

SIXTY HELD CAR AGAINST D. R. T.

Indignant Men and Women Refused to Obey Conductor's Order to Get Out and Wait in Cold for Next Train.

POLICE WOULD NOT ACT.

After Hauling Them Back to Coney Island the Officials Decided to Bring Them to the Bridge—Association Formed to Sue Company

Sixty indignant and unwilling patrons of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit system were hauled back and forth twice between Thirty-sixth street and Coney Island to-day, were twice turned over to the police, but they made the car their fortress, withstood all attacks and forced the company to bring them to the bridge, as the company had advertised to do.

But while they were being hauled through the snow-banks the passengers, among whom were several young women, formed an association, elected officers and a press committee and will consult attorneys concerning a damage suit against the company.

Most of the sixty passengers boarded the long car at Fort Hamilton. The company agrees to take the passengers in this car to Thirty-sixth street, where it is attached to a Bath Beach "L" train and hauled to the bridge.

This particular car reached Fort Hamilton at 8:10 o'clock A. M. When it arrived at Thirty-sixth street there was a Bath Beach train there. After a long wait the train started for the bridge without the Fort Hamilton car.

Told to Wait in the Cold. Conductor No. 6,497 opened the door and told every one to get out and wait in the cold for the next Bath Beach train—twenty minutes or a half-hour later.

A man in front refused to obey, and then everybody refused. They said they would not get out of the car until it arrived at the bridge.

"You won't, eh?" said the conductor. "I'll see about that," and he ran down stairs and found the district superintendent. The two found two policemen. The policemen went up to the car and asked the sixty passengers to leave peacefully.

They were told to attend to their own business, and after a conference they decided that was a good suggestion, and informed the company's officials they could not interfere.

After many threats, promises and cajoling, all to no effect, the employees started the car with the "sixty braves" back toward Coney Island. When it came in front of the Gravesend Police Station the conductor alighted and called on the police to arrest the sixty.

The police just laughed. But the sergeant had received a tip, and he laughed at the conductor. The car was then run through to the terminal at Coney Island, and there another effort was made to get the people out. But they wanted the bridge—not Coney.

When the car was started back toward Thirty-sixth street the conductor made an effort to collect another fare. He only made the effort. Then the passengers formed an association for mutual protection and the "sixty braves" started a strike.

Among those on the car besides Mr. Jones and Mr. Van Gelder were Joseph Hogan, Thirtieth avenue and Thirty-sixth street; John Mowatt, of Manhattan; Ed. P. Casey, No. 124 Third street; W. H. Bass, No. 110 Lawrence avenue; John Mitchell, Eighteenth avenue; J. J. Flanagan, sixteenth street; J. J. Flanagan, sixteenth street; J. J. Flanagan, sixteenth street.

TROUBLES OF PEDESTRIANS TO-DAY IN NEW YORK; SNAP SHOTS AT WOMEN FALLING IN THE SNOW.

ZERO WEATHER TO FOLLOW SNOWSTORM.

evening and as far away as Buffalo the passenger traffic was reported from an hour to the hour later. At the Grand Central Station this morning the dispatchers said it would be hard to tell when some trains would arrive.

It was reported that wires were down all over the territory north of Mason and Dixon's line and east of Indiana, and the prospect was that they would be down west of that after to-day.

Snow Removers' Big Job.

Street-Cleaning Commissioner Woodbury went South yesterday, although his friends deny that he had received a tip on the weather outlook. In his absence the assistants called the snow-removal contractors and they were set to work clearing the snow from the principal streets. This work, however, did not start until after 5 o'clock this morning, and in consequence Broadway was not cleared until noon.

Although the streets had not been cleaned, they were preferable to the treacherous and drift-covered sidewalks for pedestrians. The usual morning procession from the residence streets to the elevated stations and car lines took the form of long and continuous single-file columns of closely muffled dark figures, bending their heads and hunched through the thoroughfares and standing in strong relief against the white-clad streets.

Long Island Trains Delayed.

The Long Island Railroad reported several delayed or stalled trains, especially along the North Shore road. No train had left Whitestone and near-by stations at 8 o'clock this morning, while it is usual for a half dozen trains to come into the city from there before that time.

When the snow set in again at 8 o'clock the "L" roads, fearing a further tie-up, brought out as many engines as possible and scattered them along the lines, using them to push or pull stranded electric trains. By this means they managed to furnish some sort of transportation during the day. Incidentally the Manhattan announced that never again would it attempt to get through a winter with the present inadequate system.

Trouble Caused by Vehicles.

