Gov. Wattle's chariot wheels still roll on—in his mind.

Whose vest pocket holds Warner Miller's candidate?

Garbled reports of Brockway's defense do not acquit Brockway.

It will require your best efforts to make a Better New York.

Does Actor Johann Most propose to elevate the stage by dynamite?

No partisan appointment of the Empire State can win the votes of the Empire State.

It is a piece of supererogation to remark that the Colorado Populists have gone crazy.

The sooner New York and New Jersey Bridge hearings give way to bridge building the better.

"Words, not deeds," appears to be the motto of the Constitutional Convention, up to date.

Brockway's defense consists in twisting the evidence of his guilt. But the evidence is still there.

It is a good deal for an Arctic expedition to be successful in getting safely back from the North.

The striking clothing makers of this city deserve a garment cut out of the whole cloth of success.

The Sick Babies' Fund has bounded over another thousand-dollar line. It now amounts to $23,291.11.

Did you read "The Evening World" yesterday? If you did you learned all that happened up to the hour of going to press.

A seat for every fare paid by tired men and weary women. That's what every street car company should be made to furnish.

See that your vote is counted for real rapid transit and for municipal consolidation. A Greater, Faster and Better New York is wanted.

At a rough guess Keeper Sample estimates that Paddler Brockway didn't paddle more than eighty out of eight hundred victims on the head.

Plans for the new State Reformatory to be built in Ulster County should be accompanied by specifications for the barring of every species of Brooklynism.

ernment, real rapid transit and the consolidation of the cities which are to make the Greater New York are three matters vital to metropolitan progress. Be ready to give them all your support at the polls, and get for them all the votes that you can besides your own.

WHAT REFORM HAS WON.

Representative William L. Wilson, the able and devoted leader of tariff reform in Congress, who mailed for Europe yesterday, wrote a most welcome letter to "The World" in which he sets forth the real advantages gained by the new tariff. He discredits the disfigurement of the original measure through Democratic treachery and the sinister influences of the threatened Trusts.

ANOTHER ARCTIC FAILURE.

The failure of the "Cook Arctic" expedition, as told in "The Evening World" yesterday, furnishes a new proof of the folly of those reckless and practically useless undertakings. The Miranda, which left St. John's, Newfoundland, on July 29, was abandoned at sea in a sinking condition on Aug. 23, in Davis Strait, West Greenland. Fortunately the expedition did not have such a tragic ending as that experienced by the Jeannette and Proteus ventures. Dr. Cook and his party did not leave their hooks to whiten in the Arctic region.

The Mirinda took from New York a large force of scientists and sportsmen, and important results for science were expected to be obtained by scientific enthusiasts or as newspaper advertisements are so useless sacrifice of valuable lives, and it is to be hoped that the Cook expedition will be the last heard of for some time to come. It can scarcely be hoped that folly and indifference to human life will cease altogether.

WILL HE RESPOND?

The Republicans who do not feel disposed to allow Mr. Platt to ride roughshod over them and usurp the functions of the State Convention are stretching out their arms across the Atlantic and calling on Mr. Chauncey M. Depew to come to their rescue. He has "downed" the boss before, and they appeal to him to do it again. With Depew as their candidate for Governor, they feel confident of an "beat Mr. Platt and restore" Morton.

NOW FOR APPETITELESS DAYS.

The Christian Scientists of Burlington, Ia., do not want their children taught physiology. They declare that there is no material body, and no such things as stomach and brains. They object to geography, too, on the ground that it is a sort of prebald certificate of the materiality of the body. The Burlington School Board has refused to give any school children any physiological instruction, in wiping out the county seat of cholera morbus and destroying all interest in mealtime and the corrugated cocktail. Hiring man above the level of his midday free-lunch and leading woman away from the temptations of ice-cream saloons, the cholar has succeeded in wiping out the county seat of cholera morbus and destroying all interest in mealtime and the corrugated cocktail.

Yesterday was a good day for live news. Some of it was good news, like that of the "Cook Arctic" expedition's tragedy. Anton Hirschowitz, the tragedian of Anton Hirschowitz's bloody work with a pistol. All of it was interesting, and peculiarly so, were the stories of Millionaire Flagler's yacht in collision and the sinking of the famous Viking ship and the modern Viking ship, but good and bad, peaceful or tragic, of accident or of happy occurrence, all the news was in "The Evening World," with which paper, it may be remarked, in passing, the day is always a good one for news.

Whether the old Vikings discovered America is a matter still left in doubt. But the modern Viking ship has doubtless discovered the bottom of the Chicago River. Little has been known of that region before, except that its name was mud. It must, therefore, remain invisible to the naked eye until someone discovers a process for washing the turgid stream that flows and smells above it.

Emperor William appears as the foe of monopolists. He is declared to have blocked the Standard Oil Company's efforts to divide the earth with Russia. Would that some of his imperial energy and inclination might be transferred to the Attorney-General's department, at Washington, for application in the matter of the Sugar Trust.

