

THUG STOLE $2,000 SAYS POSTMASTER

Lissenden, of Mariner's Harbor, Reports Strange Assault and Robbery.

CASH AND STAMPS GONE.

Thick-Set Man, Wearing a Blue Suit, Slapped Face Until He Was Unconscious.

NEIGHBOR DIDN'T SEE THIEF

William Smith, Who Lives Over the Post-Office, Was at Window, but Says He Failed to Notice Assault.

The police of Staten Island are betraying a masterly inactivity in running down a thick-set man wearing a black mustache and a blue serge suit who snatched the face of Postmaster Lissenden, of Mariner's Harbor, until the Postmaster was unconscious and then robbed the post-office of $1,000 worth of stamps and $1,000 in money.

The story of Lissenden, as it was later repeated to the police, was that he went to the post-office and opened it at 8.30 o'clock. While sweeping off the sidewalk he was approached by the thick-set man, wearing a black mustache and a blue suit, with a word of explanation, smashed him on the face and knocked him down.

Dr. Barber was called to attend to the injuries of Lissenden. He said that the man who had been seen in the window was lying there when he went through the place and took everything he could get.

STOCKS FIRM BUT QUIET IN LONDON.

LONDON, July 4.—Money was abundant in the market to-day despite the Conoco settlement. Discounts were easy, though Paris had taken all the procurable gold in the open market.

Americans were cheerful and inactive owing to the holiday, though frequently a fraction over parity. The tone was cautious and the market closed quietly steady.

U. S. SENATOR MITCHELL IS FOUND GUILTY

Verdict Declaring He Acted as Lawyer in Land Cases Gives Him Bad Shock.

PORTLAND, Ore., July 4.—A din and clatter of fireworks exploded in honor of the natal day of the country he had served as United States Senator during twenty-two years of his life.

Those who had witnessed the trial or who knew Senator Mitchell's great popularity in this State were so full impressed with the belief that failure of the jury to come to an immediate and meant disagreement that when it was announced that the jury had arrived at a decision hardly any but the little group of newspaper men remained.

With almost electric swiftness, however, the news circulated, and when the verdict was read, the room was filled with a murmur of surprise.

Senator Mitchell was the first to appear, then Judge De Haven and Judge Bennett.

The judge inquired whether the verdict had been agreed upon, and Foreman Steiner, of the jury, replied that it had.

As the word "guilty" was pronounced, Senator Mitchell seemed as though he were to swoon. The nervous stroking of his beard which had continued throughout the proceedings stopped.

When he sat down, Senator Mitchell leaned toward the attorney and whispered to him that a negative would be heard from one of the twelve.

Then, and only then, Senator Mitchell showed plainly the mental torture he was enduring.

"Ting! ting!" sounds the tocsin from the signal bell, and for anti-toxin doctors reach as well.

MOTHER BURNS; CHILDREN TRY TO REACH HER

Screams Bring Little Ones, Who Struggle Vainly to Break Down Door.

While her two boys and her little girl struggled with all their small might to push open the door to get to her assistance, Mrs. Carmello Treno was burned to death in her apartments on the fourth floor of No. 17 Laight street to-day.

Mrs. Treno and her three children were to sail for Italy on Saturday to join her husband. He, Dominick Treno, had won quite a fortune as a fruit dealer during the fifteen years he was in this country and several months ago returned to his native land to purchase a farm.

The Laight street house is a five-story double-decked tenement in which forty families dwell. Julius and Salvatore Treno, youngsters of ten and twelve years, and nine-year-old Rosie were provided with money to buy fire-crackers early in the day, and were playing in the street when they heard cries coming from the upper part of the house.

They rushed upstairs. Smoke was coming through the cracks of the door and the children could hear the crackle of flames. Panic-stricken neighbors were running about helplessly.

Some one from the street sent in an alarm, and when the firemen got to the door of the burning flat they found the woman had ceased, however, and when her body was seen it was scarcely recognizable.

The fire itself was put out with hand-gradients.

MOB FOUGHT STEAMBOAT INSPECTORS

Hundreds Tried to Crush Aboard Patten Liner and Rioted when Barred.