Possibly the greatest hindrance to city surface road travel was caused by the vehicles. The street car snow ploughs had dug a great chasm through the snow for the passage of the cars. The snow from the tracks, piled on that already on the street, made the snow in most places more than a foot deep. This snow the trucks and teams avoided and kept to the cleared car tracks. As they moved slowly they necessarily held the cars back. If a horse fell, as many did, it blocked the line until the horse regained its feet.

The surface lines throughout the boroughs suffered as much, if not more, than the elevated lines in Brooklyn, where there seemed to be a shortage of snow-ploughs, the cars piled into many drifts and were stalled there, some times for several hours, until rescued by the ploughs.

Trains Late Everywhere. Train dispatchers at the Grand Central Station reported delay on all traffic, especially trains from the West.

A St. Louis train, which should have arrived at 6 o'clock last night, did not get in until 5 o'clock this morning, eleven hours late. A St. Louis train from Chicago, due this morning, reported four hours late at 9 o'clock and it was feared a few hours would be added to the delay.

A Montreal train due at 8:30 o'clock was reported three hours late, and it was said it would probably be five or six hours late before it arrived.

The guaranteed twenty-hour train from Chicago, due this morning at 9:30 A. M., was four hours late.

New England traffic was late about as badly. The Boston train on the New York, New Haven and Hartford road was about an hour late, reporting heavy snowdrifts through Connecticut.

LOYAL OLD MAN VICTIM OF STORM

Exertion of Wading Through the Snow to His Place of Business Was More Than He Could Endure.

"I'M LATE," HE SAID.

The storm has taken one life in New York. Charles Merrill, an old man, who lived with his son at No. 661 East One Hundred and Forty-second street, struggled through the streets to-day from his home to his place of employment at No. 254 Third avenue and exertion and cold proved too much for him. He collapsed as he entered the place, the real estate office of James S. Bryant, and before medical aid reached him he was dead.

"Fair or foul weather had been all the same to Merrill all his life. He was anxious to get to his office on time to-day, but try as he did he was half an hour late.

"Couldn't get here earlier," said the old man to his employer. "The snow was too."

With that Merrill threw up his hands and fell. The coroner says that heart disease was the cause of death. Merrill was seventy-three years old. He had been wealthy in early life, but business speculations swept away the money that he thought would keep him as an old man.

SERVED SUMMONS BUT GOT HURT.

Horace W. Helmbold Caught His Man on the Car and Then Was Punched for His Pains, He Asserts.

SAYS HE WAS SHOT, TOO.

A suspicious person might imagine that there was a deep-laid scheme for the free advertisement of one or both of two rival champagnes, with a little puff for a beautiful French actress, in the formidable papers upon which Alder and the "Little Tim" Sullivan law firm got an order of arrest from Supreme Court Justice Davis to-day.

The order was executed promptly, as if perchance the defendant, Edouard Boise de Courceny, was waiting around the corner for the sheriff's deputy, along with the capitalists who became his sureties in $2,500 bail.

Service of a Summons.

Horace W. Helmbold, who confesses that he was agent for Rene de Villers, the American representative of one wine house, is suing de Courceny for $10,000 damages as the outcome of the little shooting affair at Fifth avenue and Eighty-first street last week, and he made affidavit that de Courceny had settled up his American business affairs and was about to return to France, leaving him (Helmbold) without redress for an alleged assault. Helmbold says in a hefty affidavit:

"I live at No. 128 Fifth avenue. On Feb. 11, at about 10 P. M., I accompanied my wife (the beautiful French actress—she appeared at the Eagles' benefit at the New York Theatre) went to the Lafayette-Brevort Hotel to serve a summons upon Rene de Villers."

"On the outside Mr. Helmbold explains that it was in a suit to enforce his broken contract. De Courceny was in the hotel. Helmbold and his friend, the lawyer, went to the hotel and saw de Villers. He was not in. De Courceny went out, obviously to forewarn de Villers, first putting his trusty revolver in his holster.

"An Eighth street cross-town car was heard in the distance. Intuitively Helmbold and his wife and friend, the lawyer, saw de Villers and his friend, the lawyer, in the car. Helmbold and his wife and friend, the lawyer, saw de Villers and his friend, the lawyer, in the car. Helmbold and his wife and friend, the lawyer, saw de Villers and his friend, the lawyer, in the car.

"De Courceny, finding he had been foiled, became violently enraged and assaulted me and my wife and friend, the lawyer, on the face and breast and various other portions of my body with a certain heavy cane, viciously scratched me in the face with his hands and drew a revolver from his pocket, pressed it against my abdomen and deliberately pulled the trigger and shot me.

"From this Helmbold suffers excruciating pain and great mental anguish and his face and forehead were disfigured. De Courceny is a resident of France, and is about to go home, leaving him in the lurch for damages."

"Miss Diane Jade Helmbold signs a corroborating affidavit.

