

FOUR CENTS A LOAF.

Price of Bread to Be Reduced Within a Few Days. One Big Firm Agrees to the Rate and Others Will Follow.

A Fair Margin of Profit Will Remain Through Cheaper Flour.

"The Evening World's" fight for a reduction in the price of bread is practically an assured success, and within a few days the public will be able to purchase a loaf of bread for which it is at present paying five cents, at the rate of four cents a loaf.

Hugo Fredericks, manager of Rockwell's Baking Company, to-day promised to add "The Evening World's" demand in securing the reduction, and intimated strongly that within the next few days his firm at least would make a reduction in the price of the loaf of bread.

Mr. Fredericks is the first wholesale baker to accede to the demands of the public. It has been the wholesale dealers who have been responsible for the fact that, despite the great reduction in the cost of flour, the public has been forced to pay the same price for bread as when flour was 30 per cent. higher.

The justice of the demand that the price be reduced from five to four cents a loaf has been so forcible that Mr. Fredericks has determined to accede, despite any protestations from his brother bakers.

With such a prominent firm as Rockwell's to break the existing combine, it is hardly possible that other firms can keep from falling in line, and within a few days the public may expect to see a reduction in the price of the loaf, thanks to "The Evening World."

It is almost needless to say here what position Rockwell's bakery occupies in the bread market. It is one of the largest and best known in the city, having been in existence for over a century. Many of the poor people on the city side have grown up with the firm, and it is hardly to be expected that when they learn that Rockwell's was the first to reduce the price of the loaf, they will be the first to follow.

Mr. Fredericks was found at his office this morning and said: "I am aware of the fact that the price of bread is being reduced, and I am also aware that something must be done. I will see that the price is reduced to four cents a loaf, and I will do all in my power to aid it."

"I cannot assure you that there will be a general reduction immediately within a few days. I am sure that such will be the case. You see that at present the price is being reduced by one cent, and I am sure that it will be reduced by another cent within a few days. I am sure that the public will be benefited by this reduction, and I am sure that the public will be benefited by this reduction."

"The Evening World's" demand is a demand for a reduction in the price of bread, and it is a demand for a reduction in the price of bread. It is a demand for a reduction in the price of bread, and it is a demand for a reduction in the price of bread.

"I am sure that the public will be benefited by this reduction, and I am sure that the public will be benefited by this reduction. I am sure that the public will be benefited by this reduction, and I am sure that the public will be benefited by this reduction."

Battles Are Expected at Kinchow Asoy and Fung-Whang.

(By Associated Press.)

YOKOHAMA, Nov. 2.—It is announced that the investment of Port Arthur by the Japanese forces has been completed by land and by sea, and that the forward movement of both the Japanese armies in the direction of Moukden is being rapidly pushed.

It is added that a portion of Field Marshal Count Oyama's force will attack Kinchow Asoy, which is occupied by the Chinese troops. In the meanwhile, Gen. Nodzu's advance column is approaching Fung-Whang, a fortified town on the main road between Wiju and Moukden, to which place all the Chinese troops retreated after leaving their positions north of the Yalu River.

The Japanese expect to defeat the Chinese at both places and then unite their columns before the walls of Moukden.

His furniture at the Chancellery has been sent to Skieren, near Krossen, where he intends to live after his return. Chancellor von Caprivi has appointed Count von Schönerer-Schönborn-Wiesentheid his aide-de-camp.

ADVANCE IN PACIFIC MAIL. Stock Prices Generally Firm and Business Dull.

No Gold Shipment To-Morrow Looked for by Bankers.

The stock market still retains its strength, and it looks as if the shorts had placed themselves in a most unenviable position. They have been putting out contracts in nearly all the leading shares, using false statements in regard to the Northwest dividend and other alarmist stories to depress the list.

The bulls have quietly let them go on, until now the short interest is untold, and a very moderate demand to cover leads to a decided advance in prices. The improvement this morning was equal to 1-4 to 1-2 per cent., and was stimulated by moderate buying orders from London.

