

MR. HILL IN A PANIC.

Loss of His Thinking Cap on a Train the Cause. When He Found It Quiet Was Restored in the Car.

Here's an Interesting Story as to His Inventions If Elected.

Senator David B. Hill came to town again to-day and put up in room 293 of the Park Avenue Hotel, only a few steps from Democratic headquarters in the same building.

It is expected that he will have a talk with W. R. Grace before he leaves the city, and ask the latter to use whatever influence he has with Anti-Snappers up the State in an effort to get them to come out strong for the State ticket.

Among the curious stories that have become current about Mr. Hill there is a very interesting one that it is hard to trace to its source. This is, in effect, a statement that Mr. Hill, if elected Governor, intends to resign that office to Daniel N. Lockwood, and remain in the United States State himself.

Senator Hill was very much worried by an incident that occurred on his trip down from Kingston last night, and the incident shows that Mr. Hill is not a little superstitious.

The Senator has an old gray traveling cap that he regards as a mascot. He has worn it for six years on his travels. Just after leaving Kingston, he looked for this cap, but could not find it.

With a sigh of relief he placed the cap upon his head and sank back in his seat to rest. He was not long when Secretary Lockett, who was sitting next to him, called upon him.

Mr. Hill remained in his room nearly all day and denied himself to all callers except his family.

Shortly before noon, Calvin H. Huson, who is secretary of the Senate, called on Mr. Hill's interest, called upon him.

Mr. Hill's interest, called upon him. He was received immediately. A few minutes after Mr. Hill's arrival, Mr. Sheehan, ex-State Comptroller Campbell and E. L. Higday arrived and were admitted to see Senator Hill's apartments.

The party was in earnest consultation at 1:30 o'clock.

Lost a Registration Day. A Clerical Blunder Leaves Only Three to Long Island City.

LONG ISLAND CITY, N. Y., Oct. 13.—The carelessness of some official connected with the City Clerk's office will probably result in this city having only three days for registration instead of the four days allowed by law.

Official notice stated that the days of registration would be Oct. 6, 13, 20 and 27. Under the law which governs all cities in the State outside of New York and Brooklyn the first day of registration should have been the 27th instead of Oct. 6.

It is contended that the City Registrar should have been notified of this error on Oct. 27 except to rectify mistakes, and that no new names can be taken.

Unless some provision of the law can be found to allow the Board to register on Oct. 27, there will be only one day of registration here. In any event, there is likely to be a legal contest on the part of candidates for office on the grounds, first, that the board had no such power, and second, if they do not register names that the voters were deprived of their rights.

To Run Against Husted. Ralph Baker, of Sing Sing, Will Be Named by the Democrats.

There was more of a bustle around Democratic headquarters to-day, and it was partly accounted for by the presence in the city of Senator Hill.

AGATHA HESS SAYS SHE IS THE VICTIM OF BROKEN VOWS.

Kircher Arrested in a Suit for $5,000 Damages and Sent to Jail.

Anton Kircher, until recently employed by the Ruppert Brewing Company, was arrested to-day by Deputy Sheriff Walgreen, upon an order issued by Judge Van Wyck, of the City Court, in an action begun against him by Agatha Hess, eighteen years old, to recover $5,000 damages for breach of promise of marriage and betrayal.

Kircher could not furnish the $500 bail required and is now in Ludlow Street Jail.

According to the allegations of the plaintiff, she and Anton have known each other since childhood and were schoolmates in Germany.

She says that about a year ago she and he became engaged, and that the date for marriage was set in last April. After the engagement, the plaintiff alleges that the defendant, by means of his promise of marriage, accomplished her ruin, and that she is about to become a mother.

She further alleges that Anton has given up his position, and also left his boarding-house and that it was his intention to leave the State.

Capt. Aitken Buried. Many Pilots Attend the Funeral of Their Former Associate.

The funeral of Capt. Charles C. Aitken, of the New York pilot-boat Amorse, No. 12, who was found drowned near Chagrin's Wharf, New London, Conn., Wednesday, was held from his late home, 24 Dean street, Brooklyn, this morning.

