

C. W. JORDAN'S SUCCESS ENDS IN HIS SUICIDE.

Father Left Him Fortune and Big Business; Son Went to Many Excesses.

DRANK HEAVILY OF LATE.

Wife Had to Leave Him and Go to Her Parents, and His Mother Is Prostrated by His Death.

George Waldo Jordan, proprietor of the George W. Jordan Steam Carpet-Cleaning Works, and living until recently with his wife at No. 238 West Twenty-first street, was found dead in his bed in the Herald Square Hotel to-day.

Jordan's father, W. H. Jordan, died a year ago and left most of the large fortune he had made in the carpet-cleaning business to his son. He also left him the business. To his wife, the suicide's mother, who is living at No. 119 West Eighty-third street, he left that house, which is an exceptionally valuable piece of property, besides an annuity sufficient to maintain her as long as she lived.

Prosperity Ruined Him. Those who knew him say that prosperity ruined the son. He is said to have gone to many excesses during the year. His wife returned to her home in Baltimore and his mother became sick from worry, and she is now prostrated by the news of his suicide.

The letters, which were unsealed and on the dresser, were dated July 31. One of them read:

"He who dieth for his country is a hero; But he who dieth for his family's sake is a greater hero."

Another note read:

"Notify S. M. Hook & Son, No. 710 Eighth avenue, New York. Telephone No. 500 Thirty-eighth street."

And also Arcadia Lodge No. 724, E. & A. M. GEORGE WALDO JORDAN."

"Notify Wife and Mother."

The third note was:

"To Whom It May Concern: If any one should find me dead, kindly notify my wife, Mrs. George W. Jordan, No. 1965 Milton avenue, Baltimore; also Mrs. W. H. Jordan, No. 119 West Eighty-third street. GEORGE W. JORDAN."

RUMOR THAT J. P. MORGAN WILL RETIRE.

Report that the Great Financier Will Soon Relinquish Control of Vast Interests.

HEALTH SAID TO BE POOR.

Story Which Comes Via Cleveland Says George W. Perkins Has Been Chosen to Succeed Morgan.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 1.—A New York despatch received here to-day says: "Wall street is discussing a rumor that J. Pierpont Morgan is to retire from the management of the vast interests in his hands, and that formal announcement of his retirement will be made when he returns from Europe. Financiers say that private information regarding Morgan's health gives much color to the rumor."

"So definite is the story that it gives the name of George W. Perkins as the man who is to succeed Morgan in directing the affairs of the million and billion dollar aggregations controlled by the big banker."

Morgan's continued stay in Europe, his repeated visits to famous physicians and health resorts, all lend color to the story of falling health. The tremendous strain of recent years has worn out the great trust promoter, and he finds himself at a point where further work is impossible. It is said that Mr. Morgan will retain an advisory connection.

WILLIAM J. BRYAN IS HERE.

Democratic Leader Arrives After Sojourn on Lewis Nixon's Yacht.

William Jennings Bryan arrived in this city to-day from New Haven, where he had left Lewis Nixon's yacht, on which he had been a guest. Mr. Bryan drove to the Victoria Hotel.

Two or three personal friends visited him at the hotel, and then Mr. Bryan went out. Several politicians, among them Congressman Sulzer, called at the hotel and will see Mr. Bryan later in the day.

Mr. Bryan is accompanied by his daughter, Ruth, and they spent the morning at the residence of Mr. Bryan, at Burlington, N. J., as the guest of Thomas C. Birch, and to-morrow he goes to Mountain Lake Park, Md., where he will deliver a speech.

GIANTS LOSE FIRST GAME TO ST. LOUIS.

Errors by New Yorkers Gave Victory to Donovan's Men — With Mathewson in the Box for Second Half of the Double Header Giants Begin with a Rush, Scoring Three Runs in First Two Innings.

(Special to The Evening World.) POLO GROUNDS, Aug. 1.—If Patsy Donovan ever wishes to change his vocation he would make a fine character actor in a production of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde." He played the part this afternoon and such critics as Fred Knowles and "Pop" Bell said he was grand.

It was just 12:30 o'clock. The Hon. P. D. stood on the club-house porch viewing the heavens. Heavy rain clouds hovered about. A smile spread over Patsy's face. The rain began falling and Patsy rubbed his hands gleefully and laughed out loud. Folks who were standing out at the grounds gates heard him, so loud was he in his expression of goodwill.

Everybody was his friend, and the way he heaped compliments on the New York weather man must have made that individual's right ear tingle.

