

REBELS NOW ARE BANDITS

Captured Filipinos to Be Tried for Murder at Calamba.

NEW POLICY HAS BEGUN.

Some Fear at Manila that the American Captives May Be Killed.

MANILA, Feb. 29.—A Military Commission meets at Calamba tomorrow to try a Filipino member of the guerrilla band which attacked a squad of Americans Feb. 2.

The charges are murder and assault with intent to kill. The case is important as foreshadowing the policy of treating guerrillas as bandits.

BULLER DRIVING BOERS; ROBERTS'S RUSHING ON.

her return to Windsor to-day Queen Victoria remarked that "good news had been received this morning from the seat of war."

Optimists at once declared that this meant the capture or destruction of Cronje and his retreating army.

Later it was said that the Queen was referring to news which had been received from Ladysmith.

It is now known that Gen. French got to Kimberley in the nick of time. No more horse flesh could be had to feed the populace.

FRENCH JUST IN TIME.

No More Horseflesh Left in Kimberley—He Took in Big Stores of Food.

MODDER RIVER, Monday, Feb. 19.—Although the rapid march of Gen. French's division was marked by a number of conflicts his actual entry into Kimberley was unopposed.

When the British were still eight miles off the signalling corps intercepted a helicopter message from the beleaguered garrison at Modder River.

"The Boers are shelling the town." "This is Gen. French," the advancing column replied.

The Boers were incredulous and thought the message was a Boer ruse. They flashed the query:

"What regiment are you?" The reply satisfied the defenders of Kimberley that the anxiously-awaited savior was at hand.

At the head of a column, made a triumphant entry into the place, the people surrounding the troops and intermingling with them.

They cheered wildly, grasping the soldiers' hands, waving flags, hats and handkerchiefs and exhibiting in a hundred ways the intensity of their joy.

The inhabitants had been on short rations for some time, eating horseflesh and living in burrows under heaps of mine refuse.

Diminishing rations were served out daily at 11 o'clock in the market square, under the shell fire of the enemy, whose guns opened on the square whenever the inhabitants assembled.

No horse food was left.

Throughout the siege Cecil Rhodes provided the natives with work and food and thus kept them quiet.

The miles of convey bearing provisions for the relief column and the town, slowly winding its way across the plain in the direction of Kimberley, was the gladdest sight which greeted the eyes of the besieged for four months.

Gen. French's march was so rapid and the heat so intense that many of his horses died of exhaustion.

At the crossing of the Modder River the Boers halted, leaving their tents, guns, oxen, wagons and large quantities of ammunition in the hands of the British.

Moving northward the Boers again attempted to stem the advance, but Gen. French turned their flank and reached his goal with insignificant losses.

Seven men killed and thirty-five wounded during three days, from Wednesday, Feb. 12 to Friday, Feb. 16.

After a night's rest at Kimberley, Gen. French's column pursued the Boers to Dronkred, surrounded the kopjes on which they were posted and held them till nightfall, when the Boers fled, leaving all their arms.

Gen. Cronje left a gun, his tent, food and clothes at Magerfontein.

KRUGER ORDERS SHELLS.

French Factory to Supply the Transvaal with 150,000 Artillery Shells.

PARIS, Feb. 29.—According to a despatch from Rennes, a factory there has received an order from the Transvaal Government for 150,000 artillery shells.

BRITISH GRAIN LOST.

A Ship Laden with Food for the Troops Sinks in the Delaware.

(Special to The Evening World.) CAMDEN, N. J., Feb. 29.—The British steamer Rostermel, laden with three thousand tons of grain destined for the relief of the British troops in South Africa, sank in the Delaware River this morning.

She was making preparations to steam away to-day. It is supposed the swelling of the grain forced the sides of the steamer apart.

CABINET TALKS OF MACRUM.

Charges of the Ex-Congress Against British Censor Referred To—A Spanish Question.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29.—The Macrum incident was discussed at the cabinet meeting to-day.

No action was taken so far as could be learned, but the charges made by the ex-congress at Trenton that his letters were opened by British censors are alluded to.

In the matter of the sale of a railroad in Cuba by Spain after the treaty was signed, it was decided that the Spanish authorities had no right to transfer the title.

GARDINER POINTS BACK.

Predecessors Failed, Too, in Bucket-Shop Cases.

Sensations were promised by Horace E. Deming, counsel for the City Club committee, in the efforts to have District Attorney Gardiner removed from office.

It is charged, among other things, that Col. Gardiner has allowed many indictments to be dismissed when law and order demanded their prosecution.

In the case of Francis E. Eggleston, indicted for gambling Dec. 15, 1898, Mr. Deming said he would show that with Col. Gardiner's concurrence Eggleston's case had been adjourned often without apparent reason.

