

CRACKING WALLS
RAISE WILD PANIC

Dwellers in Mulberry Street Tenement Rush to Streets When Building All but Comes Down About Them.

A wild panic ensued among the patrons of the bakery and coffee shop in the basement of the four-story building at No. 41 East Houston street about 5 o'clock this morning when the building began to tremble and the sounds of splitting timbers and breaking bricks were heard.

A gap about five feet long was opened in the wall beginning about six feet from the ground. The wall sticks out nine inches, and the whole building will probably fall.

The police were sent for and they watched a line about the building to keep pedestrians off the sidewalk surrounding it. The Department of Buildings was notified and a crew of men were sent immediately to shore up the building. The bakery in the basement, owned by H. W. Michaels, will be closed until the building can be examined.

Roundman Madden, of the Mulberry street station, sent for the agent, a man named Marasco. He said he did not think the building was in danger as there was a stone wall behind the brick one, that ran all the way to the rear and was the main support of the building.

Agent Marasco said he notified the Building Department that the brick wall was in bad shape, but had received no answer from them. He said the owner of the building was a woman, who lived in Brooklyn, but he could not produce her name. The breach in the wall appeared to grow wider, and Roundman Madden said that if the Building Department did not send some one he would order all the tenants out into the street.

DIED FROM BLOW WITH IRON BAR

James Dunn's Life Was Ended as a Result of a Fight with Fellow-Employee in a Livery Stable.

James Dunn, thirty-five years old, a stableman of No. 104 West One Hundred and Thirty-eight street, died in the J. Hood Wright Hospital to-day from a fracture of the skull, which it is said he received in a fight last night.

Patrick Quinn, thirty-seven years old, of No. 178 Amsterdam avenue, is a prisoner in the East One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street station charged with having assaulted Dunn.

Both men were employed in the stable at No. 172 East One Hundred and Fourth street. According to the police, they had a quarrel yesterday at noon-time, in which Quinn, it is alleged, struck Dunn on the head with an iron bar. The men went back to work, but Dunn, after a short time, went home, saying he felt very ill. He told his family, the police say, of the fight, and his head was bathed with ice in cloths. He, however, relapsed into unconsciousness and an ambulance was summoned from the J. Hood Wright Hospital.

Upon examination the ambulance surgeon said the man's skull was fractured, and the police were notified that Dunn might die. Quinn was then arrested. He refused to make any statement.

A coroner took Dunn's ante-mortem statement. FEASTED ON "400" FARE. NEWPORT, Oct. 2.—A dinner party a woman guest, who owns a handsome white-marble estate on the Cliffs, said she returned to her villa unexpectedly and there found her household attendants entertaining their Newport friends with all the delicacies of the season at her expense. She immediately discharged the butler and two other employees.

KILLED FRIEND
AFTER ARGUMENT

Italian Shot a Man, Then Drew a Stiletto on Policeman Who Pursued Him—Clubbed Into Submission and Arrested.

John Pinto, an Italian, twenty-six years old, of No. 102 Frost street, Will. Jamsburg, died in St. Catherine's Hospital to-day from a pistol shot wound inflicted by his former friend, Frank Romero, twenty-eight years old, of No. 110 Frost street.

The two men last night had a violent argument about an execution by electricity and the moral right of the death penalty. Words were followed by blows, and suddenly Romero drew a revolver and shot his friend through the left breast. Then he fled, but before he had run two blocks he encountered Policeman John Doyle, of the Herbert street station.

As Doyle turned to chase him the Italian fired two shots at him, but they went wild. Before he could fire again the policeman had him by the neck, and when his prisoner drew a stiletto Doyle hit him over the head with his club, quickly subduing him.

Romero was held in the Ewen Street Court charged with murder.

KNOCKOUT DROPS
GIVEN STRANGER

Man Who Said He Was Charles Wheeler, of Washington, Told Apothecary He Had Been Drugged.

A man who said he was Charles Wheeler, thirty years old, of Washington, D. C., was led into a drug store at No. 357 Eighth avenue to-day by another man, who simply told the clerk of the store that his companion had given him 75 cents to help him as he was suffering from some kind of poison.

With that the man, who had the appearance of a train, hurried away, leaving his charge to collapse on the floor. The sick man was barely able to say:

"I have been given knock-out drops, for God sakes help me."

The druggist hurriedly mixed a solution of muscadine and gave it to the man. Then he sent for a policeman and an ambulance. The man was unconscious when taken to Roosevelt Hospital, and it is feared that he will die. The coroner has been sent for to take his ante-mortem statement.

DETECTIVES HALT
FIFTEEN CHINAMEN

Celestials Just Arrived in Weehawken from Canada—Officers Seeking Hundreds Who Are Scattered in Country.

United States Detectives O'Brien and Van Dusen, in a Weehawken, N. J., fifteen Chinamen who, they declare, were only a small part of a batch of Mongolians that had been smuggled into the country from Canada on a train of the West Shore Railroad.

The detectives found the fifteen Celestials waiting for their friends at the railroad station. They learned there that several scores of Chinamen had got off the train that arrived in Weehawken early to-day and immediately scattered about the country. Other United States detectives have been sent for to aid in the capture of the other smuggled Chinamen. The fifteen captured are now in the Weehawken jail.

HIS WEAPON A BOTTLE.

Union Treasurer Strung It When Accused of Being Questioned.

Three victims of the fight at a meeting of the Italian Journeymen Bakers' Union, at No. 214 Thompson street, were damaged, were in Jefferson Market Police Court to-day to prosecute Frank Gansone, said to be Chairman of the Finance Committee of the union, for assault.

The complainants, Peter Nasso, Henry Constantino and Dominico Medagliano, charged that Gansone had hit them with a bottle during the row.

The prisoner said that his accounts had been questioned, and when he said that they were correct a free fight took place, and he was forced to use the bottle in self-defense. Magistrate Fowl held Gansone for trial.

KENTUCKY WINE TAYLOR SUIT FRANKLIN, Ky., Oct. 2.—Judge Cantrell gave judgment for the commonwealth against former State Auditor Gansone and his bondsmen, the Fidelity and Deposit Company, of Baltimore, $14, for $7,000 paid to maintain soldiers here under Gov. Taylor in 1892.

IS THIS YOUR IDEA?
75% of Cross Eyes Corrected with Glasses.

Cross eyes are the result of a defect in sight, causing imperfect muscular action, followed later by exhaustion of nerve supply. Properly fitted glasses will correct the defect in sight, remove the cause by removing the strain, and thus enable the eyes to gradually assume their normal position and action. I have been especially successful in straightening the delicate eyes of children by the timely application of glasses. I know that I can correct 75 per cent. of cross eyes if given an opportunity.
