

MRS. CASSEY
GUILTY OF THEFT

Bride of Yale's Former Football Player Admits Having Stolen Money from Employer and Will Be Sentenced to Prison.

GRIDIRON HERO NOW IN PRISON FOR SIX MONTHS.

Smiling in His Cell, He Declares He Is Sorry for the Girl He Married After a Romantic Meeting.

READING, Pa., Sept. 15.—Mrs. Harry B. Batchelder, wife of the former champion football player of the Yale College team, disappointed 1,500 curiosity seekers who thronged the Berks County Court house to have been tried for embezzlement. Instead she pleaded guilty, and sentence was deferred for ten days. In the mean time she is out on bail. Her husband has begun a six months' sentence on the charge of allowing gambling in his cigar store. As Miss May Cassidy Mrs. Batchelder was well known here. She is a comely woman.

The case in which Mrs. Batchelder was charged by Benjamin Berg with embezzlement of $2,000 while cashier of a department store was called for trial before Judge Ernstrout. She is a small woman, and was pale, but collected, when she came into court. Her eyes had a careworn look, as though she had been crying, and the events of the last few months had robbed her cheeks of their color. She was accompanied by her brother and his wife.

To Be Sentenced Sept. 24. Mrs. Batchelder was stylishly dressed. She leaned her head on her left hand while seated at her lawyer's table. Her husband had a short consultation with the attorney before the hearing, and then with their client, when they entered the plea of guilty. Sentence, it was announced, will be imposed on Sept. 24.

Everything was all over in five minutes, and the disappointed crowd were in court to hear the case, and when a plea of guilty was entered they were in a state of unusual excitement. The Grand Jury found a true bill against Mrs. Batchelder only a few days before her husband was sentenced. She was continually solicitous as to his fate, and frequently expressed the hope that he would not be sent to jail. On the other hand, Batchelder said that he did not care for himself, but that he grieved for his wife. Immediately after her arraignment on the charge of embezzlement she gave such an air of self-assurance that it was believed that the case would not reach criminal court. She refused to make a statement from the day the charges were brought against her, and her plea of guilty came as a surprise to many. Everybody is asking what has become of her former friends.

Sorry for His Wife. "All I am sorry for is my dear little wife," said Batchelder, sitting in his cell to-day. He is six feet two inches tall and weighs 225 pounds. He would not tell anything else, but when I got out of this I will look hopefully to the future. I am only twenty-one. His father, who lives in Waterbury, Conn., is a farmer, almost heartbroken. Mrs. Batchelder has given up her home and is living at a hotel. "I am so sorry for Harry," she said to-day.

Mrs. Batchelder was cashier and bookkeeper in a large store here for several years and enjoyed the confidence of her employer. Early in the summer she was sworn out by Benjamin Berg, one of the firm, charging her with embezzlement. She had been in court on the embezzlement. It was alleged, was accomplished by Mrs. Batchelder keeping a duplicate of the books, which Mr. Berg accidentally found. He discovered that while both showed deposits on the same day, the amounts in one book were smaller than in the other. This aroused his suspicion and led him to believe that Mrs. Batchelder was keeping two books, and immediately made a full confession to him.

Batchelder and Miss Cassidy were married last May. He was a student in the Yale Law School, class of 1905, a member of the football team at the college, and lived in Waterbury, Conn. They became acquainted last year, it is said, at the Yale-Princeton game and that they met in Atlantic City. At the Princeton game last fall, after Batchelder had crawled from the stadium pile, following a play, a tiny woman, eyes sparkling and waving a blue flag, was seen to rise on her chair in the grand stand, screaming the Yale cheer. It was Miss Cassidy. The guard waved his hand to her and returned play. Then came their first meeting, and he gave up his law studies for her.

Berlin Horse Performs Wonders by Regular Mental Processes

BERLIN, Sept. 14.—Hans, the remarkably intelligent horse owned by Herr von Osten, has been examined by a committee of experts whose verdict is that there is no trickery in connection with the amazing exhibitions given of the horse's wonderful cleverness.