Northwest rose 1 to 1 1/2; Delaware & Hudson, 1 to 1 1/2; Denver & Rio Grande, 3/4 to 1; Louisville & Nashville, 3/4 to 1; Manhattan, 1/2 to 3/4; New Jersey Central, 3/4 to 1; Pacific Mail, 1/4 to 1/2; Erie, 1/4 to 1/2; Western Union, 1 to 1 1/2; Canada Southern, 1/4 to 1/2; Chicago & North Western, 1/4 to 1/2; Rock Island, 1/4 to 1/2; General Electric, 1/4 to 1/2; American Electric, 1/4 to 1/2; Sugar, 1/4 to 1/2; and later fully recovered its loss.

Commodities advanced to 63 3/4, and Mexican dollars are unchanged at 51. Bar Silver in London rose 1/16, but the business is dull. The chances are that the shipping will be very quiet, but an amicable agreement has been reached between the 50-day sterling bill and 4 1/2 per cent., and eight drafts at 4 1/2 per cent. are being placed on the market.

Money 1 per cent. on call and 2 1/2 to 3 per cent. for time. Foreign exchange is steady, but the value of the business is small. The changes are that the shipping will be very quiet, but an amicable agreement has been reached between the 50-day sterling bill and 4 1/2 per cent., and eight drafts at 4 1/2 per cent. are being placed on the market.

Deutch & Co. have leased for a long term of years Nos. 39 and 41 West Twenty-third street, the fifty-foot front building next door to Flint's furniture house, and directly across the street from the building on Twenty-fourth street, which will give them six floors, 50,000 feet of space.

Messrs. Deutch & Co. have demonstrated to the New York public that they are not only practical ladies' tailors, but also expert workmen, and that their trade-mark in a garment is a lasting quality of fit and finish, and their prices, everything being equal, really defies competition.

Deutch & Co., when in their new building, will be the largest manufacturer of retail ladies' tailors, furriers and milliners in the world, and we wish them "Good Luck."

the manager of John Jacob Astor's interests, this morning, "that it is Mr. Astor's intention to outvie all the hotels of the world."

"Another thing to say," he continued, "is that the new hotel is not to be a rival of the Waldorf. It is to be managed by Mr. Bolt, the lessee of the Waldorf, who will run them jointly. There is ample business for them both."

The plans have not yet been perfected. Henry J. Hardenbergh, the architect who built the Waldorf, is to construct the new building. Mr. Astor has not yet decided whether or not to follow the style of the Waldorf and give the two hotels the aspect of one great structure, or whether to adopt a distinct and original design.

No agreement beyond the ground plan has yet been reached. The style and height of the building are still under consideration.

The new hotel will stand wall to wall against the Waldorf on the north and fill out the remainder of the Fifth avenue stretch of the block. It will run a hundred feet further west on the Twenty-fourth street than its companion house.

The Waldorf was built by William Waldorf Astor, who is now a London editor.

John Jacob Astor is his cousin, and there has been an amicable agreement between them looking to the exclusive purpose of habitation.

Its equipment will be all that genius and riches can supply, and the whole establishment made a sight for pilgrims.

The rumor of this enterprise has been on the street for awhile, but not until this publication have the facts of the project been made public.

"You can say," said Henry B. Ely.

ELIZA WAS UNRULY. A report was circulated some days ago that Samuel Levy, member of a firm of wholesale clothiers in the Second Avenue district, had been the backer of a proposed prize fight that was said to have come off in the Elizabeth street hall.

For the next three months, or until her guardian and employer returns to Brazil, Eliza Rodriguez, the South American servant who ran away from home, will be confined in an institution in this city. Her case was to have come up before Police Justice Hogan, in Jefferson Market Court, this morning, but she was severely punished.

She ran away on Friday night to the house of a friend, where she remained until Sunday, and was then compelled to return to her employer.

