mettle sorrow at the opera on Monday evening and in a grand reception yesterday.

Mr. William Waldorf Astor also leaves to-day for Europe on the Teutonic, after making arrangements with a florist to place flowers over the newly made grave of his wife. Mrs. Astor gave a grand dinner party and a gay reception last night. So goes New York "society."

PROVIDE THE HORSE WITH PILLOWS.
A despatch from Sing Sing tells of a horse that killed a man on the head and killed him, with malice premeditated and all the other things that go to make an indictment for murder in the first degree binding.

Unfortunately, the attitude of the United States Senate is such as to deny what little hope might arise from the Ways and Means Committee's decision to report to the House a bill for the repeal of the sugar differential.

Sheriff Tamsen isn't much of an orator, but he speaks French like the United States Senate is such as to deny what little hope might arise from the Ways and Means Committee's decision to report to the House a bill for the repeal of the sugar differential.

Little Lawrence Hale may as well realize that the time has come for him to retire from the business of making faces at Divver. He has been quite as funny as he can. As for Divver, his day for retirement is also coming.

Under no law in any State should it be possible for an undertaker to hold a dead man's body for a debt. It is against public policy and public decency. These remarks are suggested by a case pending in Haynone, N. J.

The work of building a new East River bridge over Blackwell's Island has begun on both sides of the river. The North River bridge project has apparently slumped at both ends and in the middle.

It is said the new Governor of Delaware has a real road to write, but he has been successful in business and may have more first-class horse sense than there is in all the three it's put together.

San Francisco's objectionable Police Commissioner, Mose Gunn, has been removed by the Governor. Most lasted nine days. Objectionable folks of his kind are more longevitous in this town.

Mayor Strong's convictions on the exclusive question of Sunday selling will go a great deal further in the public interest than any number of convictions in Special Sessions.

A man who looks like Bill Nye and passed himself into theatres as such has been fined $10. That is what he gets for travelling on his shape.

The rumor is revived that Williams is to be indicted. How would it do to sentence the Inspector to banishment to his estates in Japan?

The public is getting tired enough of the Lullaby-Sage suit to indulge in some wicked thoughts about what that bomb might have done.

Today's rain accentuated some features of the Brooklyn trolley strike. In a great many cases the accent was on a great big D.

"Strong's for Sunday beer." Not exactly that. He's a favor of popular home rule and excise laws as fair as other laws.

The fact that January is half over comes home most painfully to the office-seekers for whom Mayor Strong won't hurry.

Mayor Strong has decided that reform is not easy. But it's an awfully good thing. We all want it pushed along.

Platt makes himself quite at home at Albany. And why shouldn't he? It's his Albany.

A DAILY HIT FROM McDUGALL.
"HEART OF RUBY."
A little Japanese lady, with a little Japanese past, was introduced to us at Daly's Theatre last night.

Russell Sage is Trying to Pull Laid-law Aside Once More.
FATHER KNICKERBOCKER'S DIARY.
Jan. 15, 1895.—My man Strong started this morning in a talk about the excise law.

Dr. Parkhurst was dazed when he heard of it. For my part, I call the idea a piece of good sense, worthy of a reform Mayor; but if it was meant for advice, it was premature.

The strike in Brooklyn is still on. Col. Waring has refused to make O'Neil, Tel. his deputy street cleaner. Platt has gone to Albany with Mr. Byrne.

THE WIDOW AND THE "KID."
She is Old and Thinks of Taking a Very Young Husband.
From The Evening World, Jan. 11.

To the Editor:
I am a widow, about fifty years of age, and engaged to be married to a gentleman of twenty-one.

Making Love to Grandma.
To the Editor:
Ha! ha! ha! Ha! ha! ha! I am still laughing at the thought of Mrs. T.'s fifty-year-old widow.

Must Be a Charmer, Indeed.
To the Editor:
In reply to that lovely widow—"Mrs. T."—permitted me to say that I think her fifty years, more or less, is a very good thing.

He is After Her Money.
To the Editor:
In reply to "Mrs. T." who is desperately in love with a man of twenty-one, I would say that it is her money he is after.

She Settled a Young Man.
To the Editor:
"Mrs. T." (if you) has asked the advice of readers about marrying Mr. M. My advice from experience is marry him as soon as it is possible.

