

NIGHT EDITION

The # World

BASEBALL and RACING

PRICE ONE CENT.

NEW YORK, WEDNESDAY, MAY 29, 1901.

PRICE ONE CENT.

"Circulation Books Open to All."

"Circulation Books Open to All."

ALLIED TRADES MAY NOW BE CALLED OUT.

TUNNEL MEN THREATEN GIANT STRIKE

MAYOR MAY VETO TUNNEL

Brooklynites Fear that Hopes May Be Frustrated.

Mayor Van Wyck's veto may dash to earth the hopes of Brooklynites for an extension of the Rapid Transit Tunnel to Kips Borough, according to the Brooklyn Eagle.

It was reported across the bridge today that Mayor Van Wyck had been in Brooklyn last Saturday night, and in a private room in the Brooklyn Club spent several hours in conference with Justice Gaynor and his brother, ex-Judge Augustus Van Wyck. From these he is said to have found sympathy for his own views. The following day Justice Gaynor gave out letters he had written to the Mayor and Andrew H. Green, the father of rapid transit, denouncing the terms under which the rapid transit franchises were bestowed.

That the Mayor has had an aversion to the Long Island Railroad is known. Justice Gaynor, in his public letter, pointed out that the Long Island Railroad at one time offered to build the tunnel free of cost and turn it over to the city after fifty years.

The public hearing on the tunnel measure will be held at the Mayor's office on Saturday next. Until after that date the Mayor will make no official announcement of what disposition he will make of the measure.

YOUNG EDISON IS NOT AFRAID

Inventor's Little Son Talks of Alleged Kidnappers.

While no more kidnapping letters had been received by residents in and about Orange, N. J., those who have received letters are taking the same precautions regarding the safety of their children.

The Pinkerton detectives employed by Thomas A. Edison are still staying at the Central Hotel and still go out at certain periods of the day and watch the children.

Charlie Edison, the little son of the inventor, is not especially perturbed.

An Evening World reporter who called at the Edison residence in Llewellyn Park this morning had a talk with the boy.

"No, I'm not afraid," said the lad in reply to a question, "but still we have to be careful. I was a little frightened at first though."

NO BASEBALL GAMES TO-DAY.

Rain postponed the baseball games at Washington Park and the Polo Grounds to-day. The National League games in Boston and Philadelphia are also off.

WANT TO RENT A FURNISHED room? Advertise in the Sunday World.

WHERE'S THE SUN? RAIN RECORD GONE.

Weather Hoodoo Has Second Wind—It's the Same Old Storm.

THIS IS WHAT NEW YORK NEEDS.

WEATHER FORECAST.

Forecast for the thirty-six hours ending at 8 P. M. Thursday for New York and vicinity: Rain to-night; Thursday unsettled, probably showers; fresh to brisk variable winds, mostly easterly.

LOST, STRAYED OR STOLEN—One

an. Last seen in Manhattan on Friday, May 24. Latest report of him elsewhere in the back districts of Williamsburg May 24, at 6 A. M., when he was seen at the Flatbush cross roads, looking blue-eyed and greatly emaciated. If found, please report to Weather Man Emery, Manhattan.

"I can't find him," said Weather Man Emery this morning to an Evening World reporter, "so I sent out a general alarm. Something has got to be done, and mighty quick, too, if I'm going to hold my job."

"And let me tell you it's got to be no snap chasing up lost souls. Holahan's search through the pool-rooms for his son wasn't a marker to it, and even he got it in the neck. Now, what's going to happen to me, with 3,000,000 howling citizens after me instead of one Jerome?"

"This storm? Why, it isn't anything new. The Lord knows it's the same old thing, due to a secondary development."

"The hoodoo has got his second wind. Put it that way and take some of the curse off me, won't you? If we could only switch the winds off on some other track!"

But the wind is east. And the rain comes down. And still the hoodoo holds the town.

"You'll excuse my breaking out that way, but, you know, they say poets are right on the line between genius and lunacy, and that's where I'm getting."

"As an incident, we have broken the rain records for May. They stretched back to 1871, and the greatest rainfall for any May was 4.53 inches. We passed that mark at 8 o'clock this morning and are booming along gloriously toward the flood records, B. C."

"The temperature is away off, too. It was 55 in my shop this morning, when by rights it should have been nearer 70. Folks better look out for pneumonia and sciatic rheumatism these days and keep on their winter underwear."

Mr. Emery looked badly. He hasn't slept much for several nights. His face was deeply lined and his hair tousled; his eyes had a hunted look, like you see nowadays in those of pool-room-keepers when they read about Justice Jerome's automobile.

New York business men are becoming somewhat resigned to life in a sunless city; they are ready to rent at a minute's notice just the same. The

No Work on Tunnel and Men's Demands Are Ignored by the Contractors.

