

IRISH LAND BILL GRANTS A BIG GRANT

Sixty Million Dollars is Proposed as an Out-and-Out Gift to Help the Peasants Buy Their Farms from the Landlords.

CHEERS FOR THE MEASURE.

Secretary Wyndham is Greeted with Great Applause in the House of Commons when He Rises to Propose This Boon for the Irish People—Irish Leader Redmond Counsels Moderation.

LONDON, March 23.—The long-looked-for Irish Land Purchase bill was introduced in the House of Commons to-day.

In anticipation of this, the most momentous measure as far as Ireland is concerned that has been placed before the Commons since the Home-Rule bill introduced by Mr. Gladstone, there was a tremendous crush.

Every Irish member was in his seat and the benches allotted to representatives from other parts of the Kingdom were well filled. The Peers and visitors' galleries were crowded.

When Mr. Wyndham arose to speak he was warmly greeted with the great importance of the measure he was about to introduce. He spoke slowly and deliberately, and at some of the striking passages he was loudly cheered.

His announcement of a proposed gift of $60,000,000 by the Government to aid the farmers in purchasing their holdings was applauded not only in the Irish benches, but on the Ministerial side.

Mr. Wyndham at the outset announced that Government aid was necessary for the financing of the proposed scheme, but he attached greater importance to the credit operation than to the cash operation.

The bill provides that the tenants will pay 3-4 per cent. interest on loans from the Government and that unimproved farms and grazing lands will be sold to neighboring tenants.

Three commissioners will supervise the sale. They are Michael Plouane, Secretary to the Government of Bengal Revenue General and Statistical Department; Frederick S. Wrench, one of the Irish Land Commissioners, and Edward R. Bayley, one of the Assistant Irish Land Commissioners.

The advances to tenants are limited to $2,500 in any one instance in the congested districts and $5,000 elsewhere.

The bill will become effective on Nov. 1.

Scheme May Cost $500,000,000. Mr. Wyndham said $750,000,000 could easily be advanced on Irish land, but he thought the scheme would not involve $500,000,000.

Mr. Wyndham explained that while the maximum charge on the English treasury for the $60,000,000 advance would not exceed $1,975,000 in a single year, the reduction in the cost of the administration of Ireland would amount to $1,550,000 annually.

The money will be raised by a stock issue to be called "Guaranteed 2-3-4 per cent. stock," and will be redeemable for thirty years. It will be issued at the rate of $25,000,000 yearly for the first three years and afterward possibly in larger sums.

Redmond Counsels Moderation. John Redmond, the Irish leader, followed Mr. Wyndham, saying everybody would admit that the tone and temper of the Secretary's speech showed he realized the gravity of the situation in Ireland, and that he was sincere in his attempt to grapple with it.

Mr. Redmond greeted the speech of Mr. Wyndham with a hearty and warm applause. He said the bill offered a reasonable hope of a settlement if it were accepted by them.

Mr. Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the Liberal leader, said he would not make a summary judgment on the "great measure presented with so much power and which raised such great hopes, but he would ask for information on certain points, which he enumerated.

Mr. Healy (Irish Nationalist) gave the measure a cordial reception. He suggested alterations in the direction of the provision for the distribution of the free grant.

Mr. Wyndham, replying, said $90,000,000 would go no further. The Government asked that no hasty judgment be passed in the House of Commons.

The bill was then formally introduced and passed its first reading. The second reading was set for April 22.

The opinions expressed in the lobby of the House of Commons were generally favorable to the bill, and it was pointed out that the probability of its being accepted in principle by all the parties. It is probable that the bill will pass the House of Commons.

The bill was then formally introduced and passed its first reading. The second reading was set for April 22.

Country Miss Who Stole Her Benefactor's Clothing Escapes Prison Sentence by Pleading for Mercy in Court.

MOTHER'S LETTER READ.

Judge Cowing, in General Sessions to-day, listened to a girl not yet out of her teens while she pleaded guilty to stealing the clothing of a woman who had befriended her.

The girl was Lillie Gray. She lived in Orange County till about a year ago, when she met a young woman who filled her ears with tales of the wonderful life in New York. Then she began to yearn.

Life in the city was pleasant at first, but it took money to make it so. When her money was gone the girl in order to live sought work.

The temptation was strong and the girl agreed to go with the tempter. When she realized what kind of a life she was living, she ran away and sought the home of a friend in West Twenty-first street.

With the formal elimination of the Vanderbilts, the Pennsylvania line will be the front in active management of the consolidated properties.

The fusion may not take formal shape for a long time. It is at this very moment in actuality, public policy may compel deferment of formal consolidation under one corporate control.

From the ostentatious way in which his extraordinary abilities are being advertised in connection with the fact that he is a very wealthy man, Wall street jumps to the conclusion that he is slated for retirement.

The financial direction of the suspended, will lodge with Mr. Morgan in large degree, although the responsibility will be shared in part with the Rockefeller representative, James Stillman.

Already talk is heard of a mammoth holding company, but it is not likely this deal will be taken until after the Supreme Court of the United States passes on the validity of the Northern Securities organization.

CAPS STUPENDOUS SCHEME.

Combined Interests Now Dominate Four-fifths of Railroad Mileage East of Mississippi—Gould May Be Forced In with Wabash.

Positive confirmation has been received of the retirement of the Vanderbilt family from the control of the New York Central and its affiliated lines.

The first notice of the coming event was published in The Evening World on Monday. The definite announcement is accompanied by the explanation that the retirement of W. K. Vanderbilt, head of the great railroad family, is to be on his own motion and in accordance with plans long since formed.