Shy on Pitchers. That was all because Patsy didn't like the idea of playing two games this afternoon. Ordinarily too many games cannot be played to suit the St. Louis team's chief. The more the merrier is his motto. But this time found him short on pitchers, and who to work against the Giants in a double-header was a problem to him. One could almost see gray hairs budding in his head as he pondered over the question.

Still more trying was it when he thought of the double-header that his boys have to play in Boston to-morrow.

Patsy's work has been successful in the fellow's enactment of the Dr. Hyde role. The sky, which a half hour before had been littered with clouds, now took on a blue tinge. The sun began to beam down on Patsy as he stood on the club-house porch. Then he grew hysterical. He was in a high excitement, and now and then could be heard smoky descriptions of everybody in general and the weather man in particular.

That fellow's left ear must have been experiencing that tingling sensation.

Rain Did No Harm. But luck was against Patsy and his tribe. The few drops of rain which fell did not undo the fine condition of the diamond.

The Giants sauntered out on it bright and early. They did not mornick work and had to loosen their batting eyes that they might prove double winners before the sun sank into the western horizon or behind some of the clouds which still lingered above.

Big Crowd Came Early. New York's baseball public cannot get too much of the real kind of baseball.

TWO YOUNG GIRLS ARE MISSING.

The police have been asked to look for Emma Young, fifteen years old, of No. 807 East One Hundred and Forty-seventh street, and Dora Gostler, of No. 3048 Third avenue, who have been missing from their homes since Monday. They worked in a department store at One Hundred and Fifth street and Third avenue and disappeared after the Young girl had received her salary, $3.50. The girls went to Peekskill, where they remained until Wednesday night, when they returned to this city. All trace of them has been lost.

COURT-MARTIAL FOR PAYMASTER.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—An order was issued by the Navy Department to-day for the trial by court-martial of Past Assistant Paymaster Charles W. Penrose, attached to the Michigan. The officer is charged with rendering false and fraudulent returns of balances to his credit, embezzlement, scandalous conduct, absence from station and duty and negligence in obeying orders. The shortage in balance is said to amount to about $306.

TRIED TO TAKE THE RABBI'S WATCH.

While Rabbi Wolf Edelstein, of No. 76 Eldridge street, was watching a street fracas at Broome and Orchard streets this afternoon, he felt a tug at his watch-chain. Turning quickly, he grabbed a boy and held him. Policeman Whitman arrested the boy and took him to Essex Market Court. There he gave the name of Morris Goldstein, seventeen, of No. 56 Hester street, and was held in $1,000 for examination to-morrow.

BEATEN AND ROBBED BY TRAMPS.

CAMDEN, N. J., Aug. 1.—William Whittier, well-known here, was found unconscious several miles out in the suburbs. When he returned to consciousness he told how a gang of tramps had beaten and robbed him. Whittier's jewelry, money and clothing were taken.

POLICE INSPECTOR CROSS, CHARGED WITH ORDERING THE BEATING OF JEWS, HASTILY TRANSFERRED TO THE BRONX.

Commissioner Partridge's Former Right-Hand Man Star Victim of a Sensational Shake-Up--McLaughlin and Grant Shifted.

Police Inspector Cross, friend of Devery and until to-day Partridge's right-hand man, got two knockout blows to-day.

Right after the charges that he had ordered the clubbing of mourners during the funeral of Rabbi Joseph came his sudden transfer to the Bronx.

Inspectors McLaughlin and Grant were also shifted. The Coney Island Commander was sent to Flatbush and 106 Detectives-Sergeants promoted by Murphy were reduced to the ranks.

Cross's transfer was decided on, it was announced, before the east-side riots, but he now faces grave trouble on account of them.

These are the transfers that were ordered by the Commissioner. INSPECTOR ADAM CROSS, transferred to the borough of the Bronx, among the goats and the pumas.

INSPECTOR WM. W. M'LAUGHLIN, transferred from the borough of the Bronx to the Seventh Inspection District, which takes in the "Red Light" section of South Brooklyn.

INSPECTOR DONALD GRANT, transferred from South Brooklyn to the inspection district vacated by Inspector Cross.

Change at Coney Island. CAPT. DRISCOLL, transferred from Coney Island to Flatbush.

CAPT. KNIFE, transferred from Flatbush to Coney Island.

ONE HUNDRED AND SIX DETECTIVE-SERGEANTS, appointed by former Commissioner Michael C. Murphy, reduced to the rank of patrolman.

