

WHISKEY ROSE TO 25. Distillers Stock Strong in Wall Street To-Day.

TOBACCO SOLD DOWN TO PAR. This Week's Bank Statement Shows a Loss of Nearly $2,500,000 in Cash.

The Wall street markets were dull. The close observance of the Jewish day of atonement resulted in a marked falling off in the attendance at the Stock Exchange, and the room traders transacted the bulk of the business.

The belief that the managers of the anthracite coal companies have reached an agreement and the advance in the prices for coal stimulate purchases of the shares and the improvement in railway earnings generally also has a good effect.

The shipments of gold by Crossman & Bro. attract comparatively little attention, as the exchange market is yielding under increased offerings of commercial and bank bills, and the active demand for currency from the West and South indicates a larger movement of the crops in the near future.

For the second week of September 29 roads earned $8,922,835, an increase of $4,717,125, or 54.2 per cent, over the $4,205,710 earned for the third week of roads for the week ending Sept. 22.

The imports of specie at New York for the week ending Sept. 27, 1935, were $7,000,000, or $2,317,100, for the same week of 1934 the imports were $4,682,900.

The imports exclusive of specie at New York for the week ending Sept. 27, 1935, were $2,500,000, or $1,250,000, for the same week of 1934 the imports were $1,250,000.

The report of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy for August shows an increase in revenue of $1,000,000, or 1.5 per cent, over the $66,000,000 reported for the month of August, 1934.

The money market is quiet. Foreign exchange dull and rates closed at the lowest of the week, namely, 4.87 1/2 for gold, 4.88 1/2 for demand, and 4.86 1/2 for commercial.

The changes in the bank average this week, which is quite important, result in only a slight increase of 1/16, or 1/16, plus reserve, which stands at $2,256,175, or $2,256,175, or 1/16, plus reserve, which stands at $2,256,175.

The banks lost nearly $2,500,000 in cash, but the deposits increased $2,500,000 and deposit liabilities decreased $2,500,000.

The following are the comparative figures: Sept. 21, 1935, Sept. 22, 1935, Sept. 23, 1935, Sept. 24, 1935, Sept. 25, 1935, Sept. 26, 1935, Sept. 27, 1935.

Decline of 15 Points, Followed by a Rally of 7. There was a sharp reaction in cotton this morning, the early sales indicating a decline of about 15 points from about 7 points. Liverpool was decidedly lower, the decline there amounting to about 5 points.

When both here and at Chicago was quiet and listless, with prices practically unchanged. At New York December opened at 8.56, 1/16, and May at 8.56, 1/16, and November at 8.56, 1/16.

Corn was quiet, Chicago opening about 1-1/2 lower with October at 1.10, and May at 1.10, and November at 1.10, and December at 1.10.

Caned Men to Be Inspected. The order requiring all imported canned meats to be inspected will not go into effect until Jan. 1. This new regulation, the customs men, will inspect and insure before.

Minetta Brook Struck Again. Workmen laying foundations for a building next door to Channing Hall across Minetta Brook are again having a bit of trouble. The water is constantly pumped out so work may go on.

SAID HE'D MAKE GOLD. Stanley Gross Indicted for Grand Larceny.

The Grand Jury has ordered an indictment against Stanley Gross, thirty years old, a native of Russia, living at 302 East Seventh street, for grand larceny.

The story of Gross' alleged verve, for which he is now in the Tombs, having been arrested Sept. 17, casts up old memories of the back art and the mystic followers of the gold transmuters of base metals into gold.

The complaint against Gross is Gustave Hommer, a trader in general merchandise, who lives at 335 East Fifth street.

In his complaint Hommer says that on May 30 last, Gross called at his home and stated that he knew a way in which Hommer could make a great deal of money, that he had a friend, who was the possessor of a secret, which made base metals assume the appearance and bulk of gold.

Hommer was incredulous, but Gross advised him to bring his friend, who would show samples of materials so changed which so resembled gold that even an expert could not tell the difference.

Shortly after that, it is stated, Gross took to Hommer's house a man he called "Pearlman," who, he said, possessed the secret.

The complaint against Pearlman continues that Gross and Pearlman continued to advance the necessary funds to purchase materials, and said they would try an experiment and would return the money so advanced in gold at the end of the experiment.

The deponent, in reliance to those promises and the seductive language used by Pearlman, had advanced the sum of $250. On May 28, 1935, at 10 o'clock, Pearlman and Gross, who had chased the necessary metal, $250 in gold and $150 worth of material.

Gross and Pearlman took the conching Hommer to Pearlman's house, 31 Montgomery street, where they were to mix the metal in a smelting pot.

They had a big fire under the pot and the mixture was being heated. The deponent does not state whether there were indications as to what was going on, but he does state that he saw Pearlman "wrongly, nefariously and unlawfully" abstracted from the pot the majority of the gold and silver which the deponent placed some inferior metal in the pot.

