YANKEES FIGHT ABROAD TO-NIGHT

Spike Sullivan Tackles Bill Nelson, and Frank Craig, the "Harlem Coffee Cooler," Will Meet Higgins.

Two more battles will be fought in England to-night in which two American fighters will clash with Englishmen. The Yankee lads who will try to take the measure of Johnny Bull's glove artists are "Spike" Sullivan and Frank Craig, the "Harlem Coffee Cooler."

Sullivan will tackle Bill Nelson, an English welter-weight, in a twenty-round bout at Newcastle-on-Tyne, while Craig will try conclusions with Bill Higgins, the English middle-weight, in a fifteen-round bout at the London A. C.

In the event of Sullivan winning he will pose a forfeit of $1,000 and issue a challenge to fight Jabez White, the English light-weight champion, who has already defeated him twice in succession. Sullivan still thinks he can beat White and is willing to let his forfeit go as a stake bet on the issue.

Another fight slated to be decided to-night will be that between "Chick" Tucker, the promising feather-weight, of this city, and "Young Mississippi," the colored fighter, now of Philadelphia, who has recently returned from California, where he won four fights in succession by knock-outs. They will meet in a six-round bout before the National A. C. of Philadelphia. Tucker should furnish a grueling battle, as both are genuine fighters. This was Tucker's eighth fight in the Quaker City since his arrival here.

That Jimmy Britt, the much-heralded light-weight champion of California, is greatly overrated was proved Saturday. His failure to stop Jack O'Keefe, the Chicago light-weight, in a twenty-round bout at Ebbw Vale, shows conclusively that he is not capable of ever beating Joe Gans. If Britt cannot make a better showing than he did with O'Keefe he is better off to stay where he is.

Brook's First Knock-Out. "Kid" Broad suffered the first knock-out of his career on Saturday. He was put to sleep by Aurelia Herrera, the Mexican fighter, in the fourth round of his twenty-round bout. Broad was so caught at sight, that he was unable to make for the powerful little Mexican, who punished him severely from the moment the fight began. Broad was so much in the air that he was unable to make a single move. Herrera floored Broad three times for the count, and finally put him to sleep in the fourth round. Broad was so much in the air that he was unable to make for the powerful little Mexican, who punished him severely from the moment the fight began.

Bloom Will Sue. The Bloom, manager of Abe Attel, the California feather-weight, will be sued in a few days for $5,000 by Sam Harris for defaming him. Harris says the check was handed to a bank in Chicago, was cashed and that Bloom got the money. On that account he intends to bring suit against Bloom.

Corbett Will Take No Chance. While "Young Corbett" has never trained for any of the limited-round bouts he has had with second-class fighters he will, however, not into shape for his coming ten-round bout with Huggie Brown, the colored middle-weight, at the Tammany A. C. of Boston on June 25. "Corbett" left for Boston today, where he will indulge in a hard course of training.

Yankee Favorite Over Hanlon. Although the followers of pugilism in California think Eddie Hanlon a wonder they nevertheless feel that Benny Tanager, the undefeated feather-weight of Chicago, is his master, and on that account they have made Tanager their favorite in the betting for their coming battle before the Hayes Valley A. C. of San Francisco, on June 20, at a odds of 19 to 8. It was generally expected that Hanlon would be the favorite, but the great fight of the night was put up during the last eighteen months by Tanager, who has defeated Hanlon by a knockout.

Macias Picks Hanlon. Joe Macias, manager of "Kid" Carter and "Young Macias," the colored middle-weight of Boston, for ten rounds at a show to be given by the Tammany A. C. of Boston, within three weeks. When these fellows put up their hands there is sure to be a fight worth seeing. They are graduates of the school of fighting fighters who can deliver a knockout blow with either hand.

Carter and Byers Matched. "Kid" Carter, the middle-weight fighter, has another fight on. He was matched on Saturday night to meet George Byers, the colored middle-weight of Boston, for ten rounds at a show to be given by the Tammany A. C. of Boston, within three weeks. When these fellows put up their hands there is sure to be a fight worth seeing. They are graduates of the school of fighting fighters who can deliver a knockout blow with either hand.

McGovern Is Recovering. Terry McGovern is quartered at present in Sullivan County, N. Y., where he is fast recovering from the attack of malaria which prevented him from meeting Abe Attel, the California boxer, before the International A. C. of Fort Erie, Can. McGovern, in a letter to his manager, Sam Harris, says he will soon be "feeling again" and that his only wish is to get a chance to fight.

O'Brien Gets Postponement. At the request of "Philadelphia Jack" O'Brien, Matchmaker McGuigan, of the National A. C. of Philadelphia, has postponed the six-round bout between O'Brien and "Kid" Carter until July 1. O'Brien says the death of his sister has prevented him from making a return to the ring. He is expected to be back in Philadelphia for the bout again. As Carter was previously willing to give the best and best of the bout again, as Carter was previously willing to give the best and best of the bout again.