Mr. Untermyer, Col. Gardiner's counsel, said:

"This Eggleston case was a bucket-shop case involving many persons and much Wall street moneyed interest. Since 1888 no District-Attorney has got a conviction in a bucket-shop case."

"The District-Attorney should not be held accountable for adjournments any more than his predecessors were."

Evidence in a half-dozen other cases showing delays of months in getting trials only to end in the prisoners' discharge was put in by Mr. Deming through Mr. Welch.

Ex-Assemblyman Robert Mazet was an interested spectator at the hearing. He took copious notes and sat with the Deputy Attorney-General in charge of the prosecution.

In the case of Mary Watson, arrested for shoplifting, it was shown she was dismissed without trial, the complainant, a big Sixth avenue dry goods firm, asking for it.

"And who was this awful, inhuman Judge who allowed her discharge when the complainant said it was her first offense and not premeditated?" asked Mr. Untermyer.

"Judge Cowing," answered Witness Welch. "But don't take me as saying he's a awful and inhuman."

Another case, one of circulating indecent literature, excited laughter.

"Who was the complainant?" asked Untermyer.

"Anthony Comstock," answered Witness Welch. "And the man was discharged?"

"Yes," answered Untermyer. "That's right, too," rejoined Untermyer.

The prosecution continued to pile up evidence that Col. Gardiner did not oppose motions to transfer cases from Special to General Sessions.

Mr. Untermyer declared that Col. Gardiner had early in his office been reprimanded by a Supreme Court Justice for opposing a prisoner's application for trial by jury.

"This shows the malice of the City Club," he added. "They charge the District-Attorney does not do his duty when he allows a prisoner his constitutional rights."

Speaking of the case of Carrie Freedman, who was discharged with a nominal fine on a promise to reform, he said:

"The City Club in bringing up this case to show the District-Attorney was lenient in duty must consider that Justice Cohen was wicked, too, for discharge of a repentant woman."

MILLER GOT 2,000,000 IN FOUR MONTHS.

Syndicate Swindler Ordered to Tell What He Did with Victim's Deposits.

William F. Miller, of the 530-per-cent syndicate, will appear, in all probability, before a referee to-morrow, and tell how much money he secured from his victims, what he did with it and where it is at present.

Judge Thomas, of the United States District Court, to-day issued a writ of habeas corpus on the petition of Charles J. Bedford and Francis J. McCloskey, directing the Sheriff of Kings County to produce Miller before him at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning.

Lawyer McCloskey told an Evening World reporter this afternoon that his investigation of Miller's books shows that between Oct. 14 and Nov. 18 Miller took in $2,000,000, of which he paid depositors $215,000, leaving a balance of $1,785,000.

Between Oct. 27, the day that the circular raising the minimum limit to $75,000 was issued, and Nov. 21 he took in $1,000,000 in cash and $100,000 in mail, or $1,100,000.

Between Aug. 1 and the time the syndicate was closed by the police the receipts exceeded $2,000,000.

Bedford and McCloskey represent 17,000 Miller victims whose claims aggregate $100,000. They bring the proceedings to compel Miller to testify before a referee exactly how much money he received during the life of the 530 per cent. game.

They will try to find out what Miller did with this money and endeavor to locate its present whereabouts. It is probable that the hearing will take place before Referee Augustus J. Koehler.

This action was brought after a consultation between District-Attorney Clarke and Lawyers Bedford and McCloskey. An argument will take place before Judge Thomas on the matter of compelling Miller to testify.

Miller and the Sheriff were served with copies of the writ to-day. If Judge Thomas directs Miller to testify he will be taken before the referee immediately, and it is expected that important disclosures will be made.

Frederick B. House, Miller's counsel, said:

"Miller may be called before this referee, but he will not answer a question and he cannot be made to answer."

BIG LOAN TO FINANCE ROAD.

Third Avenue Directors Get $28,500,000 from Bankers.

Treasurer Curtis, of the Third Avenue Railroad, announced this afternoon that the committee appointed by the directors of the road had entered into an agreement with a syndicate of bankers by which the company will be furnished with $28,500,000 cash.

He stated further that the company has made an agreement with other parties for an additional sum of $7,200,000 cash.

The money will be used in bringing the company up to the standard planned. Wall street is in the dark as to who is furnishing the money.

There was a conference this afternoon in the office of J. S. Hatch & Co. at Exchange place and New street, bankers supposed to represent the syndicate. Mr. Edward Lauterbach, of counsel for the Third Avenue road, was said to be in conference with representatives of the syndicate.

A significant feature was the visit to that place of Daniel McMahon, a partner of John Naughton, of Naughton & Co., who installed the electric equipment of the Third Avenue road. Mr. McMahon also professed ignorance as to the make-up of the syndicate.

