

Weather: Rain.
TUESDAY
ANOTHER BARGAIN
DAY
WHEN ALL "FOR SALE" ADS. ARE REPEATED
FREE IN THE EVENING WORLD. THE
"FOR SALE" ADS. ARE REPEATED
THE WORLD LAST WEEK WERE
OVER TWICE AS MANY AS AP-
PEAR IN ALL THE OTHER PAGES
OTHER N. Y. NEWS
PAPERS COMBINED.

Weather: Rain.
TUESDAY
ANOTHER BARGAIN
DAY
WHEN ALL "FOR SALE" ADS. ARE REPEATED
FREE IN THE EVENING WORLD. THE
"FOR SALE" ADS. ARE REPEATED
THE WORLD LAST WEEK WERE
OVER TWICE AS MANY AS AP-
PEAR IN ALL THE OTHER PAGES
OTHER N. Y. NEWS
PAPERS COMBINED.

Weather: Rain.
TUESDAY
ANOTHER BARGAIN
DAY
WHEN ALL "FOR SALE" ADS. ARE REPEATED
FREE IN THE EVENING WORLD. THE
"FOR SALE" ADS. ARE REPEATED
THE WORLD LAST WEEK WERE
OVER TWICE AS MANY AS AP-
PEAR IN ALL THE OTHER PAGES
OTHER N. Y. NEWS
PAPERS COMBINED.

Weather: Rain.
TUESDAY
ANOTHER BARGAIN
DAY
WHEN ALL "FOR SALE" ADS. ARE REPEATED
FREE IN THE EVENING WORLD. THE
"FOR SALE" ADS. ARE REPEATED
THE WORLD LAST WEEK WERE
OVER TWICE AS MANY AS AP-
PEAR IN ALL THE OTHER PAGES
OTHER N. Y. NEWS
PAPERS COMBINED.

PRICE ONE CENT. NEW YORK, MONDAY, AUGUST 20, 1894. PRICE ONE CENT.

YOUR "FOR SALE" A. GETS OVER 450,000 Insertions HERE TO-MORROW.

EXTRA.
2 O'CLOCK.

STEPHENSON THE NEXT.

Definitely Settled that His Trial Will Be the First to Follow.

BERGHOLD FORCED TO ACT.

He at Last Proceeds Against Chinese Gamblers.

Mr. Wellman Angry at the At- tacks Made Upon Him in the Papers.

HE DID "BETTER THAN LEXOW."

Further Evidence Against Devery, Cross and the Ward Men To-Day.

It was nearly 11 o'clock when the Board of Police Commissioners resumed the round of trials of police officers at Headquarters to-day.

Mr. Wellman said prior to the resumption of the proceedings that no new cases would be made public until the end of the present quintuple trial was in sight.

It is almost definitely settled that the next officer to be placed on trial will be Capt. T. Stephenson.

The Commissioners and Mr. Wellman propose to cut a large and juicy watermelon for a surprise party to the public in the trial of Stephenson.

They will rely for his conviction not upon witnesses who testified before the Lexow Committee, for the charges made by the man Ryan fell to the ground upon investigation so far as Stephenson is concerned. The checks alleged to have been paid to "the Captain," it appears, were all drawn six months before Ryan was in command.

Witness Ryan is a cousin of Capt. Ryan, and his testimony today, which has discovered a doubt as to where the checks went to.

The case against Capt. Stephenson is said to be an iron-clad case, if the witnesses are to be believed, and the witness, it is said, will be reputable business men.

Mr. Wellman's officers brought exactly thirteen of the most respectable-looking women to Police Headquarters, and correlated them in one of the ante-rooms till the trial was over, and they appear as witnesses against Capt. Devery or Cross, or Ward Men Glendon, Smith or Hurst.

Prosecutor Wellman was full of resentment against those who support the Lexow Committee, and the supposition that he is only rehearsing the testimony cut out by Mr. Goff and the Society for the Protection of the Committee.

The public seem to see that we are not depending on Lexow. No legal proof of guilt was given before the Lexow Committee, if we eliminate the nearly ten thousand dollars of the Lexow Committee in every case tried, and all the talk about retaining the broken capitals by the courts is rot.

