

POOR FOX IS DEAD; ISIS IS IN TEARS

"The Janitor Picked Him Up and Frew Him Off the Roof," She Told Magistrate Hogan.

A little girl clad in a red frock in the Yorkville Court today told Magistrate Hogan of her last great sorrow.

She was picked up by her aunt, Mrs. Young, and behind the aunt was Agent Gay, of the Cruelty Society, who arrested Vlatie.

Little Isis looked hard at Max Vlatie, the janitor, who stood at the rail before the judge.

Magistrate Hogan put the child on the floor, and the dog was playing on the roof.

"Tell us just how it all happened," said Magistrate Hogan, putting the child's hand on her head.

"We was playing hide and seek. I was behind the chimney when the man came up and just frew poor Fox off. Isis had been with me for some time, but as the thought of Fox's terrible end came back to her she tried to all over and buried her face in her aunt's neck.

MILLIONAIRE LECTURED IN WIRE-TAPPING CASE.

Magistrate Tells McCarthy, of Tennessee, that All Are Equally Guilty Who Join in Shady Scheme.

Charles J. Toppin

John T. McCarthy

Charles J. Toppin, of No. 112 West Nineteenth street, charged with swindling J. T. McCarthy, the Ashland, Tenn. mine owner, out of $1,100, was discharged from custody by Magistrate Barlow in the Jefferson Market Court today.

The proceedings in court were brief. Somebody said that the mine owner had got back his money, or at least a good part of it, and was satisfied with the disposition of the case. Lawyer Emanuel Friend appeared for the defendant. McCarthy claimed that Toppin, representing himself as a Western Union lineman, assured him that he could tap the wires from the race track and get news of the races fifteen minutes before the results reached the pool-rooms. The mine-owner, he said, within an hour had lost $1,100. He then caused Toppin's arrest. Magistrate Barlow regarded the mine-owner severely as he said: "I regard the mine owner's entry into an illegitimate scheme to make money just as guilty as the man who proposes such a scheme. He should have no redress. Both are equally guilty. I discharge the prisoner."

McCarthy, the millionaire, he denied today that he was an intimate acquaintance of John W. Gates, as reported. The demand for the hats is so great that President Haines is anxious to receive contributions to the fund from the general public.

1,000 HORSES GET STRAW HATS FREE

President Haines, of Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, and His Assistants Kept Busy for Two Hours.

The story in The Evening World, announcing that President Haines had 1,000 straw hats to give away to runaway horses, brought hundreds of drivers to the Society's building at Twenty-sixth street, was blocked by vehicles of all kinds. At 12 o'clock the last pink-ribboned Panama went rattling down the avenue over the eyes of a post-hall cab horse.

A thousand hats were given away, and hundreds of drivers in the crowd that was still waiting were told that another supply could not be obtained by the Society until to-morrow or perhaps Monday, when there will be another thousand or two ready for delivery.

All the horses took to their new adornment readily. Of the thousand lucky ones not a horse showed restlessness or dissatisfaction when the ribbons were tied under its chin.

The greatest number of hats given out were of the India Panama variety and weighed less than three ounces each.

The demand for the hats is so great that President Haines is anxious to receive contributions to the fund from the general public.

SCION OF THE BISMARCKS ADMITS THEFT IN COURT.

Prisoner Declares He Is a Grand-Nephew of Iron Chancellor and Stole to Get Food.

Karl Von Bismarck, a handsome young German, who says he is a grand-nephew of the late Prince Bismarck, Chancellor of the German Empire, is a prisoner in the Tombs. His offense was the larceny of a piece of tapestry, which he admits he stole to get money for food.

Although sadly in need, he says, he was too proud to write home to his noble brothers, one of whom is the presiding judge in the District Court of Wiesbaden.

Young Bismarck was so frank and told Judge Newburger in Part I. of the Court of General Sessions such a plausible story that the Judge directed a plea of "not guilty" to be entered and appointed counsel for the youth, with the idea of proving his story and sending him home to Germany.

"I am twenty-two years old," said the prisoner, "my father was a nephew of the great Bismarck and was German Consul in Peking, Amoy and Tientsin. I was born in Peking a month after his death in 1879. He had served in the German diplomatic service in China since 1856.

