

FREE VOTED DOWN.

Mr. Hill, in conclusion, declared that he proposed to place those who were not so on record.

Mr. Vest, in reply, explained that the duty fixed was the rate of the Mills bill, and that as between the two the committee had discriminated in favor of the miners.

Senator Stewart characterized the course of the committee in this article of importation as a discrimination against the rest.

Senator Aldrich declared the adoption of the amendment would result in the destruction of the lead mining interest in the territory.

Senator Power devoted his attention largely to the White Lead Trust.

Senator Duffell's attack upon the tariff bill.

The vote on the free list was defeated—yeas, 3; nays, 52. Mills, Hill and Irby were the only dissenters.

After the result of the vote was announced, Mr. Hill, rising from his seat, said: "I desire to congratulate the distinguished Senator from Maryland that he is now leading in the consideration of the chamber with great unanimity."

Senator Aldrich replied that there had never been any division in the republic side that the Senator from Maryland would be found standing for protection.

Senator Stewart characterized the course of the committee in this article of importation as a discrimination against the rest.

Senator Aldrich declared the adoption of the amendment would result in the destruction of the lead mining interest in the territory.

Senator Power devoted his attention largely to the White Lead Trust.

Senator Duffell's attack upon the tariff bill.

The vote on the free list was defeated—yeas, 3; nays, 52. Mills, Hill and Irby were the only dissenters.

After the result of the vote was announced, Mr. Hill, rising from his seat, said: "I desire to congratulate the distinguished Senator from Maryland that he is now leading in the consideration of the chamber with great unanimity."

Senator Aldrich replied that there had never been any division in the republic side that the Senator from Maryland would be found standing for protection.

Senator Stewart characterized the course of the committee in this article of importation as a discrimination against the rest.

Senator Aldrich declared the adoption of the amendment would result in the destruction of the lead mining interest in the territory.

Senator Power devoted his attention largely to the White Lead Trust.

Senator Duffell's attack upon the tariff bill.

The vote on the free list was defeated—yeas, 3; nays, 52. Mills, Hill and Irby were the only dissenters.

After the result of the vote was announced, Mr. Hill, rising from his seat, said: "I desire to congratulate the distinguished Senator from Maryland that he is now leading in the consideration of the chamber with great unanimity."

Senator Aldrich replied that there had never been any division in the republic side that the Senator from Maryland would be found standing for protection.

Senator Stewart characterized the course of the committee in this article of importation as a discrimination against the rest.

Senator Aldrich declared the adoption of the amendment would result in the destruction of the lead mining interest in the territory.

Senator Power devoted his attention largely to the White Lead Trust.

Senator Duffell's attack upon the tariff bill.

The vote on the free list was defeated—yeas, 3; nays, 52. Mills, Hill and Irby were the only dissenters.

After the result of the vote was announced, Mr. Hill, rising from his seat, said: "I desire to congratulate the distinguished Senator from Maryland that he is now leading in the consideration of the chamber with great unanimity."

Senator Aldrich replied that there had never been any division in the republic side that the Senator from Maryland would be found standing for protection.

Senator Stewart characterized the course of the committee in this article of importation as a discrimination against the rest.

Senator Aldrich declared the adoption of the amendment would result in the destruction of the lead mining interest in the territory.

Senator Power devoted his attention largely to the White Lead Trust.

Senator Duffell's attack upon the tariff bill.

The vote on the free list was defeated—yeas, 3; nays, 52. Mills, Hill and Irby were the only dissenters.

After the result of the vote was announced, Mr. Hill, rising from his seat, said: "I desire to congratulate the distinguished Senator from Maryland that he is now leading in the consideration of the chamber with great unanimity."

Senator Aldrich replied that there had never been any division in the republic side that the Senator from Maryland would be found standing for protection.

Senator Stewart characterized the course of the committee in this article of importation as a discrimination against the rest.

Senator Aldrich declared the adoption of the amendment would result in the destruction of the lead mining interest in the territory.

Senator Power devoted his attention largely to the White Lead Trust.

Senator Duffell's attack upon the tariff bill.

The vote on the free list was defeated—yeas, 3; nays, 52. Mills, Hill and Irby were the only dissenters.

After the result of the vote was announced, Mr. Hill, rising from his seat, said: "I desire to congratulate the distinguished Senator from Maryland that he is now leading in the consideration of the chamber with great unanimity."

