

Published by the Evening World Publishing Company, 42 to 44 PARK ROW, NEW YORK.

SATURDAY, JULY 7, 1894.

Subscription to the Evening World (including postage) for 12 months $12.00

Entered at the Post-Office at New York as second-class matter.

Branch Offices: World Office - Junction of Broadway and Sixth Ave. at 122 St.

World Mail Office - 121st St. and Madison Ave.

Brooklyn - 309 Washington St.

Philadelphia - 121st St. and Chestnut St.

Washington - 121st St. and M St.

THE WORLD'S Average Circulation

For June, 1894, 462,522 per day.

For June, 1893, 311,635 per day.

Gain in Three Years, 150,887 per day.

Readers of THE EVENING WORLD leaving the city for the next month should direct their orders and have THE EVENING WORLD mailed to them regularly.

America still has confidence in Vigilant.

Crocker must not get any more from the same sources.

Mob rule is not government for, by and of the people.

It is trusted that Police Justice Dwyer is taking good care of his memory.

National legislators foster private trusts at the expense of public confidence.

Among the painful revelations of the week is the discovery that Hill "is not a Democrat."

The depth and breadth of the Debs tragedy emphasizes the shallowness and narrowness of the late Coxy farce.

There is but one sound conclusion, after all the discussion of the dumping of refuse. New York should burn its garbage.

The gods of the Scotch breeze held their breath with amazement as Vigilant went by. That's how the trim American sailor lost her first race abroad.

London papers, commenting on the strike situation in the United States, give evidence of a touching inability to comprehend the real state of affairs.

With a real rapid-transit system, authorized by the people's votes and built under the people's direction, there will come accommodations for the people.

Perhaps Martin and Sheehan expect to be as careful in their deliberations as they are deliberate in their preparations, in the matter of their police inquiry.

New York will not become the scene of a riot like those in Chicago. But it is now and will be light through the November elections the seat of an orderly, though intense, revolt against the corrupt local dictators. The city has been bossed too much. It has now turned on the bosses.

It is not a pleasant duty to be publishing "maps of the seat of war," but the map of the disturbed territory in Chicago, first published yesterday in the 6 o'clock edition of "The Evening World," was a valuable aid to an intelligent understanding of the actual situation.

Gova, Altgeld, Wain and Stone have taken it upon themselves to argue the old question of State rights with the Federal authorities. It is a question that does not weigh in the present emergency. The Governors will find plenty of occupation in protecting the rights of citizens in their own States.

Supt. Byrnes has got his police force in trim for an emergency. It is earnestly to be desired that the emergency shall not arise. But one cannot help thinking how the Department would be aided, in case of a disturbance, did it but possess the signal and patrol wagon service which no such Department should without.

"The Evening World" told yesterday the first and exclusive story of the Monmouth race track scandal involving the tribulations of Bondman Galway. It is one of the most interesting local turf narratives of the day. It also indicates that some of the Jockey Club Trust people whose talk of reforming the turf was recently very conspicuous have the opportunity to strengthen public confidence in their intentions by instituting a little reform in their own methods.

For the condition of discontent which has made the Debs riots possible, a dilatory, backbones Senate must bear much of the responsibility. Prompt legislation for tariff reform at Washington would have relieved business uncertainty and checked the industrial paralysis which aided in preparing the forces now in revolt. The least that can be done now is to bring the pending measure in Congress into as presentable a shape as may be promptly, and make it into a law without waste of time.

TO UPHOLD THE GOVERNMENT.

The American citizen recognizes one duty above all others. No matter what excitements may prevail, no matter what grievances may exist, no matter what passions may be aroused, law and order must be preserved and the authority of the laws must be upheld.

The present railroad troubles in the West are of a very serious character and have a very wide scope and tend to violent resistance is offered to the orders and processes of the United States courts, when resort is had to lawless and disorder, when property is wantonly destroyed and when violent resistance is made or threatened to the regularly constituted authorities, then all consideration of the merits of the case is of the nature of a pushed aside and the people unite in the determination that law and order must and shall be preserved.