Janey Schlesinger, a sunny-faced young woman in an all-wool dress and a pink jacket, was the first witness.

She testified first in the Devery-Glendon trial.

She said that she was an inmate of Wolff's disorderly house, 180 Allen street, during Capt. Devery's command of the Eleventh Precinct. She saw Ward Men Glendon there. Her brother wanted to get her out of the house.

an inmate of Mrs. Sanford's parlor house, 21 Bayard street, all during 1893 and till March, 1894. There were from four to six other girls there, and except for a few weeks in June and July for the house was run openly and publicly.

Sept. Devery being absent, and excepting the two other girls, the house was run by his own presence, these witnesses were not cross-examined in their behavior. Their trial is temporarily suspended.

The trial of Capt. Adam A. Cross and his co-ward man, George Smith, was resumed temporarily, and Miss Thornton testified that the house was run from the time she became an inmate, Dec. 2, 1892, down to Feb. 23, 1893, when Capt. Devery was transferred and Capt. Devery took command.

Charles A. Hess cross-examined. The girl who made an attractive, shirking little creature, told him that she was twenty-two years old, and that her right name was Annie Russell.

"I am married now, and live with my husband at 32 Bayard street," said the witness.

"I work at passamanteerie making. My husband is sick."

Oh, I forgot to ask you when and where you were married," said Mr. Hess.

Well, I'm not really married, just living with a man under his name—Russell.

Police Capt. Berghold, of the Elizabeth street station, has finally been forced by "The World" to proceed against the Chinese gamblers in Mott street.

On Saturday night the Captain and four of his officers raided a gambling den in the basement of 36 Mott street and captured twelve men, who had been playing "cheops," a Chinese game that is next to fan tan in popularity. Three tables were filled with the gambling paraphernalia.

The place is apparently occupied as a grocery store, but nothing is offered for sale. When the police arrived they found the door locked, and received no response to their knocking. Then the door was opened and the gamblers fled in every direction in an effort to escape. One even climbed up the chimney, but was pulled back.

The entire crowd was corralled, and in Tombs Court, Sam Kee, "The State's Evidence," said he had lost $175.

Mem Kee, a restaurant-keeper at 15 Mott street, said he had lost $100 for the place and was held in $500 bail for trial. The others were fined $5 each.

On Saturday night the Captain and four of his officers raided a gambling den in the basement of 36 Mott street and captured twelve men, who had been playing "cheops," a Chinese game that is next to fan tan in popularity. Three tables were filled with the gambling paraphernalia.

The place is apparently occupied as a grocery store, but nothing is offered for sale. When the police arrived they found the door locked, and received no response to their knocking. Then the door was opened and the gamblers fled in every direction in an effort to escape. One even climbed up the chimney, but was pulled back.

The entire crowd was corralled, and in Tombs Court, Sam Kee, "The State's Evidence," said he had lost $175.

Mem Kee, a restaurant-keeper at 15 Mott street, said he had lost $100 for the place and was held in $500 bail for trial. The others were fined $5 each.

On Saturday night the Captain and four of his officers raided a gambling den in the basement of 36 Mott street and captured twelve men, who had been playing "cheops," a Chinese game that is next to fan tan in popularity. Three tables were filled with the gambling paraphernalia.

The place is apparently occupied as a grocery store, but nothing is offered for sale. When the police arrived they found the door locked, and received no response to their knocking. Then the door was opened and the gamblers fled in every direction in an effort to escape. One even climbed up the chimney, but was pulled back.

The entire crowd was corralled, and in Tombs Court, Sam Kee, "The State's Evidence," said he had lost $175.

Mem Kee, a restaurant-keeper at 15 Mott street, said he had lost $100 for the place and was held in $500 bail for trial. The others were fined $5 each.

AS A LIVING PICTURE.
Angelina Allen Comes Before the Public Again.

Her Bathing Suit Startled Astory Park Two Years Ago.

She is Now Winning Bouquets at an Uptown Music Hall.

