

SCHWARTZ WILL CONTEST BEGINS

Relatives of Money-Lender Who Was Burned to Death in Her Flat Want Property She Left to Gen. Kneeland.

ESTATE VALUED AT EIGHTEEN THOUSAND.

But the Contestants Claim Miss Schwartz's Fortune Was Several Times That Figure—Two Witnesses Heard.

The contest over the will of Henrietta Schwartz, the diamond dealer and money-lender, who was burned to death in her apartments at No. 8 East Forty-second street the night of Feb. 17 last, began to-day before Surrogate Thomas, ex-District-Attorney Philbin appearing for the contestants Mrs. Sophia Schwartz, of No. 82 Fourth avenue, Brooklyn, mother of Henrietta Schwartz, five brothers and some nephews and nieces contest the will.

This is the will: "After all my debts are paid I give, devise and bequeath all my property, real and personal, to Mr. Stillman Foster Kneeland of No. 346 Broadway, in consideration for his kindness to me when my own relations refused to show ordinary affection and duty toward their own. I desire my body to be cremated, and that a fitting monument be placed over my ashes in Salem Fields Cemetery connected with the Temple Emanuel at a cost of $1,000."

Gen. Kneeland was Miss Schwartz's attorney for years. The will was executed March 2, 1896. The contestants declare that the beautiful and eccentric money lender was unduly influenced and did not know what she was doing when she willed her all to Gen. Kneeland.

The petition filed with the will estimated the estate of Miss Schwartz at $18,000, but her brothers insist that she had accumulated many times that sum. Henry Beckett, in behalf of Gen. Kneeland, called William J. Murphy, cashier at the Lincoln Safe Deposit Company, as the first witness.

Mr. Murphy said he had known Miss Schwartz seventeen years, and as an evidence of the close friendship of Miss Schwartz and Gen. Kneeland he stated that they had been joint renters of a box in the safety vaults for several years.

Jesse Grant Roe, an attorney, testified that on March 2, he made a search of Miss Schwartz's safe in her apartment for papers and evidence of property. In behalf of the temporary administrator, he found another will, made in 1893. This other will is practically the same as that of 1896, leaving all to Gen. Kneeland.

At this point the trial was suspended until to-morrow.