MAUDE ADAMS'S FACE ON CHEAP CALENDAR

Fifty Cents is the Price, and Actress Seeks to Stop Its Sale.

The momentous question of whether the people are to be allowed to have "Maude Adams Calendars" on their walls at 50 cents each or the price is to be held at $1.50 was argued this afternoon before Supreme Court Justice Baschoff.

It was argued on behalf of Manager Charles Frohman and Miss Adams that they, in partnership, are sole proprietors of the talented actress's face and figure for illustrative and decorative purposes and that their rights are infringed by the 50 cent calendars published by the Frederick A. Stokes Company, and Miss Adams was being vexatiously in her royalty on the $1.50 article, published for several years by her manager and herself.

It was contended on behalf of Publisher Stokes that "when a woman has dedicated herself to the entertainment of the public her face becomes also the property of the public, and she has no right to sue for its use in any form, any person from making copies of her photographs."

94 SAD SPORTS HELD IN CELLS

They Were Taken in a Police Raid on a Prize Fight by Acting Capt. Farrell and His Merry Men.

IT WAS A CHEAP MILL.

It was a sorry-looking crowd of 94 men arraigned in Jefferson Market Court to-day after the prize fight that was raided by Acting Captain Farrell, of the Charles street station, last night in the rear of the Armory Cafe, in Fourteenth street, near the Salvation Army headquarters.

The five principals—James Murtha, proprietor of the address given; Thomas Holden and Frank Testel, fighters; and John Lane and William Garvey, helpers and assistants—were held in $500 bail each for examination to-morrow. The other prisoners were discharged. They were charged with disorderly conduct. The five men held for examination were charged with aiding and abetting a prize fight.

Before their arraignment in court several of the prisoners sang and appeared to be merry. During the hilarity one of them was seized with a fit. He was quickly revived.

Three patrol wagons were necessary to take the prisoners to court. There were two boats scheduled, one between Tommy Holden, of New York, and Frank Restel, of Jersey City, and the other, Eugene Costello and Frank Wood.

Twenty-four of the prisoners were bailed out. The rest spent the night yelling and smoking in the cells. The men arrested had paid 90 cents each to see the bout.

The raid was made by accident. Acting Captain Farrell and two detectives saw crowds going into the cafe. They followed and bought their tickets with the rest. Inside they found a fourteen-foot ring and the four fighters with only twenty on.

The captain telephoned to the station for half of the reserves, who responded later in plain clothes. Then he sent for wagons from several stations on the west side, and for more reserves.

Just as the crowd was coming from the Fourteenth Street Theatre, across the street, the police entered the place and made the arrests. Nearly fifty men had been stationed in a circle around the building, cutting off means of escape either at the front or rear, and the Pleasure Club's guests were informed that they were under arrest.

There was a scramble among some of the men and boys to break away, but the police had no difficulty in restraining them, although some broke through the first cord. These, however, were stopped by other policemen further out in the street.

The wagons were backed up to the door and the persons formed in line and marched into them and driven away. A great crowd gathered and stood by in the storm for nearly an hour while the prisoners and paraphernalia continued to be removed.

Joseph Murtha, who said to be the proprietor of the cafe, was arrested with Holden and Restel, all charged with aiding and abetting a prize fight. The others were held on charges of disorderly conduct. The station-house in Charles street, where the fight was held, and prisoners, after being booked at that station, were locked up in the West 12th Street Mercer and Macdougall streets stations.

FIGHT ON ERIE'S SHERIFF.

Gov. Odell Asked to Remove Harry Kaiser on Patronage Charges.

ALBANY, Feb. 17.—Gov. Odell to-day was asked to remove from office Harry M. Kaiser, the newly-elected Sheriff of Erie County. Rev. O. P. Gifford, pastor of the Delaware Avenue Baptist Church in Buffalo, figures as the complainant, but Democratic politicians are declared to be back of the attack on Kaiser.

This is the third time in ten years that the Governor has been asked to remove an Erie County Sheriff. Gifford moved August 26, 1891, and Gov. Odell removed Samuel Caldwell, Republican.

Sheriff Kaiser is a Democrat identified with the Connor faction. The supporters of National Committeeman Norman Mack are fighting Connor and the charges against the Sheriff elected last November are all outgrowth of this quarrel. Kaiser is accused of violating the penal code by promising jobs to supporters prior to the election.

APPETITE COAKING Not Necessary When Proper Food is Used.

Coaking up an appetite is hard work and unnecessary when a little thought is given to scientific feeding. Fill the stomach with the wrong stuff and it is not long before the palate tone is affected, and even the sight of food is nauseating. Stomach and nervous ills of all kinds soon come and the body is left without nourishment.

