MONTEAL, June 7.—The officials of the Canadian Pacific deny the morning report of the loss of the Raymond-Whitcomb excursion train through a cloud-bomb and washout on the Fraser River. A telegram just received from Field, B. C., states that the party referred to is still there waiting for the road to be cleared west.

BOSTON, June 7.—The following message was received in the office of the Raymond & Whitcomb Company at 10.55, dated Montreal, June 7, 10.42 A. M.: Just received advice. Impossible to get your party through to-day, and it will be three or four days before they can be transferred. Suggestion is made that you had better cancel accommodation on Queen and if possible secure a steamer.

Another Official Denial. E. V. Skinner, agent of the Canadian Pacific in New York City, has received the following message from the general offices of that Company at Montreal: No truth in the report that the Raymond & Whitcomb party have met with any trouble. They are now being in the Company's hotel at Field, B. C., and are being prepared for their return to Montreal.

The Misdemeanor Despatch. The following was the despatch reporting the wreck, as it came from the West, this morning: VANCOUVER, B. C., June 7.—News is just coming in that the wreck of the Raymond-Whitcomb excursion train, which consisted of palace cars, is from Boston, Mass., and had been guaranteed passage to the mountain division, and was rushing ahead when the wrecked roadbed, occasioned by the cloudburst, was struck. The sleeping-cars were piled in an awful mass. There is no authentic news as to the loss of life.

WHO WERE IN THE PARTY. Numbers of New York and Brooklyn People Bound for Alaska. BOSTON, June 7.—The Raymond excursion party, which left here on May 28, on the trip to Alaska, through the Canadian Rockies and along the line of the Northern Pacific Railroad, through Montreal, Winnipeg, Banff, Hot Springs, Glacier, Puget Sound, Seattle, Tacoma and Portland, was in charge of Henry C. Lyon, of this city, and was made up of twenty-three people, as follows: Mrs. M. H. CHANDLER, Newark, N. J. Miss LOTTIE M. GREGORY, Troy, N. Y. Miss T. HEALY, Brooklyn. SACHEM IN THE LEAD. New York Club Has a Great Day for Its Regatta. Fine West Northwest Wind and a Good Sea On. Wasp Making a Show of Gloriana, Her Antagonist.

With a strong westerly wind and a choppy sea the yachts entered for the forty-ninth annual regatta of the New York Yacht Club went booming away on their journey to-day when the signal to start was given by the flagship. It was as stiff a blow as a yachtsman could wish for, and the way some of the boats keeled over was a sight to behold.

Table with columns: Race, No. Yacht, Time, Allowance, etc. Includes Schooners-Class 1 and 4, Mixed Rig-Class-Cruising Trim, etc.

The schooners and four of the craft in the mixed rig lot will go over course No. 1, which is from buoy No. 12 to buoy No. 12, near Southwest Spit, passing to the south and west of it, thence south of buoy No. 10 and north of the bell buoy of the point of Sandy Hook to Sandy Hook Lightship, turning it from the north to the east, and returning over the same course.

The yachts started at 11.15 from below the Narrows. Wind, twenty miles, northwest. Wasp was over the line first, with her old antagonist, Gloriana, 100 yards astern. Then came Queen Mab, her brilliant black hull and white rig, in sharp contrast with the sleek, white hulls of the other boats.

The schooners Emerald and Ariel went away on nearly even terms, the former being slightly in the lead. The rest were pretty well bunched, crossing in the following order: Loyal, Alice, North Star, and the rest.

Grouped about the flagship were nearly all the steam yachts now in competition in the vicinity, each carrying a cargo of beauty, arrayed in the feminine idea of the latest form in yachting attire. The guests were invited to make the spume fly in clouds from weather bows, and the "sou'westers" were in demand.

Sachedm rounded Sandy Hook Lightship at 12.15, and the rest of the fleet followed. The yachts all set spinnakers and headed for the lightship. Steam yachts, Viking, Intrepid, day boats, Revere, Embala and Nooya are following the fleet on their course.

