GAY SCENE AT WINDSOR.

THE ARCHBISHOP OFFICIATES

Queen Alexandra, with the King, Heads a Brilliant Company of Notables.

WINDSOR, England, June 15.—Windsor, the scene of many historic events, particularly during the reign of the late Queen Victoria, was in holiday attire to-day for the wedding of Princess Margaret of Connaught, eldest daughter of the Duke of Connaught, to Prince Gustavus Adolphus, eldest son of Crown Prince Gustavus of Sweden, all the arrangements for which were made under the personal direction of King Edward.

Throughout the morning a procession of royal trains proceeded from London to Windsor carrying representatives of most of the royal families of Europe and forming one of the most imposing gatherings since the King's coronation.

Brilliant Church Scene.

Magnificent summer weather greeted the young couple and showed the pretty town of Windsor at its best. The scene in St. George's Chapel, which was not decorated, with the exception of scattered flowers, was exceedingly brilliant, being a blaze of uniforms and decorations and ladies in full court dress with coronets or tiaras and wearing many jewels.

Shortly after the guests were seated the bridegroom made his appearance, accompanied by his supporters, Princes Eugene and William of Sweden, with the gentlemen in attendance.

The bridegroom was followed by the royal party, including King Edward, Queen Alexandra, Princess Victoria, the Crown Prince and Crown Princess of Sweden, the Duchess of Connaught, the Prince of Wales, the Princess of Wales, the Grand Duke and Grand Duchess of Baden and the Archduchess of Austria, all accompanied by brilliant suites.

As Edgar's Imperial march was played the organ, under the arm of her father, passed from the castle to the chapel.

She was met at the entrance by the Lord Chamberlain, and the bridesmaids, Princess Patricia of Connaught, her sister, Princess Victoria of Baden, and Princess Mary of Wales and Princess Beatrice of Saxe-Coburg.

The organist, seated upon the aisle, preceded by the choir, singing "When the God of Old to the chancel, where a quarter of a century ago the bride's mother and father went through the same ceremony."

The Archbishop of Canterbury, assisted by the Bishop of Oxford and the Bishop of London, read the simple service of the Church of England.

The wedding dress was a cloud of pure white Irish lace, trimmed with satin and strewed with garlands of orange blossoms and myrtles. The coronet was cut from there was the regulation court train.

The bride carried a simple bouquet consisting of a bunch of Madonnas lilies tied with white satin, the effect being both simple and natural.

Great Wedding Cake.

After the ceremony the members of the royal party, including King Edward, Queen Alexandra, Princess Victoria, the Crown Prince and Crown Princess of Sweden, the Duchess of Connaught, the Prince of Wales, the Princess of Wales, the Grand Duke and Grand Duchess of Baden and the Archduchess of Austria, all accompanied by brilliant suites.

NORWAY HONORS SWEDISH PRINCE.

CHRISTIANIA, Norway, June 15.—Flags are flying to-day from all the public and many other buildings in Christiania in honor of the wedding at Windsor of Princess Margaret of Sweden (eldest son of Crown Prince Gustavus of Sweden) to Princess Margaret of Connaught.

The King has decided to send its congratulations to King Oscar and the bride couple, addressing King Oscar as King Oscar of Sweden and Prince Gustavus Adolphus as Prince of Sweden.

Whaling Up to Date.

SAN FRANCISCO, JUNE 15.—At Sechart, on the west coast of Vancouver Island, a whaling station costing $50,000 has just been established. One hundred men will be employed there in transforming the carcasses of whales into various profitable products, every part of the leviathans being utilized.

The whales will be caught by the modern steam whaler Orion, recently arrived from Europe, which will cruise about off Sechart, where whales abound in numbers.

Instead of using small boats in the chase the whales will be harpooned by modern devices from the deck of the Orion, and patent reels and special winches will be used to take care of the fish after he is conquered.

A similar station may be established next season near Nanaimo.

