ONCE SHE LIVED IN STYLE.

Ms. Day Mrs. Johnson is husbandless and in Bellevue.

Emma Miller, who was discharged yesterday by Judge Simms on a charge of intoxication, was in Jefferson Market Police Court on another charge of intoxication this morning, and again was discharged. Judge Simms, noticing she was ill, had her sent to Bellevue Hospital in an ambulance.

Miss Miller could hardly stand up. Yesterday she said she was a King's daughter and a member of several social organizations of women in this city. Agent Jerome, of the Charity Organization, looked her up at the residence given by her, but could not find her. She is tall and slender and about twenty years of age.

She was identified today as a young woman who but two years ago went under the name of Kittle Johnson, and lived with a man in West Thirty-third street, near Broadway. She had then a maid and coachman.

Yesterday she was looking up her maid's residence in West Third street when she met her former coachman. He took her to a saloon and gave her a drink. She returned to the search for the maid, and was seized with a fit in a Sixth avenue car. Patrolman Daniel Hozan, who was on duty at the local station, Mrs. Miller complained of illness, and Dr. Hodgson was sent for. He asked she would not give his name, other than "Dannie." His assets he is well connected.

Ms. Decision in Gov. Hughes's Case. WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The report from Tennessee, that it had been decided to remove Gov. Hughes of Arizona, is incorrect. Hughes has been named against the Governor, but the decision was not arrived at.

Telephoning at Sea. Prof. Lucien H. Blake, of the Kansas State University, has perfected a system by which conversation by telephone may be held between persons on land and those on a ship anchored at sea, several miles distant. His first successful experiment was made last Saturday, when, after months of preparation, he telephoned from Boston Lightship to Sandy Hook.

THE DRAYTON COUNTER SUIT. Mrs. Drayton Settled All Speculation as to a Compromise. SOMERVILLE, N. J., Feb. 27.—Sheriff George A. Ditta, of Somerset County, has received a summons and complaint to serve on James Coleman Drayton in the cross suit for divorce brought against him by his wife, Charlotte Augusta Drayton.

Senator and Sheriff Fight. PORTLAND Ore., Feb. 27.—State Senator Henry E. Weston and George C. Sears, Sheriff of the county, came to blows in the corridor of the Worcester Building, where Sears called Weston a snook. The Senator responded by landing his right fist on the sheriff's jaw, and Sears drew his revolver and struck Weston between the eyes with it. Spectators then separated the men. The trouble arose out of the passing of a bill cutting down Sears's fees.

No Work for Bostonians. Martin McGuire, a contractor, of 40 Hudson street, Boston, was arrested last evening on Broadway while begging. He said he had not worked for two days. Patrolman Evans took him to a restaurant, where he ate two beef-steaks a piece of chicken and six butter cakes. Justice Voorhis fined him $1 in the Tombs Police Court, remarking that there was no work in New York for Bostonians, although the city had gone as far as Connecticut to get some of its public servants.
