

FITZSIMMONS MEETS DUNKHORST TONIGHT.

Syracuse Giant Confident of Making a Good Showing Against Lanky Bob at the Hercules A. C. Arena in Brooklyn.

BOB FITZSIMMONS.

Bob Fitzsimmons and Ed Dunkhorst will meet tonight in a twenty-five round bout at the Hercules Athletic Club. It is admitted that Dunkhorst is not a match for Fitzsimmons in fistic skill, but he is a hard proposition pugilistically nevertheless. No man has ever succeeded in putting him to sleep and he has been put off his legs but once, the records show. He is cumbersome because of his weight, and that same weight enables him to deliver a terrific punch. While he is not as graceful as a Corbett or a McCoy, he is none the less...

and even more, effective when he lands. Fitzsimmons is an attraction in himself, and as this is his first appearance in the ring since his defeat by Champion Jeffries there is a desire to note his showing against the elephantine Dunkhorst, so that he may be rated for future performance. If the big Syracusean should make a stand against Fitz, the betting on the latter in his bout with Rubin will be greatly affected.

Bob is in excellent shape, and Dunkhorst has reduced his weight so as to enable him to give the lanky pugilist a hustle. It would not be surprising to many if Dunkhorst stayed quite a few rounds with the ex-champion, and it is reported that there may be many dollars in sight to wager that Fitz will not finish him in quick order. The men have few forefeits up and will positively be on hand.

This will be the last bout under the Horton law if the Commissioners do not recede from their stand, and as it is a heavy-weight battle the interest is at fever heat.

The sport of the evening will begin with a fifteen-round bout for the 150-pound championship, in which the principals will be Kid McFadden, of Syracuse, and Johnny Hinds, of Brooklyn.

M'FADDEN VS. O'BRIEN.

Jack O'Brien and George McFadden will come together for twenty-five rounds at the Broadway Athletic Club tonight, and the outcome has a distinct bearing upon the light-weight championship. Frank Erne's retirement left the title open for competition, again, and O'Brien and McFadden are looked upon as the two most formidable aspirants for it. O'Brien fought Erne a draw and divided honors with him, while McFadden fought him twenty-five rounds, losing the decision on points by a very small margin.

FITZSIMMONS SAYS HE'LL WIN WITHIN TEN ROUNDS.

To the Editor: I am in every bit as good condition for my battle with Ed Dunkhorst tonight as I was when I fought Jim Corbett. Although I feel perfectly sure that I will beat Dunkhorst, I nevertheless took no chances of being out of condition, and trained as hard and faithfully as if I was going to fight Jeffries.

I expect to win from Dunkhorst in less than ten rounds.

ROBERT FITZSIMMONS.

DUNKHORST WILL GIVE A GOOD ACCOUNT OF HIMSELF.

(Special to The Evening World.) ASBURY PARK, N. J., April 29.—Ed Dunkhorst gave out the following as his last statement to the Evening World: To the Editor: I will give a good account of myself tonight. I was never in better shape for a game fight. Four weeks' hard training has hardened my muscles, and my weight is reduced to 215 pounds, lower than at any time since I entered the ring. I know that Fitzsimmons is a hard hitter and a most unrelenting antagonist. I remember, however, that he failed to land on Jeff so very often, and perhaps he will miss me several times.

IMP AT TOP WEIGHTS.

The Metropolitan Stake this year is worth $2,000. It will be worth to the winner, therefore, about $3,000. It has an excellent class of entries and is likely to furnish one of the most interesting races in its history.

FAVORS THREE-YEAR-OLDS.

In fact the running of the Metropolitan for the past three years makes one turn to the three-year-old division for the winner. The runner-up, however, won the stake last year, Bowling Brook, also a three-year-old, won the race the year before, and in 1897 Voter captured the stake. Lanky Willis Goes Into Box to Turn Tables on Champion Dodgers. WASHINGTON PARK, BROOKLYN, April 30.—Having captured the first game of the series from the Beaneaters after the easiest kind of a tussle on Saturday, it was no wonder the champion Brooklynites went into the game this afternoon confident of taking another game from Seale's outfit.

MUST HAVE TWO UMPIRES.

The single-umpire system is a failure. The magnates knew it was a failure two years ago and said so. They know it is now, but they won't admit it until patrons of the game compel them to do so. It is a failure because it makes the sport and lose money and prestige if they don't make up their minds to remedy it. There is often more than one play at a time and no umpire can see a play in front of him and another behind him at the same time.

RESULTS AT NASHVILLE.

RACE TRACK, NASHVILLE, April 30.—The races scheduled here this afternoon resulted as follows: First Race—Three-fourths of a mile—Won by Chipeta, 5 to 2 and even; Lumar, 1 to 1 for place, second; Grey was third.