That is the sentiment now prevailing throughout the country. It is simple madness to disregard it. That is the determination of the American people has reached. Nothing is now so vital to the cause of the country as to see that the mandates of the courts must be respected, order must be preserved and the laws must be enforced, cost what it may.

PUSH IT AHEAD.

The wrangling Reed led a new filibustering movement in the House yesterday when he delayed the action on the Tariff bill. The obstructionists succeeded in preventing the bill from being reported back to the House so as to be put in conference last night before adjournment. If this is a matter to be proud of, the Reed filibusters can boast of having thrown the conference overboard and delayed the action on the bill for a week and a half.

The majority will now be blamed if they submit to any more blustering and bullying from the swashbucklers of the minority. The bill is in the House now, more amendments will then be taken in hand and whipped into decency by the power of a new rule.

The majority will now be blamed if they submit to any more blustering and bullying from the swashbucklers of the minority. The bill is in the House now, more amendments will then be taken in hand and whipped into decency by the power of a new rule.

The majority will now be blamed if they submit to any more blustering and bullying from the swashbucklers of the minority. The bill is in the House now, more amendments will then be taken in hand and whipped into decency by the power of a new rule.

The majority will now be blamed if they submit to any more blustering and bullying from the swashbucklers of the minority. The bill is in the House now, more amendments will then be taken in hand and whipped into decency by the power of a new rule.

The majority will now be blamed if they submit to any more blustering and bullying from the swashbucklers of the minority. The bill is in the House now, more amendments will then be taken in hand and whipped into decency by the power of a new rule.

The majority will now be blamed if they submit to any more blustering and bullying from the swashbucklers of the minority. The bill is in the House now, more amendments will then be taken in hand and whipped into decency by the power of a new rule.

The majority will now be blamed if they submit to any more blustering and bullying from the swashbucklers of the minority. The bill is in the House now, more amendments will then be taken in hand and whipped into decency by the power of a new rule.

The majority will now be blamed if they submit to any more blustering and bullying from the swashbucklers of the minority. The bill is in the House now, more amendments will then be taken in hand and whipped into decency by the power of a new rule.

The majority will now be blamed if they submit to any more blustering and bullying from the swashbucklers of the minority. The bill is in the House now, more amendments will then be taken in hand and whipped into decency by the power of a new rule.

The majority will now be blamed if they submit to any more blustering and bullying from the swashbucklers of the minority. The bill is in the House now, more amendments will then be taken in hand and whipped into decency by the power of a new rule.

The majority will now be blamed if they submit to any more blustering and bullying from the swashbucklers of the minority. The bill is in the House now, more amendments will then be taken in hand and whipped into decency by the power of a new rule.

The majority will now be blamed if they submit to any more blustering and bullying from the swashbucklers of the minority. The bill is in the House now, more amendments will then be taken in hand and whipped into decency by the power of a new rule.

The majority will now be blamed if they submit to any more blustering and bullying from the swashbucklers of the minority. The bill is in the House now, more amendments will then be taken in hand and whipped into decency by the power of a new rule.

The majority will now be blamed if they submit to any more blustering and bullying from the swashbucklers of the minority. The bill is in the House now, more amendments will then be taken in hand and whipped into decency by the power of a new rule.

The majority will now be blamed if they submit to any more blustering and bullying from the swashbucklers of the minority. The bill is in the House now, more amendments will then be taken in hand and whipped into decency by the power of a new rule.

The majority will now be blamed if they submit to any more blustering and bullying from the swashbucklers of the minority. The bill is in the House now, more amendments will then be taken in hand and whipped into decency by the power of a new rule.

The majority will now be blamed if they submit to any more blustering and bullying from the swashbucklers of the minority. The bill is in the House now, more amendments will then be taken in hand and whipped into decency by the power of a new rule.

The majority will now be blamed if they submit to any more blustering and bullying from the swashbucklers of the minority. The bill is in the House now, more amendments will then be taken in hand and whipped into decency by the power of a new rule.

The majority will now be blamed if they submit to any more blustering and bullying from the swashbucklers of the minority. The bill is in the House now, more amendments will then be taken in hand and whipped into decency by the power of a new rule.

