

BURNED IN HOT FAT. STEIN SAYS HE WAS DRUGGED.

Eyes in a Bakery Causes Panic in a Crowded Tenement-House.

Narrow Hallway Blocked by Half-Cred, Terror-Stricken Inmates.

A Baby Sleeps Quietly in Its Cradle Through It All.

A small fire created a panic at 439 W. 12th street this morning in the five-story, double-decker tenement-house at 340 East Houston street.

Henry Schott has a bakery on the ground floor of the building, and the baking is done in the basement. For several days he has not been well and has been unable to sleep.

But the barrel was a weak affair, and giving way, sent the fat roaring and spluttering in every direction. It poured the sizzling burning fat over the head and half blinding him.

He tried to get out of the basement by the front door, but the smoke and fire blocked the way. In the rear the place was jammed up, and Schott got down on his hands and knees and crept up through a ventilator opening into a rear court-yard.

In the mean time the smoke had poured into the rear court-yard, and there had aroused the fifteen families in the rooms above.

There were no escapes on the front of the house and those in the rear overtook the little court-yard into which the burning barrel had crept.

The flames were not extinguished until the fire department had been called. The fire had raised the yard was filled with frightened, half-dressed persons, who struggled to get through the narrow, smoke-filled hall into the street.

SEVERAL CASES COMPLETED.

Commissioners' Trials of Accused Policemen Begin Next Week.

Many Witnesses Interviewed by Assistant District-Attorney Osborne.

Assistant District-Attorney James W. Osborne, who is helping Mr. Wellman prepare the cases against the police officers, who are to be tried before the Police Commission, was today in his private office this morning examining witnesses who had been called to corroborate the testimony given before the Lexow Committee.

Mr. Wellman is in Southampton, L. I., today, and will not be back in town until Monday.

It was learned that the accused policemen had already been substantially completed and the charges formulated, so that when the Police Commissioners hold their meeting next week they will be ready to be presented for consideration.

Whether the charges against all the officers will be presented at the same time or not has not yet been decided, but as this is the usual custom, it may be followed. In that event the Commissioners will have it in their power to select which case they will take up first.

Although they will be presented in the order in which Mr. Wellman's judgment, Mr. Osborne was asked this morning if any particular case had been suggested as a starter, and he said that so far as he knew the question of which officer would be tried first had not yet been decided.

More arrests would be made before the trials began, and said that in Mr. Osborne's opinion a severe case would be taken up first.

ANOTHER SCORCHER.

But Not So Hot as Yesterday, Says Mr. Dunn.

Rapid Rise of the Mercury Checked by the Wind.

Signal Service Officer Dunn received the important communication this morning. It was from his friend, Old Sol:

"This is my day to shine." Brief and convincing.

After beating on the thermometer at the top of the Equitable Building for several hours the sun, by 8 o'clock, had sent the mercury up to a point 10 degrees higher than it was at the same hour yesterday.

At 9 o'clock the temperature was two degrees higher, but in the mean time the wind had increased somewhat, and under its cooling influence the thermometer registered 12 degrees lower at 10 o'clock than it did twenty-four hours before.

The humidity, whose percentage of late has been too low to pass a civil service examination for Custom-House doorkeeper, is a trifle higher to-day.

At 8 o'clock it was moving slightly northward, and at 9 o'clock it was blowing from the east at a rate of 8 miles an hour, finally got a huff at 10 o'clock, and was fairly blowing from the east at a rate of 10 miles an hour.

The forecast for light showers late to-night and tomorrow.

Charles Coops, thirty-five years old, of 47 East One Hundred and Seventy-ninth street, was overcome by the heat at Sixty-eighth street and Third avenue this morning. He was removed to the Presbyterian Hospital.

MURDERER SHOT BY HIS WIFE.

Logan Had Killed a Stage Driver and a Passenger.

Woman Avenged the Victim of Her Husband's Jealousy.

LOVELOCK, Nev., July 14.—Three men were killed here Thursday night as the result of a husband's jealousy. Robert Logan shot and killed Dan Lovelock and Fred Sullivan, and in turn killed by his own wife, Mrs. Logan had applied for a divorce, and her husband was insanely jealous of her, threatening to kill some of her best friends. A few days ago Mrs. Logan went to Cottonwood to visit her mother, Logan followed, and that night attacked and severely wounded Dan Lovelock, the stage driver.

Lovelock was unable to return, so Mrs. Logan brought the stage back to Cottonwood to bring Lovelock home. Mrs. Logan drove with the wounded man on the stage, rose on a rear seat. About dusk Logan rode up to the stage, and was asked to leave the stage and go with him. She refused, saying she was going home. Logan then said he would go too and rode on behind.

The two men were shot for two hours, when Mrs. Logan heard a shot, and turning, saw Sullivan fall with a bullet through his head. He died in a few minutes, but by Logan. Then the murderer shot Lovelock, who was too weak to stand, and he fell dead in front of Logan. Logan then got in the stage, and taking the reins, drove the stage to the place where the bodies of the two men were lying. He intended to throw the bodies of the two men, after which he would kill his wife.

However, she persuaded him to water the horses and drive to the place where the bodies were lying. He begged her to let him see the bodies, and she agreed to do so. She then fired again and Logan fell behind the stage. Mrs. Logan dismounted and fired one more shot at her husband, prostrate form to make sure he was dead.

Following Logan's body lying in the dust, the woman drove into town with the other dead men and told the news. Lovelock and Sullivan were taken to the city, and although well acquainted with Mrs. Logan, had never seen her before. It is believed that the Sullivan was an intimate friend of the woman's. The police here are endeavoring to locate a man and named Mrs. Logan's courage.
