

32 PATIENTS CARRIED FROM HOSPITAL; FIRE NEXT DOOR.

Perfection of Fire Drill Exemplified at J. Hood Wright's—None Affected by Removal.

On account of a fire in a tenement-house next door to the J. Hood Wright Hospital it became necessary to remove the thirty-two patients in that institution this afternoon. Fortunately the flames did not reach the hospital buildings, but if they had, so well conducted was the fire drill of the physicians and nurses that none of the patients would have been injured. All of them were in places of safety within five minutes after the alarm was sounded.

The fire was on the second floor of the flat-house at No. 125 Amsterdam avenue. The windows of this apartment were open on the rear windows of the hospital. Before it was discovered the fire had gained considerable headway and smoke and flames were rolling across the narrow way between the hospital and the flat-house.

LATIMER IS DYING WITH MYSTERY UNSOLVED.

cause he is not there to take care of it. "His growing beard worries him and he raves about an imaginary barber, talks of going out for a walk and of writing checks to pay for purchases made in his business. "He raved violently all the morning and had to be restrained by two nurses."

of her husband in their home a week ago. "I am naturally a light sleeper," said Mr. McDonald, "and at about 2 o'clock Wednesday morning I awoke with a start to hear a woman's wild, piercing shriek of murder, almost under my window. Mrs. Latimer, in her night dress, was on the roof of her porch. "Then the police arrived. This account of the fact that the policemen had to get into the Latimer house through the cottage next door as Mrs. Latimer was on the roof, beside herself with grief, started the Latimer family through the window and open the door."

DR. MORRISON TELLS WHY HE BARS POLICE.

With a view of explaining his course in refusing to allow the police to question his patient, Albert Latimer, Dr. Robert J. Morrison made the following statement to The Evening World this afternoon: "In the beginning I want to say that I have nothing to conceal. I have not taken any stand not consistent in one holding the post of private physician. "Mr. Latimer's condition from the outset has been such as to require absolute quiet. To have annoyed him might have resulted fatally. There has not been and can be no scandal. Let the public deceive itself on this point. Mr. Latimer and his wife were a loving and devoted couple and there is nothing in their domestic life upon which to base any assumption of trouble. "I am convinced that the man who shot Mr. Latimer was a burglar who entered the house for burglarious purposes. There was a brief and preliminary struggle. Mr. Latimer, so far as I am concerned, had made his preparations to capture the burglar. He was shot while standing or walking between the cheffonier and the closet with his hand upraised. "Mrs. Latimer is where it is the right of any loving, devoted wife to be at the side of her husband, with her brothers-in-law, Byron and Walter, and her sister-in-law, Fanny Latimer. The condition of Mr. Latimer is now precarious. He is unable to make a statement. When he becomes rational a plea will be made to aid the police in getting Mr. Latimer's version of the shooting."

SAW MAN RUN AFTER LATIMER HAD BEEN SHOT.

For the first time since Mr. Latimer was shot witnesses have been found who saw a man running away after the shooting. These witnesses were found by Evening World reporters. Occupants of the house at No. 247 Halsey street, immediately back of the Latimer house, say they saw a man jump over several fences just after they were aroused by the screams and the shots. He ran into the back door of No. 257 Halsey street.

This house and two others adjoining are uncompleted houses and are unoccupied. Patrolmen No. 257 and 258 had left the front and rear basement doors open. In this way the man who did the shooting made his escape to Halsey street. Coroner Flaherty visited the hospital this afternoon and spent a moment in the room of the dying man. He made no effort to obtain an ante-mortem statement. Edward J. McDonald, a silk salesman for a big New York dry goods house, who lives at No. 310 Hancock street, Brooklyn, a few doors from the Latimer residence, told The Evening World today a graphic story of the Latimer's actions immediately after the shooting.

CHILDREN'S FAIR FOR SICK BABIES

Four Staten Island Girls Raise Money for the Evening World Fund.

The largest entertainment held thus far this season for the benefit of The Evening World's Sick Babies' Fund occurred on June 27 and 28 at West New Brighton, S. I. It was a fair, under the direction of Beatrice Eckstein, Martha Blake, Laura Steele and Bessie Kane, on the lawn between Taylor and Dongan streets. The proceeds were $26.35. This money means renewed health and happiness to many sick and suffering babies. The hot weather brings misery and sickness to hundreds of poor little tots and the money, whose loss you will sorely feel, may mean all the difference between health and illness for some poor baby. Benefits for the Evening World Sick Babies' Fund will be given at Fred Erbe's North Beach Casino July 15, at the Golden Horn Casino, Brooklyn, July 30; at Blank's Dancing Pavilion, Coney Island, July 26, and at Arverne Hotel, Arverne, L. I., Aug. 6. Contributions to the fund should be addressed to the Cashier of The World, Pulitzer Building, New York City. A Staten Island Fair.

Inclosed please find check for $30.35 proceeds of a fair held on June 27 and 28 at West New Brighton, S. I., under the management of Martha Blake, Laura Steele, Beatrice Eckstein, Bessie Kane. "For the Poor Sick Babies." Inclosed you will find $1 for the poor sick babies which I hope will benefit some poor little one. MARGARET SCHWITZER.

GUESTS TO SEE BLOSSOMS BURST.

Helen Gould's Watch Party to See a Night-Blooming Cereus in All Its Glory—Novel Social Function.

Miss Helen Gould will give a novel "watch party" at Lyndhurst, her country mansion at Irvington-on-the-Hudson, to-night. The occasion is the blossom bursting of the magnificent night-blooming cereus, which has been the marvel of Miss Gould's conservatory for several seasons, and will have one hundred and forty blossoms when all are unfolded. This is considered the finest specimen of the night-blooming cereus in this country. It put forth one hundred and ten blooms last summer, and Miss Gould's "watch party" was the unique hit of the season.