THREE DETECTIVE-SERGEANTS reduced to the rank of roundsman.

Detective Bureau of the Borough of Queens abolished.

Headquarters squad of the Borough of Manhattan abolished.

Twenty-two patrolmen transferred from Manhattan to Brooklyn.

Salaries to the amount of $97,800 saved by reduction of detective-sergeants.

This is the biggest shake-up Col. Partridge has made since he took charge of the department, and in some respects the most surprising. It was known that the detective-sergeants were to be reduced, but nobody had any idea that the inspectors were to be disturbed.

Most surprising of all the changes and the one that will cause unlimited comment in the Police Department is the practical humiliation of Inspector Cross.

Hard Blow to Cross. It is taken as an indication that Commissioner Partridge has thrown Devery's friend overboard. Inspector Cross in his career in the Police Department, has always had the most important assignments.

McLaughlin May Retire. There is a rumor current in Police Headquarters that Inspector McLaughlin will retire. He has a home in the borough of the Bronx, owns lots of property there and has never served in Brooklyn. His friends do not believe that he will take up the arduous work of looking after the South Brooklyn inspection district.

Ex-Capt. Price was in the corridors of the Headquarters building when news of the shake-up was given out. He was taking his final leave of his friends. "Thank God," he exclaimed, "I'm off the force."

In announcing the transfers Commissioner Partridge was careful to say that the shifting of Inspector Cross was not influenced in any way by the riot at the funeral of Rabbi Joseph. He had decided to transfer Cross the day before the funeral, he says.

FULL LIST OF WITNESSES AND PERSONS HURT IN RIOT.

Secretary Louis Grosner, of the Complaint Bureau, at No. 414 Grand street, has compiled the following list of witnesses and persons hurt in the funeral riot on Wednesday:

- MR. KAPLAN, No. 48 Grand street; drenched with water while in carriage.
- L. DEBAUM, No. 311 East Broadway; has in his pocket a stick and pieces which was thrown from factory window.

HEBREWS ACCUSE CROSS OF ORDERING USE OF CLUBS

Formal charges against Inspector Cross and Roundsman Jackson were made to-day by Police Commissioner Partridge by a delegation of leading east side citizens.

They assert that Inspector Cross lost his head and say they will submit affidavits that he ordered the police to club the people.

The committee consisted of Abraham D. Levy, counsel; City Marshal A. Levine, who was chairman of last night's meeting; Louis Grosner and Gustav Wacht.

With them was Harris Rosebloom, of No. 20 Broome street, who claims to have been severely clubbed by Roundsman Jackson, of the Delancey Street Station. His head was covered with bandages and except for small holes for him to look through his face could not be seen.

Two witnesses to the assault on Rosebloom were taken to Headquarters by the committee—V. Epstein, of No. 252 Cherry street, who witnessed the assault, and Henry Serels, of No. 236 Monroe street, an employee of the Hoe Company, who the committee say is the only Hebrew employed by that firm.

Hoe Employee's Statement. Henry Serels is in charge of the screw-making machines on the fourth floor of the Hoe factory.

He told Commissioner Partridge that he expected to lose his place with the Hoe Company for giving testimony, but that he believed the conditions were such that something ought to be done, and that he was willing to sacrifice himself.

"It has been the practice of the Hoe Company on each Saturday afternoon," declared Serels, "to throw pieces of cotton waste, banana skins and other refuse down upon the Jewish people as they were on their way to worship in the various synagogues. The people have come to know of this practice so well that few of them will walk on that side of the street on a Saturday afternoon."

"This annoyance is not confined to Saturday afternoons, but to almost any day that there is a crowd upon the streets. I think something ought to be done about it, and for that reason I have volunteered to give my testimony."

Formal Charges Filed. After the conference with Commissioner Partridge adjournment was taken until 2:30, and the members of the committee were shown into the office of Inspector Brooks, where formal charges were drawn up against Roundsman Jackson and Patrolman McGann, of the Delancey street station.

A search was begun by Inspector Brooks to ascertain the names of policemen having badge numbers "77," "404" and "2137," against whom charges will be preferred as soon as their names are known.

The committee will make charges against other patrolmen within the next few days.

Commissioner Partridge sent for Capt. Albertson, of Delancey street Station. He was told by Commissioner Partridge to make a thorough investigation. He was present while the charges were being drawn up against the men in his precinct.

