

The "House and Home" Advertisements in THE WORLD have become a never-failing resource for both Landlord and Tenant.

THE WORLD ALMANAC AND ENCYCLOPEDIA treats of 1,400 topics and is a reference library in itself.

The World

THE WORLD ALMANAC AND ENCYCLOPEDIA for 1895 will be ready on all newsstands New Year's Day.

Twice as many "Help Wanted" Advertisements were printed in THE WORLD during November in the fifteen other New York papers combined.

PRICE ONE CENT.

NEW YORK, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 25, 1894.

PRICE ONE CENT.

Mother Taking Presents to a Little One at Home.

BOUGHT OUT A STORE.

"The Evening World" Saves Children from Disappointment.

Toys Ordered for a Tree Failed to Arrive on Time.

Truckloads of Presents Shipped to the Central Opera-House.

The big main hall of the Central Opera-House, on Sixty-seventh street, between Second and Third avenues, never contained a merrier or happier crowd of little folks than it did to-day.

The occasion was the annual Christmas tree festivities given by "The Evening World" to its poor little friends.

For days and weeks these little ones have looked forward in anticipation of "The Evening World's" tree, and long before the big doors were thrown open hundreds of them choked the street.

They began arriving as early as 8 o'clock, and while waiting for the doors to be opened they exchanged confidences as to what treat was in store for them.

When "The Evening World" began its arrangements for its annual tree at Central Opera-House hundreds of dollars' worth of toys were ordered from Amos M. Lyon, of Park place. Whether through misunderstanding or carelessness, the goods were not delivered at the Opera-House. When those who had charge of the tree arrived at the hall they were confronted by a difficult problem.

Several thousand children were anxiously waiting to be admitted, and none of the toys or nice things ordered for them had arrived. Prompt action was necessary, and when it was evident that the toys would not be delivered "The Evening World's" representative, accompanied by Mr. Harmon, went in search of others.

After unsuccessfully trying a number of large stores in the vicinity, Charles S. Younger's store at 108 Third avenue was found open.

The proprietor was behind the counter, waiting for the few customers that straggle in on Christmas Day. When "The Evening World" man and Mr. Harmon entered, he brightened at the prospect of a sale.

"What can I show you, gentlemen?" he asked.

"How much do you want for your store just as it stands?" blurted out "The Evening World's" Santa Claus.

The proprietor staggered back breathless and amazed. He probably thought he was dealing with a pair of lunatics and began to edge back from his apparently dangerous customers.

"Come! We are in a hurry," insisted "The Evening World" man. "We mean

(Continued on Second Page.)

TWO BABES BORN SUDDENLY.

One in the Street and Another in a Telegraph Office.

Coroner Kane, of Brooklyn, was notified this morning that Mrs. Dora Trowler, of 1799 Prospect place, was in precarious condition. Last night, while purchasing Christmas presents, a child was born of Mrs. Trowler on the street at Prospect place and East New York avenue. The woman was carried into a house and attended by Drs. Milard and Sidney. She refused to go to a hospital, and was removed to her home. At 6 o'clock this morning Mrs. Trowler was reported to be dying.

A little girl baby was born early this morning in the American District Telegraph office at 84 Seventh avenue, Brooklyn. The mother is Mrs. Rose Conkling, nineteen years old, of 118 Rochester avenue. Mother and child were carefully attended by the manager of the telegraph office, and later removed to their home.

THE CAT MAY SAVE SALVAGE.

According to British Ratings the Tallisman Was Not Abandoned.

A big black cat, with a long black tail, may prove to be worth thousands of dollars to the owners of the bark Tallisman.

The Tallisman went in collision with the schooner Addie Sawyer, off Montauk Point, last Saturday night, and the bark was found to be making water so fast that she was abandoned.

A few hours later the tow-boat Orion, of Boston, picked her up and towed her into Vineyard Haven. This is where the vessel is not abandoned when a live animal is found aboard. There was a cat on the Tallisman, and the claim for salvage may be contested.