At 10:30 o'clock a solemn requiem mass was celebrated at St. Paul's Church. The funeral was largely attended. Many Sandy Hook pilots were present, among them Robert Yates and Ed Braun, who were with Capt. Aitken on the Snow on the trip which ended in his death.

Capt. Aitken was about thirty-five years old. His father, who died a few weeks ago, was the owner and captain of the Snow. The circumstances attending the death of Capt. Aitken are still a mystery. It is known that the Snow put into New London on Friday last for supplies. Capt. Aitken always attended to that work. The supplies were received, but Capt. Aitken did not come back to the Snow.

The Snow had important business outside the harbor. The pilots waited at the wharf for Capt. Aitken, and when he did not return they thought he had gone home by rail on an urgent call.

Nothing more was heard of Capt. Aitken until his body was found in the water. It is believed that the captain was in the water for some time before he was rescued. The body was found by the crew of the Snow, and was taken to the shore.

The divorce that failed. Actor Coote's Wife Brings Two Suits Against Him.

Charles W. Coote, an actor and a member of the Comedy Club, is the defendant in a suit his wife has brought to have her marriage annulled, and also another suit to recover $10,000 damages, in which he is charged with tricking her into an illegal marriage.

Coote's wife alleges that when her husband married her he had a wife living in England.

It is alleged that Coote began an action for divorce from his first wife, and then he married the plaintiff. The divorce that he married the plaintiff was annulled, and also another suit to recover $10,000 damages, in which he is charged with tricking her into an illegal marriage.

MRS. DANIELS'S MAID'S SKIRT.

The Wind Blew It Away and Mrs. Place Is Charged with Theft.

Justice McMahon, in the Yorkville Police Court, to-day held Mrs. Lydia Place in $500 bail for trial on a charge of larceny.

Mrs. Place is a well-dressed, refined looking woman of sixty-three years, living in a fashionable apartment house at 9 West Sixty-third street, and Mrs. Lizzie Daniels, the complainant, occupies the floor above. Mrs. Daniels is a widow, and has a pretty Parisian maid, named Marie Matthias.

Mrs. Daniels charged Mrs. Place with the theft of a fine, crimson, silk skirt, belonging to that maid, a week ago. According to Mrs. Daniels, the skirt had been hung upon the railing of her fire-escape. It was blown off and fell upon Mrs. Place's fire-escape, and she saw her take in the skirt, which she has refused to return.

Mrs. Daniels came to court on Tuesday and related her story to Justice McMahon, who sent Court Officer Heller to arrest Mrs. Place on the day following.

When the case was called he found the older woman greatly excited. The Justice adjourned the case until the following day, when the trial was held in the night in Yorkville Prison, in default of $500 bail, having failed to notify her friends.

When the case was called on Thursday a number of Mrs. Place's friends appeared in court. Her indignation led her Honor to change his opinion in the case. The case was once more adjourned until Friday morning, but Mrs. Place was permitted to go on her own bail.

On Thursday's examination it came out that the name of Mrs. Daniels's maid was Marie Matthias. The Justice adjourned the case until the following day, when the trial was held in the night in Yorkville Prison, in default of $500 bail, having failed to notify her friends.

DUNRAVEN WILL CHALLENGE.

He Has Decided to Build Again for the America's Cup.

The New Craft Will Probably Be About the Size of Britannia.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—The Press says that Lord Dunraven has practically decided to build a new challenger for the America's Cup. It will be a cutter the size of the Britannia or a trifle longer. The paper adds:

"This perhaps, under the circumstances, is the best decision, as we have no yachts that a 70-footer could fairly be tried against. We understand that Lord Dunraven has not communicated with the New York Yacht Club yet, but the conditions that ruled last year's matches will probably prevail."

The Yacht Racing Association met yesterday and discussed questions of rating. Including the possibility of common international rating. The discussion was adjourned for a week.

When Mr. H. Maitland Kersey, the agent of the White Star line and Lord Dunraven's representative in this country, was shown a copy of the above despatch this morning, he said:

"While I think Lord Dunraven's preference would probably be for a smaller boat, I believe the reply is correct. Of course, the dimensions of the boat would not be a public trial challenge, but I believe there is no doubt that Lord Dunraven is building some sort of yacht to compete against America's Cup next year." Mr. Kersey was asked:

"Well," replied he, "I have not heard from Lord Dunraven very lately, but that assumption is warranted."