The committee included Prof. Nagel, of the Physiological Institute of the Berlin University; Circus Proprietor Busch, and a number of military officers. They saw a rather dull-looking horse read the alphabet with astonishment.

ing celebrity, and also do small sums readily. The committee decided, after its members had watched the strange phenomenon, that the animal employed a regular mental process in answering the multitude of questions put to him. His answers were telegraphed by the tapping of the hoof of his right foreleg.

The horse has also been taught to tell time and can distinguish the Roman numerals from the Arabic figures on the face of a watch.

Herr von Osten is an old, white-haired man. He has displayed infinite patience in giving Hans his remarkable education and says he has not had to employ a single trick to aid the animal in the unusual display of intelligence he exhibits.

This learned horse has also been taught music. He knows twenty melodies and when asked to distinguish any one of them from the others, responds by tapping his hoof the appropriate number of times on the floor of his stable. Herr Osten is hopeful that the Ministry of Education will comply with his request and appoint experts to examine Hans in his owner's absence.

Memory of Four Wives Made No. 6 Unfriendly

Kentuckian Divorced Four Helpmeets, His Fifth Died, and Now His Sixth Is Charged with Incompatibility of Temper.

CAMPTON, Ky., Sept. 15.—William Tell Tolson, one of the wealthiest men in Wolfe County, has just filed suit for divorce from his sixth wife. He alleges "incompatibility born of differences over Nos. 1, 2, 3 and 4." No. 5 is dead, but it is said that even she figured in the strenuous debates between the party of the first part and No. 6.

Tolson is fifty-one years old and was not married until he reached the age of thirty. All his wives were regarded by the neighbors as estimable women, but only one ever sued him for divorce, and he helped her to get it. The others were sued by him and they helped him untie the tangle.

After the divorces had been granted, his former wives and Tolson were great friends, and when another wife would be taken the ex-wives were invited and were present at the ceremony and the subsequent feast.

Tolson gave them what was regarded as an elegant home as his turns came as Mrs. Tolson, but it did not take long for the first wife to long to be with him, and he was hard feeling the divorces followed. No children were ever born to become entangled in the complication.

Another Case of Finery Marked in the Same Way as Other Two Is Taken by the Authorities. Since the arrival of the French liner La Touraine the local customs officials have made a series of valuable captures of smuggled goods which had been brought over among the baggage and which their owners had not declared for payment of duty. In addition to the two cases containing a complete trousseau of costly dresses and lingerie, another case has been discovered which bore the same mark, the letters, "M." within a diamond shaped frame. That case also contained rich and valuable finery, silks and laces, the total value of the contents of the three cases is estimated at $20,000.

Two dressmakers, accompanied by a customs broker, appeared at the Custom House yesterday and demanded the release of the contents of the cases, offering to pay the duty on them. The request was refused, owing to the irregular manner in which the cases had been imported. Francis E. Hamilton, solicitor for the Collector of the Port, at once began an investigation of the case.

Had Trouble Before. It was stated at the hearing that one of the women, Mrs. Elizabeth Shanahan, of No. 11 East Forty-eighth street, had once before been in trouble with the customs authorities. The records show that in September, 1900, Mrs. Shanahan brought over dresses valued at several thousand dollars without declaring them, and that in consequence thereof her trunks were seized upon their arrival.

After the examination of the case is completed the whole matter will be referred to Collector Stranahan.

At any rate they went to the Little Church Around the Corner and were made one. Dr. Tuck was so greatly opposed to his son's marriage that he would not recognize him for a while. Subsequently young Mrs. Tuck got a divorce from her husband and amicable relations were resumed between father and son.

Dr. Tuck left $10,000 to buy a house and lot, "preferably out of the city of New York," for his son Henry W. Tuck. If the younger Tuck does not want this house he is to receive the income of $10,000 per year. Henry W. Tuck married the beautiful Olga Marie Dinning, whose rich father has a handsome house on Riverside Drive and a fine country residence at Suffern, N. Y. It has not been explained yet why Dr. Tuck wished Henry to buy a house "out of the city."

