JENCKS GIVES UP, TELLING STRIKERS "GO BACK TO WORK"

"We Are Beaten, Without an Organization, and It Is a Case of Everybody for Himself," Local Leader Tells Followers—Rush to Get Old Jobs.

WRETCHED RUSH-HOUR SERVICE CONTINUES.

Men Who Went Out Bitter Against Pepper and Jencks, Who Deceived Them, They Assert—Few Men Over Forty Taken Back by Interborough Managers.

William L. Jencks, President of Local No. 105 of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, said to a gathering of about 800 men in front of Marion Hall, No. 150 East One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street, this afternoon following a meeting of the executive committee:

"Men, the strike is over. We are beaten. It is a case of everybody for himself. Get back if you can. There is no longer an organization. The press and the public have been against us. The press is responsible for the hostile sentiment. I understand the age limit has not been enforced, so all try to get back your former jobs. I shall do the best I can, but under no circumstances would I apply for a job with the Interborough Company."

There were shouts of approbation, mingled with hoots and hisses, at the end of the speech. Then the crowd dispersed and Jencks went downtown. George Pepper, President of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees, was present at the Executive Committee meeting, but he did not show himself to the strikers.

STRIKERS CLAMOR FOR JOBS.

The mass of strikers to the offices of the Interborough Company, on the twenty-third floor of the Park Row building, became so great this afternoon that the police had to be summoned to keep them in order. At one time there were nearly 300 men clamoring for a chance to file applications for work, while down in the corridors the whole force of janitors and assistant janitors were busy keeping others from going up in the elevators. Capt. Hodgins, of the Oak Street station, a roundsman and two policemen were finally brought to the building and they managed to restore some order.

The service on the Sixth avenue elevated line came to a complete standstill shortly after noon. Dozens of people crowded on the station at Fifty-third street and Eighth avenue and waited for trains. The ticket agent sold tickets until the platform was jammed. Then the people got tired of waiting and demanded their money back. It was refused and the crowd

HEAD-ON COLLISION.

Every hour, all over the city—in homes, in factories, in stores, in offices—collisions are occurring between incompatible human temperaments. The housewife is conservative, likes to keep her china and furniture intact; the servant is iconoclast—a "collision between temperaments" occurs, and a "want ad." tells those girls who can read that a servant is wanted at a certain home.

The factory foreman, always opposed to square pegs in round holes, finds that one of his workmen is a "want ad." for a temperamental collision. And a workman who is a "round peg" finds a want ad. that offers a better job for him than his present one; and the other man advertises for a job where square pegs are needed.

A store manager finds that a certain clerk has not an ounce of salesmanship in his make-up. Collision again.

RAID BY POLICE IN BROADWAY

Six Prisoners Taken at an Alleged Pool-Room News Distributing Agency in the Shanley Building.

Capt. Cottrell, of the West Thirtieth Street Station, and five detectives made a raid this afternoon on an alleged pool-room central at No. 124 Broadway. This is the Shanley Building, and the rooms raided were on the third floor.

Six arrests were made, five of the prisoners being alleged to be aiding and abetting one John Small, forty years old, of No. 58 West Sixtieth street, who was arrested, charged with keeping and maintaining a pool-room.

For some days the police have been watching men going into this building. It was suspected that the place was a central for which the news of the races was furnished to other pool-rooms. The captain had Detectives Billfer, Morton, Ryan, Finley and Uminger with him. When they got to the third floor Finley and Uminger climbed over the transom and opened the door for the others to enter. Then the six men within were arrested.

The police made a quick jump to six telephones in the room. Finley was the only one to get any answer. Some one said: "Is that you, John?" and Finley answered, "Yes."

"Well, take this quick," came the other man's voice, but the other man evidently "smelled a rat," as he rang off. No response could be made in the other 'phones.

The police allege that each of the six men arrested was employed at one of the 'phones and gave the information to other places over them. Besides the telephones, which were ripped out, were found racing charts and much pool-room paraphernalia.

The five prisoners arrested besides Small gave their names and addresses as: Harry Manheimer, a salesman, of No. 88 Seventh street; Thomas Sheehan, a salesman, of No. 58 East Sixty-first street; Emil Karre, no occupation, of No. 12 East One Hundred and Twelfth street; John Shoen, a clerk, of No. 4 East Nineteenth street; and August Miller, a clerk, of No. 112 East Eleventh street.

The men will be arraigned in the Jefferson Market Court to-morrow morning.

COLLEGE GIRL, IN WANT, TAKES POISON AT HOME OF HER KINDLY PASTOR

No uncommon powers of observation were needed to show that Paula John, arraigned in Harlem Court to-day on a charge of attempted suicide, had suffered to the limit of endurance. She is a slight little woman with features betraying a mind of extreme sensitiveness. Handicapped by physical deformity, due to curvature of the spine, she has been struggling to support herself in New York for six years.

Last night she tried to rid herself of the burden of life by drinking poison from the basement of this house of her benefactor, Rev. William C. Hicks, at No. 42 West Ninety-third street.

Somewhere in Germany Miss John's father lives in all the luxury that great wealth can secure. But she refused to tell the name of her father or give any clue as to where he can be reached. She left his home six years ago because he had installed there a woman to succeed the dead mother of his crippled child.

Studied at Universities. Miss John possessed money in her own right and started for New York. Upon her arrival here she took a course of lectures at Columbia and embarked in the career of a teacher of languages. For a time she was successful, earning enough to enable her to take two courses in languages at Harvard.