The majority will now be blamed if they submit to any more blustering and bullying from the swashbucklers of the minority. The bill is in the House now, more amendments will then be taken in hand and whipped into decency by the power of a new rule.

The majority will now be blamed if they submit to any more blustering and bullying from the swashbucklers of the minority. The bill is in the House now, more amendments will then be taken in hand and whipped into decency by the power of a new rule.

The majority will now be blamed if they submit to any more blustering and bullying from the swashbucklers of the minority. The bill is in the House now, more amendments will then be taken in hand and whipped into decency by the power of a new rule.

LETTERS. This column is for everybody who has a complaint to make, information to give, a subject of general interest to discuss or a public wrong to be righted. No letter can be put in if it is over 100 words or less. Long letters cannot be printed.

The Joke of the Letter Column.

It is interesting to note that in the copy of "The Evening World" and a copy of the "New York Herald" which were sent to the letter column, the copy of the "New York Herald" was not sent to the letter column.

On $7.20 a Week.

Reply to "A. P." in last Friday's "Evening World" I have had an accurate estimate of my expenses for the past four months, and have a broken book and worn-out articles, such as follows: For four months housekeeping, $10.00; rent, $12.00; coal, $10.00; gas, $10.00; water, $10.00; light, $10.00; and other expenses, $10.00.

The Briton and the Lally-Cooker.

I am an Englishman but recently arrived in Gotham. Coming over on the steamer we had an innocent game of poker as we played it in a London, and one of the party took me the other night to his club. I think they called it the "Gotham Club" and I found the same an exceedingly good club and a very good one.

England Freer than America.

"Smoky Hollow" wants to know what Englishmen know about a free country. Well, Englishmen know that they live in the freest country in the world, and they are not alone in this opinion.

A Wife-Header's Awful Experience.

Can any reader of your valuable paper inform me where and how would it be possible to find a young lady worthy to become the wife of a sensible and educated man?

Why the Gay Girls Are Popular.

In answer to the young ladies who wanted to know why the opposite sex prefer the gay and laughing girls to the sober and serious ones, I think the reason is very plain.

Brooklyn Beside's Kisses.

"Brooklyn Beside" will give his girl any of the following answers to "What is a kiss?" I think some will be satisfactory to her. First, a kiss is an angelic and celestial smile which becomes more delicious and desirable in proportion as it is followed by a long and sweet kiss.

Against Pantanomics.

I am a student of "The Evening World" in its course against "straight tickets" and their consequent pantanomics, whether Republican or Democratic. I am a firm believer in the justice, equity and entire practicality of the suggestion to let the ticket which a voter casts for the valuable service he has done the same in turning over a column of his paper to the "STREET PATRON SAINT."

A Deaf-Mute's Plea for Work.

I wish to correct a few bad errors that are daily talked of by the hearing people. When the deaf and dumb are employed in any business, they are not to be considered as a burden on society.

What Can Be Done with $500?

I have $500 in cash. I want to invest it safely. I suppose there are many hands waiting for investment now, who will tell what I can do with my $500. I have any business can put my $500 in a safe and secure place.

BRAIN FRESHENERS. This column is for everybody who has a complaint to make, information to give, a subject of general interest to discuss or a public wrong to be righted. No letter can be put in if it is over 100 words or less. Long letters cannot be printed.

The Ladies School on Parade.

The "Evening World" which you publish in "The Evening World" of June 30 by Mr. Charles O. Smith, published among the "Queer" in the famous "Ladies and Gentlemen's Diary" for 1894, published by the Company of Thomas P. Dickson, New York.

Draped Skirts.

If we are to wear draped skirts, the pointed "apron" drapery, reaching to the edge of the dress in the immediate front, and drawn thence in upward direction to the hips, terminating there, is as pretty a style as any and also becoming to most figures.

Baked Fish.

Clean the fish; fill with a stuffing made of one cup of bread or cracker crumbs, one-half a teaspoonful of salt, one-quarter teaspoonful of pepper, two or three drops of onion extract, one tablespoonful of chopped parsley, and three tablespoonfuls of melted butter.

