

"A CHINA DOLL" CHIPPED POTTERY

Chorus Girl with a Pretty Face the Real Star in Initial Production of Uninteresting Piece at Majestic Theatre.

MUSICAL REMINISCENCES CHASE THROUGH SCORE.

Ghosts of Long Dead Productions Tread on One Another's Heels and Keep Bass Drum and Cymbals Busy.

A mere mite of a chorus girl with Christmas-toy sort of face was the real doll of "A China Doll," which made an awful racket at the Majestic Theatre on Saturday.

The ghost of at least a dozen long dead musical pieces chased one another through Alfred E. Aaron's score and gave the bass drum and cymbals hardly a minute's rest.

THESE WORKED HARD TO SAVE "A CHINA DOLL."

Twenty-five Thousand Yards Of $1 Silk-and-wool Crepe de Paris At Fifty-eight Cents a Yard

THIS good news follows a rather remarkable operation in this popular dress fabric. The purchase probably represents more of this particular dress goods than will be found in all the other stores in New York City combined.

The real value of the offering consists in the fact that thirty of the choicest colorings, including black, are represented in the collection—included are

These attractive goods are shown today in the clear, strong light of the Rotunda, where you can properly appreciate the beautiful colorings.

This fabric will not only be taken as rapidly as it can be sold by women who want to wear it themselves; but we expect to sell a great many thousand yards to people who will be glad to secure at half price such a dainty and desirable fabric for Christmas dress-patterns.

It is 42 inches wide. Regular $1 quality, now at 58c, a yard. Rotunda.