The disappearance of the Vanderbilts from the sphere of active railroad management marks the final move in the grand plans of the Trunk Line Transportation Trust of America and United States, one of the four-fifths of the railroad miles of the United States east of the Mississippi River.

Caps Stupendous Scheme. It is the culmination of the stupendous scheme in the world of finance have been steadily working during the last seven years.

The interests which now dominate this vast area is described as the "Rockefeller-Morgan-Pennsylvania" combination. It represents the consummation in its broadest scope of Community of Interest.

The only important east and west railroad system east of the Mississippi which is not included in the mighty consolidation of interests is the Wabash, which is controlled by Messrs. Gould and John D. Rockefeller.

At 1 o'clock, Valentine Fitzpatrick, officer of the trainmen, came out to the meeting of the Grievance Committee.

NO STRIKE ON NEW HAVEN ROAD

The Company Concedes Certain Points, the Men Yield Others and Finally an Understanding is Assured.

DECIDED IN MEETING TO-DAY.

(Special to The Evening World.) NEW HAVEN, March 23.—The differences between the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Company and its employees have been amicably settled and committees of the employees' unions will confer with President Hall this week to arrange some details yet to be settled.

The directors' committee, composed of President Hall, Vice-President W. D. Bishop, Charles F. Choate and Director George MacCulloch Miller, who were appointed at a meeting of the directors in New York yesterday to consult with the men in this city as to an advance in wages, submitted their report to the joint grievance committees this morning.

The demands of the freight handlers, boiler makers, machinists, car builders, and the railway telegraphers are granted forthwith. The company insists on maintaining the passenger and freight conductors in a single class and place the remainder of the trainmen in another class. The demand for a joint schedule for passenger conductors and trainmen is not granted.

The company says, however, that the committee will meet the conductors of both freight and passenger classes on Thursday and the other trainmen on Friday for the purpose of granting them new schedules of wages.

The grievance committee of the trainmen and conductors went into session at once to consider the proposition of the company.

At 1 o'clock, Valentine Fitzpatrick, officer of the trainmen, came out to the meeting of the Grievance Committee.

He declared that the committee would accept the proposition of the company and would meet President Hall this afternoon to arrange with him as to the meetings for the carrying out of the company's arrangements.

POLICE CAPTAIN UNDER ARREST.

Patrick Sommers in Command at Fort Hamilton Station and Three Policemen Accused of Oppression in Office.

GAYNOR ISSUED WARRANTS.

A police captain and three of his subordinates were arrested on warrants issued by Justice Gaynor and held for examination by him to-day for trying to close up a pool-room in Brooklyn. They were all charged with oppression in office.

The men arrested were Capt. Patrick Sommers, in command of the Fort Hamilton station; Detective Thomas Lynch and Patrolman Matthew Green and James Gillen. The complainant was Michael McFadden, a cigar dealer, at No. 16 Hamilton avenue.

McFadden alleges that because of the police suspicion that a pool-room is being run over his cigar store, he has been subjected to persecution by the police of the Hamilton avenue station to such an extent that his cigar business has been badly damaged.

The warrants were obtained from Justice Gaynor last night at his residence. McFadden, accompanied by lawyer Eugene Conrad, called on the Justice and related the circumstances from their point of view.

He said that the store had been watched by detectives ever since March 12; that policemen stood all day in the store and warned customers that they were liable to be arrested for entering there, and that others stood on the street and warned persons away.

He also told of how Capt. Sommers had had John C. Steigel arrested March 17, charging him with assaulting him while in the performance of his duty because Steigel had refused to admit the Captain to the room over the cigar store, the Captain having no warrant.

Justice Gaynor advised that they go to the Butler Street Court for a warrant, but Conrad said that Magistrate O'Reilly had already been appealed to in vain.

Justice Gaynor thereupon issued the warrants.

$10,000 BILLS PILED IN VAULT.

One Thousand of That Large Denomination in the Sub-Treasury and as Many More of the $5,000 Mark.

Crowds of curious visitors thronged the main floor of the Sub-Treasury building at Nassau and Wall streets to-day, to see the official count of the $25,000,000 in gold and silver coin and certificates had begun to circulate throughout the financial district, and there were many who wished to know about it.

Hamilton Fish, the newly-appointed Assistant Treasurer, was on hand early and, escorted by United States Treasurer Robert H. Agin, made the rounds of the building which is now his official home.

There are $201,000,000 in gold coin, and most of the vaults contain bags of eagles and double eagles, which are reckoned by weighing them upon the official scales. If the slightest discrepancy is found in the legal weight of any of the bags the gathering cord is severed and the entire contents counted piece by piece.

Most of the weighing and counting is done in the vaults, but some of the work is carried on on the main floor of the Sub-Treasury.

The $55,000,000 in silver coin is entirely in $1 silver pieces, while the $2,000,000 in minor currency is composed of half dollars, quarters, dimes and fractional pieces, such as nickels and cents. Each bag containing these is also weighed.

A feature of the reckoning is the scrutiny of the $17,000,000 in gold certificates. Of the total amount there are 1,000 bills of the 10,000 denomination, 1,000 of the $5,000 mark, and 2,000 of the $1,000. They are stacked up in neat piles in the vaults.

The demand for $10,000 gold certificates has so greatly increased of late that the Sub-Treasury carries a large supply of them on hand, to meet the requirements of bankers, who hold them in reserve in their safes, exchanging them for them at the Treasury.

While the count is proceeding the daily requirements of the Sub-Treasury are met by the receipts, which amount to $60,000 a day.

It will take about two months to complete the count.

FAVORABLE DR. BULL

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup

Dr. John W. Bull, who discovered Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup fifty years ago, was the most successful doctor for all throat and lung diseases the world has ever known.