NEED OF CAR LANS.

Legislature Should See that Overcrowding is Stopped.

In European Cities Passengers are Well Provided For.

Public Welfare Here is Disregarded for the Sake of Money.

There must be something radically wrong in the system which permits the street railroad companies to crowd their cars and their passengers in New York City, ignoring the rights of the travelling public and daily subjecting their patrons to the most extreme discomfort and annoyance.

In fact the legislative authorities whose duty it should be to secure the rights of the private citizen against the encroachment of corporations created by the State seem to have wholly neglected the matter in this case, and have permitted the street railroad companies to treat passengers just as they please. All that they are compelled to do is to run their cars without interruption, and that the companies shall run a certain number of cars of that they shall not allow more than a certain number of passengers to occupy a car.

The result is that these corporations, in their disregard of the rights of the public, are continuing their effort to increase their enormous profits, and their utter disregard of the rights of the public is daily becoming more and more apparent. The result is that these corporations, in their disregard of the rights of the public, are continuing their effort to increase their enormous profits, and their utter disregard of the rights of the public is daily becoming more and more apparent.

The public omnibuses and street cars are crowded to the point where a single passenger beyond the regular carrying capacity of such a bus or car is a nuisance. Every passenger who pays his fare is crowded to the point where a single passenger beyond the regular carrying capacity of such a bus or car is a nuisance.

The worst place of all is at the double car, where the passengers are crowded to the point where a single passenger beyond the regular carrying capacity of such a bus or car is a nuisance. Every passenger who pays his fare is crowded to the point where a single passenger beyond the regular carrying capacity of such a bus or car is a nuisance.

The motorists seem to take delight in starting their cars with a jerk when they are packed to the point where a single passenger beyond the regular carrying capacity of such a bus or car is a nuisance. Every passenger who pays his fare is crowded to the point where a single passenger beyond the regular carrying capacity of such a bus or car is a nuisance.

LETTERS.

[This column is open to everybody who has a complaint to make, a grievance to vent, information to give, a subject of general interest to discuss or a public service to announce, and who can put the idea into less than 100 words. Long letters cannot be printed.]

The Engaged Young Man. When a fellow engaged to be married asks you "What a consummate fool he appears!" his tongue does not mean to offend. He smiles even as he says the words. At times he will stand by you. And not how a word you may say. When you tell him all the things are going. He will satisfy your question, "Why?"

The change which love makes in a fellow is sometimes a thing to admire. His complexion becomes somewhat yellow. To him every one seems a bore. He ponders and contemplates. He is a queer, within his own mind. He is a queer, within his own mind. He is a queer, within his own mind.

Kit's and the Coronet. "Many are called, few are chosen." For two days the readers of "The Evening World" have seen the story of Kit's and the Coronet. Many like myself say: "What does the coronet do?" It is a queer, within his own mind. He is a queer, within his own mind. He is a queer, within his own mind.

Better Here than Out West. Having recently returned from Colorado, where I had gone in company with an invalid brother, I am, I feel, in a position to advise "disinterested" friends who are contemplating a move to the West. I am, I feel, in a position to advise "disinterested" friends who are contemplating a move to the West.

This Settles It. We have no authentic record concerning Cain, but we have the only guide in deciding the controversy. It is contained in the Bible. It is contained in the Bible. It is contained in the Bible.

Taxing Immigration. To restrict immigration by imposing a head-tax on immigrants, as proposed by J. S. Brown and endorsed by W. H. Allen, would, in a very large measure, be to America labor the protection that it is daily in want of and is justly entitled to. To restrict immigration by imposing a head-tax on immigrants, as proposed by J. S. Brown and endorsed by W. H. An Unrefreshing Faucet. On Twenty-third street, near the corner of First Avenue, is a faucet attached to the side of a building, with the following inscription over it: "Faucet God, from whom all blessings flow." This faucet is a disgrace to the city. It is a disgrace to the city. It is a disgrace to the city.

Lovely Dancing Girls of Japan. The dancing girls at the Fifth Avenue Theatre, where the "Mikado" is being sung by the Duff Opera Company, are nothing like as pretty as the slim, stately, elegant, graceful, and smiling girls one sees in a tour of Japan. At the tea houses, theatres and bazaars in the large cities and suburbs the gaudy, who sing and dance, are about fifteen years of age, with marvellously black chignons, stuck with shell pins, skin like amber, eyebrows shaped into crescents, and hair, which is fully drawn little circle of rouge in the middle of each cheek. They are painted an impossible pink and white, with a line of little kiss-curls at the nape of the neck; their tiny hands are eloquent of beauty and their absurd dignity, the witchery of their comical affections, their melancholy voices, irritating laugh, and the latent mischief in their ridiculous slits of eyes are in keeping with the tiny make-believe world in which they live.

