GIANTS AGAIN BEAT CINCINNATI

CARLTON SAYS HE GAVE MORPHINE TO HIS DYING WIFE

Admits Using Drug Hypodermically and that He Had Large Germ Culture Tubes, Which He Says Were Used in Photography.

After admissions wrung to-day from Frederick E. Carlton, the alleged Brooklyn "Bluebeard," that he had administered morphine to his last wife, Mary Gorman Carlton, with a hypodermic syringe, and connecting him positively with the notorious "Martinez," whose record the Cincinnati police have sent on to New York, Inspector Adam A. Cross put the man through the "third degree" for an hour and a half.

Before and during his "third degree" examination Carlton made several admissions that by their mere bravado amazed the police, who are probing desperately in an effort to prove that the man caused the death of Mary Gorman Carlton, his last wife, by inoculating her with the germ of tetanus.

On the heels of his announcement that he had once suffered from tetanus and know all about it and its symptoms, Carlton confessed frankly that he had been in the habit of injecting morphine into his wife's arm with a hypodermic syringe. This gave Inspector Cross a clue that he fairly jumped at, and he will have the syringes that were seized in Carlton's room subjected to a bacteriological test to find traces of tetanus germs.

In addition to his other avowals Carlton told an Evening World reporter in the prison pen of the Adams Street Court to-day that he had between fifty and sixty bottles of poison in his rooms while his last wife, Mary Gorman Carlton, was living with him.

Among these poisons, he declared, were ether, muriatic acid, morphine and many other deadly chemicals. When asked what he did with such a deadly array of drugs he laughed and said that he was an expert photographer and employed them in color photography, in which he was an expert.

"This is all rot," he added, "about my knowledge of germ culture. All the medical skill I possess I learned while in the hospital corps of the navy, and my learning in chemistry never went beyond the use of acids and different poisons that an expert photographer must know the use of."

BROOKLYNS ARE WINNERS OVER ST. LOUIS AGAIN

Put Up Fine Article of Ball, Making Their Second Straight Victory.

SCORE BY INNINGS. St. Louis.....1 0 0 0 1 0 0 0 3 Brooklyn.....0 0 1 2 0 1 0 0 1

BY JOHN POLLOCK. (Special to The Evening World.) WASHINGTON PARK, BROOKLYN, July 27.—Ned Heaton's collection of in-and-out ballplayers played their fourth and final game of the series with the St. Louis team at these grounds this afternoon under weather conditions which were ideal.

Before and during his "third degree" examination Carlton made several admissions that by their mere bravado amazed the police, who are probing desperately in an effort to prove that the man caused the death of Mary Gorman Carlton, his last wife, by inoculating her with the germ of tetanus.

Among these poisons, he declared, were ether, muriatic acid, morphine and many other deadly chemicals. When asked what he did with such a deadly array of drugs he laughed and said that he was an expert photographer and employed them in color photography, in which he was an expert.

McGrawites Score Four Runs in Sixth Inning and Practically Settle Game Then—Champions Start on Three Weeks' Tour of West.

SCORE BY INNINGS. Cincinnati.....1 0 0 0 1 0 0 1 2 Giants.....0 0 0 2 0 4 1 2 3

BY BOZEMAN BULGER. (Special to The Evening World.) POLO GROUNDS, July 27.—It was the last day for the Giants at home for three weeks, and McGraw was determined to grab this last game, which would be the total of eight straight victories since those defeats at the hands of Pittsburgh. With this number of scalps attached to his belt, he felt that he could come back home with a fairly good lead even if he lost a majority of games in the west.

After to-day's game the Giants still have four more with Cincinnati in that city. Kelley therefore says luck will soon turn, for it is hardly probable that the Giants can make it eight straight. McGraw's injured arm was much better to-day and he went back to his position in the lineup, and suspension ends to-morrow, and he is eligible to play in the first game at Cincinnati.

First Inning. Huggins was granted a walk as a starter and Barry bunted safely. Kelley declined to sacrifice and Devin hit to center field, filling the bases. Seymour while Huggins scored. Gobling stole second. Corcoran's error to Gilbert retired the side. ONE RUN. Brown flipped an easy fly to Barry. McGraw hit to Barry and was thrown out to Hahn, who covered the bag. NO RUNS.

Second Inning. Steinfield's long fly was surrounded by Brown, Devin and Devin threw Schlotter out with neatness and dispatch. Hahn struck out. NO RUNS. McGraw hit to center field. Seymour and Seymour went back to the topes to take Latham's bait. Devin fouled to Barry. NO RUNS.

Third Inning. Huggins took the count and Barry was benched in the same manner. Kelley then souped one straight at Strang. NO RUNS. Gilbert was not quite fast enough to beat Steinfield's throw, and Corcoran threw to center field. Huggins got Wilts's liner. NO RUNS.

Fourth Inning. Seymour fouled out to Strang, and Danlen hit to center field. Corcoran relieved the monotony by slugging a single to left, and Steinfield sent him back to the dugout. On the throw to third Steinfield started for second, and while in a chase Corcoran, and Strang, were tagged at the plate. NO RUNS.

BY FRANK W. THORP. (Special to The Evening World.) BRIGHTON BEACH RACE TRACK, July 27.—There was one real good race on the card at Brighton this afternoon, which more than made up the deficiencies in the rest of the card.

It was in this race that Hester W. broke down last year, but race-goers hope that history will not repeat itself, at least in the case of the "Little Red Horse." The weather was fine and track was fast. The attendance was up to the average.

LINER ASHORE; ALL ARE SAFE

LONDON, July 27.—A despatch received here late this evening says that a steamer that is thought to be a North German Lloyd liner is ashore in the English Channel. The name of the vessel is still unknown. All passengers are safe, but the vessel will probably become a total wreck.

Gustave M. Schwab, agent in this city for the North German Lloyd Company, declares that it could not possibly be the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, aboard which is M. Witte, the Russian peace envoy. The Kaiser has been tied up by fog and her course is just the opposite to the point where the vessel is reported ashore in the English Channel.

"It is foolish to suppose," said Mr. Schwab, "that the ship ashore is the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse. She left at 2.30 this afternoon, and she could not possibly be wrecked off Guernsey, which is southwest, while her course is northwest."