"He left a widow and three sons. My mother returned to our family estate at Wiesbaden and died there a short time ago. My eldest brother is now president of the district court there and my second brother represents our country in the Chinese custom-house at Peking.

"I have always wanted to be a soldier, and a year ago, hearing that there was a good opportunity for young men in the American army in the Philippines, I came to this country, but for some reason, which was not explained to me, I was not allowed to enlist.

"Not being able to speak English I had a hard time to get employment. Finally I worked as a baker and was last employed in Cushman's bakery, at No. 903 Third avenue. I worked there for eight weeks when I lost my situation and was utterly without means.

"I took the tapestry from the office of Mr. John Montford, at No. 11 East Fifty-ninth street, and pawned it in a Third avenue loan shop. I was arrested on June 28.

"I had to have food, and both of my parents being dead, I was too proud to write home to my brothers to support me."

Judge Newburger appointed Attorney Mitnick and ordered a plea of "not guilty" entered. He instructed the lawyer to see the German Consul and learn if the story told by the prisoner was correct. If it proves to be the truth an effort will be made to send the young man back to Germany.

The chief's suspension. It was nearly 2 A. M. to-day when the vote was in session since 8 o'clock last evening. The chief's suspension was a result of the outbreak of the striking dyers' helpers. Mayor Hines failed to lead his men against the rioters and had not even put on his uniform and command him to put on his uniform and command his men, and that the chief replied that he was sick.

A letter written by Dr. Thomas L. Paton was offered in the chief's defense. It certified that on the day of the riot the chief was sick and unfit for duty.

There were twenty-one Aldermen present at the session, and all voted for the chief's reinstatement immediately after the closing of the evidence.

THREE WENT DOWN WITH THE LAUNCH.

Craft Capsized Near Long Beach and Occupants Drowned—Body of One Victim Recovered.

FREEPORT, L. I., July 11.—Three persons were drowned off Point Lookout, near Long Beach, by the capsizing of a launch. The little craft was hit by a wave and overturned and the occupants drowned before aid reached them.

The body of one of the victims has been recovered, but not identified, and nothing concerning the party has yet been learned by the Coroner here, who is making an investigation.

Those drowned were men and the only persons in the craft, which was sighted by a number of guests of Denton's Hotel, on Point Lookout, at 10 o'clock.

The men were evidently unaware of the whereabouts of the channel. Shortly after passing the outer bar an immense wave caught the launch on her port beam, partly filling the launch and extinguishing her fire. Before the launch's nose could be headed to the waves three immense waves struck her in quick succession overturning her and sinking her in a few seconds.

The occupants managed to keep afloat a little while, but could not battle the heavy waves and disappeared. The hotel guests were unable to do anything to aid them, as the point where the launch capsized was a considerable distance away.

Paymen who are dredging for the bodies brought up one this forenoon. A throng of summer visitors are watching them.

It is reported that a ship, whose name cannot be learned, was also capsized early to-day while entering the inlet and the man sailing her was drowned. Owing to the changing of the inlet the buoys placed there some years ago are now in shoal water and dangerous.

Killed by Train. Joseph Barthlow, a laborer, twenty-two years old, of No. 51 East One Hundred and Fifty-fourth street, was struck by a train while crossing the New York Central Railroad track at One Hundred and Fifty-second street and Railroad avenue. He was instantly killed and was taken to the station and the Coroner notified.

CHIEF GRAUL AGAIN COMMANDS POLICE

Paterson Aldermen Reinstate Official Who Was Suspended by Mayor During the Strike Riots.

PATERSON, N. J., July 11.—By a unanimous vote of the Board of Aldermen Chief of Police Frederick G. Graul, who was suspended by Mayor Hitchcock for alleged neglect of duty, has been reinstated with full pay for the time of his suspension.

It was nearly 2 A. M. to-day when the vote was in session since 8 o'clock last evening. The chief's suspension was a result of the outbreak of the striking dyers' helpers. Mayor Hines failed to lead his men against the rioters and had not even put on his uniform and command him to put on his uniform and command his men, and that the chief replied that he was sick.