Mrs. Angelina Allen, the woman who created a sensation at Astory Park two years ago by appearing in a light blue bathing suit that was made to fit as tightly as an athlete's outfit, and who claims the distinction of having been the first woman in America to wear bicycle bloomers, is now posing in the living pictures at the Imperial Music Hall.

As a living picture, she has proven to be a striking success; in fact, the bouquets and letters she gets from men about town have so excited the jealousy of the other girls that they speak of her derisively as "Curvey." They also allege that she is posing simply to "show her shape," and of this Mrs. Allen makes no denial for her family is wealthy and the $10 a week she gets could hardly be any inducement.

She is the daughter of Judge Ely, of Newark. Several years ago she was divorced from her husband, and since then she has been posing as a living picture to the public. She still has a home at Newark, which is fitted up like a Jurens' house.

Since last autumn, when she announced that she was going on the stage with the Angelina Allen Amusement Company, Mrs. Allen did nothing startling. She said she thought her figure would please the public and was referred to as "Curvey," which was the name of the living pictures. The signor announced after an interview that he thought Mrs. Allen would make a hit, and she was engaged, and a picture, "Andromeda," was devised especially for her.

She is now posing in the living pictures at the Imperial Music Hall. She is the daughter of Judge Ely, of Newark. Several years ago she was divorced from her husband, and since then she has been posing as a living picture to the public. She still has a home at Newark, which is fitted up like a Jurens' house.

Since last autumn, when she announced that she was going on the stage with the Angelina Allen Amusement Company, Mrs. Allen did nothing startling. She said she thought her figure would please the public and was referred to as "Curvey," which was the name of the living pictures. The signor announced after an interview that he thought Mrs. Allen would make a hit, and she was engaged, and a picture, "Andromeda," was devised especially for her.

She is now posing in the living pictures at the Imperial Music Hall. She is the daughter of Judge Ely, of Newark. Several years ago she was divorced from her husband, and since then she has been posing as a living picture to the public. She still has a home at Newark, which is fitted up like a Jurens' house.

Since last autumn, when she announced that she was going on the stage with the Angelina Allen Amusement Company, Mrs. Allen did nothing startling. She said she thought her figure would please the public and was referred to as "Curvey," which was the name of the living pictures. The signor announced after an interview that he thought Mrs. Allen would make a hit, and she was engaged, and a picture, "Andromeda," was devised especially for her.

She is now posing in the living pictures at the Imperial Music Hall. She is the daughter of Judge Ely, of Newark. Several years ago she was divorced from her husband, and since then she has been posing as a living picture to the public. She still has a home at Newark, which is fitted up like a Jurens' house.

Since last autumn, when she announced that she was going on the stage with the Angelina Allen Amusement Company, Mrs. Allen did nothing startling. She said she thought her figure would please the public and was referred to as "Curvey," which was the name of the living pictures. The signor announced after an interview that he thought Mrs. Allen would make a hit, and she was engaged, and a picture, "Andromeda," was devised especially for her.

She is now posing in the living pictures at the Imperial Music Hall. She is the daughter of Judge Ely, of Newark. Several years ago she was divorced from her husband, and since then she has been posing as a living picture to the public. She still has a home at Newark, which is fitted up like a Jurens' house.

Since last autumn, when she announced that she was going on the stage with the Angelina Allen Amusement Company, Mrs. Allen did nothing startling. She said she thought her figure would please the public and was referred to as "Curvey," which was the name of the living pictures. The signor announced after an interview that he thought Mrs. Allen would make a hit, and she was engaged, and a picture, "Andromeda," was devised especially for her.

She is now posing in the living pictures at the Imperial Music Hall. She is the daughter of Judge Ely, of Newark. Several years ago she was divorced from her husband, and since then she has been posing as a living picture to the public. She still has a home at Newark, which is fitted up like a Jurens' house.

Since last autumn, when she announced that she was going on the stage with the Angelina Allen Amusement Company, Mrs. Allen did nothing startling. She said she thought her figure would please the public and was referred to as "Curvey," which was the name of the living pictures. The signor announced after an interview that he thought Mrs. Allen would make a hit, and she was engaged, and a picture, "Andromeda," was devised especially for her.

