PULSUS BY GOOD LUCK CAPTURED HANDICAP

Got Best of Start and His Two Most Dangerous Competitors Met with Accidents—Waterside, Heavily Backed, Won Stake for Two-Year-Olds.

THE WINNERS.

FIRST RACE—Dick Bernard (14 to 5) 1, Brooklynite (4 to 1) 2, Letola 3.

SECOND RACE—Headmaster (1 to 4) 1, Cock Robin (13 to 5) 2. Only two starters.

THIRD RACE—Waterside (13 to 10) 1, Pasadena (8 to 5) 2, Jack Lory 3.

FOURTH RACE—Pulsus (5 to 1) 1, Marmes (7 to 1) 2, Cloverland 3.

FIFTH RACE—Lindsay Gordon (8 to 1) 1, Bulwark (11 to 5) 2, Navajo 3.

SIXTH RACE—Eagle (8 to 1) 1, Allan (30 to 1) 2, Lady Potentate 3.

RACE TRACK, SHEPHERD BAY, N. Y., Sept. 6.—Pulsus finally made good in a race over a distance of ground at Shepherd this afternoon. Pulsus has had many trials and failed, but to-day he was favored by the handicapper and had luck at the start, and he got home at the juicy price of 5 to 1.

Cloverland was a hot favorite in this race, but as he sulked all the way the most dangerous horse to the success of Pulsus was removed. Dekaber, who was looked upon as dangerous, was thrown on the fence on the far turn, and again fortune favored Pulsus. He had only Marmes and a couple of outsiders to beat, and he did this easily. Waterside in the Autumn, and this with the victory of Pulsus, made a double victory for Mr. Madden. Jack Lory was fancied to beat Waterside, but he was sort going to the post and did not run to form. Pasadena, who was beaten off in his last race, showed a lot of improvement.

In the steeplechase there were only two starters—Headmaster and Cock Robin. The latter burst a blood vessel, but notwithstanding he was forced over the course for second money, finishing covered with blood and presenting a disgusting spectacle. This was the only disagreeable feature of the afternoon.

The opening event was an easy victory for Dick Bernard, who has been a disappointment many times. He won in a gallop from Brooklynite. The attendance was good and the track fast.

Dick Bernard in a Gallop.

Letola made the early pace with Dick Bernard, and they raced in close order to the far turn, followed by King Pepper and Brooklynite. On the turn Dick Bernard went to the front and breezed home an easy winner by six lengths from Brooklynite, who finished strong and beat Letola a neck.

Bleeding Horse Forced to Run.

Headmaster, an odds-on favorite, made all the running and won easily by an eighth of a mile. Cock Robin, who burst a blood vessel early in his journey, was forced over the course for the sake of getting second money. He finished covered with blood, a disgusting spectacle, and was riding in his riding trousers were covered with blood.

Favorite All the Way.

Waterside was a strong favorite at the post time in the Autumn Stakes, with Jack Lory the second choice. Waterside went to the front at the start, made all the running, and won handsily by a length and a half from Pasadena, who was beaten off in his last race. Pasadena made a length and a half in front of Jack Lory.

Pulsus Leads All the Way.

Cloverland was a hot favorite in the handicap, with Major Daingerfield a strong second choice and well played. Pulsus, who finished strong and beat Letola six lengths from the place.

Good Thing Went Through.

Lindsay Gordon, the good thing of the fifth race, backed from 15 to 1 to 8 to 1, jumped away in front, made all the running and won by a neck from Bulwark, who finished strong and beat Navajo six lengths from the place.

Single Wins the Last.

Allan had the speed and showed the way to the stretch followed by Eagle and Silver Days. In the stretch Navajo was captured by Allan, who beat Letola a similar distance.

WOMAN BECOMES INSANE IN A CAR

NEW YORK, TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 6, 1904.