IRISH GIANT WHO KNOCKED OUT O'BRIEN.

"Philadelphia Jack" Tried to Show Him Up and Limerick Knocked Him Out in the Third Round.

This is a good likeness of Al Limerick, the most recent Irish giant to jump into prominence for heavy-weight boxing honors. Limerick was only slightly known in pugilistic work until last Thursday.

In Shenandoah, Pa., he met clever Jack O'Brien, the Philadelphia, and put the famous Chiquero down twice, finally knocking him out.

O'Brien was trying to show Limerick up in a bout in connection with the O'Brien theatrical company. Limerick took O'Brien's roughness good naturally for a while, until Jack tried to rub it in. Then Limerick cut loose. O'Brien never had a chance to handle the 220-pound man. Limerick beat him all over the stage and stopped him in a hurricane third round.

Limerick's success in getting more work was not long delayed. Jack Herman, manager of the Fort Erie A. C., has matched O'Brien's conqueror and Gus Ruhlin for a twenty-round contest bout, to take place the last week in July or the first week in August, sufficient time after the Root-Gardner bout at Fort Erie on July 4.

Limerick has a reach greater than any living pugilist and is the tallest heavy-weight in the ring. When he boxed O'Brien last week he weighed 222 pounds. O'Brien frankly admitted that Limerick was too big for him and that Limerick could beat any big fellow save Jeffries.

Limerick is backed by W. J. Conners, the millionaire Buffalo newspaper proprietor. Despite Limerick's newness as a championship aspirant, the Buffalo and Canadian sporting fraternity, who are enthusiastic over him, will make him a favorite over Ruhlin. Billy Madden adjusted matters satisfactorily for Ruhlin yesterday.

SHAMROCKS GO ON WAYS TO-DAY

They Get a Hearty and Noisy Welcome on Way Across the Bay to the Erie Basin, Where They Will Be Put in Trim.

Shamrock III. is here. Sir Thomas Lipton's latest challenger to seek the America's Cup. She and her consort, the owner's steam yacht Erin, and the Shamrock I., the new racer's trial horse and companion on the voyage across the Atlantic, and her convoy, the ocean-going tug Cruiser, started from their anchorage off Tompkinsville to Erie Basin early to-day. There the sloops will have their underbodies cleaned and will be put in readiness for the trials which will be given the challenger preparatory to the battle of Sandy Hook.

The Lipton fleet was the center of interest in the harbor and the greetings that passing craft gave it were many and hearty. Yachting sharps were nosing around Shamrock III. long before her crew was ordered to turn to put her in trim to be hauled out, and they all agreed that she was the smartest looking of any of the skimming-dish challengers.

Orders have been given to have both Shamrock III. and Erin put in readiness to begin their tuning-up spins on June 27. Everything is in readiness at the Basin for the reception of the sloops on the railways. The racers looked a bit dirty as the result of their bout with old ocean. They are as tight, however, as snare drums on a July day, not a plate but as it should be, not a rivet started. All this testifying to the good work that was put into them by their Scotch builders.

There the sloops will have their underbodies cleaned and will be put in readiness for the trials which will be given the challenger preparatory to the battle of Sandy Hook.

The Lipton fleet was the center of interest in the harbor and the greetings that passing craft gave it were many and hearty. Yachting sharps were nosing around Shamrock III. long before her crew was ordered to turn to put her in trim to be hauled out, and they all agreed that she was the smartest looking of any of the skimming-dish challengers.

COLLEGE CREWS HAVE DAY OFF

Harvard and Yale Eights Spend a Quiet Sunday at Their Thames River Quarters, Receiving Many Visitors.

HARVARD QUARTERS, RED TOP, Conn., June 15.—Sunday was spent quietly by the Harvard crews. There was no rowing done by the varsity or freshmen. There was quite a crowd of visitors at the Thames river quarters, among them ex-Capt. Harold Harland, of New York's crew; Jim Lawrence, Nick Bidder, Clem Wood, Guy Bancroft, Borden Covet and George Mumford, all former Harvard oarsmen.

During the forenoon they lined up a gentleman's eight, Peter Higginson acted as captain and Nick Biddle as coxswain. They went up river as far as Horton's Cove and loafed around in front of Yale quarters in the hope that they might send out a "scrub" crew to give them a short race. There was "nothing doing," however, and they returned to the boathouse pretty well pumped out.

In the afternoon the varsity sailed down the river as far as the Pequot House landing where they went ashore and strolled around for a short while returning to quarters soon after 6 o'clock.

The Yale crew sailed down to New London in the forenoon, some of them attending church services and others strolling about the city until noon, when the launch carried them back to quarters.

On Daly, who was taken out of the varsity last week, has an attack of malaria. He was the guest at New London of Dr. W. D. Cronin, who is treating him. He will return to quarters in the morning.