BURGLARS NEATLY CAUGHT.

Three Sharp Policemen Catch Them Red-Handed.

Four alleged burglars, Morris Zelen, Samuel Wolpa, John Neuman and Charles Cudek, were arraigned before Justice Simms, in the Essex Market Police Court, to-day and held in default of $2,500 bail for examination. The men were seen driving along Second avenue last night in an express wagon. Policemen Cohen, Schindler and Stransky followed them. The wagon stopped at Sixth street and Second avenue. Three of the men got off, leaving the other man in charge.

The men evidently were frightened and went away, followed by the express wagon and several policemen. The wagon stopped at Third street and Second avenue. The three men again returned to the Sixth street house and broke into Andrew Miller's tailor shop on the top floor. They were surprised by the police, who made them prisoners. In their possession were found burglar's tools. Policeman Stransky arrested the man in charge of the wagon. A horse and wagon were taken to Cumisky's stable. The men were taken to Police Headquarters and their photographs added to the Rogers' Gallery. Policemen Cohen and Schindler stated that they have at least a dozen complaints against the men. They will search the rooms in which they claim to reside. Acting Capt. Wiegand complimented the policemen.

(Continued on Second Page.)

LAST EDITION.

THE 6 O'CLOCK EDITION WILL NOT BE PUBLISHED TO-DAY. THE NIGHT EDITION, HOWEVER, WILL APPEAR AS USUAL.

SEVEN TREES GIFT LADEN.

"The Evening World's" Annual Distribution Makes 30,000 Children Happy.

TOYS, CANDY AND CLOTHING.

Every Hall Filled with a Crowd of Eager, Anxious Recipients.

Christmas Day has come, bringing its good cheer and gladness to thousands of homes, of the rich and poor alike, in this big city and its near neighbors

Receiving a Coveted Doll.

LAST EDITION.

THE 6 O'CLOCK EDITION WILL NOT BE PUBLISHED TO-DAY. THE NIGHT EDITION, HOWEVER, WILL APPEAR AS USUAL.

DR. M'GLYNN AT THE ALTAR.

He Celebrates Mass Publicly at the Church of the Holy Cross.

THE FIRST TIME SINCE 1886.

More than 4,000 Persons in the Church Before 4.30 O'Clock This Morning.

For the first time since he was driven from the pastorate of St. Stephen's Church and excommunicated as a result of the George campaign of 1886, the Rev.

Around the Murray Hill Lyceum Tree.

TOOK ACONITE BY MISTAKE.

Ex-Mayor Hewitt's Coachman's Wife Meets with Sudden Death.

Mrs. Jane Lyttle, fifty-one years old, took aconite in mistake for malaria cure this morning, and died within an hour. She lived at 117 East Twenty-second street. She had been suffering for several months from malaria and nervousness. At 6 o'clock this morning she went to a closet to get medicine. It was dark, and she got hold of the aconite instead. Dr. John R. Conway, of 130 Lexington avenue, was called, but the woman died at 6:40 o'clock.

Mrs. Lyttle was the wife of ex-Mayor Hewitt's coachman. With her husband and two grown daughters, she occupied rooms over the coach-house. A month ago the Hewitt family returned from their country home at Ringwood, N. J. Mrs. Lyttle contracted malaria while with the family during the summer, and since her return had been a great sufferer.

Her eldest daughter has been in the habit of giving the medicine, but Mrs. Lyttle did not wish to awaken the daughter, and got medicine herself. There were two bottles, and she took the one at hand. It was the poison. The moment she had taken it she knew of the mistake, and cried out. Her husband secured a physician, who worked over the woman to the moment of her death.

ED BARNETT FALLS DEAD.

He Was a Member of "Big G" and Fell Down a Flight of Stairs.