She is now posing in the living pictures at the Imperial Music Hall. She is the daughter of Judge Ely, of Newark. Several years ago she was divorced from her husband, and since then she has been posing as a living picture to the public. She still has a home at Newark, which is fitted up like a Jurens' house.

SHE FEARED HER ESCORT.
Left the Car He Was on and Went to a Police Station.

There She Refused to Tell What She Was Afraid Of.

Conductor Evans, of the Bergen street trolley line, in Brooklyn, entered the Sixth avenue police station at midnight with a young woman, who said she was Margaret Harrison, aged nineteen.

Evans said the girl had boarded the car at Fifth avenue in company with a man. After riding a block she called the conductor and asked to be directed to the nearest police station, saying that she was afraid of her companion, and wanted the protection of the police.

The young man left the car and ran away. On being questioned by the police, he admitted that he was the father's home at 532 Tenth avenue, New York City, about a year ago. She refused to tell where she had been living up to July 1.

On that date, she said, she went to live with her father, who owned a steamboat company in rooms at 38 Pearl street, Brooklyn. Last Friday she accompanied her father to a hotel, where they stopped at a hotel. They were returning home together last night when she was taken to the police station. She refused to tell why she was afraid of her companion.

The girl's father was notified, but he refused to take charge of her and she was sent to the Wayside Home. Harrison is said to be well connected.

BULLS STILL IN CONTROL.
Lower Prices in London Fail to Depress the Market.

The bullish feeling was in the ascendant at the Stock Exchange again to-day, and his dealings were exceedingly lively at intervals. Early reports from London gave quotations for American securities below the parity of our closing on Saturday, but the losses were small, and there was more than a suspicion that the decline had been manipulated from this side.

Nevertheless the bears made a vigorous attempt to use this against the market here, and almost immediately after the opening they pumped everything on the tariff question, which had a large effect to accomplish very little, and it was not long before they found that their opponents had by far the best of the game.

Sugar first bounded up 2 to 1/2, and after reacting to 1 1/2 to 2 to 1/2, and Burlington and Quincy rose 1/2 to 7/8; Rock Island 5/8 to 3/4; Erie 3/4 to 1/2; Missouri Pacific 3/8 to 1/2; St. Paul 5/8 to 3/4; Illinois Central 1/2 to 3/4; General Electric, 1/2 to 3/4; American Express 1/2 to 3/4; Western Union 1/2 to 3/4; National Star 1/2 to 3/4; and Omaha 3/8 to 1/2.

Later on Burlington and Quincy declined 3/4 to 1/2; St. Paul, 5/8 to 3/4; Illinois Central, 1/2 to 3/4; General Electric, 1/2 to 3/4; American Express, 1/2 to 3/4; Western Union, 1/2 to 3/4; National Star, 1/2 to 3/4; and Omaha, 3/8 to 1/2.

In some stocks the outstanding short interest is still heavy, and it is doubtful whether the market will be permitted to react much. The market is still in a state of uncertainty, and it is thought that railroad earnings will steadily improve, and that the settlement of the tariff question will lead to a marked revival of general trade and a new era of prosperity for the country at large.

At any rate capitalists are a good deal more confident and considerable amounts of money are being invested in bonds, and the better class of stocks.

BRODIE WASN'T IN COURT.
So the Man Accused of Stabbing Him Was Discharged.

Steve Brodie, bridge jumper and actor, who was tabbed in the neck in front of his saloon on the Bowery by William Healey on Aug. 5, failed to make his appearance in Tombs Court this morning and Healey was discharged from custody.

Brodie's friend, who represented Brodie, appeared in court but said he had heard nothing from his client. He said the whole thing was an advertisement for the discharge of Healey. Mr. Price denounced Brodie in vigorous terms. He said the whole thing was an advertisement for the discharge of Healey.

THEATRE ASSOCIATION CLAIMS-BAKE.
The gentlemen who paid $1 each for tickets to attend the clam-bake of the John H. Theatrical Association at Whitestone, L. I., yesterday agreed that they got their money's worth. The clam-bake was a success, and the gentlemen who paid $1 each for tickets to attend the clam-bake of the John H. Theatrical Association at Whitestone, L. I., yesterday agreed that they got their money's worth.

