

GLADSTONE IS EIGHTY-FIVE.

Celebrates His Birthday by Making a Speech On the Armenian Outrages.

FEARS REPORTS ARE TRUE.

Says One General Shout of Excitement Should Arise Against Such Crimes.

CHALICE PRESENTED HIS SON.

Veteran Statesman in Good Health and With His Family at Hawarden.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—At Hawarden today the Right Hon. William E. Gladstone is celebrating the eighty-fifth anniversary of his birth, and, as usual, he has been inundated with congratulatory telegrams.

Mr. Gladstone's eyesight has been restored and his health is good. He spends hours daily in classical and theological studies.

Miss Helen Gladstone, the veteran statesman's daughter; the Rev. Stephen Gladstone, son of Mr. Gladstone, and his wife; the Rev. Harry Drew and his wife, formerly Miss Mary Gladstone, also a daughter of the ex-premier, and Mrs. William E. Gladstone are with Mr. Gladstone at Hawarden today.

The Rev. Stephen Gladstone is rector of Hawarden and the Rev. Harry Drew is the curate at Hawarden.

The delegation from the meeting of the Anglo-Armenian Association, which met today at Chester, was received by Mr. and Mrs. Gladstone and their families.

The delegation bore as a gift for the Rev. Stephen Gladstone, beautifully worked silk chalice, to be used in the church in memory of Mr. Gladstone's sympathy with and assistance rendered to the Armenians.

After Mr. Herbert Gladstone, member of Parliament for West Leeds, the fourth son of Mr. Gladstone, and First Commissioner of the Treasury, accepted the chalice in behalf of his brother, the party proceeded to the vestry of Hawarden Church, where Mr. Gladstone spoke for about twenty minutes with great emotion.

Mr. Gladstone said, in substance: "It is not in my power to do anything in regard to the affairs reported from Armenia, and the impulse of every man has been to give vent to a burst of strong feeling. But I am convinced that in a grave case of this kind every nation is most appropriately represented by its government, and it is their duty not to assume that the allegations are true; but to wait for the result of the examination and see whether they are based upon accurate facts."

"The intelligence which has reached me tends towards a conclusion which, however, I hope may not be verified, and that is that the outrages, sins and abominations of 1876, in Bulgaria, have been repeated in Armenia. If this is correct, it is a duty on the part of every nation to exert its influence against such deeds of wickedness, should rise from outraged humanity and force itself to the ears of the Sultan and make him sensible, if anything could make him sensible, of the madness of such a course."

"The reports are established it will more than ever stand before the world that there is no lesson, however severe, that could reach certain people of the necessity of observing to some degree the laws of decency, humanity and justice. If the allegations are true it is clear, as it is on the records of the world, that a government which could countenance and cover the perpetration of these outrages is a disgrace to Mahomet, whom the Turks profess to follow, a disgrace to civilization at large and a curse to mankind."

"This is strong language, and strong language ought to be used when the facts are strong. However, we should keep our judgments in suspense until the truth is known. But as the evidence grows and the case darkens my hopes have dwindled, and I am sure that I have no doubt that I hope it will be raised upon such occasions in behalf of humanity."

At the conclusion of Mr. Gladstone's remarks many of his hearers were in tears, and after a peal of bells had been rung from the belfry, Mr. and Mrs. Gladstone drove to Hawarden Castle, to which place the deputation was soon afterwards escorted by Mr. Gladstone's sons.

The congratulations upon this occasion of the Tory newspapers seem to be mingled with fear that Mr. Gladstone may be prevailed upon to return to active political life.

The St. James's Gazette says: "It is pleasant to think that the veteran is enjoying his ease with dignity, and we regret he did not take the rest which he was entitled years ago. How much better for his reputation had he retired before the Home-Rule bill of 1886. He would have been able to take all possible advantage of the thirty-two months' compulsory holiday which was then allowed for aged statesmen."

The Pall Mall Gazette trusts that Mr. Gladstone may for many years be able to look back with satisfaction upon his old age and study the classics and the NEW YEAR'S TRADITION.

For centuries past it has been the custom in all countries to keep a table set for New Year's day to entertain friendly callers, beautifully supplied with all kinds of good things, such as decorated wild geese, roast turkeys, jellied tongue and ham, game and chicken pies, roasted turkeys, partridges, quail and sucking pigs, lobster and chicken salads, croquettes, salmon, etc., etc., all of which can be found on hand and to order at C. Percival's, Store, Sixth Ave., near 51st St., Sixth Ave., near 51st St., Telephone call 41-11th St., New York City.

