Baseball and not "give-away," is the game, Capt. Ward.

The North River waits invitingly for that big rally span.

This is the day when the Senate was to have voted on the Tariff bill.

When traction companies fall out over franchises, what do Aldermen get?

There is nothing dry about expert evidence as the Lexow Committee gets it.

It is not to be suggested that Croker doesn't fully appreciate what he is missing.

Gov. Flower is not announced as about to issue a book on "Votes That Had Been Better Unwilt."

Like the green-goods men, the "straight" ticket operators are on the lookout for "come-ons" and "guys."

There is no such thing as Republican rapid transit nor as Democratic rapid transit. It must be New York rapid transit.

The green-goods business is surely no longer an infant industry. Yet the Lexow Committee finds that it is extremely well protected.

"Apologetic" statements of a compromising kind—the people, like the Madrid, have got them on the list. And they never will be missed.

A "police school" in one corner saloon; a green-goods "turning joint" in another. Thus is industry profitably diversified in New York City.

Some of the people who have been frying the fat out of certain "protected" industries in New York are undergoing quite a roasting of their own these days.

The average New Yorker was surprised to find in the report of yesterday's proceedings before the Lexow Committee how many new things could be told about green goods.

Yesterday's green goods testimony before the Lexow Committee might be put in pamphlet form for the benefit of the "guys" of whom the shapers find that several are born every fifteen minutes.

June weather is again fervid. Remember the sick babies in the tenement houses, to whom the hot, stifling air is almost as poison. And, remembering come to their aid through "The Evening World" Sick Babies' Fund.

Senator Lexow's Committee in New York could give points to the Senate Sugar Committee on how to investigate. But there is good reason to suspect that there are points which the Committee at Washington is willing to escape.

Under the influence of daily eye-openers New York begins to know itself better. And the self-knowledge acquired ought to lead to a constantly strengthening desire for the boon of self-government. Only through its own efforts can the city become a better New York.

Esteemed contemporary cities of America will get what comfort they can out of the testimony of Green-Goods Steerer. Appa that "there is no other city in the United States, outside of New York, where we can work with impunity." This is one respect in which New York does not care to perpetuate its uniqueness.

Green-Goods Steerer Appa told the Lexow Committee that he had known "guys" returning for a second dose after having had one experience with the shapers. It seems almost incredible. But New York City will be in the same position of "two times a guy" if it does not use its united energies, now that so constantly strengthening desire for the boon of self-government, which has been developed open eyes in the city for "what there is in it." And these energies cannot be united on a "straight" local ticket basis.

YESTERDAY'S DEVELOPMENTS. The time of the Lexow Committee was mainly occupied yesterday with a history of the green-goods business that has surprised the unsophisticated Senators from Nyack and Binghamton and Clyde.

An expert who confesses to several years' experience in the trade and who is a trained criminal, gave some surprising statistics, showing the thorough organization and extensive operation of the business as well as its tempting profits. It must astonish many New Yorkers even to learn that fifteen thousand green-goods circulars are sent out of the city daily; that one "boss" of the business has a capital of a hundred thousand dollars of genuine money always on hand to show to the victims; that this person's private bank has occasionally as high as eight thousand dollars in a day, and that the witness himself, as a "steerer" on a 5 per cent. interest has made, with "tips," six hundred dollars in one day's work.

The witness testified, from belief, that the police are "in" with the green-goods bosses, and give them and their employees protection. He declares that every policeman at the depots and ferries knows him and his business, and when he is "steering" a customer he is never interfered with. The "backer" is the man who gives the money to the police, but the employees are all told that they are under "protection." The witness also testified that the green-goods people have a friend in the Post-Office to look after their interests.

The direct evidence against the witness in this testimony, but a strong presumption that some of them are in the pay of the green-goods men. In the disorderly house features of the investigation yesterday the first rebuff was experienced by the prosecution in a witness who, in the witness stand, swore he never paid a dollar for police protection and was never asked for a dollar.

It is very desirable that the investigation should be vigorously pushed. A long record of talks of, and the evidence for the defense is to be postponed until after the case for the prosecution is closed. It is very desirable that the evidence should be all in before election. There is or ought to be nothing political about the investigation, and the result should not be left in uncertainty when the election is held.

The Committee had better sit all the Summer than have a doubt rest upon the entire fairness and impartiality of its work.

THE "HE DID IT" PLEA. The testimony in the Carnegie frauds investigation shows that the books in which the records of the plates were kept, and which would have shown on their face fraudulent alterations, were destroyed as a matter of course by the testimony of the witness still who is likely to cause a demand for their production.

This plays havoc with the claim that the frauds were the work of subordinates in the Company, and that the principals had nothing to do with them. The witness still says that he is likely to go to the Carnegie Company's partners, big and little.