While walking downstairs at the Marlton Hotel, 16 East Broadway, early last evening, Edward M. Barnett, a well-known member of Typographical Union No. 6, slipped and fell down one flight, breaking his neck. Dexter Mott saw him fall. The body was removed to the undertaking rooms of Mrs. Felix Murphy, 40 Madison street, where it was identified by means of a membership card of the union.

The deceased man was about forty years old and was highly esteemed by his acquaintances. He leaves a widow and children residing in Hudson street. The funeral will be largely attended by members of Typographical Union No. 6.

HAD TO DRAW THEIR GUNS.

Police Meet Frouble in Arresting Callahan's Bartender.

Daniel J. Sullivan, bartender for ex-Assemblyman Callahan at 12 Chatham Square, was held for trial in the Tombs Court to-day, charged with violating the Excise law.

Sullivan was arrested early Sunday morning by Policemen Redner and Langan, who were specially detailed by Supt. Hyman. As the officers left the saloon they were set upon by a crowd, and during the fight Sullivan escaped. The policemen were compelled to draw their revolvers.

Last night Redner and Luman went to the saloon and again arrested Sullivan.

Rev. Sam Small to Preach Law.

NORFOLK, Va., Dec. 25.—Rev. Sam Small, the famous evangelist, now editor of the Daily Pilot, qualified in the courts yesterday as an attorney. Small was quite the hero in Tennessee in 1872, but has not practiced during his nine years of preaching.

ONE SAD CHRISTMAS.

"Corney" Manning's Baby Girl Weeps Bitterly for Her Papa.

He Was Cut by "Lunch" Garrity While Protecting a Wait.

Other Mishaps Chronicled When Only Joy Should Reign.

"Lunch" Garrity prevented a very happy Christmas celebration when he stabbed Cornelius Manning, of 28 Greenwich street, last night.

Manning is at the House of Relief in Hudson street, and the doctors there say he is seriously injured. "Lunch" Garrity is still at large, and the police of the Church street station are trying to find him.

Manning, as nearly as the police can discover, was stabbed by Garrity at the corner of Cedar and Washington streets, two blocks from home, about 9 o'clock last night. He was on his way to purchase toys for his two-year-old daughter, and saw Garrity beating a little boy. He interfered and Garrity resented it by inflicting a vicious stab in his abdomen.

Manning ran to the Church street station and was removed to the House of Relief. Garrity disappeared.

Manning is a laborer, steady and genial, and his wife, a comely woman of thirty, said of him this morning, as she went in the comfortable home in the Washington street tenement that her husband provided: "Corney is the best husband in the world. He was always good to me, and gave me a home fit for a king to enter. And he was so pleased at the prospect of our having a happy Christmas this year for our little girl. And to think that he is taken away from us just when we were so happy. I know his heart'll be broken, as mine is. And to think that he might die, too. Then what will I do?"

Mrs. Manning's friends attempted to console her, but her grief could not be assuaged, and all the morning she walked through her rooms for her little boy with her little one clinging to her skirts, weeping violently.

"Lunch" Garrity has a police record. He was arrested for a drunken spree on Thanksgiving Day, but escaped arrest. Mandeville Barry, janitor of a Brown place, fell into the open hatchway at 13 Willis avenue last night and was killed. He had just stepped from a butcher shop next door, where he had purchased a Christmas turkey. He was forty-two years old and leaves a widow and two daughters.

While walking downstairs at the Marlton Hotel, 16 East Broadway, last evening, Edward Barnett fell one flight and broke his neck. He was identified by a membership card of Typographical Union No. 6.

Charles Shanley, of 333 East Thirty-ninth street, was found at the thirty-fourth street entrance of the Park avenue tunnel last night with his left fractured. It is supposed that he fell from

(Continued on Second Page.)

The Crush at Waltham Hall.

Receiver and Distributer Alike Had Their Hands Full.

Leaving the Armory with Their Gifts.

(Continued on Second Page.)

(Continued on Second Page.)