LORD RANDOLPH BETTER.

Required Consciousness and Conversation with His Physicians.

PORTER NOT TO BE TRUSTED.

So Resolutions Adopted by Anglo-Armenian Association Declare.

CHALICE PRESENTED HIS SON.

Veteran Statesman in Good Health and With His Family at Hawarden.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—Lord Randolph Churchill had periods of consciousness yesterday, and during the night he conversed with the physicians in attendance upon him, and he seemed to see his sister, Baroness De Ramsey.

In spite of this improvement in the patient's condition, his medical attendants believe that he is really only evanescent.

The Anglo-Armenian Association and delegates from several Armenian communities abroad, held a conference here today. Mr. Francis Seymour Stevenson, Chairman of the Anglo-Armenian Association and member of Parliament for the City of London, presided.

Resolutions were adopted thanking the press and the pulpit for the part they had taken in bringing to public notice the Turkish atrocities in Armenia, and saying that under no circumstances could the Porte's promises of reform be accepted unless a Government General for Turkish Armenia was appointed with the sanction of the signers of the Berlin Treaty. A deputation from the meeting then proceeded to Hawarden.

PARIS, Dec. 28.—The Cabinet has decided to dismiss M. Lanessan, Governor of French Indo-China, owing to the fact that it has been proved that he has divulged the contents of official documents and reports.

Report that Premier Howells is to be knighted.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—It is stated that Mackenzie Bowell, Premier of Canada, will be made a K. C. M. G. (Knight Commander of St. Michael and St. George) on New Year's Day.

Slight Earthquake Shocks Felt in Italy.

ROME, Dec. 28.—Slight earthquake shocks were felt today in the province of Reggio di Calabria. The inhabitants are in a panicky condition.

Minister Terrell Talks with the Sultan.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Dec. 28.—United States Minister Arthur W. Terrell had an audience with the Sultan yesterday.

LONDON WINE MERCHANT FAILS FOR OVER $100,000.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—John Gascoit Austin, wine and spirit merchant, of 52 Great Tower street, this city, has failed for over $100,000.

War Would Please Mexicans.

CITY OF MEXICO, Dec. 28.—President Diaz's speech to the Guatemalan Minister is universally applauded in all circles. The general opinion is that Guatemala must be made to satisfy Mexico. But it is believed that in case of a war, and if Guatemala wants war she will have to declare it. The State of Jalisco has now fallen into line and offered all her resources to the Government.

NOV DIVOR SITS AS JUDGE.

He Was Two Hours Late, but Was in Good Spirits.

Right on the heels of his vindication of the charge of having had his face punched by Morris Kukulsky, Patrick Divver, P. J., resumed his duties as Police Justice by appearing in the Tombs Police Court this morning. He was nearly two hours late.

Justice Divver was evidently very happy over the defeat of his enemies. His face beamed with good nature, but he seemed to have a heavy load on his mind. He said that he had had a very bad day, but that he had forgiven Mr. Hale.

The police court room was crowded with spectators. The first case called was that of Joseph Toback, of 14 Monroe street, and "Gus" Cohen, of 114 Monroe street, charged with fighting last night on the corner of Broadway and Canal street.

"Your Honor," said Lawyer Mark King, "the men I am only having a little row with. They were only having a little row with me. They were only having a little row with me. They were only having a little row with me."

A faint tinge of color crept down Divver's face as he said, "I am not a doctor, but I am a doctor. I am not a doctor, but I am a doctor. I am not a doctor, but I am a doctor."

SEELY RATHER IMPATIENT.

He Is Said to Be Anxious to Begin His Sentence.

Samuel C. Seely, the convicted defaulting bookkeeper of the National Shoe and Leather Bank, was not removed today from the Kings County Penitentiary, to which he has been committed to serve his sentence of eight years' imprisonment.

It was announced that he would be taken away from the jail to-day, but that he would remain in the jail to-day, but that he would remain in the jail to-day, but that he would remain in the jail to-day.

Seely will therefore eat his New Year's dinner at Warden Fox's private $15 a week table d'hote.

