

BROOKLYN NEWS.

NO WONDER BURGLARS FLED.

Confronted by a Fake Safe After Entering the Store.

Dropped Their Tools and Went Out to Kick Themselves.

Albert Davis, a sign painter, of 33 Myrtle avenue, Brooklyn, rushed into the Adams street police station at 7 o'clock this morning and told the sergeant at the desk that thieves had entered his store during the night and had evidently become alarmed and fled, leaving a kit of safe-breakers' tools behind. Nothing was stolen.

Mr. Davis said the burglars were evidently attracted to his store by the supposition that he had a large sum of money locked in a large safe which stands against the wall in the front of the store, between two windows.

The sergeant immediately called up Police Headquarters on the telephone and reported the case. Two detectives from the Central Office were detailed to investigate the matter.

They learned from Davis that the place was securely locked up at 10 o'clock last night. When Davis and his assistant, a young man named Pyle, reached the place this morning they found a kit of tools scattered over the floor. The thieves had entered the place by climbing over a back fence. After working a piece of plank they unfastened the latch and entered.

The detectives looked over the premises and found that the safe bore no marks of having been tampered with. They gathered up the tools, together and carried them to the station-house.

In the lot were two jimmies, an iron hammer, covered with bluish, used as a "breaker," a small chisel, round punch and several other implements. The detectives also learned some additional facts which were not entered upon the blotter, and promised to investigate the case.

An "Evening World" reporter called at the store this morning and gathered these facts, which were withheld by the police. The safe is five feet high, and is constructed of pine wood, covered with oilcloth, the rest of which had been concealed by several coats of black coach paint. The combination lock was constructed of two door knobs, and the heavy hinges were merely sections of a broom-handle, ornamented with small rubber balls. The safe was open on the side nearest Mr. Davis' work bench, and it had no back to it. Davis confessed that it cost only 80 cents to construct.

"Some time ago," he said, "I built a shelf on which I could store my cardboard. Then I put in the front, and conceived the idea of making it appear like a safe. I never knew how well it had done my work until now."

"The safe" is certainly a remarkable imitation of the real article. To a person entering the front door it seems like a safe, such as can be found in the stores of hundreds of prosperous merchants.

Night-Throwing Cereus.
I. Austin Shaw, the florist, of 624 Fulton street, near Washington avenue, Brooklyn, has in his show-window a night-blooming cereus which will unfold twelve flowers at once. Points who know, say that this plant may be considered a rare good trait.

ACCUSES THREE MEN.

Mrs. Joyce Says She Was Assaulted and Robbed.

Mrs. Joyce, of 54 Hope street, appeared in the Lee Avenue Court, Williamsburg, to-day as complainant against three young men, all of whom were held by Justice Goetting for further examination.

According to the woman's story, she was sitting in her apartment yesterday afternoon when suddenly William Ellis, Robert Thurb and James Dempsey entered. The first named is a carpenter, being at 221 Irving avenue, while the other men reside at 131 Hope street.

Ellis, Mr. Joyce says, asked where her husband was, and when told that he was at work became very familiar. The woman screamed for assistance, but Ellis cut her and covered her mouth and stopped her cries. Then, it is alleged, he assaulted her.

In the mean time it is claimed, Thurb and Dempsey stole a clock and got away with it. Ellis cut her and covered her mouth and stopped her cries. Then, it is alleged, he assaulted her.

USED CHARITY AS A CLOAK.

Hart Collected Money for a Motherless Child.

George Hart, twenty-three years old, who says he lives at 111 North Sixth street, was held in the Lee Avenue Court, Williamsburg, to-day on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses.

Hart secured a list of the members of St. Paul's Universalist Church on South Ninth street from the pastor, J. Coleman Adams, and then went around collecting money on the plea that it was needed for a poor child who would have to be sent to the country to save its life.

Would Not Take Her Warning.
CONNIE ISLAND, L. I., June 26.—Frank Lawrence, aged fifteen years, of 145 Thompson street, New York, was taken before Justice Finney to-day on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses.