Senator Aldrich replied that there had never been any division in the republic side that the Senator from Maryland would be found standing for protection.

Senator Stewart characterized the course of the committee in this article of importation as a discrimination against the rest.

Senator Aldrich declared the adoption of the amendment would result in the destruction of the lead mining interest in the territory.

Senator Power devoted his attention largely to the White Lead Trust.

Senator Duffell's attack upon the tariff bill.

The vote on the free list was defeated—yeas, 3; nays, 52. Mills, Hill and Irby were the only dissenters.

After the result of the vote was announced, Mr. Hill, rising from his seat, said: "I desire to congratulate the distinguished Senator from Maryland that he is now leading in the consideration of the chamber with great unanimity."

Senator Aldrich replied that there had never been any division in the republic side that the Senator from Maryland would be found standing for protection.

Senator Stewart characterized the course of the committee in this article of importation as a discrimination against the rest.

Senator Aldrich declared the adoption of the amendment would result in the destruction of the lead mining interest in the territory.

Senator Power devoted his attention largely to the White Lead Trust.

Senator Duffell's attack upon the tariff bill.

The vote on the free list was defeated—yeas, 3; nays, 52. Mills, Hill and Irby were the only dissenters.

After the result of the vote was announced, Mr. Hill, rising from his seat, said: "I desire to congratulate the distinguished Senator from Maryland that he is now leading in the consideration of the chamber with great unanimity."

Senator Aldrich replied that there had never been any division in the republic side that the Senator from Maryland would be found standing for protection.

Senator Stewart characterized the course of the committee in this article of importation as a discrimination against the rest.

Senator Aldrich declared the adoption of the amendment would result in the destruction of the lead mining interest in the territory.

Senator Power devoted his attention largely to the White Lead Trust.

Senator Duffell's attack upon the tariff bill.

The vote on the free list was defeated—yeas, 3; nays, 52. Mills, Hill and Irby were the only dissenters.

After the result of the vote was announced, Mr. Hill, rising from his seat, said: "I desire to congratulate the distinguished Senator from Maryland that he is now leading in the consideration of the chamber with great unanimity."

Senator Aldrich replied that there had never been any division in the republic side that the Senator from Maryland would be found standing for protection.

Senator Stewart characterized the course of the committee in this article of importation as a discrimination against the rest.

Senator Aldrich declared the adoption of the amendment would result in the destruction of the lead mining interest in the territory.

Senator Power devoted his attention largely to the White Lead Trust.

Senator Duffell's attack upon the tariff bill.

The vote on the free list was defeated—yeas, 3; nays, 52. Mills, Hill and Irby were the only dissenters.

After the result of the vote was announced, Mr. Hill, rising from his seat, said: "I desire to congratulate the distinguished Senator from Maryland that he is now leading in the consideration of the chamber with great unanimity."

HOW GLADYS WAS STOLEN.

Clarence Coddington's Story of the Kidnapping of His Sister.

The Coddington-Fellows case was for a time transferred to the Yorkville Police Court.

Goodwin and her son, Clifford Goodwin, appeared in response to a summons on a charge of kidnapping little Gladys Coddington, three years old.

The case was not called until after 11 o'clock.

Clarence Coddington, the ten-year-old son of Mrs. Coddington-Fellows, was the first witness.

He was asked to describe the morning of May 9, and lead her to a closed carriage.

He said Clifford Goodwin returned for Gladys's milk-bottle.

Clarence Coddington, the ten-year-old son of Mrs. Coddington-Fellows, was the first witness.

He was asked to describe the morning of May 9, and lead her to a closed carriage.

He said Clifford Goodwin returned for Gladys's milk-bottle.

Clarence Coddington, the ten-year-old son of Mrs. Coddington-Fellows, was the first witness.

He was asked to describe the morning of May 9, and lead her to a closed carriage.

He said Clifford Goodwin returned for Gladys's milk-bottle.

Clarence Coddington, the ten-year-old son of Mrs. Coddington-Fellows, was the first witness.

He was asked to describe the morning of May 9, and lead her to a closed carriage.

He said Clifford Goodwin returned for Gladys's milk-bottle.

Clarence Coddington, the ten-year-old son of Mrs. Coddington-Fellows, was the first witness.

He was asked to describe the morning of May 9, and lead her to a closed carriage.

He said Clifford Goodwin returned for Gladys's milk-bottle.

Clarence Coddington, the ten-year-old son of Mrs. Coddington-Fellows, was the first witness.