THE "TERROR" CAUGHT FIRED AT STRIKERS. Tremont's Wild Man Easily Bagged by the Police. Among His "Weapons" Were a Soythe and a Pipe.

Thomas Coreo, the so-called wild man of Claremont Park, was arrested in the park at 4 A. M. to-day by Roundsman John W. Smith and Policeman Kennedy, of the Tremont mounted police.

Coreo had anything but the appearance of a half-starved maniac, as described. He was fat and apparently well fed. He was, however, poorly dressed, and had not been shaved for two weeks.

He answered Justice Burke's questions intelligently. He said he was a laborer, and being out of work and having no home, he slept in the cave. He said he never, intentionally, tried to harm any one, but that he had been quarreling with some of his own countrymen who had annoyed him.

The policeman saw Coreo cross a field and go into a vacant house used by Charles Jones for storage. The man submitted to arrest without resistance. He was taken to the District House, where articles from his sleeping place, which is an old excavation with a large rock projecting at the top, forming a sort of roof. Two small trees stand on the edge of the excavation.

From the furthest corner of the artificial hollow Coreo drew his alleged weapons of war, a pipe, a straw hat and a rusty brookery.

Coreo's queer antics have caused terror among the residents of the District for several days. Though it was said he was armed like a bandit of his native Italy, the yachtsmen, however, were not so concerned. The strange individual had done no harm, as far as was known, but he was a nuisance to the neighborhood.

It was reported to the police Tuesday that a savage maniac, bewitched and unbalanced, black with anger, with a revolver and a dirk, was living in an old hut in the park, and it was feared he would commit murder or other acts of violence.

Two policemen at once began a search for the "terror." They caught sight of him once, when they say, he flourished a dirk, and was sorrowfully about to strike a man. Before they could get near enough to get an effective shot at him, however, he disappeared into the bushes. The search was continued, but the pursued was securely hidden.

Instructions were given to send the police reserves out yesterday to make a systematic search of the park and neighborhood. The rain interfered with this programme, but two bedraggled policemen were sent out yesterday to search the park all day looking for the alleged demon.

Just at 2 P. M. they say, they were rewarded and also started by seeing the man, gun in hand and his other implements, in the hands of a young man on top of the hill at the Mount Eden side of the park, near the novel where he had been hiding.

The policemen then began some of the tactics illustrated by Col. Cody's red men. Getting out their revolvers they started firing at the man, who fled towards where the queer personage stood, intending to surprise him, and the man was on his guard, however, and detecting the sly bluecoats, he ran for a swamp, and there was nothing to do but wait for him to reappear.

AN ENCOUNTER AT FARMERSBURG. Indiana Troops Respond to a Volley of Stones with Bullets. Reinforcements Leave Shelburn but Are Not Needed.

SHELBY, Ind., June 7.—About 1 o'clock this morning, several drunken men approached the picket line around the ninety militia camp stations at Farmersburg and taunted the guards. One man attempted to pass through the line, and was brought to a halt. The intruder hurled a brick at the guard and the latter opened fire. This was the signal for a general fusillade of stones and firing by the guards. Forty or fifty shots were fired in quick succession.

Col. Ebel, of Terre Haute, in command of the three companies, called to arms all his men, but they were unable to run down the attacking party, not one being found. The firing caused great excitement. A general alarm was sounded and Companies D., of Washington, A., of Indianapolis and the second Regiment of Indianapolis, under Col. Rose, were ordered to Farmersburg on the double quick.

Three companies, under Major Pennington, were ordered out to skirmish between this place and Farmersburg. It was feared that there might be a general attack made on the small force. No strikers were overhauled on the way up, all the troops remaining here were held on the reserve until 4 o'clock, when a message to Gen. McKee from Col. Ebel, at Farmersburg, announced that there seemed to be no more danger. The six companies sent forward returned here at 5.45 this morning.