Workers Indignant Threaten to Call-Out the Allied Trades and Precipitate a Giant Strike.

An ultimatum has been delivered to the tunnel contractors by the strikers. They have been notified that the men will not return to work until the agreement drawn up yesterday has been signed.

The strike leaders believe that they can get out the allied trades in sympathy if the contractors do not give way.

An upset proposition, signed by nine representatives of the various trades employed in tunnel work, was left with the tunnel sub-contractors today. The strike will continue until the sub-contractors sign it.

The delegation of workmen expected to meet Mr. McDonald when they called at his office at 10 A. M., but Mr. McDonald had sent down word that he would not be at his office today. The delegation remained in his office about two minutes, and after handing the

GETS $25,000 DAMAGES FOR HUSBAND'S DEATH.

Mrs. Hannah Sternfels was to-day awarded a verdict of $25,000 by a jury in Supreme Court in a joint suit against the Metropolitan Railroad and the Henry Elias Brewing Company. She sued for the loss of her husband's life, he being killed in a collision between a cable car and a brewery wagon. Her suit was for $50,000. This is the third award of big damages against the Metropolitan Railway during the past ten days. The verdicts aggregate $75,000.

HIGHWAY ROBBER GIVEN THIRTEEN YEARS.

Hugh Campbell, twenty-six years old, was sentenced to thirteen years in Sing Sing this afternoon by Recorder Goff. On April 9 Campbell held up John Mullain, of No. 19 Renwick street, at Grand and Sullivan streets, beat him over the head with brass knuckles and took $60 from him.

CHARGED BY FIRE MARSHAL WITH ARSON.

Jacob Sussman, of No. 85 Willett street, was arraigned before Magistrate Olmsted in the Essex Market Court, this afternoon on the complaint of Fire Marshal Peter Seery, who charges the man with arson. On May 26 the firemen were summoned to a fire in Sussman's grocery store at No. 65 Willett street. It is alleged that two fires were found in the place and that there was a smell of oil. Sussman was held in $1,500 bail for a further hearing.

RESULTS AT ST. LOUIS.

Third Race—Colonial Dame 1, Mr. Rose 2, Eva Moo 3.
Fourth Race—Zomine 1, Silver C 2, Chopin 3.

HAWTHORNE RESULTS.

Fourth Race—Silurian J, Duxona 2, Fancywood 3.

SOCIAL EVIL STIRS UP THE POLICE CHIEFS' POW-WOW.

Big Row Raised When a Discussion of the Subject Is Started by Supt. Deutsch.

There was an uproar at the Convention of the Chiefs of Police today when Philip Deusch, Superintendent of Police of Cincinnati, read a paper on the "Social Evil." When he reached a point where he said that any man who would accept money from vice was of the lowest order of men, and despised of all, there was a commotion among his hearers.

One man from the rear of the hall shouted out a motion that the rest of the paper be "spread on the minutes" and "be read."

"Right!" cried several others. Then Chief King, of St. Louis, arose, and amidst considerable excitement said: "There is no reason why we should not discuss this. What is the use of running around it?"

The motion to have the paper spread on the minutes was lost, and it seemed one to have it read was carried.

Some of the points made by Supt. Deutsch were:

1. Do not permit any woman who is an inmate of a house of ill-fame to solicit from windows, doors and upon the streets.
2. Insist upon the owner keeping a quiet and orderly place, permit no drunkenness, and not taking in minors.
3. If anybody is robbed in a house and the woman who keeps the place responsible.

Chief Williams then delivered to Deusch a package, the price value of which he said was $2,700. "This," said Chief Williams, "is $2,700 real money, but there is a string tied to it. It is Confederate money and I am afraid you cannot spend it."

Deputy Commissioner Devery took the joke good-naturedly. He said in response as he took the package: "I am satisfied. I guess the present is good one. The South will pay for it some time."

"I have been accused of getting money in all sorts of ways, but this is the easiest money I ever got. I'll try and save it."

Devery said, prefatory to his paper, that he hoped the next time the Convention met in New York it would be an international one, with representatives from all European and Asiatic countries.

"The title of Devery's paper was 'Following a Criminal.' It was read by Inspector Cross. Devery recommended that the best way to follow a criminal was to keep from the knowledge of the criminal the fact that he was being followed. He declared that the criminal should not be exactly followed; that should be encouraged about."

Chief A. H. Leslie, of Pittsburgh, presided. Just after calling the roll from his pocket and laid it on the table in front of him. He explained that he had no intention of using it, but that was uncomfortable in his pocket.

Chief Wiley Williams, of Jersey City, spoke of the criminal classes and difficulties in the way of dealing with them. He was opposed to the degree. Chief Sylvester, of Detroit, D. C. urged the importance of the national department of justice.