He was asked to describe the morning of May 9, and lead her to a closed carriage.

He said Clifford Goodwin returned for Gladys's milk-bottle.

Clarence Coddington, the ten-year-old son of Mrs. Coddington-Fellows, was the first witness.

He was asked to describe the morning of May 9, and lead her to a closed carriage.

He said Clifford Goodwin returned for Gladys's milk-bottle.

Clarence Coddington, the ten-year-old son of Mrs. Coddington-Fellows, was the first witness.

He was asked to describe the morning of May 9, and lead her to a closed carriage.

He said Clifford Goodwin returned for Gladys's milk-bottle.

Clarence Coddington, the ten-year-old son of Mrs. Coddington-Fellows, was the first witness.

He was asked to describe the morning of May 9, and lead her to a closed carriage.

He said Clifford Goodwin returned for Gladys's milk-bottle.

Clarence Coddington, the ten-year-old son of Mrs. Coddington-Fellows, was the first witness.

He was asked to describe the morning of May 9, and lead her to a closed carriage.

He said Clifford Goodwin returned for Gladys's milk-bottle.

Clarence Coddington, the ten-year-old son of Mrs. Coddington-Fellows, was the first witness.

He was asked to describe the morning of May 9, and lead her to a closed carriage.

He said Clifford Goodwin returned for Gladys's milk-bottle.

Clarence Coddington, the ten-year-old son of Mrs. Coddington-Fellows, was the first witness.

He was asked to describe the morning of May 9, and lead her to a closed carriage.

He said Clifford Goodwin returned for Gladys's milk-bottle.

Clarence Coddington, the ten-year-old son of Mrs. Coddington-Fellows, was the first witness.

He was asked to describe the morning of May 9, and lead her to a closed carriage.

He said Clifford Goodwin returned for Gladys's milk-bottle.

Clarence Coddington, the ten-year-old son of Mrs. Coddington-Fellows, was the first witness.

He was asked to describe the morning of May 9, and lead her to a closed carriage.

He said Clifford Goodwin returned for Gladys's milk-bottle.

Clarence Coddington, the ten-year-old son of Mrs. Coddington-Fellows, was the first witness.

He was asked to describe the morning of May 9, and lead her to a closed carriage.

He said Clifford Goodwin returned for Gladys's milk-bottle.

Clarence Coddington, the ten-year-old son of Mrs. Coddington-Fellows, was the first witness.

He was asked to describe the morning of May 9, and lead her to a closed carriage.

He said Clifford Goodwin returned for Gladys's milk-bottle.

Clarence Coddington, the ten-year-old son of Mrs. Coddington-Fellows, was the first witness.

He was asked to describe the morning of May 9, and lead her to a closed carriage.

He said Clifford Goodwin returned for Gladys's milk-bottle.

Clarence Coddington, the ten-year-old son of Mrs. Coddington-Fellows, was the first witness.

He was asked to describe the morning of May 9, and lead her to a closed carriage.

He said Clifford Goodwin returned for Gladys's milk-bottle.

Clarence Coddington, the ten-year-old son of Mrs. Coddington-Fellows, was the first witness.

He was asked to describe the morning of May 9, and lead her to a closed carriage.

He said Clifford Goodwin returned for Gladys's milk-bottle.

Clarence Coddington, the ten-year-old son of Mrs. Coddington-Fellows, was the first witness.

He was asked to describe the morning of May 9, and lead her to a closed carriage.

He said Clifford Goodwin returned for Gladys's milk-bottle.

Clarence Coddington, the ten-year-old son of Mrs. Coddington-Fellows, was the first witness.

He was asked to describe the morning of May 9, and lead her to a closed carriage.

He said Clifford Goodwin returned for Gladys's milk-bottle.

Clarence Coddington, the ten-year-old son of Mrs. Coddington-Fellows, was the first witness.

He was asked to describe the morning of May 9, and lead her to a closed carriage.

He said Clifford Goodwin returned for Gladys's milk-bottle.

Clarence Coddington, the ten-year-old son of Mrs. Coddington-Fellows, was the first witness.

He was asked to describe the morning of May 9, and lead her to a closed carriage.

He said Clifford Goodwin returned for Gladys's milk-bottle.

WAITING WAS HIS FORTUNE.

He Got the Vent for 40 Cents After a Long Siege.

Six months ago a clothing dealer on Jefferson avenue put a lot of Summer vests in the front window and marked them at 50 cents each.