Then Hommer told his wife about it, and she also became indignant. He said he was a precious bullion in the hands of an assayer who declared the mass contained 99.9 per cent of gold.

The reason Hommer did not prosecute Gross for stealing his gold was that Pearlman had been arrested by the chief warden, had offered on June 22 $600 to get out of the Tombs, and had been released on his own recognizance.

President Roosevelt, according to his right bower, Roundman Tierney, who is in charge of the Tombs, was called on the day after the President is at his seashore house at Oyster Bay and will probably be there on Sunday.

The only statement as to what the police will do in the way of enforcing the law is that the police will be kept busy. "If any evidence can be secured against clubs, the police will surely make arrests."

Magistrate Brann Holds the President for an Expire Test Case. Max Buttgenhagen, President of the Pelham Social Club, who was arrested last Sunday by Patrolmen Lake, Sullivan and Ahern, of the Broadway Squad, was held for trial on a charge of violating the Excise law by Magistrate Brann, in the Essex Market Court today.

On Sunday the Pelham Social Club gave a party in their club-rooms, 22 1/2 West 110th street, in the Bronx. The club was found a place and found a keg of beer in the hallway. They helped themselves to a glass and then arrested Buttgenhagen.

The club has been in existence for nine years. It was organized by John Simpson, a Republican politician of the Twelfth Assembly District, who was the good character of the members.

Magistrate Brann said this morning that he talked the matter over with several judges, and they all agreed that it better that the Court of Special Sessions should decide the case, so that they would know how to act in future cases.

Police Board Must Review "Angel" Bennett's Case Against Him. Justice Barrett, in the Supreme Court today, ordered the Police Board to review its action in dismissing Jacob Simmermeyer from the department.

Simmermeyer was arrested on September 17, 1931, and was dismissed on September 28, 1931, after a trial by the Police Board. He was charged with the charge of failing to make an exit after a party at 247 West Sixty-sixth street Sunday night.

Simmermeyer alleges that the charges against him were made by chief of Police Arthur Bennett, the Parkhurst district chief, who is alleged to have purchased whiskey in the saloon in front of which Simmermeyer was dismissed.

Simmermeyer says Bennett's testimony was uncorroborated and he demands that the Police Board should at the time mentioned, or that he bought liquor there.

It was proven at the trial that Bennett was a private detective who was in the saloon and his assistant was in the saloon and visited and accepted the solicitations of local women.

NO BEER TO-MORROW. Special Screws to Be Put on Precinct Commanders.

Headquarters Men Out. Roosevelt Will Not Be in Town, Preferring the Liberty in Vogue at Oyster Bay.

There is a feature in the enforcement of the Excise law, introduced recently, which has been a close secret until within the past few hours. It became known late yesterday, and created consternation among the ranks of precinct commanders.

The Captains are in a flutter of apprehension. They term it a thumb-screw turned upon them by the relentless hand of Police Headquarters. The powers high up have adopted a system of selecting particular Captains, whom the Commissioners deem delinquent in the enforcement of the Excise law in their precincts.

Primarily this screw is being put upon commanders who have been most prominent under the Tammany police administration.

Last Sunday an order of an ultra strict nature was issued from Police Headquarters to concentrate the greater eye of the Department upon the precincts in the Twelfth Precinct, the station house of which is at Attorney and Deane streets. This downtown east-side precinct is under the command of Capt. William Schultz, the "laughing captain" of the Department, as he has been called by the press.

In pursuance of the edict, more than twenty policemen were selected from the various precincts—men who were a little known to Capt. Schultz and to the other precinct commanders.

These selected men did go there last Sunday, and did canvass the ground thoroughly, seeking secretly, but to Schultz's credit, it can be said, not an arrest was made. The previous day, however, several saloons were found running their places and corners in the Twelfth Precinct.

Who will be the old man's victim tomorrow? It is stated that Capt. William Thompson's command will be under the strict eye of the Department.

Acting Chief Conlin has a long list of saloons that were doing business last Sunday, and the list is being checked by the Headquarters men to keep a close watch on the saloons in the Twelfth Precinct.

President Roosevelt, according to his right bower, Roundman Tierney, who is in charge of the Tombs, was called on the day after the President is at his seashore house at Oyster Bay and will probably be there on Sunday.

The only statement as to what the police will do in the way of enforcing the law is that the police will be kept busy. "If any evidence can be secured against clubs, the police will surely make arrests."

Special to The World. ATLANTA, Sept. 27.—John S. Smith, the broker and banker who fled to Mexico and whose mysterious disappearance in the latter part of May created such a sensation, says that on the night in question he started for his home and had in his pocket $1,300 in money.

He lived in the suburbs and had just alighted from his car when three men confronted him with the usual high-wheeled demand of "hands up, draw a pistol and fire at the leader twice, both of the shots taking effect.

The leader fired at the man in the shadows, jumped out upon him then and took from him all the money he had on his person, and then he was taken to a saloon in front of which Smith was held.