Seely is still busy on the vanload of the bank's books sent up to the jail to be examined by him and from which it is stated he will make out a report which may materially aid the bank officials in their search for some of the $50,000 stolen by Seely, mainly for the $100,000 which he had stolen from the bank. It is said that Seely is very anxious to get a full and complete discharge from the penitentiary, and the delay in Seely's removal from the jail is probably due to this reason.

Seely is said to be very anxious to get a full and complete discharge from the penitentiary, and the delay in Seely's removal from the jail is probably due to this reason.

WILLIAM EWART GLADSTONE.

THE LONDON STAGE, IS IT FISH OR MALBY?

Features of the "Boxing Night" Both Are Serenely Confident of the Speakership.

Kitty Tyrrell's Sudden Death Before the Footlights.

Gorgeous "Dick Whittington"—The Respeping of Olympia.

Arrangements for the Inauguration of Morton Completed.

(Special to The Evening World.) ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 28.—Gov-elect Morton was due to arrive at the Executive Mansion this morning, but the cold weather caused him to change his plans and he telegraphed from Rhinecliff at noon that he would not arrive until Monday.

The mansion has been put in shape for his occupancy. All arrangements for the inaugural ceremonies next Tuesday were completed today.

Gov. Flower will go to New York Tuesday night. He has no plans aside from spending the Winter there. He was besieged all day by friends of persons serving time in State prisons for various offenses, but he said this afternoon that he had not granted any pardons, nor did he believe he would do so during the three remaining days of his term.

Mally, a friend of the Speaker, reported that the Speaker's party began this morning, Hamilton Fish and George W. Malby, of the Albany bar, were the contestants. Malby, who figured himself a winner, Fish being the victor, was the victor.

There was a sad note amid this general festivity. Kitty Tyrrell was playing in "King Cat at the Elephant and Castle" pantomime. In the second act, after she had been thrown to fortune, she "gave o'er my corpse." Miss Tyrrell fell dead in the wings of her theatre.

"Dick Whittington," as given at Drury Lane, is a gorgeous spectacle. In point of numbers, of course, the great show with which Olympia was regaled, but no confirmation of this could be obtained from the theatre. The first report, there came a denial, but this was quickly followed by a second rumor of the Secretary's resignation.

On the floor of the Stock Exchange the report was given as a fact, and the Secretary, but about the only comment heard, and that an almost unanimous "glad of it."

The head of one of the biggest banks in the street when he said: "I have heard the report and only hope it is true. The benefit to the entire country will be immeasurable, and its effect on business will be at once perceptible. I am a very strong supporter of the Secretary, but I have no objection to his resignation."

"COMMODORE" GOULD, MAYBE They Are Talking of Making Him Chief of His Yacht Club.

A dinner in honor of George J. Gould was given at the State Club last night by Col. David E. Austin, the secretary of the Atlantic Yacht Club, and one of the guests was Commodore David W. Hazard, Newbury D. Lawson, P. J. John, Commodore J. W. Footes of the Newark Yacht Club; Henry D. Thompson, J. Fred Ackerman and George A. Church.

'T WAS HIS CHRISTMAS JAG.

This Princeton Man Couldn't Sleep in the Henrueck.

Edward D. Jackson, who comes of a wealthy family in the State of Washington, was arrested last night on the steps of the Hotel Brunswick by Police-man Waters.

Waters says he found the young man lying on the steps very drunk, and a young woman very much intoxicated. Jackson, who was fashionably dressed, had been trying to engage a room at the hotel. At Jefferson Market court he told the Justice that he was a Princeton student, and had been celebrating his Christmas holidays with more vigor than sense. He was discharged.

Commissioner Daily III.

Public Works Commissioner Michael T. Daly, is confined to his home with a severe attack of rheumatism. He has decided to resign since his fall on the watered year ago, and was obliged to go to Hot Springs early in the present year in consequence.

Charged with Stealing Diamonds.

James A. Dunlop, a merchant, was held for trial at the Jefferson Market court this morning charged with having stolen a pair of diamonds, valued at $600, from Valerie Thompson.

JAMES G. FAIR READ.

The Ex-Senator Suddenly Passes Away in 'Frisco.

His Estate Estimated at from Forty to Fifty Millions.

Likely to Be Divided Equally Among the Children.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Dec. 28.—Ex-Senator James C. Fair died suddenly at the Lick House at 12:20 this morning. He had been in poor health for some time, suffering with asthma. A few days ago he caught cold while going out in a rainstorm to view some of his property improvements at North Beach.

