BERLIN, June 6.—Crown Prince Frederick William and the Duchess Cecilia of Mecklenburg-Schwerin were married by Dr. Dryander, the Court Chaplain, in the small chapel of the Palace at 5 o'clock this afternoon according to the ritual of the Lutheran Church, which is the same for a Prince as for a subject. About half of the four hundred persons present were Princes or Special Ambassadors of other countries, with their aides-de-camp. Ambassador Tower was present as the Extraordinary Ambassador for the United States. Mrs. Tower was with him. The other guests were diplomats accredited to this court, the members of the Cabinet, generals and admirals. When Chancellor von Bülow took his place in the chapel he received the quiet congratulations of those about him on his elevation to-day to princely rank by Emperor William. After the other persons were in their places the visiting members of royal families entered. Especially distinguished among them were the Archduke Franz Ferdinand of Austria, representing Emperor Francis Joseph; the Grand Duke Michael of Russia; Prince Henry, Consort of the Queen of the Netherlands; the Duke and Duchess of Aosta, representing the King and Queen of Italy; Prince Arthur of Connaught, representing Great Britain; Prince and Princess Albert of Portugal; Prince Ferdinand of Roumania, and the Crown Princess of Denmark and of Greece. The junior members of the House of Hohenzollern followed, and finally came the Emperor and Empress.

tered by a side door of the chapel and waited at the altar for the Duchess Cecilia, who, on the arm of her brother, the reigning Grand Duke of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, and followed by ladies and gentlemen-in-waiting, had left her rooms in another part of the palace and passed through a long corridor hung with pictures illustrating the glory of the House of Hohenzollern, among them being battle scenes of the time of Frederick the Great and the coronation of Emperor William I. at Versailles. Gorgeous Wedding Gown. The Duchess wore a wonderful train of silver brocade, made at Moscow, and the gift of the Grand Duke Michael. It was borne by two pages. The embroideries on the train, which was nearly fourteen feet in length and seven feet wide, were done after the designs of Prof. Doepler, in pink and silver. The

ANYBODY CALLED YOU RAFFLES YET?

Mr. Sherwood Was "Sleuthed" by a Young Man for a Long Time, but It Ended in a Hearty Laugh. If you look anything at all like the mysterious Mr. Raffles of the Evening World, it will not be well for you to loiter about the Pulitzer Building for any length of time. There are a number of ambitious young hunters after Mr. Raffles' $100 note, who are morally certain that several times a day he visits The World office, and they wait outside to catch him, armed with copies of all of the photographs that have been printed of Mr. Raffles in his various poses. William L. Sherwood, of No. 106 Lewis avenue, Brooklyn, who is a silk salesman for H. Mendelson & Co., of No. 23 Greene street, passed The World office to-day just when one of the amateur sleuths was getting busy with his Raffles panorama. Mr. Sherwood looks very much like Raffles; in fact, it was a very natural error for the amateur sleuth to make. He was fully unconscious of the fact that he was being purged. Mr. Sherwood walked up Broadway. At the corner of Grand street he first became aware that he was an object of unusual interest to some one. A pale-faced youth darted in front of him, rapidly scanned his features and then consulted a note he had in his hand. Then he ran behind him and took a look there. He also got a look from the sides, and by the time Mr. Sherwood reached Broome street the youth had made five circuits around him. Mr. Sherwood couldn't imagine what was the matter, and his curiosity was piqued that ever piqued when he discovered the youth talking excitedly to a policeman on the corner. The policeman was evidently urging him on to do something, but what Mr. Sherwood

DER EMPEROR AM I.

BY WALTER A. SINCLAIR. Der Kaiser of der Vaterland You bet he iss a pippin. He paints and sculps to beat der band, In all games he iss dipplin'. To-day he's bossing all der show Of lords and ladies high. One phrase he hass to make it go— "Der Emperor am I." Cecelle wants her dress made so, But Wilhelm wants it thus, And to her plan he thundered "No!" And raised an awful fuss. In vain dit Fritzzy frown and fret, In vain dit Cecelle sigh, For Wilhelm sat already yet— "Der Emperor am I." He bossed their entrance into town, And for a little starter He had the duchess in her crown Distributing her garter. In this and many other ways He butts into the pie And to all protests only says— "Der Emperor am I." L'ENVOI. Oh, duchesses, you have to learn To smilie and "hold your jaw," No matter how your cheeks may burn, When Wilhelm's pa-in-law.

KING ALFONSO MEETS AMBASSADOR REID.