ALLEGED MURDERER ARRESTED.
BEDFORD, N. H., Aug. 20.—Frank Little, the alleged principal in the murder of Edward Crowley, of Merrimac, Mass., on Friday night last, was arrested here last night. He is charged with the murder of Crowley, of Merrimac, Mass., on Friday night last, and was arrested here last night.

POSTMASTER'S ACCUSATIONS SHORT.
BOISE CITY, Idaho, Aug. 20.—Postmaster Reed, of Boise, in this State, is said to be $2,700 short in his accounts. The money is supposed to have been lost at gambling.

WILL RACE AT NIGHT.
Track at Maspeh, L. I. to Be Opened Soon.

Five Contests by Daylight and Five by Electric Light.

Well-Known Horseman Interested in the Scheme.

New York is to have racing by electric light. In about two weeks the Newtown Jockey Club will open its new track, at Maspeh, L. I., and will inaugurate a thirty-day meeting. The races will be run daily, five in the afternoon, beginning at 2:30 o'clock, and five at night, beginning at 8 o'clock. The subject of racing by electric light, which became so popular in St. Louis for a while, has been agitated in this city for some time, but not until lately has it been definitely decided to try the enterprise this year.

The track, which is entirely new, has been fitted with 800 incandescent lights and 22 arc lamps, this making it almost as light by night as by day. A hand-some new stand is in the course of construction, and the track itself is nearly completed.

A commodious betting ring and stabling room for 500 horses have been built. Mrs. L. Frank, President of the concern, and J. B. Collins, Treasurer, "Steve" Stowell, for many years clerk of the course at Brighton, and Jockey Club will govern the racing excepting that one, two, three books will be allowed, and the venture should be met with success.

TOWN OF CAGNES ON FIRE.
Report That Several Lives Have Been Lost—Niece Sends Aid.

NICE, Aug. 20.—The town of Cagnes, situated ten miles west of this city, is reported to be in danger of destruction by fire.

The Fire Department of Nice has sent a detachment to the endangered place. It is reported that several lives have been lost.

Cagnes has a population of about 2,000. The origin of the fire in the building 22, 24 and 26 Reade street shortly before 12 o'clock last night, after being burned out by an insupportable mystery. Even the floor upon which it started is a puzzle which the firemen have not yet satisfactorily solved. It is also believed there was an explosion.

The building belongs to Vernon Bros. & Co., who moved in on the ground floor about two months ago, after being burned out at 26 and 28 Duane street. They are fully insured, as are all the other occupants of the building.

The fourth floor is the one on which the fire appears to have started. It is occupied by Stettiner & Lambert, printers. One that floor section about four feet wide, extending for twenty-five feet along the rear windows facing Manhattan place, is completely gutted. Beyond that space the only damage was by water.

On the floor above is the Darrow Binding Company. The burnt-out space there is considerably larger, and one night higher, on the sixth or top floor, the charred area is greatest of all. This floor is occupied by Marvin & Vessey, bookbinders, and the William L. Allison Company, publishers.

The names of the occupants, together with their respective losses, are as follows: Marvin & Vessey, and the William L. Allison Company, who worked co-operatively, sixth floor, $2,500.

The Darrow Binding Company, fifth floor, $4,000. Stettiner & Lambert, fourth floor, $2,000. H. Hestkamp, book-binder and gilt-edger, third floor, $1,000.

Stettiner & Lambert also occupy the second floor, where their damage from water is $2,500.

The damage to the building will scarcely exceed $2,000. The figures in each instance are rough estimates, given mainly by the losers themselves. All the firms closed up at 12:30 last Saturday. The fire was nobody supposed to be in the building after that, not even a watchman.

The fire was discovered by Policeman Brogan, who turned in three alarms. Twelve engines, a water-tower and a great many trucks responded. Only one engine was, however, necessary, as the fire was very quickly extinguished.

Stettiner & Lambert denied the published statement that they were in business. "This is the first fire we have ever had," said Mr. Stettiner to an "Evening World" reporter.