He was taken by a woman to get away as the police were looking for him, but he refused to do so. He was remanded by Justice Finney to await the action of the New York authorities.

DIAMOND SALESMAN DRUNK.

Carried Valuable Gems with Him While on a Spree.

William Bulbo, a free-lance, well-dressed Italian salesman, about thirty-five years old, was fined $10 by Justice Goetting in the Lee Avenue Court, Brooklyn, this morning, on a charge of intoxication.

Bulbo says he lives at 164 Leonard street, New York. He has been in Brooklyn since starting with some very valuable diamonds in his possession. He was picked up on Fifth avenue by Officer Kelly, of the Sixth precinct, on Monday night, and was arraigned before Justice Goetting yesterday morning.

About 10 o'clock yesterday morning he was found by a policeman on Court street. Bulbo told the officer that he had come over to Brooklyn on Saturday to deliver a pair of diamond earrings valued at $150 to the wife of a friend of his.

When Bulbo was discharged this morning he promised to make headlines for his Maiden in Manhattan.

YOUTH ON THE WARPATH.

Saw the Wild West Show, and Then Used His Pistol.

Justice Goetting, in the Lee Avenue Court, Williamsburg, to-day placed Alfonso Mirco, fourteen years old, of 516 Flushing avenue, in the charge of the Children's Society.

Mirco's father took him to Buffalo, N. Y., to see the Wild West show. He was armed with a toy pistol, and as he only had blank cartridges, he used an exploded shell as a bullet.

At 36 Nostrand avenue, directly in front of where the youth was held, lives six-year-old Frank Court. The child came out to the gate, and after appearing from his hiding place with a whip, he shot at the victim. Young Court fell to the ground with a wound over his right eye. Officer Hollington chased Mirco for three blocks before he caught him. The wounded boy is not dangerously hurt.

TWO SNEAKING THEFTS.

A Landlady and a Chinaman Similarly Operated Upon.

A young man called at the home of Mrs. Isabelle Lawrence, 25 Adams street, Brooklyn, this morning and asked whether he might engage a furnished room. He was left alone in the parlor a few minutes, and when Mrs. Lawrence returned she discovered that he had gone with her pocketbook containing $28.

David Dolb, a Chinese laundryman, of 121 Third avenue, Brooklyn, was robbed this morning of $25, a diamond pin and other articles. A young man entered his laundry and told him to call at 135 Fifth street for some clothes. While the laundryman was in an inner room the thief stole the goods and ran out. Then he ransacked the premises and got away.

KELLY SHED TEARS IN COURT.

Made Countercharges of Cruel Treatment Against His Wife.

He Couldn't Afford a Lawyer, Although Mrs. Kelly Cried.

Hannah Kelly and her husband, Michael, appeared before Judge Van Wyck in the City Court, Brooklyn, this morning, and each told tales of the other's cruelty.

Mrs. Kelly brought suit against her husband for limited divorce on the ground of cruelty. She was represented by Lawyer Jacob Schaaf, who told her story.

Feb. 21, 1892, he said Kelly beat his wife at 57 Central avenue, and when they lived at 24 Irving avenue he frequently called her, once he met his wife on Myrtle avenue, the lawyer said, and placed her arms until they were black and blue.

Kelly was then called to the bar. In a trembling voice he told his side of the story, which was very pathetic.

"I'm not able to have a lawyer," he said, "although my wife can afford one. I never treated her badly. She stole my two children from me, and when one died she never told me."

"She buried the child in a secret grave," he continued, "and I can never visit it. My wife wears fine clothes that I never paid for, and she rides in carriages. She is anxious to get rid of me, and has often said:

"Mike, I'd rather be an old man's darling than a young man's slave." I never paid her, and she told me to hire a lawyer, and adjourned the case until the defendant had a chance to procure counsel.

TROLLEY CARS COLLIDE.

Mrs. Marshall Badly Bruised in the Smash-Up.