"What size do you think the new boat will be?" "Doubtless Gen. Paine would like to have a trial of Jubilee against an English boat, and also a trial against a 70-footer on the other side. It is customary to build a boat of the size of the vessel to be tried against."

ACCIDENT ON THE "L."

Car Axle Broke on a Third Avenue Train Near Chatham Square.

It Was Engine No. 13, Oct. 13 and Occurred at 8:13 O'Clock.

The proverbially unlucky number 13 figured prominently in an accident which occurred on the Third Avenue "L" on the south of Chatham Square station at 8:13 o'clock this morning.

The accident, of course, deride it, but it will be a hard matter to convince the superstitious that when a train, drawn by engine 13, breaks down at 13 minutes past 8 o'clock, on Oct. 13, there is nothing in it.

Engine 13, with its train, including car No. 566, having on board probably 300 passengers, was bowling up grade when a rumbling sound was heard and the occupants of car No. 566 were kept bobbing about in their seats like kernels of corn in a popper.

Outside of a lot of frightened passengers, and a shake-up all around, no harm was done, and the passengers got out and ill-humoredly tramped up to Chatham Square.

There was a flaw in the axle of one of the rear trucks of car No. 566. The axle broke, the wheels left the track and but for the heavy wooden guard rails the car would have undoubtedly been precipitated into the street, fifty feet below.

Within 10 minutes the uptown track contained an almost solid line of cars from Chatham Square to Forty-second Street.

The greatest confusion prevailed at Chatham Square station. As rapidly as possible the south-bound trains, City Hall or otherwise, were sent to the South Ferry. The guards and gatemen had almost to fight with the passengers to convince them that they were on a South Ferry train.

The City-Hall-bound passengers were the most inconvenienced. They had to wait in the City Hall station and Chatham Square, but it was too slow to accommodate the thousands of anxious ones who were impatient to get to business.

The train which was derailed car No. 566 had proceeded but a few rods when it broke down again. The train was then stalled half way between Chatham Square and City Hall, and the passengers were obliged to alight and walk down the tracks.

The result, nearly all day to get the train back to the regular schedule. The Third Avenue Cable Company respect a harvest from the accident.

DECKS SWEEP BY BIG SEAS. Ship Lancing Hove To For Twelve Hours in the Recent Gale.

Capt. Rostad, of the Norwegian ship Lancing, which arrived to-day from Calcutta, after a voyage of 125 days, reports that on Oct. 10 the vessel encountered the heaviest gale in thirty years.

The vessel was hoisted to twelve hours with the lee rail under water, and the big seas that swept aboard smashed the vessel's deck and several sails were washed overboard and several sails were blown away.

Everything movable on deck was washed overboard and several sails were blown away. The vessel was hoisted to twelve hours with the lee rail under water, and the big seas that swept aboard smashed the vessel's deck and several sails were washed overboard and several sails were blown away.

The strength of these splendid testimonials coming from well-known persons, to them that they would have, undoubtedly been precipitated into the street, fifty feet below.

THE GIANTS' BIG BENEFIT.

A Mammoth Bill of the Best Talent Volunteers to Appear.

Mr. W. C. Temple, of Pittsburg, the donor of the Temple Cup, has received from Capt. John M. Ward, on behalf of the players, a special invitation to be present at the Broadway Theatre to-day.

To-day Mrs. Daniels was represented by her attorney, Mr. J. H. Murray. The court ruled that the charge against Mrs. Daniels was not sustained.

Justice Grady, who talks baseball as fluently as he discusses justice, will receive the case in behalf of the players.

Mrs. Daniels and Mrs. Place stuck to their stories without changing their versions. His Honor held Mrs. Place for trial.

CORBETT NOT WORRIED. He Has Heard Florida Objections to His Rights Before.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 13.—Champion Corbett said this morning, when he had read the despatches about Guy Mitchell's opposition to a fight taking place in Florida:

"All this talk is the same as that which preceded my match with Mitchell in January, 1892. The only information in regard to what arrangements have been made to pull off the fight is that the Florida Athletic Club will have to post the entire purse several months in advance of the fight, and it is not likely to throw its money away."