THE NEW MAN.
From My Sister's Mail Holiday.
If the crushing of all kindly feeling and generous impulses is the product of ignominious breeding and refinement, plain people will not give reason to view our membership among the "new men."

THE SPIDER AND THE FLY.
He stood in the parlor.
He thought she wasn't big.
But hardly had he spoken her.
Than he did turn to fly.

Willie's Reasoning Power.
"Isn't it better," said Willie Webster to his father, "to let anything alone than to do it badly?"

Somebody, a Girl.
A necessary riding to majestic height;
A feather with a maddening curl;
A wilderness of bows and laces high,
And somewhere 'neath the busy hoop, a girl.

Took It Where It Belonged.
"Tommy," said Mr. Pige, sternly, "I'm going to put you in your room to sleep, that little fellow who has been so bad and so naughty."

EMPIRE STATE BITS.
Still another golden wedding. It was celebrated at Kenon, by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Marty.

The word comes from Washington that no tariff legislation will be passed in Congress this winter.

Mr. William K. Vanderbilt sails for England to-day on the steamer Teutonic. There has been no reconciliation with his wife, and the poor lady is compelled to remain behind, a lonely widow.

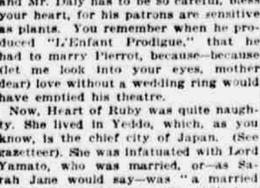

There is, however, some consolation for her in that she is not left in want, as so many unfortunately wedded women are. She is said to have secured a "settlement" by which she is to receive the comfortable income of a quarter of a million dollars a year.

There has been no reconciliation with his wife, and the poor lady is compelled to remain behind, a lonely widow, although wedded to a living husband; an abandoned wife, although not divorced by the courts.

There is, however, some consolation for her in that she is not left in want, as so many unfortunately wedded women are. She is said to have secured a "settlement" by which she is to receive the comfortable income of a quarter of a million dollars a year.

It is pleasant to know that the devoted wife sought relief from her domestic sorrows at the opera on Monday evening and in a grand reception yesterday.

The Rules of Best Behavior Explained for Inquirers.
To the Editor:
It is proper for a young man of fortune to receive a present of a watch from a young man of fortune, who came to him with his watch a month ago? He says he has taken a liking for me, but, of course, I care nothing for him.

THE GLEANER'S BUDGET.
Gossip Here, a Hint There and True Tales of City Life.
I stood the other day waiting for a friend to meet me at the Pavilion ferry.

"They try to work me sometimes," he said. "When the first of the month comes along a good many of the Jerseymen find it inconvenient to purchase their new tickets, particularly if pay-day is a little way off."

The big tie-up in Brooklyn is a good thing for the business "T." road. On Monday each station found itself crowded with 100 in excess of any previous day's catch.

The policeman who got slugging for excise violators and other law-breakers should change their shoes when they put on disguises.

Are We Being Reformed Too Much?
To the Editor:
I am a native New Yorker, and would like to continue living here. I can just barely make it now, but if the various efforts to improve the city succeed in Parkhurst and the Good Government Club, I fear that the city will be so reformed that it will be impossible for me to live in it.

No Whipping Post.
In regard to the Gerry bill, allow me to say that it is a very good bill. The Legislature of this State will not dare to pass it. If the author of this bill cannot divorce his fixed mind from the whipping-post, I would suggest to erect one in the Senate Chamber, and to treat him in an occasional case of the whipping-post, pending the bill. If this will not relieve him, he will be obliged to emigrate to some barbaric country, or else commit suicide. The world, and especially this country, will be better off without him. I doubt very much whether a bill would be constitutional, as the Constitution of the United States prohibits torture of any kind.

Is Single-Tax a Bunco Game?
In answer to the challenge of "Eusty" in today's issue, I present to you a single-tax theory, I thought a piece of land not too big, for which I paid cash down. Now, if the landowner proposes to take the full rental value in taxation, would I receive for my investment, I bought the land in good faith, rental value included; to deprive me of the value would be an injustice. I believe, with Herbert Spencer, that the present system is not the best. The law sanctions the sale to me, and therefore, should protect me in the possession of it, and there is too much of the "bunco" about the single tax for Americans to give it any serious consideration.