Young Monarch Makes Much of Americans, and Embassy Staff Are Presented to Him. LONDON, June 6.—The King of Spain opened a long programme of engagements to-day with the reception of the Diplomatic Corps at Buckinghams Palace. All the Ambassadors and Ministers now in London, with the staffs of the Embassies and Legations, attended, including Ambassador Reid and the other members of the American Embassy. Mr. Reid had quite a long talk with King Alfonso, who referred to some of the Ambassador's past services. At the request of the Spanish King, Mr. Reid presented Secretary Carter and the other members of the Embassy to the royal visitor. Subsequently King Alfonso, escorted by a detachment of Life Guards, proceeded to attend the celebration of mass at the Roman Catholic Cathedral at Westminster. There was some excitement on the way there, caused by members of the escort being thrown, owing to their horses slipping on the wet asphalt. Judges III, Court Adjourned. Because of the illness of two Justices of the Court of Special Sessions, Brooklyn, adjournment was taken yesterday until to-morrow. Justice Keedy, scheduled to be on the bench this week, is sick at his home, and Justice Courtney, who was to take his place, reported ill. No Time for Anything Else. (From the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.) If Mr. Rockefeller proposes to argue the matter of the honesty of his busi- ness methods he had better drop all other business.

CHADWICK GASE IN OCTOBER.

The document is very voluminous, comprising 561 typewritten pages. It was at once docketed, and the case will be first taken up at the October term of court under the order which granted the stay of sentence.

Quoting the Biblical Text, "Whither Thou Go, I Goest," the Court Chaplain Draws the Life Lesson for the Prince and His Bride in Their New Estate—Both Make the Responses to the Ceremonial Questions in a Clear Voice—Pages Bear the Train of Dress of Duchess.

Great Reception in the White Hall of the Emperor's Palace Follows and Is Succeeded by a Supper and Dance in Which Many Old Customs Are Revived—Bridal Couple Later Start for Italy.

Dr. Dryander spoke briefly on the beauty of love, the large responsibilities resting on the youthful pair, their need for the support of faith and spiritual vision. The pastor then asked the Prince if he took of God's hand to have and to hold according to God's word and will Her Highness Cecilia? The Crown Prince answered "Yes." The same question was addressed to the Duchess, with the additional question of "and obey," to which she also answered "Yes." These were the only responses. The rings were then exchanged and the bride and bridegroom knelt while Dr. Dryander read the Liturgical Prayer, closing the ceremony, which had taken precisely twenty minutes.

The Civil Ceremony.
The streets adjacent by the palace were crowded during the service and for hours before, although nothing was to be seen except the arrival of the princes and princesses from their apartments outside the palace. The Crown Prince and Duchess Cecilia took the civil oath at 11 o'clock in what is called the Electors' Room, it being administered by Minister von Wedel.

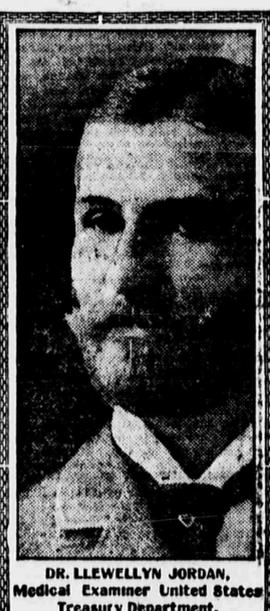

The Bride's Gowns.
To-night is the great reception, supper and dance at the White Hall. The festivities there will be over by 1 o'clock and soon after that hour the Crown Prince and his bride will leave on a honeymoon tour of Italy.

MEDICAL EXAMINER

Of the United States Treasury Recommends Pe-ru-na.

Prominent Physicians Indorse Pe-ru-na.

DR. LLEWELLYN JORDAN, Medical Examiner of the U. S. Treasury Department, graduate of Columbia College, and who served three years at West Point, has the following to say of Peru-na:
"Allow me to express my gratitude to you for the benefit derived from your wonderful remedy. One short month has brought forth a vast change, and I now consider myself a well man after months of suffering. Fellow-sufferers, Peru-na will cure you."—Llewellyn Jordan.

DR. LLEWELLYN JORDAN, Medical Examiner United States Treasury Department.

Doctors have been loath to indorse a catarrh remedy, because catarrh and catarrhal diseases have puzzled the medical fraternity for many decades. More prominent physicians use and indorse Peru-na each year. Dr. A. Morgan, 314 Gator street, Indianapolis, writes:
"Regular physicians do not, as a rule, indorse patent medicines. I have, however, found in my practice that Peru-na is a notable exception and not at all like any other medicine generally sold as 'patent medicine.'"
"In examining it I find that it is a scientifically prepared medicine, composed of herbal remedies of high medicinal value."
"It is a specific for catarrh of the head, lungs or stomach, a fine remedy for female troubles, and invaluable to mothers and children."
"After fevers of other protracted illness it is one of the best tonics I know of to restore the system to normal condition and I recommend it to convalescents."
"It is a high-class family remedy, good for young and old."—Morgan.

Peru-na contains no narcotics. One reason why Peru-na has found permanent use in so many homes is that it contains no narcotics of any kind. Peru-na is perfectly harmless. It can be used any length of time without acquiring a drug habit. Peru-na does not produce temporary results. It is permanent in its effects. It has no bad effect upon the system, and gradually eliminates catarrh by removing the cause of catarrh. There are a multitude of homes where Peru-na has been used of and on for twenty years. Such a thing could not be possible if Peru-na contained any drug of a narcotic nature.
