

WIFE CONFESSES GUILT AND DIES.

Mrs. Grau Obtains Forgiveness for Her Mad Infatuation, Kisses Husband Good-by and Then Commits Suicide.

FORTUNE TELLER SAW HER.

Husband Pardoned Her Wrong for Children's Sake, and Told Her Not to Worry—Came Near Killing Others with Escaping Gas.

Confessing her mad infatuation for a street-car conductor, Mrs. Frances Grau, of No. 624 East One Hundred and Fifty-third street, told her husband of her infatuation, kissed him an affectionate good-by, caressed the children as she sent them from the house and when alone turned the gas on and killed herself.

"I had forgiven her," said Grau today, "for the sake of the children. When I left the house she was very affectionate and asked if I was sure I had forgiven her. I told her not to worry about it any more and to let the incident pass from her mind. When she sent the children to school she was unusually affectionate and the oldest one, Frances, thirteen years old, cried and believed that something awful was pending."

"When we lived on One Hundred and Fiftieth street," Grau continued, "a street-car conductor boarded with us and after a while I became suspicious and ordered him from the house. Last week I discovered that my wife was leaving her home in the morning and spending the day with this man. I accused her and she confessed. I forgave her and tried to forget about it. We were very happy Sunday and Monday. A fortune-teller called upon her Monday and told her fortune. What she told her I do not know, but it probably had a bad effect on her."

In taking her own life Mrs. Grau came near killing several other persons in the flat building. A man on the top floor smoked gas and went to the floor below. That flat is occupied by Mrs. Alice Banks. Finding the door open he entered and found Mrs. Banks overcome in her bedroom. Had she been discovered an hour later she might have been dead.

The investigation was continued by the man until he reached the Grau flat on the first floor. The doors were locked and he was jamming on them when little Frances returned and opened the door with her key. In the bedroom they found Mrs. Grau dead, sitting on a chair with a rubber tube stretching from a gas jet to her mouth.

Besides Mrs. Banks there were other persons in the building who felt the effect of the gas.

"Volunteers of America."

Brig-Gen. Fielding says: "Orange juice much for our soldiers to obtain exposure, dispel mists, headache and fatigue."

WIDOW'S DAUGHTER MAY HAVE ELOPED.

Mary Mertz, Engaged to Aged Employer, May Have "Gone with a Handsomer Man."

FORTUNE TELLER SAW HER.

Husband Pardoned Her Wrong for Children's Sake, and Told Her Not to Worry—Came Near Killing Others with Escaping Gas.

Confessing her mad infatuation for a street-car conductor, Mrs. Frances Grau, of No. 624 East One Hundred and Fifty-third street, told her husband of her infatuation, kissed him an affectionate good-by, caressed the children as she sent them from the house and when alone turned the gas on and killed herself.

"I had forgiven her," said Grau today, "for the sake of the children. When I left the house she was very affectionate and asked if I was sure I had forgiven her. I told her not to worry about it any more and to let the incident pass from her mind. When she sent the children to school she was unusually affectionate and the oldest one, Frances, thirteen years old, cried and believed that something awful was pending."

"When we lived on One Hundred and Fiftieth street," Grau continued, "a street-car conductor boarded with us and after a while I became suspicious and ordered him from the house. Last week I discovered that my wife was leaving her home in the morning and spending the day with this man. I accused her and she confessed. I forgave her and tried to forget about it. We were very happy Sunday and Monday. A fortune-teller called upon her Monday and told her fortune. What she told her I do not know, but it probably had a bad effect on her."

In taking her own life Mrs. Grau came near killing several other persons in the flat building. A man on the top floor smoked gas and went to the floor below. That flat is occupied by Mrs. Alice Banks. Finding the door open he entered and found Mrs. Banks overcome in her bedroom. Had she been discovered an hour later she might have been dead.

