

SHAFFER SAYS TRY MEDIATION.

Steel Men Willing to Submit Claims, but Not to Arbitration—Wellsville Centre of Interest.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 18.—President Shaffer and three other members of the committee stated in their office this morning that they would leave for Wellsville after dinner.

NO COERCION, SAYS SHAFFER.

In many union mills where our scale prevails there are men who are not members of our organization.

FOSBURGS SHUDDER AT BLOOD-STAINED NIGHTGOWN

Dramatic Scene When the Garment of the Murdered Young Woman Was Produced in Court, Recalling the Mysterious Tragedy.

"The truth will prevail," said Fosburg to The Evening World correspondent. "There can be no result except my complete vindication. My trial on such a charge would be absurd if it were not tragic."

ROBERT S. FOSBURG.

(Special to The Evening World) PITTSFIELD, Mass., July 18.—Poor May Fosburg's nightgown was the most sensational exhibit to-day in the famous murder trial.

The state's junior attorney, John C. Crosby, permitted himself to be used as a model upon which to fit the garment, while Dr. Paddock pointed out to the jury the bullet holes and alleged powder stains.

The Fosburg contingent and their friends sat in a solid phalanx right in front of the jury box while the District Attorney was presenting his case.

Just in front of his mother sat the defendant. By her side sat his wife. The younger Mrs. Fosburg has golden hair and a bright, intelligent face.

Next to Mrs. Fosburg, Jr. sat the two younger sisters of the dead girl, Esther, age sixteen, and Beatrice, age thirteen.

Excitement in the Building. Before either of the men had recovered a dozen people had rushed into the room from other parts of the building.

Only a fragment of the box was found after the explosion. It contained what may be an important clue, however, the law.

MRS. ALLIEN GETS FARM AND HORSES.

In the eleventh section Mr. Lorillard provides for the residue of his estate, and after giving instructions to his executors as to investment, sales and conveyances, he concludes:

And after deducting therefrom all just charges and expenses incident to the management of my estate or chargeable thereto or thereon to pay from the date of my decease, to my wife, Emily T. Lorillard, during the term of her natural life, the sum of twenty-four thousand dollars per annum, and to my sister-in-law, Jane T. Judge, during the term of her natural life, the sum of $5,000 per

WOMAN SENT DYNAMITE TO BROOKLYN OFFICIAL.

(Continued from First Page.) the office in the Thomas Jefferson Building shortly before 9 o'clock this morning, and in a few minutes was joined by Kleitchka, who lives at No. 225 Clinton street.

Three other men are employed in the office, and they were expected in a few minutes. While Schroeder and Kleitchka were waiting for them the elevator boy, Gus Olesen, entered with a small, cylindrical package. It bore the address, in a fine handwriting, evidently that of a woman:

JOHN J. KLEITCHKA, Brooklyn Branch, Board of Public Improvements, Thomas Jefferson Building, Brooklyn.

Cylindrical in Shape. Kleitchka took the package from the boy, without any suspicion of its character, and examined the address. The box was made of thin wood and was cylindrical in shape, about four inches long and one and one-half inches in diameter.

Half an inch from this end was a groove, and Kleitchka, thinking it was a screw cap, tried to unscrew it. He twisted hard, but could not budge the cap.

"Let me have your knife," he said to Schroeder, who was standing at his side. Schroeder took out his knife and started to hand it to Kleitchka, when he stopped and said:

Terrific Explosion. Schroeder took the package from Kleitchka's hand and tried to pry it apart with the blade of his knife. The blade would not enter the groove and he tried another lightly defined groove.

Ignatius Devins, a clerk in the office of the New York Life Insurance Company, and who lives at No. 37 Sutton place, is worried over the disappearance of his wife, Marguerite Devins and her two children, Florence, three years old and Rose, nine months old. The mother is twenty-seven years old and quite handsome. She has been in the habit of taking the children out for an airing in one of the parks each morning.

She started out yesterday at 10 o'clock, she was seen by several people to pass up Sutton place to East Fifty-ninth street, and then to turn toward Central Park. There all trace of her is lost.

Lord Kitchener Reports Death of Both's Son.

LONDON, July 18.—Lord Kitchener, commanding the British forces in South Africa, reports to the War Office as follows: "ELANDSFONTEIN, July 18.—Capt. Charles Botha, son of Philip Botha, and Philip Cornelia Hummer and Oliver have been killed in the Orange River Colony."

WOMAN SHOT IN FIGHT.

Sarah Aray, colored, thirty-two years old, got into an altercation with Donald A. Breckinridge at No. 37 Washington square early to-day, and the man drew a pistol and shot her through the left breast, but it was not fatal.

The woman was taken to St. Vincent's Hospital and Donald held for examination in Jefferson Market Court.

SHOTS FOR THIEF STIR BROADWAY.

Two shots fired on Bond street, near Broadway and almost opposite the Broadway Central Hotel, set the pedestrians to scurrying to a block this morning, and then there followed a merry chase, with Detective Sergeant Crystal as the pursuer and James Wilson, a suspected thief, as the pursued.

The detective caught his man as he stumbled into a stairway in the hope of eluding the policeman.

For several weeks Wanamaker's shoe department has been mysteriously robbed, and Crystal was sent there to catch the thief.

This morning Wilson, a laborer employed in Wanamaker's, twenty-one years old, and living at No. 12 Bayview avenue, Jersey City, was seen walking out of the store with a big bundle under one arm and a valve in his hand.

Wilson was suspected, but stood still when the detective unrolled coil pairs of patent leather shoes worth $5 a pair.