The charges against Inspector Cross will be formally drawn up and filed to-day or to-morrow, as the committee asked for time to submit affidavits in his case.

No Clubbing, Says Cross. Inspector Adam Cross was at Headquarters and enters a general denial to all the charges against him.

"No clubs were drawn by the police and I can bring witnesses to prove everything I say. I don't know how those people got their heads cut, but I do know that no clubs were drawn by the police."

Worse Than in Russia. Abraham Cahlan, of the Committee, made the following statement to The Evening World to-day:

"Our people went to the funeral of Rabbi Joseph not to fight, but to pray, and the statement of Inspector Cross that he had ordered the police to club the Jews is absolutely untrue."

"During and since the most riots of the east side the men and women have been brutally clubbed by the police. Since the heated spell the Jews have felt upon the presence of police officers they are clubbed off the benches and ordered out of the parks, where they go for a little fresh air. It is even larger taken a peculiar dislike to these people and let no opportunity escape to brutally treat them."

"The Jewish community on the east side is the largest Jewish settlement in the world. It is bounded on the north by Tenth street, on the east by the river, on the south by Henry street and on the west by the East River. It is even larger than the Jewish settlements of Warsaw and Wilna."

The attack during the funeral of Rabbi Joseph from the Hoe Company's factory was because the young men and boys there are typical young Americans, having had the advantages of a public education. Their treatment of the Jewish people is even worse than that of the Russian vanguard who has not the advantages of an education.

Baroness to Preside. Joseph Baroness will preside at the monster mass meeting to be held to-night. Other speakers will be Louis Miller, Abraham Cahlan, Rev. Dr. Selig, the leader of the Zionist movement, and Jacob Schiff.

The committee having charge of the mass-meeting has received a number of letters of sympathy from all classes of citizens, who denounced the treatment of the Hebrew by the police.

At the committee's meeting last Wednesday the room was filled all day with from forty to thirty witnesses making affidavits. The law committee, presided over by Alexander Rosenthal, will hold a meeting to-day to arrange to certify the affidavits they have received.

Robert Hoe's Statement. Mr. Robert Hoe, when shown the affidavits sworn to by his former employee Serels, made the following statement:

"This man was employed in the screw and bolt department of the Hoe factory, the disturbance he had with other employees in that department signed a statement to the effect that he had been thrown from the windows of his department. Either he lied then, or he is lying now."

Five Horses Finish Heads Apart in Second Race, Ivernia, 20 to 1, Winning.

(Special to The Evening World.) BRIGHTON BEACH RACE TRACK, Aug. 1.—This was the last day but one of the Brighton meeting, the most successful financially of any ever given at the seaside course. Each year it grows in the public estimation, and the attendance never varies as at the other tracks.

The card to-day was very ordinary. There were no stakes and quality was lacking. The best horses, however, had an excuse for their non-appearance, for most of them are engaged in the Brighton Derby and the Brighton Junior, two rich stakes to be raced for to-morrow.

The weather was pleasant, the track fast and conditions ideal for the sport. The attendance was large.

Many bookmakers are going to stay on at Brighton for the trotting meeting, which presents many novel features and will afford plenty of speculation.

BALDWIN BACK FROM THE ARCTIC.

Year's Work Successful and Preparations Made for a Polar Dash Next Year—Nansen's Hut Found.

HONNINGVAAG, Norway, Aug. 1.

—Evelyn B. Baldwin, the Arctic explorer, arrived here to-day. He reported all his men in good health and said: "We have been baffled, but not beaten."

Mr. Baldwin continued as follows: "The year's work has been successful in that enormous depots of condensed food have been established by means of sledges, one in Rudolf Land, within sight of the Italian expedition headquarters, another in latitude 81 degrees 3 minutes, and a third at Kane Lodge, Greely Island."

"These depots, together with houses and stores, left at Camp Ziegler, will form the means for a large Polar dash in 1903."

"The breaking up of ice early in June compelled the use of reserve supplies, hence the departure from Camp Ziegler on July 1 in order not to imperil the expedition."

"I discovered Nansen's hut, recovering original documents and securing paintings of the hut."

"In the field work thirty men, twenty-three ponies, sixty sledges and six dogs were employed from Jan. 21 to May 21 and this severe work resulted in the destruction of sledges and the portion of the food for ponies and dogs thus reverting our return imperative."

Mr. Baldwin sailed for Varsovie, Norway, on July 30, 1901. An auxiliary expedition started from Varsovie on July 1, 1902, under command of William B. Champ to join him.