Her ambition was shattered by her frail constitution. Pupils were hard to find. Minister Interested. The Rev. Dr. Hicks was told of the orate fight the girl was making against a hard fate, and he became interested in her. He took her to the home of Mrs. Blake, No. 28 St. Nicholas avenue, and there she has lived since last December.

Want overcame pride late last night. Miss John remembered the minister who had been kind to her and she went to his house, No. 42 West Ninety-third street. The minister was not at home when she rang the bell. No one knew when he would return. The girl walked to the front of the house, stood in the doorway and drained a vial containing chloroform.

Was Very Ambitious. "Since the girl was brought to my attention last September," said Dr. Hicks to-day, "her life has been pitiful indeed. I was told about her by one of the members of my church, who had been taking lessons from her. Her ambition spurred her to try to overcome her physical disabilities and become a teacher. I helped her all I could and my efforts helped her, but she was really in need of assistance. I understood that for several days past she has been queer. Undoubtedly she was not in her right mind when she tried to kill herself last night, for she had arrayed herself in a white gown and wore a long white veil. She was of a poetic nature and, I suppose, wore what she considered would be the appropriate garb of a bride or death."

Girl Tells Story. The girl when arraigned in the West Side Court told her own story. (She said: "Six years ago my mother died and my father married again. I took my portion of the estate and came to this country. I took two courses in German literature at Harvard and then came to Columbia to perfect myself for the teaching of the German language. "Six months ago I was helpless and refused to want. I met Dr. Hicks, and he is the only kind friend I have. He tried to obtain pupils for me, but was only partially successful. The few I had did not enable me to support myself.

"Through his influence I secured a position with the Western Electric Company. The work was too confining and injurious to my spine and I was forced to abandon it. After that I worked at Bretano's, but the same trouble asserted itself and again I had to quit employment.

"Yesterday I grew despondent and last night went to see Dr. Hicks. His sister-in-law said he was out. I waited around for an hour and a half and then thinking that even he had deserted me I took the chloroform.

"Dr. Hicks was not in court, but it is said he had promised to take care of the girl. She was held in 800 hall for further examination on Monday.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 11.—A despatch from Gen. Kuropatkin timed 6 P. M. March 10 says: "The retreat of the army was very dangerous and especially trying for those corps which were some distance from the Mandarin road.

"The Japanese penetrated far into the mountains in the direction of Tawan. They threatened our troops, but, thanks to extraordinary efforts, our armies are out of danger."

It is reported in the military clubs this evening that Gen. Kuropatkin has lost 300 guns and about 60,000 prisoners, besides about the same number of killed or wounded.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—"After Liaoyang there was talk of peace. Russia's answer was reinforcements. Like Liaoyang, Mukden was the scene of another retreat, and again Russia's answer will be large reinforcements, but of peace not a word."

A store manager finds that a certain clerk has not an ounce of salesmanship in his make-up. Collision again.

At an ad. in Sunday's World Want Directory brings another clerk to the store; and finds a job for the ex-ecutive where salesmanship is not a requisite.

In the office the stenographer got to "running the business." Boss was a "brute," and believed he could manage things himself.

Simply another Collision Between Temperaments. Want ad. found a "want" for the young lady who rather liked to be managed; and found a stenographer for the old "boss" who didn't "grate on his nerves." The Sunday World Want Directory not only serves millions in business, but makes peace and harmony in homes.

KUROPATKIN SAYS HIS ARMIES HAVE ESCAPED FROM JAPANESE TRAP

Czar Gets News that, Driven On, Under Terrific Fire by the Enemy, the Great Force in Retreat Reaches Mountains in Northward Flight.

MIKADO'S MEN FOLLOWED FAR INTO THE PASSES.

St. Petersburg Reports Russian Losses 120,000 Men, but Russia Refuses to Talk Peace—New Army at Harbin Answer to Disaster.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 11.—A despatch from Gen. Kuropatkin timed 6 P. M. March 10 says: "The retreat of the army was very dangerous and especially trying for those corps which were some distance from the Mandarin road.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—"After Liaoyang there was talk of peace. Russia's answer was reinforcements. Like Liaoyang, Mukden was the scene of another retreat, and again Russia's answer will be large reinforcements, but of peace not a word."

This was the emphatic statement of Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador to-day, in the light of the morning despatches telling of the Russians' retreat.

With Mukden as his new base Marshal Oyama has determined to push northward in the direction of Harbin with a large part of his army in the effort to follow up his recent victory as rapidly as possible and accomplish his one great purpose of administering a really crushing defeat to Gen. Kuropatkin.

GANGS OF BOYS ROUT SHOPMEN

Scores of Windows Broken and Storekeepers Driven to Shelter in Combat of "Rusty Rattles" and "Young Avenger."

The "Rusty Rattle" gang and the "Young Avengers" fought a desperate battle to-day at Chrystie and Delancey streets. There were about a hundred boys in each gang, and they were armed with stones, pieces of ice, sticks and every other kind of missile to be picked up in the streets. After skirmishing for about an hour, breaking scores of windows and driving shopkeepers to shelter, they clashed in a furious onslaught.

The lancers they made created a panic in the neighborhood, and upon the many cries of murder! he reserves of the Eldridge Street Station were called out. Seven gang leaders, ranging in age from seven to twelve, were arrested and locked up. While there was considerable damage to property, no one was seriously hurt in the battle.
