

TAXED, BUT CANNOT VOTE.

"No Man's Land" to Ask For a Mandamus Against The Aldermen.

20,000 PERSONS MADE ALIENS.

The New Annexed District Has No Voice in the Senate or Assembly.

IGNORED IN REAPPORTIONMENT.

Congressman Fairchild to Appeal to the Supreme Court at Once.

The Apportionment of the thirty-five Assembly districts ordered by the Board of Aldermen yesterday will be contested in the courts.

Congressman Fairchild, who represents the district that includes Westchester County and that part of the city of New York, will apply to the Supreme Court this afternoon or tomorrow on behalf of 20,000 persons to mandamus the Board of Aldermen from depriving them of representation.

The Westchester Congressman, who was in consultation with some of the Republican Aldermen this afternoon at the City Hall, will base the appeal of his disfranchised people upon the ground that they are deprived of legislative representation in defiance of the Constitution, which guarantees representation to all citizens who are taxed by a State.

The 20,000 people who kick up this appeal to the courts are new residents of the little patch of New York City and County just north of the old city line, which was annexed to the metropolis by the last Legislature.

Under the old conditions they would have been entitled to representation in both the State Senate and Assembly as citizens of the Westchester Senatorial and Assembly districts.

To-day they are not entitled to representation either as residents of Westchester or of New York City, by which latter city they are being taxed for their property of the expenses of the State government.

The territory in which they live is a veritable "no-man's land," in which there is no complete government machinery to regulate their conduct as citizens, nor to stay the depredations of the lawless.

They are taxed, it is true, and are protected by the police powers of the metropolis, but they are unjustly taxed, because they are not represented, and the police power that protects them is merely perfunctory, and is not based upon their actual rights as citizens, entitled to legislative representation, which creates the police power.

Practically they are aliens. In a word, these 20,000 citizens of the greatest city in the western hemisphere are rendered alien by the conduct of the States and the United States.

The remarkable condition of affairs has been brought about absolutely by the reapportionment of the Assembly districts of New York City and County done yesterday. The Board of Aldermen yesterday, in accordance with the mandate of the Legislature, divided the territory of the city and County of Westchester by the Superintendents of that county yesterday.

Both reapportionments disregarded the 20,000 citizens and made no provision for their representation in either branch of the State Legislature.

The Tammany apportionment of the Assembly districts of New York City and County does not apportion the territory of the new territory, which includes the towns and villages embraced in the new territory, and the Westchester Superintendents apportioned the Twenty-first Senatorial district and its three Assembly districts exclusively the territory recently annexed to New York City and County.

A Question of Jurisdiction. The Westchester Supervisors proceeded upon the supposition that they had no jurisdiction over the domain of the city and County of New York, and that the reapportionment promulgated last year defined the Twenty-second Senatorial district to embrace the territory of the city and County of New York. The reapportionment adopted by the Supervisors yesterday defined the northern boundary of the Twenty-second Senatorial district as being the northern line of New York City and County as it stands to-day with the territory of New York City and County.

The disfranchised citizens are not included in the Twenty-first Senatorial district of New York City and County, and the Twenty-second Senatorial district is a part of the Tammany apportionment, which respects actively yesterday, the northern boundary of the Twenty-first Assembly district, which includes the territory of the "No Man's Land."

What is to be done about it? The courts will be called upon to decide. The only remedy that the citizens of the disfranchised district can figure out lies in an extensive appeal to the courts, which will actually amount to a new reapportionment.

Congressman Fairchild and some of the other citizens who are taxed while being denied representation believe the Aldermen of this city have not complied with the Constitution, which specifically provided that the Aldermen or Superintendents of each county in the State should meet on the 11th day of June and apportion the assembly districts within the boundaries of the county, and that the citizens of the annexed territory claim, the Aldermen have not done.

The same vote was cast by the Aldermen of this city yesterday, and the active citizens of the annexed territory have been in consultation with some of the Aldermen of this city, and are now endeavoring to get the attention of the assembly districts within the boundaries of the county, and that the citizens of the annexed territory claim, the Aldermen have not done.

No Man's Land's Boundaries. The newly annexed territory comprises 20,000 acres and extends from the Bronx River to Long Island Sound, from Cortlandt Neck on the north to the Hudson River on the south. It includes Wakefield, Pelham, Hunter's Island, City Island, Eastchester, Hunter's Island, Barlow, and Pelham Neck. The territory is bounded on the north by the Hudson River, on the south by the Bronx River, on the east by the Hudson River, and on the west by the Hudson River.

Schuylerville, Pleasant, Oliveville, Throgs Neck, Williamsbridge and some small villages are included.

There are, approximately, 20,000 residents in the territory.

The Stockholders Are Joyful.

Politicians are joining up the new Tammany reapportionment today, and there was a good deal of kicking about it among the Tammany members. It is among the Tammany members that the Tammany Aldermen have the most influence, and they are very active in their efforts to gain a foothold in territory where they are not represented.

The Independent County Organization, which is the backbone of the Tammany party, will hold the balance of power in the city government, and it is expected that the Tammany party will be able to secure a majority in the city government.

ANNEXED DISTRICT SEWER.

A Sharp Trick Checked and Four Contractors Arrested.

The police are having a lively time in the newly annexed district. Last evening the contractors for sewers defied the orders of Commissioner Hoffman and the police to quit work in Williamsbridge, and reserves were called over from Tremont.

Matthew H. Murray, with fifteen men, on a Duncombe engine, and other contractors, were arrested by the police. The contractors were charged with defying the orders of Commissioner Hoffman and the police to quit work in Williamsbridge, and reserves were called over from Tremont.

SAID "RATS" TO THE COP.

But Fisher's Truthful Answer Didn't Satisfy the Policeman.

J. H. Fisher is a rat catcher, living at 212 East Fifty-seventh street. He tells this story himself, prefacing it by saying that he is the only rat successor to the late Harry Stephens.

There is a preamble to Mr. Fisher's story wherein is mentioned a list of the places in this city where he has shown himself to have swept a district of rats more rats than any man who ever lived.

SAYS SHE MEANT SUICIDE.

But Mrs. Stephens' Friends Say She Drank Acid by Mistake.

Mrs. Ida M. Stephens, thirty years old, who boards with a family named Evans at 345 West Forty-eighth street, drank carbolic acid shortly after midnight this morning, and she is now in Roosevelt Hospital. Her act is believed by the police to have been a suicide attempt.

Mrs. Stephens is the wife of a printer, named Harry Stephens. He is at present in San Francisco. The couple have always lived happily, so it is said, and Mrs. Stephens only yesterday sent her husband a letter.

Dr. Evans said that he has for a long time kept a bottle of carbolic acid on a shelf near the kitchen faucet, for disinfecting purposes. Recently, he said, he remembered leaving a glass near the faucet, and the next morning he found it in the hands of Mrs. Stephens, who had drunk it.