SHORT DAY FOR LITTLE PUPILS

Commissioner Sterns Wins the Fight in Committee on Elementary Schools for Measure Opposed by Maxwell.

Commissioner Sterns, of the Board of Education, who led the losing fight against "frads and fellas" in the public schools, has won a victory in his fight for shortening the school day for first year pupils, and providing that one and one-half hours of the five and one-half hour day be devoted to open air recreation.

Though there was strenuous opposition to Commissioner Sterns' proposal, the Committee on Elementary Schools voted in its favor twenty-two to fourteen. Superintendent Maxwell vigorously opposed the measure.

The committee also recommended that the Board of Estimate be requested to select sites for public playgrounds as near as possible to schools lacking such space; that part-time classes be done away with, and that every pupil be afforded an opportunity of attending school five hours a day; and that special classes be provided for children who cannot speak English.

BOY INJURED AIDING BROTHER

Jumps Into a Knife Duel and Gets the Worst of a Murderous Row in the Uptown Little Italy.

Sixteen-year-old Daniel Saleo, who did a lot of shooting up in Harlem's Little Italy last night, is in the Harlem Hospital with nineteen stab wounds and a face crushed under the boots of a furious crowd. If no complications set in he will recover.

The lad met his injuries when he went to the aid of his brother John, who was involved in a knife duel with a man whose identity has not been learned. The boys lived at No. 338 East One Hundred and Eleventh street, and when young Daniel saw his brother being overcome by his opponent he rushed up into their flat and returned to the street with two big revolvers and a pocketful of cartridges.

There was a crowd surrounding the fighters when Daniel pointed his revolver at the throng and blazed away. Tony Centarillo, of No. 331 East One Hundred and Sixteenth street, was wounded on the arm by a stray bullet and fled to a doorway. The rest of the crowd melted as if by magic. Thereupon Daniel threw himself upon his brother's opponent and hammered him on the head with the butts of his revolvers. Meanwhile the crowd uttered courage and furious with rage returned and attempted to rush the youth.

He faced them and fired at random, bullets crashing into windows and edging in the lintels of doorways. There were a hundred or more men in the mob. Substitutes flashed and sticks and stones were hurled at the youth. He kept right on firing, however, backing away until he reached the tail-board of a truck. He jumped up on this and ordered the driver to whip up his horse, threatening to kill him if he refused. As the truck rolled along he reloaded his revolvers and sent another volley into the crowd. But he did not take the precaution to save his ammunition, and when his pursuers saw he had spent all his cartridges they swarmed upon the truck, dragged him to the pavement and proceeded to wreak vengeance.

He was kicked, stamped upon, stabbed and would have been killed had not the reserves of the East One Hundred and Fourth street station rushed to the scene. They saw the wounded lad in a Harlem Hospital ambulance and formed an escort for it. Centarillo went to the hospital in the same ambulance. John Saleo, the wounded brother, was arrested. In Harlem Court this morning he was discharged by Magistrate Crane, as a good boy who proved he had done any of the shooting.

MR. ROSENBERG TOOK ACID IN MISTAKE FOR SALTS.

Misunderstanding in Report Sent Out from Lehanon Hospital About an Accidental Poisoning.

A misunderstanding of a report from Lehanon Hospital in the case of Samuel Rosenberg, removed to that institution on Tuesday from his home at No. 229 East One Hundred and Sixty-third street, suffering from an acid poisoning, led to the publication of a statement that he had attempted suicide. Mr. Rosenberg was accidentally poisoned.

The oxalic acid and a bottle of Epsom salts were side by side in a medicine chest in the Rosenberg home. Mr. Rosenberg, intending to take a dose of the Epsom salt, got hold of the wrong bottle, dissolved some of the poison in half a glass of water and drank it. He soon recovered, but he had made a mistake and asked his mother to send for an antidote and a doctor. In the confusion following the arrival of an ambulance the report of attempted suicide gained credence.