The investigation was continued by the man until he reached the Grau flat on the first floor. The doors were locked and he was jamming on them when little Frances returned and opened the door with her key. In the bedroom they found Mrs. Grau dead, sitting on a chair with a rubber tube stretching from a gas jet to her mouth.

Besides Mrs. Banks there were other persons in the building who felt the effect of the gas.

"Volunteers of America."

Brig-Gen. Fielding says: "Orange juice much for our soldiers to obtain exposure, dispel mists, headache and fatigue."

BOY STARVES AS HE SEEKS FATHER.

He Ran Away from Brooklyn Orphanage and Is Found Lying Exhausted in Street.

FORTUNE TELLER SAW HER.

Husband Pardoned Her Wrong for Children's Sake, and Told Her Not to Worry—Came Near Killing Others with Escaping Gas.

Confessing her mad infatuation for a street-car conductor, Mrs. Frances Grau, of No. 624 East One Hundred and Fifty-third street, told her husband of her infatuation, kissed him an affectionate good-by, caressed the children as she sent them from the house and when alone turned the gas on and killed herself.

"I had forgiven her," said Grau today, "for the sake of the children. When I left the house she was very affectionate and asked if I was sure I had forgiven her. I told her not to worry about it any more and to let the incident pass from her mind. When she sent the children to school she was unusually affectionate and the oldest one, Frances, thirteen years old, cried and believed that something awful was pending."

"When we lived on One Hundred and Fiftieth street," Grau continued, "a street-car conductor boarded with us and after a while I became suspicious and ordered him from the house. Last week I discovered that my wife was leaving her home in the morning and spending the day with this man. I accused her and she confessed. I forgave her and tried to forget about it. We were very happy Sunday and Monday. A fortune-teller called upon her Monday and told her fortune. What she told her I do not know, but it probably had a bad effect on her."

In taking her own life Mrs. Grau came near killing several other persons in the flat building. A man on the top floor smoked gas and went to the floor below. That flat is occupied by Mrs. Alice Banks. Finding the door open he entered and found Mrs. Banks overcome in her bedroom. Had she been discovered an hour later she might have been dead.

The investigation was continued by the man until he reached the Grau flat on the first floor. The doors were locked and he was jamming on them when little Frances returned and opened the door with her key. In the bedroom they found Mrs. Grau dead, sitting on a chair with a rubber tube stretching from a gas jet to her mouth.

Besides Mrs. Banks there were other persons in the building who felt the effect of the gas.

"Volunteers of America."

Brig-Gen. Fielding says: "Orange juice much for our soldiers to obtain exposure, dispel mists, headache and fatigue."

Bright's Disease and Kidney Trouble

Of Long Standing Cured by Warner's Safe Cure—Many Cases Investigated and Found to Be Completely Cured.

FORTUNE TELLER SAW HER.

Husband Pardoned Her Wrong for Children's Sake, and Told Her Not to Worry—Came Near Killing Others with Escaping Gas.

Confessing her mad infatuation for a street-car conductor, Mrs. Frances Grau, of No. 624 East One Hundred and Fifty-third street, told her husband of her infatuation, kissed him an affectionate good-by, caressed the children as she sent them from the house and when alone turned the gas on and killed herself.

"I had forgiven her," said Grau today, "for the sake of the children. When I left the house she was very affectionate and asked if I was sure I had forgiven her. I told her not to worry about it any more and to let the incident pass from her mind. When she sent the children to school she was unusually affectionate and the oldest one, Frances, thirteen years old, cried and believed that something awful was pending."

"When we lived on One Hundred and Fiftieth street," Grau continued, "a street-car conductor boarded with us and after a while I became suspicious and ordered him from the house. Last week I discovered that my wife was leaving her home in the morning and spending the day with this man. I accused her and she confessed. I forgave her and tried to forget about it. We were very happy Sunday and Monday. A fortune-teller called upon her Monday and told her fortune. What she told her I do not know, but it probably had a bad effect on her."

