

DR. PARKHURST ON TAMMANY.

His New Book on the Great Fight with the Tiger Ready.

SOME STRANGE LANGUAGE. His Motto: No Alliance with Politics, and No Quarter to Be Shown.

MARTINE COULDN'T DETER HIM. Why the Divine Made His Tours of Observation into the Realm of Vice.

Pathurst's new book, entitled "Our Fight with Tammany," published by Charles Scribner's Sons, will be put on sale. It treats of various subjects of public interest.

"Intimation had been given that the gauntlet thrown down by the February Grand Jury would be taken up by us in my pulpit on the morning of March 13.

Of the power of the pulpit fulminations against corruption, the author maintains that they are honest, intelligent and untrammelled. He adds: "And I am saying what I know. I uttered only thirty minutes of indictment against the blood-sucking scoundrels that are the veins of our city municipal, and they were all set wriggling like a lot of muck-worms in a hot shovel."

Dr. Parkhurst next describes how his policy of hostility to the police first took shape. He says that in the early part of his career he became familiar with certain facts which make out a large and gloomy picture of the life of the city, and having a special concern for the welfare of the young men of his congregation, he interested in any means by which he could operate to reduce the strain of current temptation, and make it as easy as possible for a city young man to maintain himself at his best.

MRS. DRAYTON'S PLEA

Will Claim Her Confession Was Obtained Under Duress. Success of the Divorce Suit Will Turn Upon a Letter.

The Astors Express Confidence that Drayton Will Lose.

This was to have been the first day of a public hearing of the famous suit of J. Coleman Drayton, who divorced the daughter of Mrs. William Astor on the statutory ground.

It had been settled that in the Vice-Chancellor's Court in Newark the lawyers on either side were to argue Mrs. Drayton's case. Her husband's counsel should show cause why she should not file an amended answer to the complaint, but R. V. Lindbury, one of Mrs. Drayton's counsel, was engaged in Jersey City for the American Tobacco Company and got Mr. Drayton's counsel to agree to a postponement until later in the week.

As soon as this preliminary point was settled the divorce case will proceed to trial at Newark, N. J. The Astors, that is, the mother of Mrs. Drayton and her brother, John Jacob, are standing behind her in this case, and propose to fight to the last.

When this case came up several months ago Mr. Shipman said: "Mrs. Drayton will win her case. When she answers Mr. Drayton she will do it in such fashion that she cannot fail to win."

No confidence are the Astors that Drayton cannot lose that Mrs. William Astor has arranged to delay her Paris visit in order that she may be with her daughter.

ELOPED WITH ANOTHER GIRL

Dr. Studer Would Desert His Fiancee, but Not the K. of P. PEORIA, Ill., Jan. 28.—Dr. E. P. Studer, a young physician, a son of one of the oldest and most highly respected doctors in the city, has eloped with a young woman named Helen, who is employed by a dry-goods firm here. Young Studer was engaged to marry Miss Nettie, of St. Louis, a daughter of a prominent and wealthy distiller there, and it is said his father is so enraged at his elopement that he says he will shoot him on sight.

The young people went to Milwaukee, and are now in San Francisco on their wedding tour.

Dr. Studer and Miss Nettie are Catholics, and when the recent decree appeared enjoining all Catholics to leave the United States, the young man sought him to abandon the order, of which he is an enthusiastic member. To this he demurred, but she persisted and her importunities are believed to have decided him to marry Miss Nettie.

Justice Grady in Essex Market Court today adjourned the hearing of the case of Simon Hageman, 74 East Ninth street. He was summoned to answer a charge made by James Brady, who alleges that Hageman slandered him by spreading a report that he had taken the wedding gift from Hageman's wife and was keeping it.

Three weeks ago Simon married Mary Adams, and she has since been a gossamer. Simon says his wife's parents are opposed to the marriage and are keeping her from seeing him. "I know she is kept from me by force," he said, "because she loves me too much to let me go of her own accord."

Dear Minto: I don't know how to write this to you and baby, but I can struggle no longer. I want to know you better without me, and I know you will be better off without me, and I know you will be better off without me, and I know you will be better off without me.

Dear Minto: I don't know how to write this to you and baby, but I can struggle no longer. I want to know you better without me, and I know you will be better off without me, and I know you will be better off without me, and I know you will be better off without me.

"FORGIVE ME AND GOOD-BY."

The Last Words to Wife and Baby by a Suicide.

Robbed a Woman on the Street and Ate Poison When Captured.

The fact that he was out of work and becoming a cripple led James Flower, mechanic, to commit two crimes yesterday—theft and self-murder. He had been a more expert thief and got away with his plunder he might not have killed himself.

The man attacked Mrs. Margaret E. Forbes as she was going up the brown-stone steps leading to her home, at 13 East One Hundred and Twenty-eighth street. He seized her roughly, and snatching a purse from her hand ran rapidly down the street.