Mrs. Sherwood's Quaint Idea.

Mrs. John Sherwood, not being able to send expensive presents to the wedding of her friends, has a quaint idea of her own. She will write upon parchment some original lines apropos to the occasion, then thence with white ribbons and send it with some gracious words of congratulation.

The Soldiers' Problem.

In sending you solution to the "Problem for Soldiers" in some haste I said the army will march with march over 4,000 feet, and with the march over 4,000 feet, and with the march over 4,000 feet, and with the march over 4,000 feet.

Just the Dinner for a Hot Night.

Ice-Cold Beer, Broiled Bluefish, Dinner Roll, Hot Potato, Broiled Sweet Corn, Cherry Shortcake, Black Coffee, Iced Tea.

Waking Babies.

A well-kept baby will walk when he gets ready. He doesn't need any lessons. Let him creep. See that his falls are broken and his hurts kissed better, but don't teach him to be a tramp.

Looking Pretty at Mealtimes.

It is not true that "beauty unadorned is most adorned." Beauty is as rare as white blackbirds. Only a being of extraordinary beauty should go to breakfast in crimping pins and dishabille.

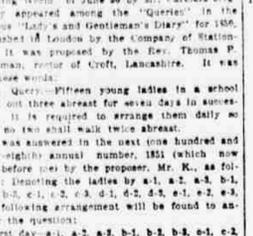

Three Brothers at Market.

Three brothers, A, B and C, went to a market. Each wanted to buy a horse. When they arrived they found that there was only one horse left for sale, and when they were informed of the price of it the law laid down by the law had money enough to buy the horse.

The Widow's Cap.

A widow's cap is so distinctly becoming that it seems strange more widows do not wear it. Not the jolly bag shape patronized by our English feminine cousins, but the three-cornered bit of snowy net, bordered by a ruche of crepe lisse. This softens and refines any face which it is set above.

HOUSE IN A HOME. Good Style. Leaving out the stitching on the skirt, this is what the importers would call such good style. There may be a hint in it for the tall girl with a dress pattern.

Waists.

Very pretty silk waists are made with diagonal rows of wide white gimpure inserting. The belt of such a waist is of ribbon or of narrow folded silk, and the collar is of insertion and silk turned down, or a stock be preferred. It is made of the silk laid plain or in plait.

A Walk for Women to Imitate.

A writer on the great need of the conservation of the nerve forces of the modern woman, advised her to force herself to move slowly even in a hurry, and to try in walking to imitate the gait of the city policeman, adding that there is no danger that she will succeed in copying it exactly.

Claret Cup.

One quart bottle of claret, one bottle of soda water, one lemon cut very thin, one glass of champagne, one glass of a quarter of a teaspoonful of grated nutmeg, one liquor glass of brandy, one wineglass of sherry wine. Half an hour before it is to be used, put in a large piece of ice, so that it may get perfectly cold. A handful of ripe berries will add to the bouquet.

The "Dress Album" Fad.

The dress albums which are quite a fad just now among girls can hardly be said to have a permanent interest for their owners and their descendants who will enjoy looking over the collection of scraps of mamma's or grandma's gowns in her girlishhood. The album is simply a scrapbook upon whose pages are pasted bits of such now-gone gowns. The sample is pasted the date of the purchase, upon what occasion it was first worn, and any other details that may be of interest. If its owner have artistic ability a sketch of the finished gown may be added, and the inclusive price is not without its usefulness.

To Improve Potatoes.

Potatoes may be soaked in cold water for twelve or more hours before being cooked, and will be improved rather than injured, but if they stand in a little moisture even for ten minutes after they are cooked, they are spoiled. The potato is composed largely of starch. The uncooked starch does not unite with moisture like a sponge. A good potato will be light and mealy as soon as it is baked or boiled, but if the cooking be continued it will become dark, heavy and strong flavored.

Relief for Inflamed Feet.