As one of the active of the Brazilian Consul, Mr. Hosquet notified the Terry Society that Eliza was an unruly girl. On Thursday night last, she took the girl in a carriage to the Society's rooms, where they gave her into custody.

SANDBAGGED BY HIS FRIEND? Butcher Peters Says Knoss and His Gang Assaulted Him.

Utterly Unable to Give Any Reason for the Attack.

Herman Peters, a journeyman butcher, thirty years old, living at 648 Tenth avenue, and employed by Martin Schussler, of 88 Ninth avenue, made a charge of sandbagging, in the Yorkville Police Court, to-day against Gustav Knoss, aged eighteen, of 43 West Forty-fifth street. Knoss is in the employ of a provision dealer, in Central Market, Forty-sixth street and Broadway.

According to Peters, whose jaw is broken and set in a plaster of Paris cast, he was attacked by a gang of six men, of which Knoss was the ringleader, last Friday night, and knocked insensible. The assault occurred in West Forty-fifth street, between Ninth and Tenth avenues. Peters could not assign any reason for the assault upon him.

He said as he was coming along the street at about 10 o'clock he saw Knoss in conversation with a man. He and Knoss were well assisted, and as he passed they saluted one another in a friendly manner. Peters said that in front of No. 41 he met a man with whom he got into a conversation. While standing there he saw Knoss and the man who was talking to exchange blows. Knoss then called his gang, which were within easy call, and as if it had been prearranged, they all made a combined attack upon Peters.

He was left bleeding and unconscious on the sidewalk by the gang. A boy who witnessed the assault and knew Peters, waited until he recovered his senses, and then assisted him to his home. Dr. Noll, of 49 West Forty-seventh street, was hurriedly called, and he found Peters' jaw broken, several contusions of the head, and his body literally covered with bruises. He gave Peters a bandage for his jaw, and sent him to the hospital. Peters had been sandbagged.

Peters reported the assault to the police of the West Forty-seventh street station, on the following day, and Detective Klotz took the assault on Peters out for Knoss and the gang ever since, but they all kept away from their homes, and avoided being captured.

Early this morning the detective saw Knoss listening about Central Market and placed him under arrest. He refused to make any statement, but simply said, "I'm not guilty of the charges."

Peters told Justice McMahon, when the case was called, that he could give no reason for the assault, and that he was always friendly to Knoss and did not know why he was attacked in the manner described. Peters advised that nothing was stolen from him. He was not carrying anything, and he was out of his vest pocket, but that his wife found it in his coat pocket the following morning.

Justice McMahon committed Knoss to prison in $200 bail for further examination to-morrow.

Peters subsequently returned to court to tell Justice McMahon that he would be unable to secure a lawyer, and he swore positively that Knoss was the man who had attacked him, and that he was himself was not certain.

Justice McMahon, saying there was no evidence, had not struck, and discharged him.

A special trial is being arranged to leave here Saturday morning at the close of the day to carry the New Yorkers home to remain there until Wednesday, when the meeting will be resumed.

RACE TRACK, ST. ASAPH, Nov. 2.—Seventeen gentlemen weighed in yesterday and they all won. First being the only favorite to start.

Frank Abraham was about the only bookmaker to take in much money on Harrington, the other bookies appearing to be in a bad way.

The best betting race of the day was the third, nearly all the starters being played. Little was done in the July race, the favorite being beaten by a man on Emma, the latter's price being beaten down from 5 to 2 to 1.

Pittsburg Phil had the impression Phil could not win and laid against the Dwyer representative, Ed Libenstein, tapped Phil for a snug amount.

Dr. Knapp played Cockade to win, but the latter's horse took the lead and bumping into a fence, he was thrown and the race was decided by a moral at the beginning of the last lap. The race was a very close one, and the favorite was beaten by a man on Emma, the latter's price being beaten down from 5 to 2 to 1.

Contract to expiration, the track was not in very good condition, despite the labors of the superintendent. The going was sticky, and favorites appeared to have great trouble in getting over the ground.