Disposition of the Real Estate. To the trustees the will gives in trust the house No. 111 East Fifty-fifth street for his daughter, Mrs. Roseamond Tuck Skillin. The doctor bought this house when Miss Tuck married James Harper Skillin. The residue of the estate is left to the trustees in trust, the income to be paid thus:

Two-fifths of the income to be paid to the widow, one-fifth to each of the children. On the death of the widow the estate is to be divided among the children. If the widow survive the children and their descendants one-fourth of the entire property goes to the Massachusetts General Hospital, of Boston; one-fourth to the President and Fellows of Harvard University, of which Dr. Tuck was an alumnus; one-twelfth to the New York Society for the Relief of the Wid-owed and Orphaned of Medical Men, of New York City; one-twelfth to the New York Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children; one-twelfth to the New York Charities, Organically Society and one-twelfth to the American Unitarian Association of Boston.

Dr. Tuck ordered that his body be cremated.

MILLIONAIRE STRICKEN. PITTSBURG, Sept. 15.—Charles Lockhart, the millionaire oil man, banker and capitalist, was brought home from Spring Lake, N. J. last night, suffering from an illness that alarmed his family. He was reported resting easier to-day. Dr. Lockhart is now in his eighty-seventh year.

INHERITED SCROFULA. When a child I had a very severe attack of Diphtheria, which came near proving fatal. Upon recovery the glands of the neck were very much enlarged, and after the free use of iodine, the right one was reduced to its normal size; but the left one continued to grow—very slowly at first—until it was about the size of a goose egg, which began to press on the windpipe, causing difficult breathing, and became very painful. An incision was made and a large quantity of pus discharged. The gland was removed, or as much as could with safety be taken out. For ten years I wore a little piece of cloth about an inch long in my neck to keep the place open. During this time I had to have it cut open by the doctor every time I took cold or the opening clogged. In the Spring of early Summer of 1884 I was persuaded by my wife to use S. S. S., which I did, strictly in accordance with directions. I took twenty-six large bottles, and was entirely cured, for I have not suffered since that time.

STOLE CLOTHING WORTH $15,000

Former Employee of Browning, King & Co. Charged with Theft of Eight Cases of Goods from Truck.

Frederick Cash, of No. 563 Greenwich street, formerly an employee of Cannon & Smith, of No. 185 Crosby street, truckman for Browning, King & Co., was arrested to-day and charged with the theft of eight cases of clothing valued at $15,000 taken from a Browning-King & Co. truck yesterday afternoon on the Bowery. The clothing was found at No. 21 Centre street. The truck from which the goods were stolen was driven by John Le Tour. He started out with his load and got thrifty long before his destination was reached. A few drinks taken at various places along the line satisfied Le Tour in a measure but not entirely. When he met his old friend Cash on the Bowery near Fourth street the two had several more drinks and then both mounted the wagon.

They had not proceeded very far when a third party, a friend of Cash, was taken aboard. The three patronized several saloons along the line, their progress with the truck being a snail's pace.

When Le Tour woke up he found the truck in Allen street near Grand. He was sober enough to report the robbery to the police and then issued into silence. He was then taken to the station. Le Tour was recovering from the effects of the peripatetic imbibing. The police did not like the story that Le Tour told and Inspector McQuisley put him through the third degree with the result that Le Tour also was placed under arrest.

The place where the goods were found formerly was occupied by a brother of Le Tour. When Le Tour was arrested he told the police his name was Johnson.

DRAGGED BY A COW. Animal Bolted and Farmer Entangled in Rope Badly Hurt. PURDY'S STATION, N. Y., Sept. 15.—Edward B. Brady, of Golden's Bridge, one of the largest owners of farm property in Westchester and Putnam counties, was seriously injured near this place while driving cattle along the highway. One of the animals was a rope header, which Mr. Brady was leading with a rope.

Suddenly the animal bolted and the rope became wound around Mr. Brady's legs. He was thrown violently to the ground and dragged over the road for some distance and badly injured. He was placed in a wagon and taken to his home, accompanied by a doctor, who attended to his injuries. Mr. Brady is about seventy years old, but is very active and is engaged in an extensive cattle and farming business on his thousands of acres of land in this section.
