

DOCK PIER 40 LEASED.

The Norwich Line Gets It for $388,000 a Year.

The New Jersey Steamboat Company Makes a Big Bluff.

A Letter Claims Legal Rights Will Be Preserved.

The threats made by the officers of the New Jersey Steamboat Company to make trouble for the Dock Commissioners...

The Dock Commissioners' office was crowded at 12 M. when the bids were opened for the lease of pier 40...

Humors were thick and fast all the morning about injunctions. It was hinted by counsel for the New Jersey Company that an injunction would be applied for...

As a matter of fact, no injunction was obtained, and it is doubtful if any would be applied for. Instead, the New Jersey Company, through one of its representatives, contented itself with writing a letter to the Dock Commissioners...

He also added that a bomb had been thrown into the Dock Board office on Saturday morning, and that the controlling pier 40 again was abandoned.

President's Office, People's House of Representatives, April 15, 1923. Mr. W. C. O'Brien, New York.

It was about pier 40 that Commissioner O'Brien made the statement published in the Evening World of yesterday. Mr. O'Brien claimed that by a peculiar process the city was beaten out of the pier...

Then the latter company relet the pier to the Norwich and New York Companies for $388,000 a year. At the same time, a claim for $180,000 of that amount was paid by them to the Kingsland and Norwich companies...

many a day. It consists of a white duck Norfolk jacket, white duck creased trousers, and a white German military cap with brass buttons on the sides.

A full suit of this regalia was worn by the street cleaner in Col. Waring's private office. Col. Waring said: "I have decided to make it a rule that these uniforms shall be kept absolutely clean. They can be kept clean, they will be."

Decision was reserved. Says the Police Justices Removal Bill Will Be Unconstitutional. Police Justice Ryan called on the Mayor to-day to talk over the alleged persecution of pushcart peddlers by the police.

"We did not raise so much as that," he said, "but we did raise $1,500. Anyway, I don't care whether the bill passes or not; we will not lose our places, as it will be declared unconstitutional."

He is prominently identified with the League of Women Voters, and is a member of the Board of Chosen Friends. He is a director and a member of the Finance Committee of the Dry Dock Savings Bank, a director in the Murray Hill Club and many other organizations.

Mr. Wright was born in Flushing, L. I., July 8, 1842, and is a descendant of an English family, whose original members were landed proprietors at Writtlebridge, Essex County, England.

In 1862 he started a flour and feed business in New York City, and was successful from the start, laying the foundation during the twenty years of its continuance for the large fortune which he now possesses and enjoys.

WRIGHT AND FAURE.

Mayor Strong Names Two Charities Commissioners.

One a Republican and the Other a Democrat.

Commissioners Sheehy and Simmons Removed from Office.

Mayor Strong to-day appointed Robert Jefferson Wright and John P. Faure to be Commissioners of Charities and Correction.

Mr. Wright succeeds Edward C. Sheehy and Mr. Faure takes the place of Charles E. Simmons.

John P. Faure is the Secretary of the Committee of LXX, and has for some time been Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Ninth Ward school. He is Secretary of St. John's Guild and Chairman of the Floating Hospital Committee of that organization.

He is head of the underwear department in Scott Bros' establishment, at 70 West 11th street. He lives at 238 West 11th street.

The Board of Charities and Correction, which was removed from office, consisted of Henry H. Porter, President, and Charles E. Simmons and Edward C. Sheehy. The positions bring a salary of $3,000 per year.

BYRNES NOT TO BE CALLED.

Lawyer Moss Regrets He Can't Contact Him with Nook Murray.

The trial of George Murray, alias "Moke" Murray, for stealing a $75 diamond scarf-pin from Henry H. Harkness in dressing at 475 Broadway, Sept. 28, 1921, was resumed this morning before Judge Fitzgerald in Part II of the Court of General Sessions.

Unusual interest has been aroused in this case growing out of the fact that Murray, who is an old professional thief, is alleged to have been in the courtroom when the trial was held.

Lawyer Moss made the statement before the jury that he was unable to contact Murray, and that he was unable to contact Murray, and that he was unable to contact Murray.

Lawyer Daniel O'Reilly, acknowledged giving to Mr. Tothke a diamond stud, which he claimed the jury had failed to testify as to where he obtained the diamonds, and as to how he obtained them.

ARBITRATE SAYS NICARAGUA.

Great Britain Gets a Reply to Her Three Demands.

Sanctionment Revoked Before the Ultimatum Was Received.

LONDON, April 15.—Sir Thomas H. Sanderson, Permanent Under Secretary of the Foreign Office, admits that the reply of Nicaragua to the ultimatum of Great Britain demanding an indemnity of $50,000 as reparation for the expulsion of Mr. Hatching, the British Consul Agent, from Nicaraguian territory, has been received, and that, generally speaking, it is a proposal to appoint a commission to settle all questions of indemnity and an agreement to abide by the decision of the commission.

This is all Sir Thomas would say on the subject, and he would not touch upon the question of what action England proposed to take in the matter.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 15.—It is authoritatively stated that Nicaragua has accepted the British ultimatum. It is in the nature of a counter proposal and not a direct acceptance of the ultimatum.

THE NEW CONSTITUTION. May Takes Judges Twenty Years to Interpret It. Lawyer William J. Carr appeared before Justice Bartlett in the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, to-day to secure a judicial opinion on a charities article of the new Constitution.

Justice Harriman, of the Gates Avenue Police Court, Brooklyn, this morning put the case of a woman, an opponent of the Brockway system of the Elmira Reformatory, in the power of a police justice to sentence boys to Elmira, but Justice Harriman gave an emphatic opposition to pronounce such a sentence.

BROWN'S UNLUCKY EASTER.

A Saloon-Keeper Has Many Mishaps Ending in an Explosion.

James J. Brown, a saloon-keeper of 173 Grand street, Brooklyn, celebrated Easter Sunday with a series of mishaps. He was driving home from Coney Island last evening along Eastern Parkway, near Underhill avenue, when his horse shied and ran into Charles Pigott, of 82 Douglas street, who was riding on a bicycle in an opposite direction.

The explosion set fire to the house, Brown managed to crawl upstairs and give an alarm. When the firemen arrived the building was ablaze. Brown was severely burned about the head and hands.