In taking her own life Mrs. Grau came near killing several other persons in the flat building. A man on the top floor smoked gas and went to the floor below. That flat is occupied by Mrs. Alice Banks. Finding the door open he entered and found Mrs. Banks overcome in her bedroom. Had she been discovered an hour later she might have been dead.

The investigation was continued by the man until he reached the Grau flat on the first floor. The doors were locked and he was jamming on them when little Frances returned and opened the door with her key. In the bedroom they found Mrs. Grau dead, sitting on a chair with a rubber tube stretching from a gas jet to her mouth.

Besides Mrs. Banks there were other persons in the building who felt the effect of the gas.

"Volunteers of America."

Brig-Gen. Fielding says: "Orange juice much for our soldiers to obtain exposure, dispel mists, headache and fatigue."

Charge Accounts OPENED WITH PEOPLE OF RECOGNIZED RESPONSIBILITY. THE BIG STORE A CITY IN ITSELF FIRST-CLASS Restaurant In Basement. Music from 12 to 3. Open from 8 A. M. to 8 P. M. SIEGEL & COOPER CO. SIXTH AVE. MEET ME AT THE MOUNTAIN. 15th St.

We Are Selling More Silverware and Cutlery Than We Ever Did Before. Excellent reasons why. The range of selections is infinitely larger and better than we ever showed before in a November or pre-Thanksgiving Sale of this kind. Everything is bright, new and beautiful. Every Price Is Extraordinarily Low. As a matter of fact, we have invested price with more persuasive purchasing power than has yet characterized any silverware and cutlery sale. The Main Aisle is a source and centre of tremendous interest and attraction. We repeat the offerings in detail for the reason that we have planned so prodigally for this sale that the assortments are just as fresh and representative as if the sale were just beginning.

Table with 3 columns: Sterling Silverware, Plated Silverware, Table Cutlery. Lists various items and prices.

Exercise Your Creative Fancy At the Lambert Jewelry Store. If you had to sit at a goldsmith's bench yourself and fashion precious metals and stones to suit your desires, the result might be disappointing. Nay, it WOULD be disappointing. But it would be no reflection on your immaculate taste. You may explain your wishes to artists and artisans in the LAMBERT FACTORY, which is a part of the LAMBERT JEWELRY STORE. They are specially trained to catch your precise idea and transmit it into gold. That gives the perfect expression to your desires. And when the piece of jewelry is finished, the price is a manufacturer's price. Listening to the retail public as we do and have done for twenty-six years we get in touch with the most delicate individual taste. Especially in the FINEST DIAMOND JEWELRY do we make the work of the LAMBERT FACTORY stand out, in positively exclusive mountings. We import the diamonds ourselves and save every customer the importer's and wholesaler's profits. We also sell the immense product of our factory at manufacturer's prices. But it is the QUALITY and not the cheapness of LAMBERT JEWELRY which is its chief attraction. This is "LAY AWAY TIME" for Christmas presents—the best time to select from the immense stock or to order that which may not be found in any stock.

3,000 Flannel Waists, 1.95 EACH. This is one of the most important transactions of the season in Flannel Waists, and that it will meet with a very large and prompt response may be accepted as a foregone conclusion. The Waists are made precisely as shown in the illustration. They are of fine quality twilled flannel. The front is plaited with Duchesse effect, piped with white Taffeta silk. Eighteen velvet buttons adorn the front. The collars and cuffs are of combination flannel, velvet and silk. Solid black and all the leading shades. Also Women's Crepe de Chine Waists. These Waists are made with cluster tucking and rows of fagoting; soft collar and cuffs; black, white, pink, light blue, light gray and maize. Special, Thursday, 5.00

