have often done as before," said Mrs. Borowiak, "and I never did me any harm. It is true she was in an insane condition for seven years, but she always appeared to me to be harmless."

HEMMED IN BY ICEBERGS.

Steamer Corean Was Impounded Four Days by a Floc.

PHILADELPHIA, April 30.—After a twenty-one-day voyage of unusual severity the Allan line steamer Corean has arrived at this port, bearing marks of a long battle with icebergs and icefloes. The Corean left Glasgow on April 8, sailing for this port via Liverpool and Halifax, the last port of entry entered to save the ship from disaster.

On April 18, in latitude 43.30, longitude 48.45, ice was first encountered, and the next day, just before dawn, the Corean was hemmed in by a floe of ice. The steamer was then fifteen miles off Cape Race, and it was found that the ice field was so thick that it was impossible to make either side. It was impossible to make the harbor of St. John's, N. F.

During four days the Corean was fast-bound and the icebergs threatened to crush the vessel. The cold was severe and the wind blew from the north. The Corean was within two miles of shore, and Third Officer Pierson was sent to land to communicate with the Corean's agents, asking for orders. They replied instructing Capt. Main to proceed to Halifax as soon as the vessel became free.

Gen. Anson G. McCook and Gen. Samuel Thomas are also mentioned for Chairman.

BURNED TO A CRISP.

Awful Fate of Aged and Insane Mrs. Braunschweiger.

Belief that She Started the Fatal Fire Herself.

Thought to Be Mrs. Borowiak, in Whose Flat She Was Sleeping.

Mrs. Ottella Braunschweiger, a widow, sixty-five years old, was burned to death at 5 o'clock this morning in her rooms at 231 Hopkins street, Williamsburg. It is said she had been mentally unbalanced for several years, and the police believe she started the fire herself.

The Hopkins street house is a large double-decker tenement, crowded with people. Henry Marco, who lives on the same floor with Mrs. Braunschweiger, saw smoke coming from her room, and turned in an alarm. When the engine came the tenants rushed to the street in all kinds of costumes. None were hurt, and the damage done by the flames amounted only to $50 on the building and $100 on furniture.

The fire broke into the room where the fire started, they saw the body of a woman stretched out on the floor, and they were unable to see by which it could be recognized. Neighbors searched the room, and finally found the body as that of Mrs. Elizabeth Mrs. Borowiak has a sister, who is the wife of Policeman Henry Marco, and his wife, Jennie, started to Humboldt to look for her. She was found inside the house the first person they saw was Mr. Borowiak.

"Why, you are dead!" screamed Mrs. Marco.

"Shake hands with me and see," replied Mrs. Borowiak, advanced Mrs. Marco endeavored to ward her off, and then fell fainting to the ground. She was removed after some delay, and finally was convinced that her friend had not been hurt.

She had last evening Mrs. Borowiak decided to spend the night at her sister's house and left her own room for the corner of the Graham and Montrose avenues side street, Braunschweiger, who she has known for many years, and who had rooms at 1233 Flushing avenue. She did not want to go home last night and finally Mrs. Borowiak gave her the money and told her to stay there all night.

"I have often done as before," said Mrs. Borowiak, "and I never did me any harm. It is true she was in an insane condition for seven years, but she always appeared to me to be harmless."

SUPT. WISHART SUBPENAED.

Police Commissioners Want to Know Who "Mrs. Jones" Is.

Capt. Stevin's Trial Resumed—Zella Nicolaus an Interrupter.

The trial of Police Capt. Stevin, of the Oak street station, on charges preferred by Police Commissioner MacLean, of having failed to suppress disorderly houses at 75 and 90 James street, was resumed before the Commissioners to-day.

The trial was begun Friday. The only witnesses for the complainant were William L. Sawyer and John Edward Thompson, private detectives in the employ of Dr. Parkhurst's Society for the Prevention of Vice.

Both gave damaging testimony against Capt. Stevin. They detailed minutely repeated visits to the places named, told of buying drinks and having been solicited by women.

Lawyer Howe, who appeared for Capt. Stevin, subjected the witnesses to a most vigorous and severe cross-examination, and he endeavored to lessen the effect of their testimony.

The detectives denied they were employed by the Parkhurst Society in these particular cases. They had been engaged by Supt. Wishart, they said, to observe quietly and unobtrusively the habits of a Mrs. Jones, who they were informed, paid their expenses and wages through Mr. Wishart.

Mr. Howe, it is understood, will endeavor to learn to-day who the mysterious Mrs. Jones is who has manifested so much interest in the affairs of Capt. Stevin's precinct.

There is little doubt that a woman is really behind the prosecution of the case, which fact lends added interest to the trial.

A subpoena was issued this morning for Supt. Wishart, of the Parkhurst Society, to try to find who the mysterious "Mrs. Jones" is.

It was learned to-day that Zella Nicolaus was the cause of the trial being interrupted Saturday. She called at Police Headquarters and sent a note to Mr. Howe asking for five minutes' conversation.

Last night the fair complainant against George Gould called at the residence of Mrs. Hummel and had a talk with him, the nature of which could not be learned to-day.

CHIN SING WALKS OUT OF PART I, GENERAL SESSIONS, UNNOTICED.

HAWKINS BEATEN BY THE HUSBAND OF A PRETTY COLORED WOMAN.

John Brown and his wife, Lillian, a handsome and stylishly dressed young couple, of 46 Second avenue, were held by Justice Ryan at the Jefferson Market Court this morning in $1,500 bail each for examination.

They were charged by Edward Hawkins, of 121 East Sixty-ninth street, with having played the badger game upon him last night.

Hawkins claimed in court that he had been a frequent visitor at Mrs. Brown's house in the absence of her husband. Hawkins knew the woman as Lillian Davis. He was to her house last night when there was a knock came at the door.

"That's my husband," said the woman. Hawkins begged her not to open the door for a few minutes.

He was in the meanwhile, seems to have tired of waiting and broke in the door. As soon as he could get sight of me," said Hawkins, "he drew a revolver and pointed it at my head. He told me to get out or he would die. I asked him to give me an opportunity to dress, but for a reply, Brown grabbed a heavy walking-stick and beat me over the head with it."

"In one of the pockets of my coat which I left behind I had $14, and another one a $1 bill. In my vest I had a valuable gold watch and chain."

Hawkins complained at the West Fifty-seventh street station-house, and Policeman John E. Carley arrested the Browns.

At the station-house Brown was found to have a watch, which Mrs. Brown had $25 and a bank-book made out in the name of Lillian Davis.

Mrs. Brown's twenty-year-old son was also removed to the station-house. Their lawyer says they will prove the money found in their possession belonged to them.

Hawkins presented a badly battered appearance, and his examination will take place next Wednesday.