FIREMAN ACCUSED OF THEFT.
McNally Arrested with Stolen Cloth in His Possession.

Thomas McNally, thirty-six years old, a fireman attached to the Insurance Patrol in Murray street, was a prisoner in the Essex Market Police court to-day. He is charged with stealing a roll of cloth from the cloak shop of Edelson & Schwartz, of 64 Canal street. As told in "The Evening World," a fire broke out in the place about ten days ago, and the Insurance Patrol has been in charge ever since this morning. Shortly after 2 o'clock this morning Isaac Liebovitz, of 21 Eldridge street, heard footsteps in the hallway of the premises. Some time ago Liebovitz was robbed of $75 worth of goods, and he has been carrying a grudge since. Liebovitz, his father and his mother, Young Liebovitz, and father seized the fireman, McNally, and returned to the court.

BAYONNE FIREMEN UNABLE TO GET WATER TO QUENCH FIRE.

Big Plaster Factory and Another Building Destroyed.

A Suspicious Fire Last Week Adds to the Mystery.

BAYONNE, N. J., Aug. 20.—During a fire at 1 o'clock this morning in the plaster block factory near First street and Avenue A, on the outskirts of this city, it was discovered that the hydrants had been tampered with, rendering it impossible for the fire engines to get water from them.

After trying three hydrants in the immediate neighborhood of the fire, and finding them unfit for use, an engine finally succeeded in connecting with one on the Grand Boulevard, several blocks away, that was found to be all right.

By this time, however, the five-story brick building was completely destroyed, and another large brick building near by was razed to the ground before any effectual work could be done by the firemen.

It was only last Thursday that the steward of the New Jersey Athletic Club at Bergen Point, near which one of the useless hydrants stands, discovered fire in the grand stand.

Some of the beams and heavy timbers were burning when the steward made the discovery. He put the fire out with little difficulty and since then a night watchman has been guarding the place.

REPORT THAT SEVERAL LIVES HAVE BEEN LOST—NIECE SENDS AID.

NICE, Aug. 20.—The town of Cagnes, situated ten miles west of this city, is reported to be in danger of destruction by fire.

The Fire Department of Nice has sent a detachment to the endangered place. It is reported that several lives have been lost.

Cagnes has a population of about 2,000. The origin of the fire in the building 22, 24 and 26 Reade street shortly before 12 o'clock last night, after being burned out by an insupportable mystery. Even the floor upon which it started is a puzzle which the firemen have not yet satisfactorily solved. It is also believed there was an explosion.

The building belongs to Vernon Bros. & Co., who moved in on the ground floor about two months ago, after being burned out at 26 and 28 Duane street. They are fully insured, as are all the other occupants of the building.

The fourth floor is the one on which the fire appears to have started. It is occupied by Stettiner & Lambert, printers. One that floor section about four feet wide, extending for twenty-five feet along the rear windows facing Manhattan place, is completely gutted. Beyond that space the only damage was by water.

On the floor above is the Darrow Binding Company. The burnt-out space there is considerably larger, and one night higher, on the sixth or top floor, the charred area is greatest of all. This floor is occupied by Marvin & Vessey, bookbinders, and the William L. Allison Company, publishers.

The names of the occupants, together with their respective losses, are as follows: Marvin & Vessey, and the William L. Allison Company, who worked co-operatively, sixth floor, $2,500.

The Darrow Binding Company, fifth floor, $4,000. Stettiner & Lambert, fourth floor, $2,000. H. Hestkamp, book-binder and gilt-edger, third floor, $1,000.

Stettiner & Lambert also occupy the second floor, where their damage from water is $2,500.

The damage to the building will scarcely exceed $2,000. The figures in each instance are rough estimates, given mainly by the losers themselves. All the firms closed up at 12:30 last Saturday. The fire was nobody supposed to be in the building after that, not even a watchman.

The fire was discovered by Policeman Brogan, who turned in three alarms. Twelve engines, a water-tower and a great many trucks responded. Only one engine was, however, necessary, as the fire was very quickly extinguished.

