UNIVERSITY CLUB IS AROUSED TO SEARCH FOR CANFIELD TOUT

Will Get After Him if Mr. Jerome Will Make a Specific Charge and Give Them Something to Work On Other than a General Statement.

STILL HOT ON REGGIE VANDERBILT'S TRAIL.

District-Attorney Tells How the Young Millionaire Met His Losses with Post-Dated Checks, and When Cash Ran Short He Furnished an I. O. U.

It is up to District-Attorney Jerome to drive the man who, he says, touted in the University Club for Canfield's gambling-house out of the club. By giving the name of the man to the Board of Governors he can cause action to be taken.

"On the mere statement of the District-Attorney," said Judge Henry Howland, President of the club, to-day, "I do not see why the Board of Governors should take any action. Not that I disbelieve the District-Attorney, but a general statement like this is too vague for serious consideration."

"We have between 2,000 and 3,000 members in the University Club and among them there may be a man who induces others to gamble at Canfield's—assuming that there is a Canfield gambling-house—but if there is such a man I shall be surprised to know it positively. I think I should have heard of it if there was any gambling-house persuasion being used in the University Club."

JEROME'S BLUNT COMMENT.

District-Attorney Jerome was told to-day that some of the members of the University Club thought that he should have given his information to the Board of Governors instead of spreading it at Albany.

"Oh, h—," he remarked. "That's cheap."

Col. Franklin Bartlett, a prominent member of the club, does not entirely agree with Judge Howland. He thinks that the accusation made by the District-Attorney is serious enough to call for an investigation.

Consternation has been engendered by the announcement of the District-Attorney that if he gets his bill, aimed at Richard Canfield, through the Legislature, he will subpoena as witnesses not only members of the University Club, but members of his own club, the Union. Altogether Mr. Jerome's frank declarations of what he is going to do and his apparent knowledge of the identity of the men who frequented Canfield's has set quite a number of prominent young men in the social life of New York to studying steamship routes and railway timetables.

DETERMINED TO GET VANDERBILT.

It is plain that the District-Attorney is hot on the trail of Reginald Vanderbilt. He appears to believe that the testimony of young Vanderbilt is essential should the law be so amended as to allow of bringing Canfield to trial. Mr. Vanderbilt is not in the city at present. He is on his Newport farm and if the Jerome bill passes it will mean that he will probably remain on his Newport farm unless he can visit New York secretly.

While Mr. Jerome has not yet officially associated the "half-drunken kid" who he asserts lost $500,000 at Canfield's with Reginald Vanderbilt, he has thrown some further illumination on the transactions between the millionaire and the gambler. In his talk to the Codes Committee of the Senate yesterday he said that Vanderbilt played and lost at Canfield's and paid his debts with post-dated checks. When his cash ran out he gave I. O. U.'s.

The District-Attorney had a lot of fun with Senator Elsborg, of this city, yesterday. Senator Elsborg is one of the anti-Platt trio, the others being Senators Brackett and Brown. The three are the bosom friends and energetic supporters of Gov. Odell, and Senator Brackett is the man who is responsible for an amendment to the Jerome bill making it inoperative until next September, after the Saratoga season closes. Senator Brackett's home is at Saratoga, and he has acted as counsel for Richard Canfield at various times.

THE "TOUT" HAD BEEN SUBPOENAED.

Senator Elsborg said that members of the University Club had told him they feared they would be subpoenaed if the Jerome bill should pass and Canfield should be prosecuted. It was here that Mr. Jerome got in his dig about the clubman who acted as a tout. It appears that this man was subpoenaed when Canfield's case was first taken up, but he escaped without giving testimony on the strength of the decision in the case of Jesse Lewishohn, who successfully maintained that to testify would incriminate and degrade him.

"I know the gentleman you refer to," said the District-Attorney, with a strong accent on the word "gentleman." "I know that he was very popular in the club and that his O. K. on a card secured admission to Canfield's."

The surprising statement of the District-Attorney that Canfield offered to go into court and plead guilty to keeping a gambling-house if he could do so under the agreement to be let off with a fine has created a sensation among the gambling element. Another sensation has been caused by the District-Attorney's statement that there are five or six other places as big as Canfield's that he wants to get after with the aid of a law compelling men who go to gambling-houses to testify as to what happens in them. Presumably these other places are running, because Mr. Jerome said that it is impossible to get a police officer into them.

The chances for the Jerome bill appear to be favorable. Should the amendment stalling off action under the bill until September fail to be killed in the Codes Committee the Senate will probably kill it and the bill will become operative as soon as passed.

Canfield is in London or on the Continent. He is paying his usual annual visit to the other side and is not expected back for some time. The District-Attorney is of the opinion that if he could get through Canfield will never come back.

FIVE RESCUED AT BROADWAY FIRE.

Panic Among Twenty Women Employed by Jacob Ginsberg; a Furrier at No. 1,158, and Firemen Used Scaling Ladders.

BIG CROWD IN STREET: POLICE RESERVES OUT

Guests in the Victoria Hotel, Just Opposite. Were Badly Scared—Fire Caused by Explosion of Gasoline.

There was a panic and a crowd of several thousands in the streets calling out the reserves from the Tenderloin Station at a fire caused by an explosion of naphtha and benzine in the fur-renovating establishment of Jacob Ginsberg, at No. 1158 Broadway, late this afternoon.

There was dense smoke, causing excitement among the twenty women employed by Ginsberg so that five of them were carried down the ladders, fainting, by the firemen.

One of them, a gray-haired woman of sixty-five years, was in a dead faint when the firemen found her on the fire escape, when these five had gathered and were about to jump in their fright, for smoke was pouring out of the windows of the third floor, where they were.