Down Broadway to Bleeker they went and there Wilson, who still held his hat, swung it full in the face of the detective, at the same time screaming his.

The suspect was drawing away when the detective fired two shots in the air. Hundreds of people in the street rushed frantically for safe places and then joined in pursuit of the supposed thief.

Wilson stopped momentarily, but dashed off again, slipping when he doctored into an open doorway and being caught there.

MANY WOUNDED IN CREED RIOT.

SARAGOSSA, Spain, July 18.—Owing to the encounters between Catholics and Free Thinkers, in which Gen. Canvero, a Carlist, was killed and forty-five other persons were wounded, religious processions have been prohibited until the excitement subsides.

Over two hundred shots were fired in the course of the fighting yesterday. Of the forty-five persons wounded, twelve will probably die.

Suicide Botter Made Miss Lesser His Sole Heir. William Botter, a butcher, doing business at Tenth avenue and Forty-fifth street and Tenth avenue and Fifty-fourth street, committed suicide today at his home, No. 22 East Fifty-fifth street, by taking arsenic acid.

He left a letter to his sweetheart, Ray Lesser, of No. 162 Second avenue. He said he could not stand business worry, and he left all of his business and all his money to her.

Mrs. Lesser, mother of the suicide's sweetheart, said today that the man was too good-natured. He could not refuse to let any one he was even acquainted with take what if they did not have the money with them. The consequence was that money was owing to her.

COAL STRIKE END MAY COME SOON.

Mine Operators Helpless Against Disastrous Flooding of the Collieries.

WORKMEN AND OPERATORS LOSE $314,450 PER DAY BY STRIKE.

Table with 2 columns: Item and Amount. Firemen on strike 1,500; Daily wages 2,850; Coal-hoisting engineers idle 900; Daily wages 1,800; Mine workers idle 110,000; Average daily wages 1,600,000; Loss to operators daily 1,500,000; Boilers run by non-union and inexperienced men 3,120; Pumps shut down by the strike 480; Number of gallons they discharge every minute to the surface 163,500; Total capacity of all pumps, estimated, gallons per minute 300,000.

NO ONE HURT IN MINERS' FIGHT.

(Special to The Evening World) PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 18.—The mines rapidly filling with gaseous fumes, which threaten disastrous explosions, and volumes of water rushing into the workings from the Susquehanna River, the mine operators of the Pittston district of the mine region seem hopeless in their fight against the stationary firemen, and the end of the strike may be in sight.

The bold ultimatum of the officials issued yesterday has changed to a proposition of compromise. After forty-eight hours of incessant work in the fire-rooms, with a temperature of 160 degrees, the mine owners and their clerks have abandoned the plan to operate the collieries and to-day left the mines, many of them overcome.

"In forty-eight hours the mines will be in ruins," was the statement given out by one of the operators to-day. "We must get assistance from Philadelphia to-day or the strike will end."

The stationary engineers are in huge mass-meeting to-day demanding an order to join the strike movement.

BIG ROADS TAKE PART IN STRIKE.

(Special to The Evening World) WILKESBARRE, Pa., July 18.—The failure of several of the companies to get enough men to keep steam up for the pumps led to an effort to-day which may result in trouble between the United Mine-Workers and the striking firemen. The Delaware and Hudson Company is endeavoring to get men from the Scranton and Hazleton districts to work in their fire-rooms. The men from these districts being members of the United Mine-Workers' unions, the strikers expect the Mine-Workers' officials to keep them away.

There seems to be no attempt on the part of the officials to do this, however, and if the men come, and the company says they will, there will be considerable ill-feeling if not an actual attempt to force them from their places. The C. & D. Co. and some of the others are in desperate straits. Their mines are gradually filling with water.

The big coal carrying companies mean to prevent the smaller companies which have granted the request of the firemen from mining any coal. They have refused to let the strikers work at all, and they are affiliated to allow the small companies any cars.

The supply at the Clear Spring colliery has been cut off, and the Parrish Coal Company, which granted the request, has ordered the strikers to resume work this morning, but was obliged to rescind the order on speedy notification that the strikers would not work at all. The big companies have apparently combined to make a fight against the firemen, while the feeling of the industry is against them.

WALL STREET PLEASD.

J. P. Morgan's selection of the new Northern Pacific Directors seems to meet with general satisfaction in financial and railroad circles. There is much conjecture as to whose places the five new men will take.

It is understood that the Board as at present constituted will resign, but the seven representative men as Robert Bacon, George F. Baker, R. N. Dillard, J. W. Rensselaer, Daniel S. Lamont, Samuel Spencer, President Charles S. Mellen and James Stillman will be asked to withdraw their resignations.

Wise Picnickers GRAPE-NUTS

Ready Cooked, Delicious and Most Nutritious. In making up lunch for picnickers, some form of substantial food that cannot easily be injured in transit should be supplied, and the most ideal article for that purpose is Grape-Nuts. This food comes in a 16-cent package, is already thoroughly cooked and can be used either dry or with the addition of some milk or cream.

This Food is used by some epicures in frying fish, for it adds a delightful flavor and is naturally superior to the ordinary crumbed crackers or corn meal for this purpose. In addition to the convenience of Grape-Nuts Food, its high nutritive food value should not be lost sight of.

collieries increasing the wages of stationary firemen to $2.50 a week. This, with the 16 per cent. general increase of last fall, makes the wages of this class of men equal to $11 per week. The new rate went into effect on July 1.

Break in Strikers' Ranks. WILKESBARRE, Pa., July 18.—A break occurred to-day in the ranks of the strikers at Nanticoke. The Pennsylvania Coal Company started up two of its collieries and was able to hasten coal.