The cold did not apparently affect his evening hours, but he died at 12:20 this morning. The doctor said that death was due to diabetes and Bright's disease. When it was obvious that life could not last long, frequent bulletins were sent to Mrs. Hermann Oelrichs, and Miss Virginia Fair, his daughters, who are in New York.

The death of ex-Senator James C. Fair was a surprise to the community, the seriousness of his illness having been kept a secret. For several hours before the end came he was unconscious. The doctor said that death was due to diabetes and Bright's disease. When it was obvious that life could not last long, frequent bulletins were sent to Mrs. Hermann Oelrichs, and Miss Virginia Fair, his daughters, who are in New York.

Mr. Fair was fashioned in a strong mould and was a vigorous, large man. He had been afflicted with diabetes for a dozen years, and then Bright's disease, and he was in poor health for some time before he died. He was a successful business man and carried himself stoutly. Up to last week he was attending to his business, but his illness had been making itself felt for some time.

Mr. Fair was a member of the Board of Directors of the Lick House, and he was a member of the Board of Directors of the Lick House, and he was a member of the Board of Directors of the Lick House.

Arrangements for the Inauguration of Morton Completed.

(Special to The Evening World.) ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 28.—Gov-elect Morton was due to arrive at the Executive Mansion this morning, but the cold weather caused him to change his plans and he telegraphed from Rhinecliff at noon that he would not arrive until Monday.

The mansion has been put in shape for his occupancy. All arrangements for the inaugural ceremonies next Tuesday were completed today.

Gov. Flower will go to New York Tuesday night. He has no plans aside from spending the Winter there. He was besieged all day by friends of persons serving time in State prisons for various offenses, but he said this afternoon that he had not granted any pardons, nor did he believe he would do so during the three remaining days of his term.

Mally, a friend of the Speaker, reported that the Speaker's party began this morning, Hamilton Fish and George W. Malby, of the Albany bar, were the contestants. Malby, who figured himself a winner, Fish being the victor, was the victor.

There was a sad note amid this general festivity. Kitty Tyrrell was playing in "King Cat at the Elephant and Castle" pantomime. In the second act, after she had been thrown to fortune, she "gave o'er my corpse." Miss Tyrrell fell dead in the wings of her theatre.

"Dick Whittington," as given at Drury Lane, is a gorgeous spectacle. In point of numbers, of course, the great show with which Olympia was regaled, but no confirmation of this could be obtained from the theatre. The first report, there came a denial, but this was quickly followed by a second rumor of the Secretary's resignation.

On the floor of the Stock Exchange the report was given as a fact, and the Secretary, but about the only comment heard, and that an almost unanimous "glad of it."

The head of one of the biggest banks in the street when he said: "I have heard the report and only hope it is true. The benefit to the entire country will be immeasurable, and its effect on business will be at once perceptible. I am a very strong supporter of the Secretary, but I have no objection to his resignation."

"COMMODORE" GOULD, MAYBE They Are Talking of Making Him Chief of His Yacht Club.

A dinner in honor of George J. Gould was given at the State Club last night by Col. David E. Austin, the secretary of the Atlantic Yacht Club, and one of the guests was Commodore David W. Hazard, Newbury D. Lawson, P. J. John, Commodore J. W. Footes of the Newark Yacht Club; Henry D. Thompson, J. Fred Ackerman and George A. Church.

'T WAS HIS CHRISTMAS JAG.

This Princeton Man Couldn't Sleep in the Henrueck.

Edward D. Jackson, who comes of a wealthy family in the State of Washington, was arrested last night on the steps of the Hotel Brunswick by Police-man Waters.

Waters says he found the young man lying on the steps very drunk, and a young woman very much intoxicated. Jackson, who was fashionably dressed, had been trying to engage a room at the hotel. At Jefferson Market court he told the Justice that he was a Princeton student, and had been celebrating his Christmas holidays with more vigor than sense. He was discharged.

Commissioner Daily III.

Public Works Commissioner Michael T. Daly, is confined to his home with a severe attack of rheumatism. He has decided to resign since his fall on the watered year ago, and was obliged to go to Hot Springs early in the present year in consequence.

Charged with Stealing Diamonds.