A boy who had been skating in the street started the alarm, which led to the suicide, by yelling, "Stop thief!" Daniel C. Rees, of 473 Lenox avenue, who joined in the pursuit, caught the fugitive at Park avenue and One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street. As he grasped his arm, wondering what he had done, the man said: "I did it for my wife and baby, but I did it for my wife and baby, but I did it for my wife and baby."

"I'll all up with me now, but I did it for my wife and baby, but I did it for my wife and baby, but I did it for my wife and baby."

"I'll all up with me now, but I did it for my wife and baby, but I did it for my wife and baby, but I did it for my wife and baby."

"HELP!"

A WOMAN'S DESPAIRING CRY. It is Heard, A Prominent Actress Escapes Great Danger.

How startling is a woman's cry for help! "What can I do? Where shall I go?" She cries out from every city, town, and hamlet in this country.

It comes from women who are suffering tortures of body and mind from some form of female complaint.

Many, through natural modesty, do not consult physicians, or many dread their examinations. They know not where to seek for help.

This alarming condition of things is simply wrong. The secular ailments of women are curable, and in most cases very speedily. Lydia E. Pinkham's gentle and reliable medicine is given to every woman a sure and consistent means of relief.

No woman should suffer when she can obtain relief. She can start by writing to Mrs. Pinkham, woman to woman, without reserve, and the answer will come from one of her own sex. He will be one of the vast army of women who write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., and receive good health. Only a woman can understand a woman's ills.

A prominent actress, in a letter to Mrs. Pinkham, says:— "I cannot imagine the fearful condition I was in when I first wrote to you. I was simply of no use to myself or any one else. I had worked hard, and my nervous system was shattered. I was troubled and traveling constantly. I had run the gauntlet of doctors' theories, and they did me no good. I was rapidly wasting away, and my nervous system was shattered. I was troubled and traveling constantly. I had run the gauntlet of doctors' theories, and they did me no good. I was rapidly wasting away, and my nervous system was shattered."

"HELP!"

A WOMAN'S DESPAIRING CRY. It is Heard, A Prominent Actress Escapes Great Danger.

How startling is a woman's cry for help! "What can I do? Where shall I go?" She cries out from every city, town, and hamlet in this country.

It comes from women who are suffering tortures of body and mind from some form of female complaint.

Many, through natural modesty, do not consult physicians, or many dread their examinations. They know not where to seek for help.

This alarming condition of things is simply wrong. The secular ailments of women are curable, and in most cases very speedily. Lydia E. Pinkham's gentle and reliable medicine is given to every woman a sure and consistent means of relief.

No woman should suffer when she can obtain relief. She can start by writing to Mrs. Pinkham, woman to woman, without reserve, and the answer will come from one of her own sex. He will be one of the vast army of women who write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., and receive good health. Only a woman can understand a woman's ills.

A prominent actress, in a letter to Mrs. Pinkham, says:— "I cannot imagine the fearful condition I was in when I first wrote to you. I was simply of no use to myself or any one else. I had worked hard, and my nervous system was shattered. I was troubled and traveling constantly. I had run the gauntlet of doctors' theories, and they did me no good. I was rapidly wasting away, and my nervous system was shattered."

THE WORLD ALMANAC

ENCYCLOPEDIA FOR 1895. Packed with important points. For sale on all news-stands.

PRICE 25 CENTS. THE WORLD, Puttler Building, New York.

Amusements. AMERICAN THEATRE, TO-NIGHT, THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY.

Amusements. ABBEY'S THEATRE, BEERBOHM TREE, THE BULL DOG, A BUNCH OF VIOLETS.

Amusements. BIJOU THEATRE, COTTON KING, MANON, STAR THE POLICE PATROL, GAYETY, GRAND OPERA, ELLS R, JULIA MARLOWE TALKER.

Amusements. THEATRE, DENHAM THOMPSON, NAPOLEON EXHIBIT, HERALD SQUARE, EDEN MUSEE, BIJOU CENTURY GIRL, THE MASQUERADERS, MADAME BROADWAY SANS GENE, PALMER'S, THE FATAL CARD, TOO MUCH JOHNSON.

Amusements. IMPERIAL MUSIC HALL, GREAT VAUDEVILLE, HOYT'S, KOSTER & BIAL'S TO-NIGHT, TONY PASTOR'S MAT, TO-DAY, HARRISON'S THEATRE, NIBLO'S, 5TH FANNY DAVOPART, PEOPLE'S THEATRE, THE POWER OF THE PRESS.

Advertisement for Dr. Parkhurst's book "Our Fight with Tammany" and other related text.

Advertisement for "FORGIVE ME AND GOOD-BY" and other related text.

Advertisement for "HELP!" and other related text.

Advertisement for "THE WORLD ALMANAC" and other related text.

Advertisement for "THE CAPTAIN OBTAINED" and other related text.