The first thing to be done is to take off and throw away tight-fitting boots which hurt the tender feet as much as if they were put into a press. Then take one pint of wheat bran and one ounce of saleratus and put it into a foot-bath, and add one gallon of hot water. When it has become cool enough put in the feet, soak them for fifteen minutes and the relief will be almost immediate. Repeat this every night for a week and the cure will be complete.

Pressed Chicken Leaf.

Boil the chicken tender; pick the meat from the bones, and chop, not too fine, season with salt and pepper; add the broth in which it was boiled and press into a mold. When cold cut in slices.

Waistcoat and Girdle.

The new waistcoat is made with tags - one in front and one in the back to button on the skirt band - for the purpose of being kept down and of holding up the skirt. To cover the line of conjunction there is a sash of sprig muslin to match the skirt or ribbon. If muslin or linen is used.

Why Clothes Fade.

Colored clothing fades because it is put into hot water. Even the brown hosiery will keep the bright russet tint if washed in cold water. Nothing else is good for fine thread, silk or wool putting an egg in the coffee to clear it is still prevalent.

HOUSE IN A HOME. Good Style. Leaving out the stitching on the skirt, this is what the importers would call such good style. There may be a hint in it for the tall girl with a dress pattern.

Waists.

Very pretty silk waists are made with diagonal rows of wide white gimpure inserting. The belt of such a waist is of ribbon or of narrow folded silk, and the collar is of insertion and silk turned down, or a stock be preferred. It is made of the silk laid plain or in plait.

A Walk for Women to Imitate.

A writer on the great need of the conservation of the nerve forces of the modern woman, advised her to force herself to move slowly even in a hurry, and to try in walking to imitate the gait of the city policeman, adding that there is no danger that she will succeed in copying it exactly.

Claret Cup.

One quart bottle of claret, one bottle of soda water, one lemon cut very thin, one glass of champagne, one glass of a quarter of a teaspoonful of grated nutmeg, one liquor glass of brandy, one wineglass of sherry wine. Half an hour before it is to be used, put in a large piece of ice, so that it may get perfectly cold. A handful of ripe berries will add to the bouquet.

The "Dress Album" Fad.

The dress albums which are quite a fad just now among girls can hardly be said to have a permanent interest for their owners and their descendants who will enjoy looking over the collection of scraps of mamma's or grandma's gowns in her girlishhood. The album is simply a scrapbook upon whose pages are pasted bits of such now-gone gowns. The sample is pasted the date of the purchase, upon what occasion it was first worn, and any other details that may be of interest. If its owner have artistic ability a sketch of the finished gown may be added, and the inclusive price is not without its usefulness.

To Improve Potatoes.

Potatoes may be soaked in cold water for twelve or more hours before being cooked, and will be improved rather than injured, but if they stand in a little moisture even for ten minutes after they are cooked, they are spoiled. The potato is composed largely of starch. The uncooked starch does not unite with moisture like a sponge. A good potato will be light and mealy as soon as it is baked or boiled, but if the cooking be continued it will become dark, heavy and strong flavored.

Relief for Inflamed Feet.

The first thing to be done is to take off and throw away tight-fitting boots which hurt the tender feet as much as if they were put into a press. Then take one pint of wheat bran and one ounce of saleratus and put it into a foot-bath, and add one gallon of hot water. When it has become cool enough put in the feet, soak them for fifteen minutes and the relief will be almost immediate. Repeat this every night for a week and the cure will be complete.

Pressed Chicken Leaf.

Boil the chicken tender; pick the meat from the bones, and chop, not too fine, season with salt and pepper; add the broth in which it was boiled and press into a mold. When cold cut in slices.

Waistcoat and Girdle.

The new waistcoat is made with tags - one in front and one in the back to button on the skirt band - for the purpose of being kept down and of holding up the skirt. To cover the line of conjunction there is a sash of sprig muslin to match the skirt or ribbon. If muslin or linen is used.

Why Clothes Fade.

Colored clothing fades because it is put into hot water. Even the brown hosiery will keep the bright russet tint if washed in cold water. Nothing else is good for fine thread, silk or wool putting an egg in the coffee to clear it is still prevalent.