James A. Dunlop, a merchant, was held for trial at the Jefferson Market court this morning charged with having stolen a pair of diamonds, valued at $600, from Valerie Thompson.

JAMES SIMPSON'S FUNERAL.

The Well-Known New York Merchant Laid at Rest.

The funeral of James Simpson, the senior member and founder of the dry-goods house of Simpson, Crawford & Simpson, took place at 11 o'clock today from the First Baptist Church, Seventy-ninth street and Boulevard.

Owing to the illness of the rector, Isaac M. Halstead, the services were conducted by the Rev. Dr. Norton.

The pall-bearers were William Crawford, a member of the firm; Alexander Henderson of Boston, John Allen, of Germantown, Pa.; A. Reid, of Norwich, Conn.; William Oswald, of Lawrence, Mass.; and Mr. Frasier, of this city.

The floral tributes from the friends and employees of the deceased were beautiful.

The services were attended by several hundred of the employees of the firm of Simpson, Crawford & Simpson, Alma Lodge, No. 128, F. and A. M., was also represented.

There were also present H. H. Brockway, M. H. Frank, Mr. Simonds, Mr. Alliger, Mr. Heilmann, Richard Mearns, H. and J. O'Neill, John Richardson, J. Van Note, J. Foley and ex-Congressman John J. Adams.

The interment will be in Woodlawn Cemetery.

DETECTIVE COSGROVE DEAD.

One of the Bright Headquarters Squad Passes Away Suddenly.

Detective William Frank Cosgrove died at his home, 125 East One Hundred and Thirtieth street, at 3:30 this morning. He had been ill two days, and only took to his bed yesterday morning. The cause of death was typhoid pneumonia.

Cosgrove was appointed on the force Nov. 15, 1876. Feb. 10 of the following year he was promoted to be roundsman. His brilliant work as patrolman and roundsman soon attracted the attention of the then Inspector Byrnes at Headquarters, and a few months later he was called to the Central Office and made a detective.

Supt. Byrnes in his biography of Cosgrove states that he did many years of splendid detective work, and that he owed much to his matchless plumb and good education.

In 1880 Cosgrove captured and convicted two notorious burglars, John Stanford and William Christie, who looted the residence of A. T. Albro on Madison street. In 1882 he captured Samuel Hawthorn, a notorious murderer of Vicksburg, who was sentenced to a life term in the State Prison. He brought to a successful issue a great many other delicate cases, and ran down a long list of criminals.

On May 25, 1882, he was made Detective Sergeant. He finally became a victim of typhoid pneumonia. On the morning of the fatal attack he was on duty in the rapid set, and Aug. 27, 1894, was required to patrol duty up among the roofs in New York City. He was taken to the hospital, but he died on the morning of the fatal attack.

He was a member of the Grand Army of the Republic, and was a member of the Grand Army of the Republic, and was a member of the Grand Army of the Republic.

LONDON JOURNALIST DEAD.

Financial Editor Ellis, of the Times, Is No More.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—The death of Arthur Ellis, financial editor of the London Times, is announced. Mr. Ellis had been in ill-health for some time, but he died suddenly on Christmas Eve. Mr. Ellis was formerly financial editor of the London Daily News.

When the financial editor of the London Daily News resigned his position, he was succeeded by Mr. Ellis. Mr. Ellis was a member of the London Daily News, and was a member of the London Daily News.

Widow of Actor Charles Fechter Dies in Paris.

PARIS, Dec. 28.—The widow of Charles Albert Fechter, the celebrated French actor, who died in New York on August 5, 1879, is dead.

PARSONS'S DEFECTION CONFIRMED.

President Claussen of the Park Board, did not get down to the office of the Department today, but he set a telephone message to the effect that he had received the letter of Samuel Parsons, Jr., declining the duty of reporting on the proposed new street widening.

Mr. Claussen said he would by the letter before the Board on Monday, when an answer would be given to the letter. Mr. Parsons, Jr., is a member of the Board of Accounts, and is a member of the Board of Accounts.

DEATH OF BROTHER BLANCHARD.

Notice of the death of William Blanchard was posted in the Produce Exchange, which he was a member to-day. He died this morning.

LIFE-FENDERS NO GOOD.

Don't Like Mixed Air Parties.