NO STRIKE ON 'L' ROADS, PEACE HAS BEEN DECLARED

Conference Between August Belmont and Representatives of the Men This Afternoon Resulted in an Amicable Agreement and the Threatened Tie-Up Has Been Averted.

Mrs. Irene Oestricher, While Riding Uptown with Husband and Boy, Suddenly Tries to Hurl Child Out of Window. THEN SHE SEEKS TO THROW HERSELF BEFORE TROLLEY

It is Stopped Just in Time to Prevent the Woman from Ending Her Life Before a Big Crowd.

While Alexander Oestricher and his wife, Irene, with their ten months' old baby, Rosa, were riding uptown in a crowded street car on the Lexington avenue line late this afternoon, Mrs. Oestricher, who is only twenty-three years old, became suddenly and violently insane.

She shrieked wildly and seemed about to hurl her baby from the car. The young husband wrestled little Rosa from her mother, and then other passengers joined to prevent the woman from leaping into the street.

At Seventy-ninth street the car was stopped, and aided by a half-dozen passengers, Mr. Oestricher succeeded in taking his wife, shrieking and struggling, from the car.

In another moment the raving woman snatched the baby again and threw herself across the track before a south-bound car, still clutching the baby in her arms.

With lightning quickness, and just in time, the motorman brought his car to a standstill with a jerk that threw the passengers into a heap on the floor.

The fender fairly touched the prostrate woman and babe. They were dragged from the tracks by a dozen pairs of hands, and Policemen Walsh and Hogan, of the East Eighty-ninth street station, called an ambulance from the Presbyterian Hospital.

When Dr. Kernan arrived in an ambulance he found a raving, shrieking maniac in the centre of a crowd of a thousand people.

He pronounced it a case of acute mania. It was necessary to put a straight-jacket upon Mrs. Oestricher, and even then it took the combined strength of six men to put her in the ambulance.

The distracted young husband followed to the hospital, carrying baby Rosa in his arms. The Oestrichers are Hungarians and lived with 575 Seigelbaum at No. 16 East Seventy-seventh street.

BROADWAY MOUNTED COPS.

Police Commissioner McAdoe said to-day that he had selected ten mounted men for the experiment of regulating traffic in lower Broadway with them. They will begin their new duties tomorrow. He has secured quarters for the horses in a temporary stable in Madison street. The men have been taken from Bronx Park, Fifth avenue and Brooklyn.

The ten men assigned to lower Broadway for traffic regulation will not reduce the force of mounted men elsewhere, as the Commissioner intends to select enough other patrolmen for mounted duty to fill the places.

Farley's Men Pouring In.

Farley's strike breakers are coming to town on every train. They are a rough and ready looking lot, unshaven and poorly dressed, but it does not take a close inspection to reveal that they are able to take care of themselves. From the statements of these men it appears that the interborough began making preparations for a strike ten days ago, and about the first move of preparation was the engagement of the notorious strike breaker, James Farley. He sent telegrams to scores of experienced men who have assisted him in breaking strikes in Providence, R. I.; Waterbury, Conn.; Bridgeport, Conn.; Scranton, Pa.; Toronto, Canada; and other cities. They were ordered to get ready to start to New York at a moment's notice. The notices were sent out Friday and Saturday.

More Evidence of Fight.

That Mr. Belmont means to fight was further evidenced in the glare of several clusters of electric lights at One Hundred and Forty-ninth street and Third avenue, where sixty odd workmen were busy all night finishing up the feeder system on the Westchester branch of the subway, elevated from One Hundred and Forty-ninth street to One Hundred and Seventy-eighth street.

Chief Motor Instructor E. W. Morrison was in charge of the crews at work in the subway proper between Ninety-sixth street and the City Hall. Mr. Morrison did not leave his post until 2 A. M., yet he was on hand five hours later directing the efforts at track-gathering of green motormen who had gathered early in his section of the subway. The two schools of instruction, it is claimed, by 6 P. M. will have sufficient men drilled to keep moving the entire "L" system.
