MAD DOG BITES MANY CHILDREN

Supposed Rabid Animal Creates a Panic in Eleventh Avenue, Running Along the Street and Snapping at Every One.

CORNERED IN AREA AND SHOT BY POLICEMAN.

Four Victims of Frenzied Brute Treated at Roosevelt Hospital and Sent Home, but Others Did Not Report Injuries.

A mangled dog, part bull and part fox terrier, created havoc and a panic on Eleventh avenue and West Forty-fifth street this afternoon, and several children were bitten by the supposed rabid beast.

Those bitten, as far as the police could learn, are: Edward Parks, nine years old, of No. 55 West Forty-fifth street; Joseph Clements, eleven years old, of No. 55 West Forty-fifth street; Salvatore Fretzo, nine years old, of No. 55 West Forty-fifth street; and Edward Hulson, eleven years old, of No. 54 West Forty-fifth street.

Several other children, it is reported, were bitten, but they were hurried to their homes and their names have not yet been secured. The four boys were taken to Roosevelt Hospital, where their wounds were cauterized.

Patrolman Charles O. Nelson, of the West Forty-seventh street station, was standing at Forty-seventh street and Eleventh avenue, when an excited citizen ran up and told him that a dog, evidently mad, was running on the block between Tenth and Eleventh avenues on Forty-fifth street, biting every one who came in his way.

People Fled in Terror. Nelson ran to Forty-fifth street. The dog, somewhat larger than a fox terrier, and showing its bull blood, was dashing hither and thither, while women and children ran screaming into stores and hallways, and one excited man had climbed a gaslight post.

Nelson got as near to the dog as he could, but did not dare fire at him, and he feared hitting some of the many women and children who were about. He saw a large Newfoundland dog across the way and ran to this dog, leading the Newfoundland dog, he attacked the attention of the supposed mad dog, and then ran with the Newfoundland into the entrance at No. 55 West Forty-fifth street. The hall doors were open leading to the rear yard.

The mad dog followed full tilt into the entrance at No. 55 West Forty-fifth street. As soon as the mongrel got into the yard Nelson closed the rear door. There was a large packing-box in the yard and Nelson jumped on it. The mad dog made a dash for the Newfoundland, but before he could reach it, Nelson had shot him in the leg, crippling him. Before he could crawl to the Newfoundland and kill him, Nelson jumped from the box and killed him with the second shot.

Bit All in Path. Frothing at the mouth and with short angry barks, the dog ran into a crowd of children on the street. The boys tried to run away, but all were not able to do so. Edward Hulson fell, and in an instant the dog was upon him. Before the boy could get to his feet he had been bitten on the left arm and the right leg. The dog did not wait to bite the boy again, but jumped into both Clements' and Fretzo's teeth into the boy's left arm. Parks was bitten on both legs before the mad dog was shot.

As the police could learn, that was bitten was Salvatore Fretzo, who was injured on the left leg. Patrolman Nelson said he was informed that at least two dogs had been bitten by the mad dog. He was informed that the four children who were taken to the hospital and sent home, but the names of the boys were not secured.

An ambulance from Roosevelt Hospital was called and Dr. Elmore took the four children to that institution. The wounds of the boys were dressed at the hospital and they went home.

BARGES WEATHER STORM. Those that Broke Away from Tug Sweepstakes Reported Safe. The barge Hampshire is reported as anchored in the lower New York Bay today and the barge Elk Garden is at anchor ten miles southeast of Barnegat with her sails gone.

During Wednesday's storm these barges broke away from the tug sweepstakes, which had them in tow, while off Barnegat. A tug, the Hampshire, was sighted off Sandy Hook coming into the bay under her own sail. The Elk Garden had not been sighted until this morning.

600 PUPILS IN SCHOOL FIRE

Building No. 10, at One Hundred and Sixty-third Street and Eagle Avenue, Ablaze, but All Scholars Get Out in Safety.

FORMED IN LINE AND MARCHED OUT BY TEACHERS

Splendid Discipline Shown by the Youngsters in the Forty-three Rooms, Who Did Not Show Signs of Panic.

The splendid discipline shown by 600 pupils of Public School No. 10, at One Hundred and Sixty-third street and Eagle avenue, when an alarm of fire was sounded through the forty-three school-rooms in the building at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon, was responsible for averting a panic and the safe exit of every pupil in the school-house.

Before the fire alarm sounded cries of "Fire" rang out from the street, but not a child moved until the school signal rang and then they rose in perfect order and marched out of the school under the leadership of their teachers.

The fire started in the teachers' locker room on the third floor, caused by the explosion of a gas stove. Ralph Baxter, janitor of the school, heard the explosion, and after locating the fire turned on the electric fire apparatus. He then made an heroic attempt to check the spread of the flames with the fire extinguishers.

The alarm sounded first in the room of Principal E. V. Childs, who promptly took up his post at the head of the main staircase. There were thirty teachers in the building and 600 of the 3,000 pupils who attended the school. The teachers lined up the children swiftly and silently and at a signal from the principal the march began.

There were hundreds of children in the street who had left school a few minutes before, and they were crying at the top of their lungs. Their cries did not cause a tremor in the ranks of the well-disciplined youngsters, and all got out without a scramble. The fire was extinguished before any serious damage had been done.

TRIED TO SELL STOLEN JEWELS

Two Men Arrested for Robbery of Pearls and Opals from Appraisers' Stores Say They Got Them from Government Clerk

By the arrest to-day of William Bray and George N. Platt, brothers-in-law, who own a jewelry shop at No. 508 Hudson street, the mystery surrounding the disappearance of a portion of a pocket of pearls and opals from the Appraisers' Stores on Aug. 10 seems to be solved.

The gems, valued at $2,800, are alleged to have been stolen from a package containing $7,000 worth, which was received at the Appraisers' Stores, consigned to R. Gutierrez, a manufacturing jeweler at No. 51 Maiden lane. The package was then resailed and sent to Mr. Gutierrez, who at once reported his loss to the police.

No progress was made in tracing the stolen jewels until to-day when Bray and Platt tried to dispose of them to Albert Lorch, of No. 37 and 39 Maiden Lane. The jewels were so well known and the information of their disappearance had been so well circulated that there was but little time wasted in notifying the police, and Detective-Sergts. Dowling and Oppenheim placed the pair under arrest.

To Inspector McCluskey the prisoners said they had received the jewels from Alfred Hausback, an old clerk in the General Appraisers' Stores. Hausback was found at his desk and arrested. He has been employed in the Custom-House service for seventeen years.

The three were arraigned in Centre Street Court and turned over to the Federal authorities.

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 18.—This is the game the Giants must win to hold them in second place. The lay-off yesterday and Chicago winning two games put them within six points of the New Yorks. The real battles for second place will start to-morrow in Chicago between New York and Chicago. Four games are scheduled for Chicago and at their conclusion the supremacy between both teams will be settled.

"My new pitcher, Leon Ames, is to my notion the best youngster who has broken into that company since I have been watching the game," remarked Manager McGraw. "If he keeps up his big next season what a great trio we will have in Mathewson, McGinnity and Ames, not to speak of Taylor and Cronin."

"Where will the Giants finish?" "Well, certainly no worse than we are. We have seven games to play after we get through here, and we hope to win the majority of them. I think, all things considered, we have made a very good showing this year. We certainly have surprised both our enemies and our friends."

Talk in Camp McGraw runs to 1904 and the possible changes of the winter. "I look to see a lot of trades," said Rip Van Horn, "There are three teams that will have to be strengthened: Boston, Philadelphia and St. Louis."