The guests of the Hotel Victoria, on the opposite corner, were also thrown into panic by the volumes of dense smoke and fled to the street, while the usual afternoon crowds in Broadway gathered about the scene.

Three hundred men were sent to the reserves from the West Thirtieth Street Station to the scene.

The Seneca Club, a Tammany district organization, has its rooms on the second floor of the building and was slightly damaged by the fire. One of the members of the club found a Miss Donahue lying unconscious in the hallway on the second floor and carried her down stairs to the store of H. B. Kirk & Co., where she was revived.

DANIEL J. SULLY, THE COTTON KING, WHOSE FAILURE WAS ANNOUNCED TO-DAY.

SULLY FAILS FOR $3,000,000; WILD PANIC IN COTTON

Stirring Scene of Excitement in New York Exchange When the Announcement Is Made that His Firm Had Suspended—Speculators Engage in Rough and Tumble Encounters During the Panic.

NEW ORLEANS, TOO, IS BADLY AFFECTED BY NEWS OF FAILURE.

Had Cleaned Up the Market and Was About to Take a Long Vacation in Europe When He Began to Operate Again, and This Time the Bears Got Him in a Corner and Forced Him to the Wall.

Daniel J. Sully, the Cotton King, announced his failure this afternoon. Five weeks ago he had $3,000,000 cleaned up in less than a year and was practically out of the cotton market. Instead of going abroad for a rest, as he had said he would, he got back into the market and the bears have been taking it away from him at the rate of $600,000 a week. It is estimated that he is carrying 300,000 bales of May and July cotton, on which he has lost an average of $10 a bale.

"Mr. Sully was unable to meet his obligations," said a man connected with the firm of D. J. Sully & Co. It is very probable that he will have to sell his seats on the New York and New Orleans Cotton Exchanges, the Produce Exchange, the Coffee Exchange, the Stock Exchange and the Chicago Board of Trade.

WILD SCENE ON THE EXCHANGE.

All the scenes of pandemonium that have occurred on the Cotton Exchange since Sully came to New York and started to bull the market were eclipsed when the announcement of his suspension was made this afternoon.

For a moment there was dead silence. Then a roar went up that was heard all over the block. The members sailed into each other in what looked to be a rough and tumble fight. Furniture was smashed, hats were thrown to the ceiling, clothing was torn and several members were knocked down and jumped upon. When a measure of calm was restored the floor was covered with broken chairs, smashed hats and pieces of clothing.

During this excitement the market declined about 200 points on the active options. This was followed by a slight rally, but the close was weak and flighty.

On the Stock Exchange the announcement of the failure caused a falling off of the general market, but there was a quick rally and very little excitement. It is said that Sully had no Stock Exchange deals on at this time. The cotton market has been keeping him busy.

When Sully sent word to the Cotton Exchange that he would have to suspend he double locked the door of his office and refused to see any one. Even the members of his own firm could not get to him. He remained in seclusion for nearly an hour and then telephoned for his lawyers. Through them he said that he would not make a statement to-day, but that something might be said by a member of the firm late in the afternoon.

BEARS REJOICE AT HIS FALL.

There was a great rejoicing among the bears of the cotton market over the downfall of Sully. He has made life a nightmare for them for a year.

RUSSIAN SHELLS RIDDLE A JAPANESE BATTLE-SHIP

Mikasa Struck by Ten Projectiles During Bombardment of Port Arthur—Several Other Warships Damaged in Same Engagement Under Repair.

(By the Associated Press.)

PORT ARTHUR, Thursday, March 17 (delayed).—According to information received from Russians at Shanghai, during the fighting at Port Arthur February 10 and 11, the Japanese battle-ship Mikasa was struck by ten projectiles and seriously damaged; two Japanese battle-ships and two cruisers have been docked for repairs at Nagasaki and Sasebo, and 2,000 wounded men are said to be in the Japanese hospitals.

All the Russian wounded and sick at Port Arthur are making good progress toward recovery.

Last night and to-day passed quietly. ST. PETERSBURG, March 18—5.30 P. M.—The Admiralty has no confirmation of the reported loss of the torpedo-boat destroyer Skori off Port Arthur.

Previous reports have told of the damage done to a Japanese battleship, but this is the first time the name of the ship has been mentioned. Reports have also been printed of the injury to two Japanese cruisers which were seen being towed into Nagasaki for repairs, one of them with a bad list to port.

200 JAPANESE TROOPS KILLED BY RUSSIANS.

SHANGHAI, March 18.—The United States cruiser Cincinnati, arriving here from Chemulpo, where it landed American refugees from Northern Korea, brings a circumstantial report of an encounter between 200 Russians and 200 Japanese, north of Pingyang, in which the Japanese were annihilated.

The Japanese forces are now advancing from Pingyang, and that the first corps, or fighting line, is composed of not less than 125,000 men. The Russians, 20,000 strong in the Yalu district, are retreating out of Korea, according to Japanese advices, and are fortifying the north bank of the Yalu, preparatory to standing a siege. This indicates that the first great battles of the war will be fought in Korea and not in Manchuria.

PARIS, March 18.—No reports have been received at the Foreign Office or elsewhere confirming the Bourse rumor of a great Japanese defeat, which probably grew out of the unconfirmed Shanghai report of the defeat of 200 Japanese by a Russian force of 300 men.

FELL DEAD ON "L" CAR.

Michael Halvey Suddenly Overcome in Brooklyn. Michael Halvey, a sixty-seven years old, who kept a little candy store at No. 482 De Kalb avenue, Brooklyn, dropped dead on a Lexington avenue "L" train, Brooklyn, to-day at the De Kalb avenue station. Several women fainting, but had recovered when the train pulled up at the Franklin avenue station. There the body of the man was carried off to a coast between Decatur Street and Broadway.