There was a great crush at the Battery landing of the Patten liner steamer Elberon to-day, when three times as many as the U. S. Steamboat Inspectors would allow aboard tried to force their way upon the gangplank.

When the boat got aboard to the Battery she had taken down to the river almost her full quota of passengers.

When the boat got aboard to the Battery she had taken down to the river almost her full quota of passengers.

Steamboat inspectors were in charge of the enumerators to check off the passengers. When the permitted number had got on deck they ordered the remaining hundreds back.

The mob was largely due to the fact that other Patten line boats had taken on so many passengers up to date that they were not allowed to stop.

When the boat steamed down the bay the shouts and imprecations of those who were left followed in her wake.

The President and Ambassador Sternburg discussed the things the peace negotiations pending between Russia and Japan.

NEGRO AUTOIST PROTESTS ARREST

Nobody's Chauffeur, Said Payton in Court, but Owner of Machine—Wife Gives Property Worth $53,000 as Bail.

Philip Payton, a negro, was arraigned in Harlem Police Court to-day charged with speeding an automobile twenty-five miles an hour on St. Nicholas avenue last night.

"Whose chauffeur are you?" asked Magistrate Weisman.

"In my own chauffeur," answered Payton. "I own that machine and it couldn't run twenty-five miles an hour if it was towed by a locomotive. It is preposterous, ridiculous, foolish."

Magistrate Weisman interrupted the man's speech with a shout of "No ball for Special Sessions."

Payton is a real estate agent, who makes a specialty of getting data to prospective buyers. He lives at No. 18 West One Hundred and Thirty-first street.

Mr. Otto A. Fleissner's KIDNEYS WERE DISEASED BY CATARRH.

Pe-ru-na Promptly Cured Him.

Mr. Otto A. Fleissner, formerly chef at Col. W. J. Cody (Buffalo Bill), now chef at the Rainier Grand Hotel, Seattle, Wash., writes:

"I suffered with kidney and bladder trouble until life did not seem worth living. I had tried many medicines but did not get any relief until I took Peruna. It was really wonderful how much better I was after I had used this medicine only a week. I did not expect that it would help me permanently, but as long as it was doing me good I continued to use it. At the end of six months I found to my relief, that it had rid my system of all poisons, and that I was cured to stay cured. You certainly have a splendid medicine and I gladly endorse it."

Catarrh of the Kidneys a Common Disease.

Catarrh of the kidneys may arise from the spread of catarrh from other organs, or it may arise from some irritation of the kidneys directly in the organs themselves.

Nothing is more offensive than an old sore that refuses to heal. Patience, day after day, it is treated and nursed, every salve, powder, etc., that is heard of is tried, but does no good, until the very sight of it grows offensive to the sufferer and he becomes disgusted and morbid.

Some years ago my blood became poisoned, and the doctor told me I would have running sores for life, and that if they were closed up the result would be fatal.

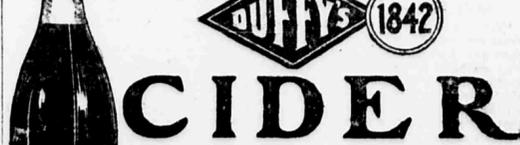

Under this discouraging report I left off their treatment and resorted to the use of fact that thousands of old S. S. S. Its effects were prompt and gratifying, sores have been cut out. It took only a short while for the medicine to end and even the bones were cured up the sores, and I am not dead as the doctors estimated. I would be, neither have the sores ever broken out again. I am W. F. WOODS, Wheeling, W. Va., May 28, 1905.

Disinfecting with external treatments, such as salves, powders, washes, etc., because the germs and poisons in the blood must be removed before a cure can be effected.

S. S. S. cleanses and purifies the circulation so that it carries rich, new blood to the parts and the sore or ulcer heals permanently. S. S. S. not only removes the germs and poisons, but strengthens the blood and builds up the entire system by stimulating the organs, increasing the appetite and giving energy to the weak, wadded constitution. It is an exhilarating tonic, aids the digestion and puts every part of the body in good healthy condition. Book on the blood, with any medical advice wished, without charge.