Then take on Grape-Nuts for a few days and see the difference. Eating is no longer a duty but a delight, for the food is made of the proper grains prepared in a natural, scientific manner and the flavor is delicious. The case of a school-marm of Cedar Mill, Minn., is interesting. She writes: "I used to go without lunch many a day, not finding it tasty. In consequence I usually had a severe headache before the afternoon session was over and felt nervous and cross."

"I had almost concluded to give up teaching on this account when a friend induced me to try Grape-Nuts. I will say frankly I did not care for it at first, but tried it two or three times and then found myself beginning to enjoy the crisp, nutty flavor. "The food has changed the order of my life on this account when I eat every day now. The color has come back to my cheeks and lips and I have no more headaches or nervous spells."

"My body is full of energy and new life, and life seems worth the living now that I have found the proper food. Name of Grape-Nuts, Postum Company, Battle Creek, Mich."

Paine's Celery Compound

The Great Nerve Builder and Blood Purifier.

A Remarkable Restoration to Health After Failures of Physicians.

Fully half of the indolent, weakly and sick people around us are victims of nerve troubles and unhealthy blood. They seem to forget one important fact, "that the nerves regulate the blood supply through the body." It is now an accepted truth that upon the action of the nerves depends health and happiness. Disease and labby nerves bring on insomnia, dyspepsia, headache, prostration, irritability and lassitude; these in due course cause more serious ills. Paine's Celery Compound is the only medicine that can bring a full and lasting measure of health to men and women who suffer from nerve and blood troubles. This wonderful agent feeds, nourishes and strengthens all the nerve centres, purifies and enriches the blood, tones the stomach, and invigorates the entire nervous system. Miss Mary Dahl, Richville, Mich., writes thus:—"For two years I have suffered with dyspepsia, debilitated nervous system and palpitation of the heart. I had an awful feeling in my stomach and a bad taste in my mouth. I tried three different physicians, but could gain no relief from any of them. At last I heard of Paine's Celery Compound, used it, and owe my restoration to health to my use of that grand medicine. I only took four bottles, and it cured me."

TORURING DISFIGURING

Skin, Scalp and Blood Humours

Speedily Cured by Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills

When the Best Physicians and All Else Fail.

The agonizing itching and burning of the skin, as in eczema; the frightful scaling, as in psoriasis; the loss of hair and crusting of the scalp, as in scalded head; the facial disfigurements, in pimples and ringworm; the awful suffering of infants, and anxiety of worn-out parents, as in milk crust, tetter and salt rheum,—all demand a remedy of almost superhuman virtues to successfully cope with them. That Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills are such standers proves beyond all doubt. No statement is made regarding them that is not justified by the strongest evidence. The purity and sweetness, the power to afford immediate relief, the certainty of speedy and permanent cure, the absolute safety and great economy have made them the standard skin cures, blood purifiers and humour remedies of the civilized world.

Bathe the affected parts with hot water and Cuticura Soap, to cleanse the surface of crusts and scales, and soften the thickened cuticle. Dry, without hard rubbing, and apply Cuticura Ointment freely to allay itching, irritation and inflammation, and soothe and heal, and, lastly, take the Cuticura Resolvent Pills, to cool and cleanse the blood. This complete treatment, costing but one dollar, affords instant relief, permits rest and sleep in the severest cases, and cures all humours of the skin, scalp and blood, and points to a speedy, permanent and economical cure when all other remedies and the best physicians fail.

I Will Cure You of Rheumatism

Ease No Money is Wanted.

Any honest person who suffers from Rheumatism is welcome to this offer. I am a specialist in Rheumatism, and have treated more cases than any other physician. I think for sixteen years I have 2,000 certificates with different drugs, testing all known remedies while searching for the one that would cure the blood. I have found a costly chemical in Germany which, with my previous discoveries, gives relief.

I don't mean that it can turn bonny joints into bones of iron. It cures the disease at any stage, completely and forever. I mean that exactly. If you say the result is not what I claim, I don't expect a penny from you. I will furnish my remedy on trial. Simply write me a postal note for an order on your druggist for a bottle of my medicine. I will send you a bottle for a month at my risk. If it succeeds, the cost is only $5.00. If it fails, I will refund the cost of the medicine. I mean that exactly. If you say the result is not what I claim, I don't expect a penny from you.

My remedy does that even in the most difficult, obstinate cases. It has cured the chronic rheumatism of my own father, who has experienced in all my 2,000 tests—never before—another remedy that would cure chronic case in ten days. My remedy will send you the order. Try my remedy for a month, as it can't harm you anyway. If it fails it is free. Address: Dr. Henry Woodbury, Wis. M.M. cases, no chronic, are often cured when all other remedies fail. At all druggists.