Trolley car 84 of the Atlantic Avenue Railroad Company collided with car 313 of the same line at Fifth avenue and Twenty-fifth street, South Brooklyn, this morning.

Mrs. A. J. Marshall, of 256 Eighth street, a passenger, was thrown from her seat and sustained several bruises about the body. She was taken home.

The switch at the point where the collision occurred had been misplaced. Car 313 was coming down the street from the Union Depot at a high rate of speed. The other car was bound up and was standing on the opposite track.

Car 306 struck the switch and jumped it. The two cars came together with a terrific crash.

Several passengers were badly shaken up, and the cars were damaged to the extent of $19 each.

Tom and Dick Club's Outing.

The Tom and Dick Club, which is an organization composed of politicians and business men of the Ninth and Fifteenth wards, will celebrate the Fourth of July by a fishing excursion. The members will start at midnight of July 3 from the foot of Eleventh street, North River.

OH! WHAT A CUT THIS IS!

Brooklyn's Budget Is Reduced Nearly $1,000,000.

$750,000 Taken from the Opulent School Board Alone.

Nearly $1,000,000 was cut out of the city budget by the Hon. High Board of Estimate this morning, when it made a record with the pruning knife which possibly has never before been equalled by any similar body.

With one swoop, and at Mayor Scherren's suggestion, the Board cut $750,000 from the amount asked for by the Board of Education.

This is the greatest cut made in any department. The amount reduced was because the Mayor discovered upon investigation that the Board of Education had been making a large appropriation for the educational facilities of the schools.

The Board also cut $180,000 from the appropriations asked for by other departments.

Her Body Identified.

The young woman found drowned on Sunday last near the foot of the Hudson and Twenty-fourth street, was identified last night by her brother at the morgue as Miss Teresa Barrows, twenty-two years old, a daughter of 242 Washington avenue.

Rev. John L. Scudder, pastor of the Tabernacle, Jersey City, called at Police Headquarters this morning and informed Chief Murphy about a gambling house, where, Rev. Mr. Scudder alleges, the proprietor pays protection money to the police.

The matter was referred to Inspector Lamm for investigation, and if the proprietor, whose name the police and Rev. Mr. Scudder refuse to divulge, will make an affidavit that he pays protection money the accused police official will be arraigned before the Police Commissioners for trial.

Rev. Mr. Scudder also appeared before Judge Potts and secured a warrant for the arrest of a keeper of an alleged disorderly house, also located in the West Precinct. The place will be probably raided to-night.

When the organ man preached his sermon Sunday evening vice was rampant in Jersey City, and especially in the West Precinct, the charge was made by Scudder, who was denied by Capt. Farrier.

Capt. Farrier, it is alleged, said that Pastor Scudder had enough to do to look out for his own congregation. It is thought that Pastor Scudder secured the warrant for the keeper of the house in New York when he began his crusade against the police.

WOULDN'T TAKE A DRINK.

Mrs. Schaaf Says She Was Insulted by John Moll.

Justice Goetting in the Lee Avenue Police Court, Williamsburg, to-day held John Moll, of 5 South Fifth street, on a charge of insulting Mrs. Frank Schaaf, of 22 South Sixth street.

The woman says she was walking along Bedford avenue last night, when Moll asked her to take a drink, and when she declined she says that he attempted to stab her. Moll emphatically denied her charges.

HIS $7 CAB-FARE.

Speculator Morgan's Refusal to Pay Lands Him in Jail.

James Morgan, a nattily dressed, elderly man, who said he was a stock speculator and gave his address as 201 East One Hundredth street, was arraigned in the Harlem Police Court this morning looking the worse for wear and tear consequent upon a night's sojourn in a cell of the East One Hundredth and Fourth street station-house. The charge was his refusal to pay $7 for taking a cab from 201 East One Hundredth street to 107th street, because he did not have the money to pay the hackman after a roundabout drive from Bowery and Hester street last night.

Morgan offered to pay this morning if the hackman would go to his home, and the Judge sent them off together in charge of a policeman. Morgan settled. Found Dead in His Canal-Boat.