Piano, Violin and Song Recital At 3 o'clock Thursday Afternoon, Nov. 20, 1902. In the Auditorium of the New Art Piano Store, 2nd Floor. ARTISTS: MISS BEATRICE WAINWRIGHT... Soprano, MME. MARIAN VAN DUYN... Contralto, MR. ERNEST T. MARTIN... Tenor, MR. KENNETH BINGHAM... Bass, MISS HATTIE SCHOLDER, MR. SAMUEL EPPINGER. ROBERT B. TEGAN... At the Piano, 1. Gypsy Life... Schumann, 2. What Matter?... Delibes, MISS WAINWRIGHT, 3. Fantasia Hongroise... Liszt, MISS SCHOLDER, 4. Gitana... De Koven, MR. MARTIN, 5. Serenade... Schubert, 6. I Wait for Thee... Hawley, MME. VAN DUYN, 7. Concerto No. 3... Beethoven, MISS SCHOLDER, 8. Aria from Queen of Sheba... Gounod, MR. BINGHAM, 9. Good Night, Beloved... Pissutti, QUARTET.

Women's Stylish Coats. Exceedingly Pretty Box Coats, Thursday at 10.00. KERSEY BOX COATS (same as illustration), made of fine quality cloth, lined with stout black satin, loose or half-fitted back, double shoulder capes, with bands of stitched cloth; the sleeves and cuffs in these garments are a most attractive feature. (Second Floor, Front.)

Women's Fur Coats and Scarfs. Exquisite in quality and workmanship. Prices, too, are bound to be appreciated. Electric Seal Coats. Beautifully made COATS; workmanship and quality are paramount but the prices are a particular inducement. At $25.00, $29.50 & $35.00. Fox Scarfs Underpriced. Beautiful American FOX SCARFS; pelt and hair are soft and lustrous as silk; rich shadings of sable and Isabella. At $10.00, $12.50 and $19.50. Muffs and Stoles. Exquisitely made up sets, muff and stole, of Squirrel, Mink, Bear, Lynx, Sable Fox, Persian Lamb, White Fox, Ermine, or in combinations. (Second Floor, Centre, 15th St.)

In the Bookstore. Arcade Library, embracing Fiction, Essays, History, Travel, &c., written by authors of world-wide reputation. Printed from large type on good paper and bound in handsome, uniform cloth binding. Gilt top. Published at per volume, 75c. OUR PRICE, per volume, 18c. SOME OF THE TITLES. ELIZABETH AND HER GERMAN GAR... EMERSON'S ESSAYS, complete. ELIAS AND ELIA, Lamb. ETHICS OF THE DUST, Ruskin. FAIRY LAND OF SCIENCE, Buckley. FIFTEEN DECISIVE BATTLES, Cressy. FIRST VIOLIN, Fothergill. FLOWER FABLES, Alcott. GILBERT AND SUE, Shelley. GOLD DUST, Charlotte M. Yonge. GUMM'S FAIRY TALE, Brothers. GULLIVER'S TRAVELS, Swift. HOPE OF SEVEN GABLES, Hawthorne. HYPATIA, Kingsley. IN HIS STEPS, Sheldon. IVANHOE, Scott. JOHN HALIFAX, GENTLEMAN, Mulock. LITTLE LAMIE PRINCE, Mulock. LORNA DOONE, Blackmore. MISS TOUSEY'S MISSION, Author of NOT LIKE OTHER GIRLS, Carey. NOW OR NEVER OR THE ADVENTURES OF BOBBY BRIGHT. POOR AND PROUD, or THE PORTLAND TIMES, Mrs. W. G. W. OPTIC. ROBINSON CRUSOE, De Foe. ROMANCE OF TWO WORLDS, Corelli. SAMANTHA AT SARATOGA, Holley. SCOTTISH CHIEFS, Porter. STEPPING HEAVENWARD, Prentiss. SWISS FAMILY ROBERTSON, Wess. THELMA, Corelli. THY AGAIN, or THE THIALS AND THUMPHER OF HARRY WEST, Optic. WATER BABIES, Kingsley. WIDE, WIDE WORLD, Warner. (Second Floor, Centre, 15th St.)