Any Word but "I." Don't commence a letter with "I now sit down and take my pen to write to you." That is altogether too commonplace. First, acknowledge the receipt of a previous letter, if you are in correspondence with the person, and then tell of the most pleasing events that have occurred since you last wrote; or ask what incidents have taken place with your correspondent. Write of your surroundings and relate pleasing gossip, but avoid malicious remarks always. Huddleston says:

The Pantinas and the Push Cart. To the Editor: That the police are permitted to allow the push-cart men as they do at the place and Fourth Avenue, for instance, why should honest industry and enterprise be discouraged and punished wholly without cause? Can't you do something to stop this? It is a disgrace to the city. It is a disgrace to the city. It is a disgrace to the city.

Why Has the Harder Time? To the Editor: Can any of your readers tell me which has the harder side of life, man or woman? Miss MARGEN, BROOKLYN, N. Y.

IS THE MILK AFFECTED? Tuberculosis Found in Cattle Supplying the New York Market. The published despatch from Newburg this morning, that tuberculosis has been discovered among the cows in the "Home Farm" herd, at Walden, Ontario, where the Borden Condensed Milk Company, Prof. Law, of the State University, is examining the cattle on hand, is of great interest. Acting Chief Chemist Lester, of the New York State Department of Health, today said that he had no doubt that the disease had been communicated with the State Board of Health. President Wilson indorsed this view, and said that while the Board had received no official notification of the prevalence of tuberculosis among the cows of the State Board of Health, he had no doubt that the State Board had been notified.

Dr. W. H. Thomson, an acknowledged authority on dietetics, while advocating a milk diet for people with indigestion, believes it should be diluted, particularly for adults. He says: "Fresh, undiluted milk also is, in my experience, not to be allowed from its indigestibility with most healthy adults. It is a significant fact that races like the Tartars, the Bedouins and the hordes of South America, who have to live on milk, have all found by experience that it has to be fermented first before it can become a staple and, with them, about their only daily diet. All the world over the ferment for this purpose is the same, namely, yeast. Ferment with fresh, good milk, ferment the people of Asia, and now sold here pretty extensively under the Turkish name of matzoon, I have relieved more cases of vomiting from organic diseases of the stomach than by any other article."

Black Corsets. Few black corsets are desirable. Cheap black ones crack and soil the dress lining; fast black are very expensive. Spliffs are fine, but being non-elastic, splits under pressure. Cotton is the chief objection to black broadcloth. Black cotton is a dangerous purchase unless a black cover is worn over it. This material, which is the very best in trade, for some unknown reason will not take a fast black. The threads, being spiral, may have something to do with the case. Black corsets are not to be worn always, and the woolen stuffs now used are open to similar suspicions. After all, the best thing in black, corsets in a white outfit. It is a lady's choice.

Beautifying Luncheon. Clean black corsets are desirable. Cheap black ones crack and soil the dress lining; fast black are very expensive. Mock Bisque Soup. Put one pint of tomatoes over the fire with a bay leaf, a stalk of celery, a sprig of parsley and a slice of onion. Let simmer for fifteen minutes, then press through a sieve and return to the kettle until wanted. Scald one pint of butter, rub together one tablespoonful of butter and one of flour, add to the soup. Add to the scalded milk, and stir until it thickens. When ready to serve, add one tablespoonful of soda to the tomatoes. Mix in the soup tureen, season with two teaspoonfuls of salt, one-half a teaspoonful of white pepper, and serve. It is a delicious and useful soup without curdling comes from the usual way of mixing and allowing to stand before serving. The soda is added to the tomatoes to correct their acidity, but there is still enough, if cooked with milk, it will curdle. Mix in the tureen, and never repeat.

Carving Poultry. In carving a turkey, place the head to the right, cut off the drumstick, side-bone, wing and then the second joint; next slice down the breast until a rounded white piece appears, which can be separated by sticking the knife under it. This delicate operation of white meat is one of the choicest bits of the fowl. Then turn the bird the other way, the fork need not be removed from the breast-bone, and dismember in the same playful, tasteful way. Serve each person with a piece of dark meat and a slice of white meat. The second joint of the legs, the pop's nose and the two lozenges in the backbone are considered the sweetest pieces of dark meat. If dressing and gravy are served, the two should go together, but to put gravy on the meat is a gastronomic crime. All baked fowls are better for being stuffed, whether the savory bread is served or not.

Recipe for Hair Tonic. Sulphate of quinine..... 1-2 oz. Tincture of cantharides..... 4 oz. The use of anodyne is not recommended. Dissolved alcohol..... 1-2 oz. Dissolve the quinine in lemon juice or spirits. This will clean the scalp, dry up the excessive oil or perspiration and prevent the hair from falling out. If the head is very thin-skinned and the wash irritates it reduce the cantharides by doubling the oil and alcohol. A bath in ammonia or soda softened water is equally cleansing, but those chemicals take the color out of the hair, and if strong actually burn into the oil glands.