Lieutenant Tiltman, of 25 Morgan avenue, was held in the Egan Street Court, Sullivanburg, today on the charge of endangering the morals of children. The woman has a son Edward, thirteen years old, and a daughter, Julia, six years old. The woman is a native of Ireland, and she is a native of Ireland.

Burglars at Work.

Thomas Connors, of 1027 Third avenue, Brooklyn, told the police today that some thief entered his room last night and stole his overcoat and suit of clothes, valued at $50. Burglars broke into the room of Thomas Connors, of 1027 Third avenue, Brooklyn, this morning, and stole a suit of clothes, valued at $50.

Glenshon Road Not Sold.

It is not believed in railroad circles in Long Island City that ex-Mayor P. J. Glenshon has sold the Glenshon road to the Standard Building Company for $275,000. The Standard Building Company, which is a member of the Standard Building Company, is a member of the Standard Building Company.

Mary Stole the Money.

Mary McGovern, forty-five, of 533 Quincy street, Brooklyn, was arrested this morning on a charge of stealing $200 from Mrs. Emma S. McGovern, of 135 Lefferts avenue, Brooklyn, who she formerly was employed.

BROOKLYN NEWS.

CARVED BY 'L' TRAINS, MARRIED, NOT MATED.

Joseph H. Stephens, of Newark, Regular Divorces Matings in the Horribly Mangled. Brooklyn Courts.

He Was Run Over by Many of the Night Trains.

Letter from His Brother Warning Him Against Drink.

Some Succeeded, While Others Must Try Again.

Stories of domestic infelicity were told in the Brooklyn Courts this morning. Pie Manufacturer Adolph M. Boppa, of 309 Sands street, Brooklyn, was a defendant in the City Court in a suit for absolute divorce brought by his wife, Anna W. Boppa.

Mrs. Boppa says her husband owns ten horses in Brooklyn, and realizes about $800 a week from his bakery. The Boppas were married fifteen years ago. They have no children.

Mrs. Boppa alleges on Dec. 16 she became aware of the improper relations between her husband and a house servant named Anna Schisel. Mrs. Boppa saw her husband in the servant's room, both in scanty attire. When detected, Mrs. Boppa says her husband exclaimed: "I knew you were watching. Go ahead and get a divorce."

Mrs. Boppa induced the servant to go to the lower Fulton street police station, and make a statement.

Mrs. Boppa says her husband was a pie manufacturer, and was a pie manufacturer, and was a pie manufacturer.

Justice Gaynor, in the Supreme Court, had a long divorce calendar.

Mrs. Boppa induced the servant to go to the lower Fulton street police station, and make a statement.

Mrs. Boppa says her husband was a pie manufacturer, and was a pie manufacturer, and was a pie manufacturer.

Mrs. Boppa says her husband was a pie manufacturer, and was a pie manufacturer, and was a pie manufacturer.

Mrs. Boppa says her husband was a pie manufacturer, and was a pie manufacturer, and was a pie manufacturer.

Mrs. Boppa says her husband was a pie manufacturer, and was a pie manufacturer, and was a pie manufacturer.

Mrs. Boppa says her husband was a pie manufacturer, and was a pie manufacturer, and was a pie manufacturer.

Mrs. Boppa says her husband was a pie manufacturer, and was a pie manufacturer, and was a pie manufacturer.

Mrs. Boppa says her husband was a pie manufacturer, and was a pie manufacturer, and was a pie manufacturer.

Mrs. Boppa says her husband was a pie manufacturer, and was a pie manufacturer, and was a pie manufacturer.

Mrs. Boppa says her husband was a pie manufacturer, and was a pie manufacturer, and was a pie manufacturer.

Mrs. Boppa says her husband was a pie manufacturer, and was a pie manufacturer, and was a pie manufacturer.

Mrs. Boppa says her husband was a pie manufacturer, and was a pie manufacturer, and was a pie manufacturer.

Mrs. Boppa says her husband was a pie manufacturer, and was a pie manufacturer, and was a pie manufacturer.

Mrs. Boppa says her husband was a pie manufacturer, and was a pie manufacturer, and was a pie manufacturer.

Mrs. Boppa says her husband was a pie manufacturer, and was a pie manufacturer, and was a pie manufacturer.

Mrs. Boppa says her husband was a pie manufacturer, and was a pie manufacturer, and was a pie manufacturer.

Mrs. Boppa says her husband was a pie manufacturer, and was a pie manufacturer, and was a pie manufacturer.

</