It is very certain that somebody did it and that the somebody could not have done it without an accomplice and approval of the heads of the concern.

THE GREAT OBJECTOR. Mr. Johnson, of Indiana, a Republican Congressman, was speaking for a fight in the House yesterday. He attempted to bully and brow beat Mr. Maddox, of Georgia, but the latter did not seem disposed to submit to such treatment, and the Speaker-at-Arms was compelled to step in between the two belligerent Representatives to prevent blows from being interchanged.

Prior to that Mr. Johnson had aired his vocabulary on Mr. Holman, whom he described as "a small, venous man with a high forehead and a pair of eyes like the Indian Appropriation bill." Mr. Holman sat perfectly still and took no notice of the tirade. But at its close Mr. Pendleton, of West Virginia, rose to reply, when Mr. Holman, interrupting, expressed the hope that he would take notice of the Indiana bully's remarks.

Mr. Holman has risen to make many "objections" in the House, but never such a popular one as this, the members breaking forth into an uproar of applause at his refusal to allow the House to be disgraced by blackguardism.

THE WORLD IS STILL ARMED. While the Coal Battle is Won, the $4.50 a Ton Sign is Still Up.

THE BABIES' MASCOT. Bonnie Thornton's "Twiggy-Vous, My Boys," Has Caught On.

So Has "The Babies Fund," Which Brings a Silver Shower.

ROTH'S JEWELRY SEIZED. Columbia Passenger Charged with Trying to Smuggle It In.

Passengers Say He Made Himself Obnoxious During the Voyage.

The first person to land when the Hamburg-American steamship Columbia arrived at her dock in Hoboken today was Ignatz Roth, a German, who appeared in a particular hurry to leave.

Col. Story, chief of the customs inspectors, noticed the man's anxiety to get away, and followed him to the street, where he accosted him. He objected to returning to the inspector's office until threatened with arrest.

When searched, a quantity of jewelry, consisting of rings, pins, brooches and hairpins, was found concealed on his person. He claimed they were presents for members of his family, and denounced their confiscation as an outrage.

IT WASN'T A FALSE ALARM. Polly Thought to Frighten Workmen, and Got Caught by a Blast.

Polly Petzer probably never read the story of the boy who alarmed his relatives by yelling "Wolf" when there were no wolves and at last got eaten up by the wolf because the grown folks thought his cries were only another false alarm.

LETTERS. What Britons Have Done.

It is a great pity that so many of our countrymen should have the privilege accorded them by writing rubbish to your admirable Journal. The history of our islands has revolutionized the world. British statesmen have subjugated savages and heathens, and planted the banner of Christ around the world, and opened up vast territories unknown to man a few years ago.

Birds at the Races. Hats for the races—the land and water—match the dress. It is the custom to compliment the gentlemen of the family by introducing the jockey or club colors. Nothing stands the dust so well as a hat.

Browned Tomatoes. Now that tomatoes are becoming large and finer, browned tomatoes will be found very appetizing. Take large round tomatoes and halve them, place them, stem down, in a frying-pan in which a very small quantity of butter and lard has been previously melted, sprinkle them with salt and pepper, and dredge well with flour.

A New Walking Hat. The Duchess of York is the name given to the English walking hat that has proved most popular this season, perhaps because of its adoption of the title of the lovely Princess who was beloved as May of Teck before she became the present Queen of England. This is a simple hat, consisting especially of appropriate with tailor gowns and with morning toilets, and is worn alike by elegant young matrons and by unmarried girls, who find it more becoming than the sailor hat, because it is less severe in shade.

Strawberry Charlottes. Charlotte russe may be converted into a most delicate strawberry dessert. Make a hole in the centre of the whipped cream filling, and into this put some berries or jam, and ornament the top. This is an excellent way of utilizing a small quantity of fruit.

Pretty Portieres. The cheapest material for portieres is denim, which may now be procured not only in the old-fashioned weaves, that is dark blue on one side and light blue on the other, but also in warm shades of blue and red that are designed especially for hangings. In making portieres of this fabric, allow two widths for the fringe, and cut the widths fourteen inches longer than the desired length of the portiere.

Strawberry Saracens. Strawberry, thin slices of toast, sugar, butter. Butter the toast generously and line with it the bottom and sides of a china dish which can be set in the oven. The pieces of toast, made of stale bread and cut quite thin, should be very well dried in toasting. They should be trimmed to fit the dish nicely. Fill the remaining space with stemmed strawberries, packed closely. Sift plenty of sugar over and among the berries and set in a moderate oven for thirty minutes or until the fruit has melted a good deal and settled. It will be found that they melt away so much that the remaining space with stemmed strawberries, packed closely.