Stettiner & Lambert denied the published statement that they were in business. "This is the first fire we have ever had," said Mr. Stettiner to an "Evening World" reporter.

ELIZABETH POLICE HAVE AN ENCOUNTER WITH MIDNIGHT MARAUDERS.

One of the Latter Wounded and Taken Prisoner.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Aug. 20.—Officer Tucker, of the Elizabeth police, had a desperate struggle at 2:30 o'clock this morning with a fugitive thief on the Newark road, and as a result of the encounter the thief now lies in the Elizabeth Hospital with a bullet wound in his leg.

It was about 2 A. M. when Officer Schreiner stopped three men who were in a wagon driving towards Newark. They had two sacks of potatoes in the wagon, and they told the officer that they purchased the potatoes at Springfield. Policeman Schreiner said he would have to take the rig and its occupants to Police Headquarters for investigation, whereupon the three men jumped out and ran towards some timber near the road.

The officer gave chase, and emptied his revolver at the fugitive, but failed to hit any of them. The fugitive was vigorously pursued for help, and was joined by Officer Schreiner and Officer Tucker. The fugitive was captured, and the officer gave his name as Antonio Barbe, age thirty-five, an Italian, and who lives at 100 West 10th street, Newark. He was shot in the thigh. The bullet has not yet been extracted.

The fugitive was taken to the hospital, and the officer gave his name as Antonio Barbe, age thirty-five, an Italian, and who lives at 100 West 10th street, Newark. He was shot in the thigh. The bullet has not yet been extracted.

The fugitive was taken to the hospital, and the officer gave his name as Antonio Barbe, age thirty-five, an Italian, and who lives at 100 West 10th street, Newark. He was shot in the thigh. The bullet has not yet been extracted.

The fugitive was taken to the hospital, and the officer gave his name as Antonio Barbe, age thirty-five, an Italian, and who lives at 100 West 10th street, Newark. He was shot in the thigh. The bullet has not yet been extracted.

The fugitive was taken to the hospital, and the officer gave his name as Antonio Barbe, age thirty-five, an Italian, and who lives at 100 West 10th street, Newark. He was shot in the thigh. The bullet has not yet been extracted.

The fugitive was taken to the hospital, and the officer gave his name as Antonio Barbe, age thirty-five, an Italian, and who lives at 100 West 10th street, Newark. He was shot in the thigh. The bullet has not yet been extracted.

The fugitive was taken to the hospital, and the officer gave his name as Antonio Barbe, age thirty-five, an Italian, and who lives at 100 West 10th street, Newark. He was shot in the thigh. The bullet has not yet been extracted.

The fugitive was taken to the hospital, and the officer gave his name as Antonio Barbe, age thirty-five, an Italian, and who lives at 100 West 10th street, Newark. He was shot in the thigh. The bullet has not yet been extracted.

The fugitive was taken to the hospital, and the officer gave his name as Antonio Barbe, age thirty-five, an Italian, and who lives at 100 West 10th street, Newark. He was shot in the thigh. The bullet has not yet been extracted.

The fugitive was taken to the hospital, and the officer gave his name as Antonio Barbe, age thirty-five, an Italian, and who lives at 100 West 10th street, Newark. He was shot in the thigh. The bullet has not yet been extracted.

The fugitive was taken to the hospital, and the officer gave his name as Antonio Barbe, age thirty-five, an Italian, and who lives at 100 West 10th street, Newark. He was shot in the thigh. The bullet has not yet been extracted.

The fugitive was taken to the hospital, and the officer gave his name as Antonio Barbe, age thirty-five, an Italian, and who lives at 100 West 10th street, Newark. He was shot in the thigh. The bullet has not yet been extracted.

The fugitive was taken to the hospital, and the officer gave his name as Antonio Barbe, age thirty-five, an Italian, and who lives at 100 West 10th street, Newark. He was shot in the thigh. The bullet has not yet been extracted.

The fugitive was taken to the hospital, and the officer gave his name as Antonio Barbe, age thirty-five, an Italian, and who lives at 100 West 10th street, Newark. He was shot in the thigh. The bullet has not yet been extracted.

The fugitive was taken to the hospital, and