They had not been on display but a day or two before a young man entered and looked them over and said:

"I want one of them, but 75 cents is too much for me."

His offer was refused and he walked out. In about a week he returned, but the man who had looked at the vests every week he has appeared and renewed his offer.

About the end of August he was dropped in on the observer.

"It's only a few days to September now."

"Yes."

"They all say we are to have an early winter."

"Shouldn't wonder if we would have snow by the middle of September."

"There won't be any sale for Summer vests after the 1st."

"No."

"Give you 60 cents for that striped one which you have been looking at."

"I couldn't do it."

"Give you the cash right down on the spot."

"No sir."

"All right for you—all right! There is no more to be had. I will have to hand to wait. Feller wanted to ask me $50 for a pair of yellow shoes about two weeks ago. He has been looking at them every day for ten shillings. There is a gal up our way who has been expecting a pair of large black shoes for four years. I may say that, but there is no great rush. Won't take 60 cents to you."

Yesterday he got 'em.

—SHE BOSSES ALL.

The Girl on a Bicycle Demands the Right of Way Over Everything.

There is a new Terror in town, says the editor of the "Daily News."

It goeth forth like a lion, seeking whom it may run down.

It is more terrible than a car of Juggernaut, because it can speed around the square while Juggernaut is turning right.

It is more terrible than an army with banners; yes, than an army of nurses with their stethoscopes.

It is what need to say—the Woman on a Bicycle.

She can have some slight protection against the Man on the Bicycle when he goes on a rampage.

They can get out of the gutter and mud at him. They can scramble upon the fence and hurl hard hunks of laundry into his eyes.

They can get on his back and walk down his back.

They can get on his back and walk down his back.

They can get on his back and walk down his back.

They can get on his back and walk down his back.

They can get on his back and walk down his back.

They can get on his back and walk down his back.

They can get on his back and walk down his back.

They can get on his back and walk down his back.

They can get on his back and walk down his back.

They can get on his back and walk down his back.

They can get on his back and walk down his back.

They can get on his back and walk down his back.

They can get on his back and walk down his back.

They can get on his back and walk down his back.

They can get on his back and walk down his back.

They can get on his back and walk down his back.

They can get on his back and walk down his back.

They can get on his back and walk down his back.

They can get on his back and walk down his back.

They can get on his back and walk down his back.

They can get on his back and walk down his back.

They can get on his back and walk down his back.

They can get on his back and walk down his back.

They can get on his back and walk down his back.

They can get on his back and walk down his back.

They can get on his back and walk down his back.

They can get on his back and walk down his back.

They can get on his back and walk down his back.

They can get on his back and walk down his back.

They can get on his back and walk down his back.

They can get on his back and walk down his back.

They can get on his back and walk down his back.

They can get on his back and walk down his back.

They can get on his back and walk down his back.

They can get on his back and walk down his back.

They can get on his back and walk down his back.

They can get on his back and walk down his back.

They can get on his back and walk down his back.

They can get on his back and walk down his back.

They can get on his back and walk down his back.

They can get on his back and walk down his back.

They can get on his back and walk down his back.

They can get on his back and walk down his back.

They can get on his back and walk down his back.

They can get on his back and walk down his back.

They can get on his back and walk down his back.

BANANA CULTURE.

An Idea of How This Seedless Fruit is Grown.

In the Eastern tropics the number of varieties and species of bananas and banana-like plants is large.

In the tropics the number of varieties and species of bananas and banana-like plants is large.

In the tropics the number of varieties and species of bananas and banana-like plants is large.

In the tropics the number of varieties and species of bananas and banana-like plants is large.

In the tropics the number of varieties and species of bananas and banana-like plants is large.

In the tropics the number of varieties and species of bananas and banana-like plants is large.

In the tropics the number of varieties and species of bananas and banana-like plants is large.

In the tropics the number of varieties and species of bananas and banana-like plants is large.

In the tropics the number of varieties and species of bananas and banana-like plants is large.

In the tropics the number of varieties and species of bananas and banana-like plants is large.

In the tropics the number of varieties and species of bananas and banana-like plants is large.

In the tropics the number of varieties and species of bananas and banana-like plants is large.

In the tropics the number of varieties and species of bananas and banana-like plants is large.

In the tropics the number of varieties and species of bananas and banana-like plants is large.

In the tropics the number of varieties and species of bananas and banana-like plants is large.

&lt;