One of the parties to the conference said that the syndicate included half a dozen big banking houses of which two are of international reputation. As to the terms made for the loan there was no definite information to be had. The details of the agreement, he would probably be finally arranged to-morrow and the refunding contract signed by that time.

ANOTHER 520 PER CENT? JUST NINE DAYS MORE.

Wm. A. Lyons, of Guarantee Investment Co., Under Arrest.

William A. Lyons, President of the Guarantee Investment Company, at 113 Fulton street, was arrested this afternoon by Central Office Detectives Holland and Doran.

It is charged that like Miller, of the Franklin Syndicate, he guaranteed 10 per cent. a week on investments of $25 or any multiple thereof.

Lyons is about forty years old and a smooth and persuasive talker. His office is on the fifth floor of the Fulton building and when the detectives entered he was dictating answers to a mass of correspondence to his typewriter, Miss Mary Maxey, who lives at 322 Sixteenth street Brooklyn.

There were no other persons in the office. An abundance of circulars which had not been made ready for mailing showed the nature of the business.

The young woman nearly fainted when the detectives made known their mission. She said she had been employed there only a week and did not know there was anything wrong about the business. They let her go. Holland took Lyons to Police Headquarters. He was from there transferred to the Central Street Court. Doran remained in charge of the Guarantee Investment Company's office.

Lyons, it is said, claimed exclusive inside information of all the industrial combinations. He was "big" in sugar and coffee, as well as railroad stocks, of which he sometimes figured his net profit as high as 15 per cent. a day.

"But we are satisfied with 5 per cent. a day," he is alleged to have said. "Therefore we can guarantee ten a week without hesitation."

His company, it is stated, was formed "for the purpose of giving small investors an opportunity of taking advantage of our long and successful experience in investments and to enable them to operate on a small scale, and yet obtain a large and handsome return on their investment."

Lyons was held in $2,000 bail to await examination Thursday. The charge against him was grand larceny by false pretenses, made in an affidavit by Detective Doran.

BROWN SHOT TO KILL.

Had Man Tried to Murder James Dalton in a Saloon.

Walter Brown has just finished a term of three and a half years for burglary. Last night he walked into the saloon at 80 Rivington street and began a row with James Dalton.

"I'll end this discussion in a minute," said Brown. He went down to a hardware store a few doors away and bought a loaded revolver.

Returning to the saloon, Brown opened fire on Dalton. A detective had heard the first shot. He grabbed Brown even as the third bullet was fired. The two fought until a blow from the detective's pistol stretched Brown senseless on the floor.

He was taken to the Madison street station. Brown, last October, held up Mrs. Annie Isaacs in the hallway of a Monroe street house and robbed her.

FOUR LOST AT SEA?

Big Barge, It is Believed, Has Gone Down in a Storm.

It is feared that the big ocean barge Oakland has foundered off the Jersey Coast and that the crew of four men have perished. She was in tow of the tug Nathan Hale, of New London, Sunday night, and during the storm parted her hawser. The tug also had the barge Marion Chappell in tow, and it was all she could do to prevent that vessel from going adrift.

The Oakland was lost in the storm and in a big sea.

The men hope for the safety of the craft come from Barnegat, where a three-masted barge is reported a few miles off shore. A tug was standing by, but whether the barge was the tug's own tow or the Oakland was only problematical.

The missing barge was of 2,000 tons and owned by the Pomeroy Coal Company. She formerly was a three-masted ship. She carried 3,000 tons of coal, which were consigned to Providence.

Both barges in tow of the Hale left Norfolk Friday. Within a few hours they encountered a terrific storm. The snow was so thick that the barges could not be seen from the deck of the tug.

The waves ran high, sweeping everything movable from the three boats. Sunday the barge Oakland was missed, but whether she had gone adrift or sunk the men on the Hale could not say. Her absence was not discovered until the storm had somewhat abated.

Capt. Reed, of the Chappell, said he thought the Oakland had sprung a leak. Off Scotland Lightship the Chappell became unmanageable, and assistance was summoned, the tug Annot responding.

The decks of the Chappell were strained during the storm, and her safe arrival in Providence probably due to the fact that she is a new, staunch craft built to withstand such weather as was encountered on the trip.

G. O. P. MEN KILL INQUIRY.

Abbott's Trenton Girl-School Recollection Three-Tracked—Nixon Saw Judge.

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 29.—Assemblyman Leon Abbott made another effort last night for an investigation of the State Industrial School for Girls, but the Republican majority voted down his proposition for a special committee to take testimony.

Mr. Abbott said it was freely charged that the school was a place of prostitution, and that the laws of the State prohibited such punishment even in the case of girls.

Mr. Member of the Industrial School Committee, replied that the committee would investigate the school, but that the school was a place of prostitution, and that the laws of the State prohibited such punishment even in the case of girls.
