CHURCH THIEF LITTLE GIRL.

Caught Stealing Pocket-book in St. James's Pro-Cathedral.

For some time pocketbook thefts have been numerous in St. James's Pro-Cathedral, in Jay Street, Brooklyn, during the early hours of the morning, when the church is left open for the devout people of that vicinity to go in and pray. Sexton Lawrence Sullivan, having received a number of complaints, decided to watch. From time to time he saw two little girls in the church who moved from pew to pew, which aroused his suspicion.

He inquired about them and found that one was Nettie Crobin, thirteen years old, of 15 Chapel Street. Her father, when he heard Sexton Lawrence's complaint, talked it over with Father Donagan, of the Cathedral, and they decided to get a Goopy pocketbook in one of the pews.

At 9 o'clock this morning a woman entered the church with a pocketbook in her hand, which, on account of its size was very much in evidence. Two little girls, one of whom was Nettie, stepped up from a pew and when the woman had knelt down to pray, took the pocketbook immediately behind her.

She turned over and looked up the aisle and with her companion Nettie, she flew, where she was seen by Sexton Lawrence, who quickly arrested and turned over to the Police. Her companion was also arrested.
