

EVENING WORLD'S TROLLEY TRIP TO ROCKAWAY BEACH A HOLIDAY TREAT.

Excursion That Insures Pleasure Galore for a Total Fare of 30 Cents— Full Directions as to How to Go and What to Do.

SCENES ALONG THE TROLLEY ROUTE TO ROCKAWAY.

TO ROCKAWAY BEACH BY WAY OF TROLLEY.

Start at the Brooklyn Bridge and take either the Lexington avenue or Fulton street elevated trains marked "East New York Loop." At East New York these trains transfer free to the trolley line running to Jamaica. Fare to Jamaica five cents. The entire trip can be made by trolley by taking the Fulton street surface line at the bridge. The cost is the same. At Jamaica change to the Rockaway trolley line. The cost to Far Rockaway is 10 cents. There a free transfer is given for Rockaway Beach.

The Evening World's trolley trip this week starts at the Brooklyn Bridge and ends at Rockaway Beach, with opportunities to stop off at some of the prettiest little towns on Long Island, including Jamaica, Richmond Hill and Far Rockaway.

The cost of the round trip to the beach, either all the way by trolley or part way by the Brooklyn elevated road, is 30 cents. A great deal of time can be saved by taking the "L" to East New York, and that route is recommended.

The open cars that run from East New York to Jamaica are large and run at frequent intervals, and a considerable party of excursionists can thus remain in a body without the loss of much time.

The road runs through a pretty residential section, handsome cottages, well-kept lawns and fine floral displays alternating with picnic groves and good-sized woods.

And this part of Long Island, by the way, contains picnic grounds galore. Hardly a better place for picnics can be found within a short distance of New York.

Woodhaven, small but pretty, is the first little settlement on the road to Jamaica, and next is Richmond Hill.

Here's Commuterville. Here the New York excursionist can see how the real Brooklyn commuter lives. "The Hill" is not large, but the homes and grounds, with trees on both sides of the driveways, giving a delightful shade, will tempt many to stop for an hour's stroll.

Jamaica is only a brief run further, and every "trolleyist" should spend at least an hour there visiting a few of its historic spots. There is the public park, in the center of which stands the King mansion, a mammoth old Colonial structure that has Revolutionary history of which the local residents love to tell.

The old Grace churchyard is near-by, and scattered about are many quaint old tombstones placed there during the Revolutionary days.

The epitaphs on some of these old, crumbling stones can still be read. Then there are the soldiers' monument, Colonial Hall, the best preserved piece of Colonial architecture in this section of the country, and many other points of interest that the Jamaicaian will point out.

A New Boardwalk. Tiring of Jamaica, take a trolley that runs to Far Rockaway. The fare is ten cents. The road runs through a most picturesque country, occasional glimpses of the bay being had all the way down. A stroll through Far Rockaway will repay the excursionist. From there you can transfer free to the branch road that runs through Edgewater Avenue.

GARDEN DELICACIES TO BE CHEAP SOON.

Vegetable and fruits are showing slightly reduced prices in Washington market, and the indications are that the market garden in the vicinity of Manhattan will soon produce supplies in sufficient quantities to lower their market price.

KAISER WILHELM PRESENTS STATUE TO UNITED STATES.

WIESBADEN, Hesse-Nassau, May 16.—The German Emperor Wednesday, May 14, telegraphed as follows to the President of the United States, at Washington:

"I am still under the deep impression created by the splendid and cordial reception of my brother, Prince Henry, by the citizens of the United States of America. Frederick Friend of America.

"In the speeches with which he was greeted the fact was often mentioned that my ancestor, Frederick the Great, maintained a friendly attitude toward the young American Republic during the course of her formation, thereby laying the corner stone of the friendly relations which have always existed between our two countries.

"The example set to me by the great King I intend to follow. I wish to commemorate the visit of Prince Henry by a gift to the people of America, which I request you to accept in their name.

"I intend to present a statue in bronze of Frederick the Great to the United States, to be erected in Washington on a place which you will kindly choose. May this gift be looked upon as a lasting sign of the intimate relations which have been successfully fostered and developed between our two great nations. (Signed),

United States, to be erected in Washington on a place which you will kindly choose. May this gift be looked upon as a lasting sign of the intimate relations which have been successfully fostered and developed between our two great nations. (Signed),

"WILLIAM, I. R." President Thanks Kaiser. President Roosevelt sent a reply Thursday, May 15, in German, a translation of which is as follows:

"Washington, May 15. "Emperor William, Wiesbaden: I highly appreciate your grand, friendly offer. I thank you heartily therefore in the name of the United States. Will submit it immediately to Congress.

"It will no doubt be to the greatest pleasure of our people to receive from your hands a statue of the famous ruler and soldier, one of the greatest men of all times, Frederick the Great, and it is especially appropriate that the statue should be erected in the city of Washington, the capital of the Republic, upon the birth of which he looked with such friendly interest.

"For this new proof of your friendly feelings toward our country I thank you very much. Your gift will surely be considered here as a new evidence of the friendship existing between the two nations. We hope and believe that this friendship in the coming years will become still stronger. It is a hopeful sign for the welfare of all mankind that in the beginning of this century the American and German people are working together in a sense of happy friendship."

Simpson Crawford Co. The Men's and Boys' Clothing

Because of the extraordinary economies offered on the highest class goods; because of the great quantity represented, and because of the completeness of lots and the large number of nobby styles embraced. The balance of the season's stocks of three manufacturers is what you choose from, and the aggregation is such as rarely appears in a special sale, in fact few houses at any time offer equally as broad and choice selections. Choose from the season's best patterns in Worsteds, Cassimeres, Cheviots, Serges and Flannels.

BISHOP CHARGED TO STOP TORTURES.

A service was held in the Calvary Episcopal Church, Fourth avenue and Twenty-fifth street, today as a farewell to Right Rev. Dr. Charles H. Brent, the newly appointed Bishop to the Philippines, who sails for his diocese to-morrow.

Bishop Hall, of Vermont, who preached the sermon, said in the course of his remarks: "There is a deep question, which has been referred to in pulpits, in the public press and elsewhere—the question of the torture of the Filipinos by the American Army. Because these people are ignorant, it is no excuse that they should be tortured.

"It will be your duty while there to use your influence, and that of the great church which is behind you, to stop these practices which have brought the blush of shame to the cheeks of every true American patriot.

"You will inspire among the officers and soldiers of the American Army the spirit of justice and teach them that that is the best weapon of warfare."

BITTEN BY MAD DOG HE PATTED.

A little brown cur lay shivering on the ground in front of No. 112 Delancey street today. Policeman Cohen, of the Delancey street station, saw the dog and stopped.

He is a kind man, Cohen. Although the cur was frothing at the mouth and giving other evidences of hydrophobia, the policeman reached down and patted it on the head.

"Good little doggie," said Cohen. Whereupon the good little doggie made a quick snap with his sharp teeth and took away considerable of the kind policeman's thumb. With a yell, Cohen started for the nearest doctor.

Policeman Bond, of the Eldridge street station, came along. He is a kind man, too, but he doesn't care much about patting strange dogs on the head. So he drew his revolver and ruthlessly slew the good little doggie that had bitten his brother officer.

Children of the neighborhood fastened a rope around the body of the animal and dragged it through the streets. It was almost as much fun as playing around a dead horse.
